THE COUNCIL MEETING

Examiner Special.

North Monaghan, May 27. — The Township Council met to-day at 2 p.m. in the town hall.

All the members were present, the Reeve presiding.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Accounts were handed in and read from:—

|---|---|
| Charles Goodacre ... ... ... ..... | $ 50 |
| Kingan Hardware Co..... ... ... | 52 |
| B Sanderson and J J Lynch ..... | 16 50 |
| Petrborough Examiner ... ... ... | 1 55 |

On motion of Messrs. May and Dobbin, these accounts were passed and ordered to be paid.

Communications were read from Messrs. D W Dumble and W. G Morrow in reference to the grading of Cottesmore avenue, and from T Hurley re. the grading of Western avenue.

These were received.

A copy of a registered plan of the sub-division of a part of lot 11 in the 12th concession was produced from the Registrar of the County of Peterborough. This was ordered to be filed.

It was moved by Messrs. May and Morrow, that the clerk is hereby instructed to inform Mr. T. Hurley that as by the plan registered by him, opening a street through part of 11 lot on 12th concession, provision is not made for an opening or outlet at the northern end and as an outlet is considered necessary by this council, either by connecting Western avenue with Cottesmore avenue, the Gravel Road or Lundy's Lane, the council, therefore, will not assume the said Western Avenue as a public highway until such connection is provided for. This was carried.

Moved by Messrs. May and Dobbin that the Commissioner of Road Division No. 4 is hereby directed to grade Cottesmore avenue as far west as Mr. Hormston's house and also to grade Braidwood avenue from Lock street eastward.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Morrow and Dobbin, that the clerk is hereby directed to investigate the matter of a registered plan of the sub-division of a part of lot 14 on 11th concession, and to report to Mr. Howden.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Morrow and Dobbin, that the Commissioner of Road Division No. 2 is hereby directed to cut away any trees or brushwood that hides the approach of trains upon the C.P.R. at the crossings on the 11th concession.—carried.

The committee consisting of Messrs. May and Howden who were appointed to investigate the proposition to alter the loop line on 11th concession along the C.P.R. track, reported that they found it would be necessary to construct about 500 yards of new road, part of which being through a wet bog and part of a deep cutting to do this, greater cost would be incurred than would be commensurate with the benefit to be derived therefrom to the township, and they would therefore recommend that no action be taken.

On Motion of Messrs. May and Howden, this report was received and adopted.

Moved by Messrs. May and Dobbin, that the commissioner of R. Div. No. 1 be hereby directed to repair the culverts at Succee's creek.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. May and Howden, that the commissioner of R. Div. No. 1 be hereby directed to repair the culvert at Mr. J. T. Green's.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Howden and Brown, that the rate of pay for the road commissioners for this year be increased to $2 per day, and the clerk is directed to prepare a by-law, to amend Bylaw No. 579 to that effect.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Brown and Dobbin, that the clerk is hereby directed to notify each road commissioner that it shall be his duty to consult the members of this council in connection with the works in his division, as follows:

Div. No. 1—Mr. Dobbin,
Div. No. 2—Mr. May,
Div. No. 3—Mr. Brown,
Div. No. 4—Mr. Howden, and that cash pay sheet on account presented for payment must have the certificate of the consulting member of the council for such division, before payment thereof will be made.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. May and Howden, that the clerk's salary be increased to the sum of $100 per year, and the clerk is hereby directed to prepare a bylaw accordingly.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. May and Howden, that the clerk is hereby directed to order repairs to the road grader at once.—Carried.

Bylaw No. 584, a bylaw to alter the boundaries of School Sections Nos. 2 and 3, by taking the n.e. quarter of the east half of lot No. 8, in the 11th con., from Section No. 3, and adding it to Section No. 2, was then introduced regularly, read, and finally passed.

Council then adjourned until called by the Reeve.

Warsaw, May 29.—Victoria Day came and went without much excitement out of the ordinary. The Rifle Association held a practice in the afternoon to which there was a large attendance. Quite a number visited the caves and falls and other natural wonders to be seen and several picnic parties went up the river. The athletic events and concert at Norwood proved an attraction for a large number.

The Warsaw Football Club has suddenly come to life and on Thursday evening the team handed out some of its old time spirit to an aggregation from Lakefield, and are making arrangements for a game with Norwood in the immediate future. The boys are evidently in need of financial aid and there is little doubt that the same would be forthcoming if a subscription list were handed around among the citizens.

The members of Court Warsaw, C. O.F., are making arrangements for an excursion on the lakes to be held during the third week of June.

The annual church parade of Court Warsaw, No. 220, C.O.F., will take place on Sunday next, June 2nd to the Methodist church. The brethren are requested to meet at the hall at 6.30 p.m.

THE CELEBRATION AT OMEMEE

Trent Canal Officials' Visit Was a Welcome One

(Examiner Special.)

Omemee, May 27th. — It is winter weather yet, with very little growth.

The many friends of Dr. Cameron hope to hear of his speedy recovery.

There were some large shipments of cattle and hogs to-day.

Mr. Potter, the sailors' missionary, had an appreciative audience here.

The 24th of May celebration went passed off without a hitch. The weather was all that could be desired. Commodore Beatty, with his gasoline yacht, had Major Evans, Thomas Stephenson and J. D. Thornton, to meet the Trent Canal engineers at the floating bridge, 18 miles north on Pigeon River, reaching there at 7 o'clock p.m. when, to their delight, they sighted the Government tug. The engineers were very welcome guests. Every one was delighted to see them, and have to have their visit repeated. Our most sanguine expectations regarding our river being navigable were thoroughly endorsed by the visit of the engineers.

Marrying Hetty Off.

By James Lewis.

Copyright, 1907, by Mary McKeon.

Supper had been eaten, the dishes washed, and the cows milked, and the milk strained. Farmer Johnson and his wife sat on the piazza and looked up and down the dusty highway. They had sat for ten minutes without speaking, when the husband cleared his throat and said:

"Ma, I've been thinking for the last three or four days."

"Yes, I s'pose a person has to think sometimes," she replied.

"But I've been thinking about our Hetty. She's purty nigh twenty years old, ain't she?"

"Yes."

"She's purty good looking and purty smart?"

"Yes; she takes after me in those things."

"But she don't get married. All the other gals around here are stepping off, but she don't seem to have no fellers. I did think up to a month ago that she and that feller from town named Watterson was going to make a match of it, but it seems she's stuck up her nose at him. I'm kinder feeling that it's my duty to have a serious talk with her."

"Then you throw your feelings right over the fence," replied the wife in decisive tones. "Hetty hain't going to throw herself at no man's head. As for Mr. Watterson, he got miffed about something and quit coming here, and he can stay miffed for all we care. I don't see no great rush about her getting married."

SHE COULD SURVEY EVERY FOOT OF THE ROAD.

The husband and father didn't want to say that her last hat cost $6 and her last dress $18 and that in the fall she would want a cloak costing at least $15, but his wife knew him to be a close man. What he remarked when he got ready to say anything further was:

"There'd be room right here in the house for her and her husband if she had one. I'd give him his rent if he'd milk and chore around, and I'd make their board purty reasonable. If you told her so perhaps it would encourage her."

"Samuel, am I Hetty's mother or not?" asked the wife.

"You are her mother, of course."

"Then you leave things to me and don't worry yourself any more. When a girl's mother don't know what is best for her, her father needn't try."

He sighed and groaned and grunted and said the wind would probably change to the east by midnight and reluctantly dropped the subject. Two days later he came home from the village, where he had been to buy a grindstone, and his face wore a broad smile as he entered the house after putting up his team. He whispered to his wife:

"Say, now, but what d'ye s'pose has happened?"

"'Nother earthquake somewhere?"

"Nope; I've found a husband for Hetty!"

"Samuel Johnson, what did I tell you t'other evening?" exclaimed the wife as she trimmed off the edge of a pie crust.

"Waal, you see, it was this way: When I was buying that grindstone in the hardware store, there was a wire fence man there, and when he found out where I lived he said he was coming into this neighborhood to put up some fencing for Lester. He offered me $4 for a week's board, and I told him to come along."

"Well, what's going to happen if he comes?"

"Marriage, ma—love and marriage. Say, Hetty can't help but fall in love with him. He's got two watch chains, wears tan shoes and talks the biggest words you ever heard. He's a hero even if he ain't a millionaire. Don't say nothing to Hetty. I want to take her sudden like. I didn't say nothing to him about her, and he'll be taken suddenly. When you see 'em standing up to be married, you'll allow I know a thing or two after all."

"I'll allow just as I do now—that you ought to be sent to an idiot asylum."

A day later the "hero" came. Hetty had been posted by her mother and wasn't a bit surprised. Besides having two watch chains, the stranger had a heap of nerve, and he wasn't astonished. Farmer Johnson made him one of the family at once, but the women folks were only barely civil. It transpired after a couple of days that Mr. Meeker, as the wire fence man called himself, was actually a hero. He had killed a mad dog and shot at a thief. As he slyly showed the farmer a fifty dollar bill there was no room to doubt that he was a millionaire as well. At the end of a week his job at Watterson's was finished, but he said he thought he would take a rest from his tremendous struggles, so he paid another week's board.

"Didn't I tell you so?" whispered the farmer to his wife's ear. "I tell you he's stuck on our Hetty, and if she gives him half a chance he's going to propose to her within a week. Just think of having a millionaire and hero for a son-in-law! I could probably get the whole farm wire fenced at half cost. Can't we manage to leave him and Hetty together on the piazza in the evening?"

"Couldn't you manage to tend to your own affairs if you tried hard?" tartly replied the wife. "Samuel Johnson, I never saw you acting up as you are now. Are you going to break out with boils again?"

"But you hain't doing anything, and Hetty hain't doing anything, and so you see"—

"I don't see nothing except that Hetty wouldn't wipe her old shoes on no such man as this Meeker."

"You don't say so!" groaned the father. "What on earth can the gal want?"

"She wants to be let alone."

Mr. Meeker stayed on for the third week. There was no doubt in any mind that he was seeking to make a favorable impression, but at least two minds doubted his ability. It was near the end of the third week that Mrs. Johnson saw Mr. Watterson drive past the house for the first time since the "tiff." She also saw that he took notice of things out of the corner of his eye and seemed in no hurry to get out of sight. She knew that Hetty hadn't seen him, and with a look of childish innocence on her face she waited ten minutes and then said to the girl:

"Hetty, you remember that Mrs. Bascomb borrowed my best flatiron last week and hasn't brought it back. Don't you want to take a walk down there and bring it home? Tell her I didn't have a quinsy sore throat, as I thought I was going to have."

"Down there" was three-quarters of a mile down to the next farmhouse. Hetty had dressed for the afternoon and looked as sweet as a peach, and as she set out the mother ran upstairs to the garret window, from whence she could survey every foot of the road. After one glance she hauled in her head and said:

"Mr. Watterson has turned around and is coming back, and they are bound to meet at the crab apple tree. Providence will take care of the rest."

She had not been downstairs ten minutes when things began to happen. The husband was working down in the turnip field, and Mr. Meeker had gone there an hour ago. All of a sudden the farmer came clumping in over the clean floor to exclaim:

"Well, ma, what'd I tell you? The hero and the millionaire wants to become our son-in-law. He's in love with Hetty, and he wants to stay on and win her heart. He'll wire fence the farm for half price, and he thinks he can get me $50 off the price of a windmill. I've given my consent to the marriage, but he wants to know what you think of it."

The wife had her mouth open to reply when the knocker sounded on the front door, and a woman was in waiting to ask if a Mr. Meeker was stopping there. The question had hardly been answered when a second and a third drove up, and the last announced that the wire fence man was skating for the woods. Each of the three claimed him for her hero and millionaire husband, and all were talking at once and berating each other when Hetty and Mr. Watterson quietly entered, and the latter as quietly said:

"Mr. Johnson, I have the honor of asking your consent to my marriage with your daughter."

It was several hours later, when a calm had settled down and Farmer Johnson was doing the milking, that he muttered to himself:

"Ho, now, but what you about, you one horned critter! Dang it, but I can't help but think of that 'ere Meeker and that 'ere Watterson and the old woman and Hetty and the three wives! There's another, but he's too big a fool to think of, and that's me, and if this infernal old cow don't stop switching her tail I'll chop it off with an ax!"

What the Rolling Stone Does Get.

After an absence of five or six years Ephraim returned to the little town in Maryland where he had been born and reared. From his brown derby hat to his patent leather shoes he was dressed in the tiptop of fashion. His first call was made on his brother Bill, a slow, plodding kind of darky, who had never been to Baltimore.

Ephraim told with great enthusiasm his experiences in Philadelphia, Washington, New York, Chicago, St. Louis, San Francisco and other places in which he had plied his calling of barber. He wound up rather softly with:

"Say, Bill, kin you len' me $2?"

Bill looked with just a touch of scorn at the fine clothes of the wanderer and drew a small roll of bills from his pocket. He peeled off two ones, handed them to his brother and said:

"It's the old story, I see, Eph. A rolling stone gathers no moss."

Ephraim drew himself up, adjusted his coat by the lapels, flecked an imaginary speck of dust from his sleeve and replied:

"Yes, Bill, but he gits a mighty sight o' polish."

Ancient Rings.

The hands of female mummies found in the tombs of Egypt are literally covered with rings, in many instances there being from two to six on every finger.

The Smallest Church.

At Penon, Mexico, a suburb of the City of Mexico, may be seen what is perhaps the smallest church in the world. It nestles under the shadow of a small volcano. The church is about ten feet high and twelve feet wide. Modern Mexico says, "Whenever a couple is married at the little altar of the church there is barely room for the groom and bride to turn around at the same time."

Insane Asylums.

In 1796 William Tuke, a Quaker, opened the first national asylum for the insane in York, England.

Denmark's Old Vessels.

Denmark claims some interesting specimens of marine architecture in the five oldest vessels in the world. The Albertine was built in 1794, the Constance in 1793, the De Wende Brodoe in 1786, the Emile Hauser in 1786 and the Marie in 1776. All are still in regular service, some even trading to Iceland.

A Bold Thief.

A thief stole a diamond stud from the shirt front of the clerk of a New York police court on a recent Sunday while the court was in session and the clerk at his duties.

Borrowed Plumes.

An English beauty was in the habit of curling her hair with five pound Bank of England notes. She occasionally showed herself to visitors with her hair in this costly paper. She soon captured a wealthy husband, who discovered that she was a deceiver, for she had borrowed the money she had displayed.

Camels.

No satisfactory evidence of camels existing in a wild state has ever been produced. They have, in fact, been domesticated from the very earliest times.

Eggs and Milk.

Eggs poached in milk afford not only a pleasant variety to the invalid's menu, but the dish besides offers a slight increase in nourishment over the usual way. The milk should come to the scalding point, when the egg is dropped in and cooked as if in water. A little of the hot milk is poured over the toast to soften it before the egg is slipped on.

LIVING IN PARIS.

The Way One Rents an Apartment in the French Capital.

An apartment should be seen on a sunny day before engaging, and it is not legally secured until papers are signed. The lease is on a quarterly basis. Payments are made in advance the 15th of January, April, June and October and occupancy given up to these dates. But when intending to leave the tenant should give his three months' notice before the first day of these months. Failure to do this and neglect of the governmental tribute of a stamped paper hold him to a further three months' liability, as many a rueful American can witness. To avoid this it is merely needful to buy a stamped sheet of paper for 8 cents of the tobacconist, legal vender of all stamps, write the notice thereon and give it to the landlord personally or send it to him by registered letter. The concierge, although he collects the rent and has full charge of the house, is neither authorized to let the apartment nor to receive notices. In the paper signed by tenant and landlord the former guarantees to return the apartment in good condition, and if it is freshly papered, painted and waxed there will doubtless be something to pay on leaving, but care and economy in nail holes make the damages slight. Circle Magazine.

VENUS OF MILO.

The Famous Ancient Statue in the Louvre at Paris.

The Venus of Milo in the Louvre, Paris, is supposed by some to be the work of Alexandros, one of the Asiatic Greek sculptors. It is said that the base of the statue bearing the artist's name was destroyed for the purpose of causing the king of France to believe that the work was more ancient than it really was.

It was discovered on the island of Milo in 1820 by a peasant. It was in a niche in a wall which had been buried for years. The Marquis of Rivere bought it and gave it as a present to Louis XVIII. of France. It is made from two blocks of marble joined above the drapery which envelops the legs. As it now stands it has two blemishes, which have been repaired by modern artists. The tip of the nose was broken when it was found and also the foot which projects beyond the drapery.

In point of fact, it has a great deal more resemblance to a goddess than to a beautiful woman. At one time it was dressed in clothes of a modern sort, and the effect was anything but pleasing. The figure of the statue is not at all adapted to modern clothes.—

Why He Did Not Marry.

As a reason for not marrying Brahma once wrote to a friend: "At the time when I should have wished to marry, my compositions were either hissed at or at any rate very coolly received. I knew their worth, though, and that sooner or later the page would be turned, and in unmarried solitude I never really took my reverses to heart. But to be questioned by a wife at such moments, to have her inquiring eyes anxiously fixed upon me, to hear her ask, 'Again a fiasco? no, that I could never have borne, for, however much she loved me and believed in me, I could not have expected her to have unwavering faith in my subsequent victory. And had she attempted to console me! Ugh! I can't even think of it. It would have been little less than hell!"—Monthly Review.

Convenient Arrangement.

"What are you buying now?"

"I am looking for some present to give my wife on her birthday. I tell you, making presents costs a heap of money."

"Why don't you do as I do? I have never failed to make my wife a present on her birthday every year for twenty-five years, and I am not out a penny thus far."

"How do you manage it?"

"It is very simple. After we were married, when her birthday came round, I gave her a £5 note. When my birthday came round, she gave me the note back, and we have kept that up ever since, and neither of us is out a penny."—London Tit-Bits.

Like Calling For a Drink.

A hard drinker was told by his doctor that he could be cured if every time he felt that he must have a drink he would immediately take something to eat instead. The man followed the advice and was cured, but the habit of asking for food had become so fixed with him that once he was nearly locked up as a lunatic. He was stopping at a hotel, and, hearing a great commotion in the room next to his, he peeped over the transom to see what the matter was. He saw and rushed madly down to the office and shouted to the clerk: "The man in 153 has shot himself! Ham and egg sandwich, please!"

Wrong Frame of Mind.

"Caroline, aren't you ever going to join the church?"

"Of course I am, Aunt Rachel, some day. But you ought to know better than ask me to do it when I'm right in the midst of this dratted house cleaning."

The Old Order Changes.

The old Scots parliament decreed that "golf and football shall be utterly cryit dune," and today the Scots parliament does not exist, while football and golf have inherited the earth.—Edinburgh Dispatch.

Every good action prompts to a repetition thereof.

Nile Fish.

The Nile is noted for the variety of its fish. An expedition sent by the British museum brought home 9,000 specimens.

SUNSHINE FURNACE

NOT SHAKING. JUST A GENTLE ROCKING OF THE LEVER.

Shaking is a hard, back-breaking exercise, peculiar to common furnaces, while you can stand erect at the Sunshine—and moving the lever, to and fro, about half the length of your arm, a few times, is mere play. A child can easily do it.

Grates of the Sunshine are in two sections—right and left. By gently rocking the lever, a few times, the ashes are released from the right. Repeat the operation on the left and the ashes from that side drop into the ash-pan, too. You couldn't wish for anything easier than the Sunshine Method.

When this lever is not in use it can be disconnected from the grates and the opening capped. But when connected it fills up the opening so snugly that no dust from the falling ashes can escape.

Every detail is thought of on the "Sunshine"—that's what makes it the best.

DRUGGIST DOUGLAS GOES FREE?

Mr. Johnston, K.C., Will Oppose His Being Tried.

PUBLIC FEELING IS STRONG

Case Called To-day at Orangeville—As Witness for Crown Prisoner Claims Protection—Defence Lawyer's Statement—Was Witness Against Jackson—Counsel Says Would Be Breach of Honor.

Orangeville, May 29.—The Douglas case will go on to-day at 10 o'clock, with E. F. B. Johnston of Toronto chief counsel for the accomplice of Jackson. He will arrive this morning, and it is understood will at once go to the court house, where he will fight tooth and nail the crown's evident purpose of bringing Douglas to trial.

Public feeling is still at fever heat, but it is generally understood that despite all protests from the citizens and the country at large, Douglas will go free, in fact, it is openly stated that the trial will not last half an hour.

Mr. Johnston stated that he had been retained in the case from the first, and that he intended to take the stand that Douglas should not, nor could not, come to trial after he had been used as a material witness against Jackson, first at the inquest, again at the extradition, and again before the grand jury.

"Never," said the lawyer, "in the whole history of the crown has such a course been pursued. Why, it would be a great breach of honor on the part of the crown to hear and use a man's statement against him. It has never been done in any case before where an accomplice was afterwards tried on his own story. I don't believe the crown will attempt to bring Douglas to trial, and I certainly will object to any trial at all.

"I have too much confidence in Mr. Whitney as Attorney-General of this province to think that he would go against all precedents in this country and in England, by ordering a trial. It would be a great breach of honor on his part, and I am sure that he will not listen to the clamor of public opinion. He is too shrewd a man to use a statement given in confidence to the crown against a man in Douglas' position.

"If it were not for Douglas the crown would have had no case against Jackson."

SENT BOMB TO DOCTOR.

Police Now Inspect Infernal Machine Left By Blackhand.

New York, May 29.—Detectives are trying to obtain a clue to the sender of a dangerous infernal machine, which was received yesterday by Dr. D. D. Darrian, a local physician.

When the machine was opened at police headquarters, it was found to contain three shells, loaded with shot, arranged to explode when the lid of the box was opened. On the inside of the box was drawn a crude skull and crossbones, with the following scrawl: "We hope this will kill you. If it does not, we will get you yet. (Signed) Blackhand."

ATTEMPT TO KILL EDITOR.

Slashed by Italian Who Was Looking For Revenge.

Pittsburg, May 29.—An unknown Italian made an attempt yesterday to assassinate M. Cancelliere, proprietor and editor of The La Trinacria, an Italian paper. The man had slashed Cancelliere across the right side of the face with a small stiletto.

Cancelliere had been vigorous in his denunciation of several Italians who had been swindling their countrymen.

Lunatic Fires House.

Brockville, May 29.—An insane man named J. Deschamps, attempted to burn his wife and family, near Raymondville.

Getting up in the night he sprinkled coal oil about the house and barn, then touched the match. Fortunately the inmates awoke in time to escape. Nothing was saved in the house or barn except one horse.

Judge Accused of Murder.

Covington, Ky., May 29.—Judge W. G. Loving was yesterday indicted for the murder of Theodore Iests, whom he charged with wronging his daughter. Judge Loving pleaded not guilty and was bailed in $7,000, the surety being Judge John D. Horsley of

MILK MUST BE PURE.

Dairyman's Association on Track of Dishonest Farmers.

Toronto, May 29.—Thomas Ballantyne of Stratford, and J. Paget of Camboro, representing the Western Dairymen's Association, waited on the Hon. Nelson Monteith, Minister of Agriculture, yesterday afternoon, to request that the Government inspectors of cheese factories should not only inspect the milk coming in, but should institute prosecutions against those found supplying milk which might not be up to the standard.

The Minister could not promise that the inspectors would undertake those duties, but willingly gave his sanction to the suggestion of the deputation that the association should engage men both to test the milk and press cases against delinquents. The duties of these officials will, of course, not conflict in any way with those of the Government inspectors.

FRANCO-JAP TREATY.

Signatures to Be Attached to Convention This Week.

Paris, May 29.—The accord on the Franco-Japanese convention is complete. The Japanese Minister, M. Kurino, and Foreign Minister Pichon will exchange signatures before the week-end. In order to prevent the possibility of a misunderstanding France has formally communicated the terms of the agreement to Washington, with assurances that it is in no way directed against the United States. The American Government after an examination of the terms replied that it had absolutely no objection to the convention.

The impression prevails in diplomatic circles here that despite the Monroe doctrine the United States diplomats are negotiating a treaty with Japan along lines similar to those of the Franco-Japanese agreement.

JUMPED FROM THE DECK.

Wife of Chocolate King Takes Life At Sea.

Vancouver, B. C., May 29.—Mrs. Richard Cadbury, widow of the famous chocolate king, committed suicide on board the steamer Empress of China on her way from Yokohama to Vancouver on May 21. She and her daughter had been traveling in Palestine.

Mrs. Cadbury suffered greatly from sea sickness and general depression on the way out from Yokohama, and when a few days from port jumped from the promenade deck to the after deck, where Chinese passengers were quartered. She sustained injuries from which she died in a few hours and the same day was buried at sea.

CANNOT FIND SCHOONERS.

Cruiser Sent Out Returns With No News.

Sydney, N.S., May 29.—The French cruiser Distress has arrived at St. Pierre and reports having failed to find any trace of the two fishing schooners, the Blanche and Lafiemme, which sailed for the banks about two months ago.

The warship on her return picked up the French barque Hardonelle, hailing from Granville, France, which was badly damaged in a collision at sea with the brig Anna Maria. The collision occurred during a heavy fog on the banks and both vessels were badly damaged.

The warships report considerable ice on the banks and very little fish.

Alarm Has Subsided.

Winnipeg, Man., May 29.—Hon. Frank Oliver, Minister of the Interior, arrived in Winnipeg from the West yesterday morning.

He said that throughout the western provinces the seeding is now well advanced, and in many sections is practically completed. The alarm that was first raised regarding the unseasonable weather conditions, because of the lateness of the spring, has now subsided.

Cook's Hard Experience.

Port Huron, Mich., May 29.—Margaret Kelly, a marine cook, lost both her feet through amputation here yesterday. Mrs. Kelly was cook on the barge Lilly Smith, which was beached in Georgian Bay last Friday. When the boat struck a rock a tank of boiling water was thrown over the woman, which scalded her feet and legs.

She lay for several hours in the small boat in which the crew made their escape.

Mining Prospector Killed.

Cobalt, May 29.—Patrick Laclair, a mining prospector, who came here from Buckingham, Que., was killed by a yard engine on the T. and N. O. Railway. Laclair was standing against a coal dock, and the vibration of the ground caused by the motion of the engine shocked the dock so that it collapsed.

Will Protect the Japs.

Washington, May 29.—Secretary Root yesterday received from the Governor of California a wire stating that he would call the attention of the chief of police of San Francisco at once to the matter and request him to use every effort to protect these people. He thinks the assaults were due largely to uncertain conditions existing in San Francisco by reason of the labor troubles.

The State Department has taken notice of their action in the matter, but undoubtedly will communicate Governor Gillett's telegram to the Japanese embassy, and belief is expressed that it will satisfactorily meet their complaint.

CAUGHT IN A TRAP.

Montreal Woman Locks Burglar in a Room Upstairs.

Montreal, May 29.—Oscar Berube, laborer, 18 years of age, 130 Chatham street, appeared before Judge Lafontaine yesterday, charged with breaking into the house of J. B. Mack, 1 Seymour avenue. He pleaded not guilty to the charge, and was remanded for enquete.

In the afternoon Mrs. Mack had been out making a call, and on her return found her parlor and kitchen in a wonderful state of confusion. Ornaments had been taken from their places and the contents of the dresser and cupboards scattered about the floor. Hearing a noise upstairs, she crept up on tiptoe and observed a man in the front room. With great presence of mind she pulled the door of the room shut and turned the key in the lock. Knowing that she had the man safe, unless he broke open the door or jumped forty feet to the ground, she hurried to a neighbor's house and telephoned for the police. Captain Baker of No. 10 station, with several constables, responded to the call and took Berube in charge. The prisoner had packed up quite a quantity of valuables, in addition to having a bundle of stuff with him when he entered the house. He at first gave his name as John Brown, and said he had thought the house was his own. Three years ago, on June 19, Berube was sentenced for breaking into the same house, which at that time was occupied by another tenant.

FREEDOM FOR SCHOOLS.

Canadian Presides at Federal Conference on Education.

London, May 29.—(C. A. P.)—J. R. Inch of New Brunswick presided at yesterday's meeting of the federal conference on education, when freedom for the individual schools was discussed.

A. H. MacKay of Nova Scotia explained the elementary secondary system in Canada.

J. L. Hughes spoke on Canada's forward policy with regard to technical education.

E. S. Gosnell emphasized the importance of a system of technical training in British Columbia.

A. H. MacKay said the trend of Nova Scotian opinion was to lay special stress upon preparing young people for the performance of their duties.

The Australian and South African representatives also spoke.

South Oxford Liberals.

Tilsonburg, May 29.—In convention yesterday, South Oxford Liberals nominated M. S. Scheli, M.P., to contest the riding at the next Dominion election, and Dr. McKay of Ingersoll for the next provincial election. The meeting was very largely attended.

Mr. Scheli's nomination was unopposed, while four nominees, Dr. McKay, M. L. Buchanan of Ingersoll, Allan Kneal of East Oxford, and Roger Hopkins of Dereham, contested for the honors of being the candidate for the local House. Dr. McKay, on the first ballot, secured 128 out of 287 votes cast.

Hon. George P. Graham, F. G. Inwood and Hal. B. Donley of Simcoe spoke briefly.

Deserted On Street.

Hamilton, May 29.—A case of child desertion was yesterday called to the attention of the police. A youngster in a baby carriage was left in front of a store near the corner of King and Hughson streets. The outfit stood there from three o'clock to six o'clock, and when it came to closing time the police were sent for. The constable who responded, had to make friends with a dog that stood guard over the child, before he was allowed to touch the carriage. Then he wheeled the outfit down the street with a large crowd tagging on behind.

Canadian to Arbitrate.

Santiago, May 29.—The State Department at Washington has declined to permit the United States consul, Mr. Holliday, to act on the strike arbitration board, and the latter has substituted for Mr. Holiday, Geo. W. Howard, acting manager of the Royal Bank of Canada, a Canadian citizen.

A company of artillery is guarding the dock and warehouses.

The typesetters have joined the strikers and no newspapers are appearing.

The Canary's Mission.

By Virginia Leila Wentz.

Copyright, 1907, by E. C. Parcells.

George Charlemagne Tower rang for his landlady, with an impatient frown on his scholastic brow. As she entered his library she found him pacing up and down the Bokhara rug.

"That person who's rented your room back there"—he began.

"A young girl, sir," vouchsafed Mrs. Martin.

—"must part with that infernal canary," he went on, ignoring the information, "or either she or I will have to leave. For three days now I've listened to its noise till I'm in such a state of mind that I can't evolve a single clear thought or reason syllogistically. It's absurd."

Mrs. Martin hadn't perhaps the faintest idea what the "evolution of a clear thought" meant nor what "syllogistic reasoning" implied, but she had a most excellent idea of what George Charlemagne Tower's occupation of the best part of her apartment meant and what his threat implied. For five years now he had been her model star lodger, a bachelor and a heart whole man. She had come to look upon him as a comfortable fixture and so had her husband, who was something of an idler, having found no position in life exactly suited to his gifted irresponsibilities.

"Miss Clemmens—that's the young girl, sir—won't part with her canary, I know," observed the landlady nervously, picking up a paperweight. "She's uncommonly fond of the bird, but I'll tell her I'd like the room when her week's up." Mrs. Martin laid down the paperweight with the air of a martyr.

"Very well," grunted Mr. Tower, pulling up the shade of his library's back window with a jerk so that the morning sunlight struck like gold upon the big rubber plant. Then he opened the window. It was very warm in the room. "Suppose I'll have to stand the nuisance a few days longer. That's all. Good morning." He sat down at his mahogany desk with an air of dismissal and drew some papers toward him.

"I'M YOUR NEW NEIGHBOR, GRACIOCA CLEMMENS."

As he bent over his manuscripts, goose quill in hand, suddenly there sounded the whir of tiny wings in the stillness of the room, and there on the very sunniest leaf of his rubber plant perched a little yellow canary.

After an alert, coquettish inspection of the room and its occupant the bird lifted its slender neck and emitted several penetrating chirps; then it filled its lungs with air, its soft chest expanded, and it burst into a gust of song.

"Come in, come in," called Mr. Tower brusquely in response to a knock upon his half closed door. He looked up over his glasses. There, straight and slender and very, very young, stood a girl, the splendid morning light bathing her and turning the bronze of her soft hair to fire.

"You see—my canary," she explained. "I was giving him a bath, and he spied your plant in the sunlight, and—Will you close your window, please, and let me coax him back? I'm your new neighbor, Gracioca Clemmens, in Mrs. Martin's back room there." She nodded prettily over her shoulder, down the side of the long apartment.

"Gracioca!" ejaculated Mr. George Charlemagne Tower half to himself as he closed the window. There had never been but one of that name outside the covers of the old green fairy book. That one was a girl he had known in Yale in his freshman year. At that tender age she had been sufficiently older than he to lay siege upon his susceptibilities. Lordy, Lordy, how far away that seemed now! "She was a Miss Barr," he said reflectively, fingering his watch chain as he looked at the girl coaxing the canary, "and she went west."

"Uh-huh," acquiesced the girl brightly; "that's where she met father." The bird flew to her shoulder, and with one hand she covered it daintily and bent down her coral lips to caress its tiny, fluffy head. "But how ever did you come to know mother? Think I look like her?"

"Very much indeed," said the man gravely, answering the last question. "Only prettier," he added mentally, looking down confusedly on the fine white parting that separated the burnished golden waves of hair.

"She's disturbed my train of thought," he said helplessly after she had disappeared. "So her mother died when she was a baby, and she's all alone in the world, poor child!"

For the next hour George Charlemagne Tower scribbled away idly over his desk—idly, for visions of a goddess with burnished hair got mixed up with everything he wrote. Finally he pressed the electric button. When Mrs. Martin appeared, he explained to her that he'd changed his mind about the canary—rather fancied he liked its singing, after all—so she need not disturb herself about complaining to its owner. She had not already done so, he hoped.

Mrs. Martin's kindly, motherly face beamed. No, she had not. She was deterring that unpleasant mission till evening. Miss Clemmens went out to work every morning. That was she who closed the hall door a half hour ago. And she was afraid it might upset the poor girl for the day's duties, telling her just as she left, etc.

When Mrs. Martin had gone, the bachelor straightened up and laughed, and with the laugh he was transformed. He pushed his pen and ink away, put the paperweight over his unfinished manuscript, strode into the hall and rang for the lift with the swagger of youth. His slightly bent, scholarly walk was discarded. What man could be old with a face like Gracioca's in his heart?

A day or two later when he found that this embodiment of youth was "motherly Mamie" of the Young Girls' Embroidery Bazaar and that her duties were to lead the young mind into the mysteries of purling, drop stitch and sentiment he acknowledged that there was some humor in life, after all.

Life was not only humorous; it was gradually becoming luminous as well. Gone were the days when his desk and his books were Mr. Tower's sole companions. In the daytime now he often listened to the song of the canary and lived in thoughts of its owner. In the evenings he was allowed to chat with the girl herself.

Mrs. Martin watched the growing romance with self effacing interest, and on many a cozy evening spent around the log fire in the library grate she would invent some excuse and absent herself so that the two might be alone.

The bachelor had fingered his glasses nervously when he asked the question of questions, and when in her cool, confident little way the girl had said "No" he urged no further.

"I understand," he said to himself that night as he dropped his head down on the desk, "I am too—too old. Such a fool to dream of it!"

The girl, however, in the privacy of her room, wore a wistful, sad little face. Now and then a tear would fall with a splash.

"He doesn't seem so awfully, awfully old, Blix," she pleaded, going up to the cage where the canary slept with his head tucked unresponsively under his wing. "How could I do without him now? He never guesses how this silly little heart of mine listens for his step in the hall or the sound of his voice, nor how it flutters when it hears them. Is it so very, very dreadful, Blix, to marry a man who thinks he's too old? I wonder if"— Her sentence trailed off indistinguishably as she knelt to say her prayers.

* * * * * * * *

But she didn't wonder long. Mrs. Martin wouldn't let her. And so on the following Sunday she tripped into the library carrying her canary cage. Blix wasn't feeling very well, and she had promised him a sun bath by the rubber plant.

As Mr. George Charlemagne Tower hung the cage he seemed overflowingly happy. Evidently that cool, confident little "No" had been withdrawn for the purpose of amendment—it would have been even safe to guess that a "Yes" had been supplied. Gracioca had nestled herself into a big leather chair near the fire, as if she intended to stay there forever. It was a way she had—one of the many ways her lover had found so ineffably charming. Possibly other girls had them too. He didn't know.

He stood before her for a second; then, stooping, his two patrician hands framed each side of her oval face, he turned it up to his.

"Think, dear," he said, "you might have come and stopped awhile and gone—just like the dozen and one other occupants of that room back there—if"—

"If it hadn't been for Blix," twinkled she, dimpling divinely.

"Precious little Blix!" ejaculated he, his voice lost somewhere among the coils of the girl's fluffy hair.

And the canary, forgetting he wasn't feeling well, extended his slender body, filled his tiny lungs with air and sang pompously. It was, for all the world, as if he were proud of the mission he had performed.

GROWING OLD WHILE YET YOUNG

What a number of women there are who feel that these words exactly suit their case.

There are thousands of females all over our land, broken down in health and dragging out a miserable existence, overburdened with disease peculiar to their sex, apparently growing old while yet young.

From early morn till late at night they have been on the go year after year, attending to the household duties. Is it any wonder then that sooner or later there comes a general collapse? Palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration, smothering and sinking spells, weakness, dizziness, sleeplessness and many other troubles follow. What a woman wants is something to build up the system and for this purpose you cannot equal

WHEN BOSTON SHOOK.

An Earthquake That Rocked the City November, 1755.

On November 18, 1755, "a little after 4 on a serene and pleasant night," Boston was roused by an earthquake which lasted nearly five minutes. A writer of the times gives an account of the catastrophe, and Rev. Henry White quotes it in his "Early History of New England:"

One hundred chimneys were leveled to the roofs of the houses and fifteen hundred were shattered in part. The streets were covered with bricks which had fallen. The ends of brick houses were thrown down.

It was first introduced with a noise like several coaches rattling over pavements, or rather like many cart loads of paving stones thrown down. The first motion was a strong pulsation, which threw my house upward. Immediately after a tremor succeeded; then instantly a quick vibration with sudden jerks followed.

The first view I had was of the steeples of the churches, and I was glad to see them standing, but the spindle and vane of Faneuil Hall market were thrown down.

Many persons ran into the streets, shrieking with apprehension of its being the last day or the judgment, and some thought they heard the last trumpet sounding and cried for mercy. The beast creatures lowed, the birds fluttered in surprise, and all the animal creation was filled with terror. Every face looked ghastly, and many knees smote together. Never was such a scene of disaster in New England before.

DON'T BORROW MEDICINE.

Physician Points Out the Grave Danger of Such a Course.

"And whatever you do," said a doctor to a poor patient, "don't take any borrowed medicine."

"Wasn't that an unnecessary caution?" asked a woman who happened to be present.

"Not in this neighborhood," said the doctor. "It is a common thing for people down here to lend medicine. They do it, of course, to help each other along. So far as I know, no one has paid the penalty of this neighborly kindness with his life, but it is the greatest wonder in the world that one-half the people in the neighborhood hasn't poisoned the other half.

"The first thing a sick person does is to describe his symptoms to his friends. He is pretty sure to find somebody in the crowd who has been afflicted with apparently the same ailment. Usually the former patient has some of the medicine left and straightway it is proffered as a possible cure.

"'You might just as well have it,' says the kindly neighbor. 'It will be pretty sure to help you and will save doctor's bills.'

"Of course it doesn't do anything of the kind. Nine times out of ten the stuff taken was prescribed for an entirely different ailment and makes the patient worse than he was in the beginning, but until the altruistic spirit results in some serious accident the practice is likely to continue."

The Chatty Englishman.

Every Englishman likes to be alone and have things to himself. If he cannot choose his company, he would rather have none. Englishmen are proud of the national idiosyncrasy, yet here comes one who, knowing all this, pays it no deference, but sets the national tradition at defiance and forces his intrusive presence on you. Why does this denationalized Englishman, when he may be as solitary as you wish to be yourself, not act as every true Englishman ought and go into the next carriage or take a seat at the other side of the room as far away as he can get from you? By all acknowledged laws of English intercourse he ought as much to dislike being near you as you dislike to be near him.—London Saturday Review.

Miraculous Cures.

Reginald of Durham, who wrote a chronicle some time before 1190, asserts that a young English nobleman was cured of leprosy at the shrine of St. Cuthbert in Durham cathedral and that a young woman who had been for the space of three years an inmate of a large hospital established at Badele, near Darlington, in the diocese of Durham, was miraculously healed at the shrine of St. Godric at Finchdale in the presence of Ralph Haget, sheriff of the county, and Norman, parish priest of Hailtune.—St. James' Gazette.

She Got a New One.

"I've stopped asking people if my bonnet is on straight." The Husband—Why, my dear? The Wife—I love you too much, John, to disgrace you by calling a body's attention to an old bonnet like this.—London Tit-Bits.

How to Air a Bed.

It is not every one that can air a bed and make it properly.

The first thing in the morning the bed should be stripped of every covering and left to air thoroughly.

Don't, however, leave a window open directly upon the bed linen with a fog or rain prevailing outside.

It is not uncommon to see sheets and bedding in front of windows with perhaps rain not actually falling, but with 90 per cent of humidity in the air, and the person sleeping in the bed wonders the next day where she got her cold.

A room should be aired in damp weather, but the bedding and bed should not be allowed to absorb any dampness by being brought close to the window.

Milk Face Bleach.

This is an old French formula of great value for a bleach made of milk. Let one quart of milk stand in a warm place until thick, set over the fire until it boils, strain through muslin and into the thin liquid slice a large green cucumber, boil until you have a soft pulpy mass, strain again, let stand for an hour and pour carefully into a bottle, throwing away the settlings. To this liquid add one tablespoonful of alcohol, twenty drops of tincture of benzoin and any perfume you desire. Apply at night after washing the face, letting it dry into the surface and then anointing well with creme marquise.

Laundry Ideas.

Tablecloths should be ironed on both sides. If they are of good quality, are well moistened and then ironed until dry, they will have quite enough stiffness and gloss. If they are worn so thin that they become limp by once using, take what starch is left after the other clothes have been starched and dilute it with water enough to rinse the tablecloth. Dry, sprinkle and iron as usual. The thinned starch is just enough to give some body to the soft old linen.

When meat or vegetables are prepared ahead of time for the table, they may be dished and then set over pans containing boiling water. Place lids over them and cover with a cloth. The steam will keep the articles warm a long time and does not dry the meat by forcing out the gravy.

To cut bias ruffles, cut pieces four times as wide as needed. Then place cut edges together and fold by hand or hot iron. Cut in fold, and you have two pieces twice as wide as required. Fold and cut again, and you have four strips without any bother but the measuring.

ROYAL HORSES IN RIVER.

Queen of Norway Has Narrow Escape In Paris.

Paris, May 30.—While King Haakon and Queen Maud of Norway were driving in the park of Varsailles yesterday accompanied by President and Mme. Fallieres, the leading horse attached to the carriage containing the Queen and Mme Fallieres suddenly reared while crossing a small bridge and jumped over the paraphet into the water, dragging the postilion over the bridge.

The two ladies were somewhat alarmed, but happily they did not sustain any injury.

The postilion was dragged out of the water, none the worse for his wetting, another horse was attached to the carriage and the party proceeded.

As a souvenir of their visit the French Government has presented to their Norwegian majesties a gobelin tapestry, some fine engravings from Louvre, and several Sevres vases. M. Fallieres has decided to go to Norway during the summer and return King Haakon's visit.

It is entirely probable that his trip will be extended to include England, Denmark and other countries, whose sovereigns have been guests of the French republic.

RAILWAYMAN CHARGED.

Held Responsible For Two Deaths Near St. Thomas.

St. Thomas, May 30.—Murray Stevens, who was the engineer in charge of the Wabash theatrical special train last August that dashed into a C.P.R. passenger train, just on the city limits, and killed John MacKay, of Toronto, was arrested yesterday and lodged in the county jail. He will have to answer to the charge of causing MacKay's death.

The wreck caused the deaths of John MacKay, a C. P. R. engineer at Toronto Junction, and Alex. Wiley, a baggageman of St. Thomas, and injured several others.

In his evidence at the inquest, Stevens admitted he ran past the signal, and declared he had no intention of stopping for the crossing, this, he said, being contrary to the custom of the road.

The watchman declared the C. P. R. train had the right of way, and the coroner's jury put the blame on the Wabash employes.

Mining Commission.

Alberta, May 30.—The Lethbridge mining commission began taking evidence yesterday morning. A number of miners stated their views, based on experience, plainly to the commissioners.

It was established that conditions in Galt are on the whole satisfactory, though ventilation and the system of paying men were criticized. There had been no fatal accident in these mines for four years.

The eight-hour day was strongly advocated as being conductive to more effective work and less liability to accidents.

Tariff With Germany.

London, May 30.—(C. A. P.)—The Mail's Hamburg correspondent says: Herr Baldn, managing director of the Hamburg-American Line has informed him the company will establish a direct weekly goods and passenger service between Hamburg and Canada.

Japs Look For Revenge.

San Francisco, May 29.—For a murderous assault committed by Japanese armed with knives on Horace Hazell a young dentist, and Randolph Merriweather, an electrician, Monday the police have taken M. Tugimova, Niki Kipiro and S. Hamada into custody. They are held pending the outcome of the victim's injuries.

The theory of the detectives is that the Japanese believed Randolph Merriweather was Richard Merriweather, who was arrested a week ago for assaulting a Japanese.

Sultan's Troops Routed.

THE ORANGEVILLE CASE WITHDRAWN

Charge Against Druggist Douglas is Dropped By the Crown.

COMMUNITY IS AROUSED

Final Scene In the Orangeville Case—Mr. Johnson, K. C., Claims That "Bargain" Be Honored—Evidence Said to Be Weak—Crown Attorney Explains Action—Coroner Calls It a Farce.

Orangeville, May 30.—Although of a dramatic moment in the proceedings, Coroner James Henry rose in open court and vehemently stated that the whole thing was a farce, addressing Police Magistrate Pattullo directly on the bench, the crown yesterday afternoon dismissed Arthur Chapman Douglas on the charge of supplying noxious drugs for a criminal purpose to Elizabeth Wells.

The score or so of spectators, that included farmers that had driven in miles to be present, judging from their expressions, did not view the result with any too much equanimity. There was talk of holding an indignation meeting Thursday night.

Mr. E. F. B. Johnston, K.C., after the reading of the charge, sprang a surprise by refusing to allow Douglas to either plead or elect. This course he explained, was justified from the fact that Douglas had been used by the Crown as a witness for the extradition of Walter Jackson, and before the grand jury and following the invariable custom ought to be protected. On this understanding only Douglas had been permitted by his counsel to make any statement to the Crown.

The crown attorney made a statement in which he said the reason for the course taken, was that he felt that no jury would convict on the hearsay evidence, which was all that could be produced. Moreover, Douglas had been used as a witness for the Crown, and this had always been held to carry exemption from future prosecution.

DISCREDITS THE BARON.

Attempt Made to Declare Evidence Inadmissable.

Quebec, May 30.—The chief incident in the Prevost trial yesterday was the long legal fight over an attempt to introduce evidence proving Baron Lapine's oft-repeated statement of disbelief in God and the future state, for the purpose of ruling out all his evidence against the Cabinet Ministers and about the electoral fund.

Mr. Lafamme objected that this evidence, once given, must be permitted to stand, when court had allowed him to testify. The objection should have come before the examination of witness.

Judge Bosse took the question under consideration.

Hon. Mr. Dubord, M. L. C., said that he had been appointed as Canadian director of the Belgium syndicate and that he never heard anything about the electoral fund and the contribution of 30 cents per acre required by Hon. Mr. Turgeon from the syndicate.

CALLED HIM "DIRTY BRAT."

Lawrence Gowland Gives This as Motive for Killing the Woman.

Killarney, Man., May 30.—"I killed Georgina Brown because she called me a dirty little English brat."

Such is the motive Lawrence Gowland claims led him to perpetrate the revolting murder of last week.

The confession was made to the murdered girl's brother, and it was entered in the evidence at the preliminary trial yesterday afternoon.

Gowland was then committed for trial.

May Be Girl's Murderer.

New York, May 30.—An attempted criminal assault on a five-year-old girl in Corona, L. I., yesterday gave rise to the suspicion that Henry Becker might not, after all, have been the assailant of Amelia Staffeldt, the 15-year-old girl who was killed in a field in Elmhurst last Wednesday.

The culprit in yesterday's attempted outrage was arrested and he answers fairly well the description given by Joseph Engel of the man he saw running away from the lot on which the Staffeldt girl was murdered.

Drinkwater Remanded.

Cobourg, May 30.—J. H. Drinkwater came before Police Magistrate Holland yesterday morning charged with forging a $400 cheque on the Dominion Bank. He was represented by J. F. Keith.

The magistrate remanded the case until Wednesday, June 5.

TO CURE DRUNKENNESS.

Proposal to Establish Provincial Home For Inebriates.

Toronto, May 30.—The Ontario Medical Association decided yesterday morning that the only way to redeem inebriates was to keep them under restraint and give them special treatment.

The subject was brought up in an address by Dr. Edward Ryan of Kingston, who said that drunkenness was one of the worst evils that physicians had to combat. The loss to the state and to society, he added, could not be computed.

Mr. Justice Riddell was present and strongly supported the establishment of an institution in the province where inebriates might be treated. Some of the delegates were not sure that an asylum of this kind would be a success, but eventually it was agreed to request the Government to establish such an hospital, where those who were far gone in the liquor habit might have some chance to recover.

It is claimed it is reported that a special committee had waited on the Premier to urge the appointment of a Minister of Public Health. Mr. Whitney did not receive the idea very favorably. At least he saw considerable difficulty in the way of such an innovation in the Cabinet and there seemed no likelihood of a new Minister being appointed in the immediate future.

TRYING TWO FOR MURDER.

Result of Drunken Row With Italians on Christmas Day.

Parry Sound, May 30.—Two Italians, by name Capelle and Marano, laborers, are on trial for murder, before Justice Teetzel in the Assizes here. A verdict is expected to-day. It is charged that during a drunken carousal on Christmas Day, when they were interfered with, they attacked the others in a vicious manner, Capelle with a sharp-pointed weapon made from a file, whilst Marano flourished a revolver, discharging it several times, resulting in one death.

One of the witnesses was Mrs. McCormack, wife of the owner of the house where the row and murder took place. It was because of her that the fight took place. Her evidence was to the effect that the prisoners had attempted to assault her.

Court sat late last night and the defence called the prisoner, Marino, to the stand. His story was one of almost direct contradiction to the others told on the stand, but he said little to exonerate his partner, Capelle.

ACCEPT OUR DOCTORS.

Nova Scotian Students Admitted to Royal Medical Corps.

London, May 30.—(C. A. P.)—Principal MacAlister, at the session of the General Medical Council, said the committee had decided to grant recognition to Nova Scotia degrees, and Canadian medical students who fulfilled the conditions applicable to the Maritime Provinces, will now be eligible to commission in the Royal Army Medical Corps.

The King has not yet been pleased to apply the act to Quebec, as it is first necessary that the council be more fully informed as to the actual provision of the local law affecting admission to the provincial register of practitioners registered in the United Kingdom.

New Government for New Brunswick.

Fredericton, N. B., May 30.—A meeting of the Provincial Government was held here Tuesday evening and may last for a day or two.

Hon. C. H. Labillois, chief commissioner of public works, arrived, and Premier Pugsley came from Montreal. Lieut.-Governor Tweedie also arrived from St. John and to him Hon. Mr. Pugsley handed his resignation.

Hon. Clifford W. Robinson, Provincial Secretary, is to be called upon to form an administration, but there is considerable speculation as to who will be selected to become members, it being generally felt that there will be several changes made.

Geo. W. Allen, M.P.P., and Solicitor-General Jones, are both mentioned prominently in connection with the Attorney-Generalship under the new regime.

Will Take Some Time.

London, May 30.—Premier Campbell-Bannerman, replying to a question, said matters relating to the proposed all-British mail route were being examined departmentally with the aid of experts.

Until he was further advised he would be unable to say whether a formal committee would be necessary.

Third to Suicide.

Binghamton, N. Y., May 30.—John Sayre, aged 83 years, yesterday committed suicide in his home by shooting himself through the mouth, going into the same pantry to commit the deed in which his father and grandfather both killed themselves by cutting their throats many years ago.

GLEANER LIBEL CASE IS PROCEEDING

Hon. H. R. Emmerson's Suit Against the Gleaner.

DEFENCE SAY JUSTIFICATION

Will Defend Action on Ground Charge is True—Prosecution Declines to Accept Admission—City Editor Gives Evidence—Does Not Know Who Wrote the Article—The Publication Is Admitted.

Fredericton, N. B., May 30.—When the criminal libel suit entered against The Gleaner by Hon. Mr. Emmerson opened yesterday morning before magistrate Marsh, it was generally known that no testimony would be heard until afternoon, and only a handful of people had assembled. Within the bar were J. D. Hazen, K. C., M. P. P., leader of the Provincial Opposition; Mayor McLeod, and O. S. Crockett, M. P., counsel for the defendant. Mr. Emmerson had not arrived, nor had his leading counsel, Premier, Hon. William Pugsley.

J. H. Barry, K. C., on behalf of the crown, asked an adjournment until the afternoon. He read a telegram from Premier Pugsley, stating that he would arrive at Fredericton with Mr. Emmerson on the C. P. R. express from Montreal.

The C. P. R. train was late, and it was three o'clock before Hon. Mr. Emmerson and his counsel entered the court room. Meanwhile a large crowd had assembled, and many curious glances were directed toward the witnesses for the defence. These included John Lloyd, white-haired and with white moustache, who for 39 years had been night clerk at the St. Lawrence Hall, Montreal; Harry Dean, a Scotchman of soldierly cut, who served under Gen. Gordon and who happened to be the night watchman at the hotel on the Sunday night when it is said that Mr. Emmerson and his companions were ejected; G. M. Smyth, accountant of the St. Lawrence Hall), who brought with him the register of the hotel.

Although counsel for the defendant offered, in open court, to admit that J. H. Crockett had written the alleged libel, Premier Pugsley insisted that he should be allowed to prove it. For this purpose he had subpoenaed the entire staff of The Fredericton Gleaner, but only one was called, namely, Douglas Black, city editor, who threw but little light on the subject.

Again, Mr. Hazen protested on behalf of Mr. Crockett that the latter admitted that he wrote the article.

"We have no technical defence," he thundered. "We say that the article is true and that it was published in the public interest."

After examining this witness, Mr. Pugsley asked for an adjournment.

The first witness called yesterday afternoon was John B. Hawthorne, jailer of the County of York. Not long since he purchased a copy of The Gleaner of date March 27. The paper was produced and Mr. Barry, on behalf of the crown, offered in evidence a sentence or two from quite a long editorial, these sentences comprising the charge that Mr. Emmerson was expelled from the St. Lawrence Hall, Montreal, in company with two women of ill repute. Mr. Hazen, for the defendant, insisted that the entire article must be put in evidence. Premier Pugsley objected strenuously to this. It would open the door to investigations as to the character of George W. Fowler, M. P. He denounced The Gleaner editorial as a "most horrible and slanderous article." The magistrate overruled the objection and confined the testimony to that excerpt from The Gleaner article which is quoted in the affidavit.

Douglas Black testified that The Gleaner had a large circulation in Canada and the United States. On March 27 last he understood in a general way that J. H. Crockett, the defendant, was editor of the paper. He was probably in Fredericton on that day. Witness had read The Gleaner on that date. He thought that the "Mr. Emmerson" referred to in The Gleaner article was Hon. Henry R. Emmerson, ex-Minister of Railways and Canals. He was unable to say who wrote the article. He could not say that it was written by the defendant, James H. Crockett.

The trial was adjourned until this morning at 10 o'clock.

Hit Duke With Parasol.

Paris, May 30.—A woman named Mme. Guggenheim was fined ¢20 in a civil court for having committed an assault with a parasol upon the Duke of Galleria, husband of the Infanta Eulalia, aunt of the present King of Spain.

She claimed in court that she had left her husband for love of the duke, and that he had subsequently neglected her.

NOT AFTER FOREIGNERS.

Chinese Rebels Are Fighting Against Native Rulers, Not Europeans.

Swatow, China, May 30.—A proclamation issued by the Swatan revolutionary society declares that the uprising is not directed against foreigners or ordinary Chinese citizens, but against the Government, the intention of the revolutionists being to attack and burn every yamen and exterminate the officials, with the object of overthrowing the Government.

The missions, with the exception of the German mission at Liau Chow, have thus far been unmolested, but the missionaries are abandoning their stations and seeking refuge here.

The local officials take a serious view of the situation, and are urging the authorities at Canton to despatch gunboats here.

Incoming and outgoing Chinese passengers on the Chao Coufu Railroad are searched.

Canton, China, May 30.—The revolutionists in the neighborhood of Swatow recently captured the entire family of a Chinese brigadier-general and compelled them all to drown themselves in a well.

Thirteen hundred troops have been despatched from Canton to Swatow and another detachment has gone there from Shiubing.

A Costly Pest.

Ottawa, May 30.—Dr. Fletcher, Dominion entomologist, will attend the convention which is to be held in the Annapolis Valley, Nova Scotia, next week, to discuss the best means of eradicating the brown tail moth, a pest that causes destruction in the orchards. This insect has made great havoc in the orchards of the New England States, and millions have been spent in trying to stamp it out. Recently it made its appearance in the Maritime Provinces.

The Nova Scotia Government is paying a bounty of three cents for each caterpillar nest brought in, and 2,000 have already been found.

No Sign of Summer.

Washington, May 30.—Weather bureau officials say that there is no immediate prospect of any summer weather anywhere.

REPORT SUCCESS WITH EXAMINER ADS. AND GET THREE MONTHS SUBSCRIPTION

Examiner want ads. produce results. This is the belief of the Examiner, and it is based on observations which are calculated to substantiate the good opinion held of these columns as an advertising medium.

That this belief is general in the city is also the contention, and in order to prove this and, at the same time popularize the Want Columns of this paper, a good offer is being made.

Each Saturday evening a free three months' subscription to the Daily Examiner, or, in other words, one dollar, will be given to the first person reporting to this office a satisfactory reply received to an advertisement published in the Examiner. The person winning this prize need not be the one advertising, he may be replying to an advertisement for help wanted; he may have founnd an article advertised for; or he may have bought or sold something advertised in this column. In case the first one reporting shall already be a subscriber to the paper, his or her subscription will be marked on three months.

This competition will open on Saturday next. Who will be the first to receive the three months' subscription?

WILD WEST EPISODE IS REPORTED FROM BANCROFT VILLAGE

Desperadoes Ran Amuck and Shot Part of Constable's Nose Off When He Tried to Arrest Them.

A WILD SENSATION

Examiner Special

Bancroft, May 29. — This village was terrorized on Monday by two desperadoes who resisted arrest, and incidentally emptied a six-shooter into the crowd which quickly gathered to the scene of the trouble.

On May 15th a jewelry store was robbed at Alexandria, Ont., three men getting about $4,000 worth of watches, rings, etc. The police sent out circulars describing the men.

On Monday morning, May 27, two men entered the general store kept by Levigne at Bancroft, and one of them wanted to trade a watch for a pair of boots. He had on the boots, and when Constable Steinberge entered the store and tried to arrest the man, believing he was an Alexandria burglar, the man shouted to his chum to shoot, which the latter did, emptying a six-shooter into the crowd, wounding two men.

The crowd then scattered, and the supposed robbers got away.

That night it was reported that the three robbers were camped in the woods near, and about 30 men armed themselves with military rifles, and surrounded the camp. Shots were fired, and there was an exciting time, but the desperadoes escaped in the darkness, and have not been seen since.

Wheel Recovered

Mr. W. A. Mollmoyle recovered his bicycle last night which was stolen from George street the evening before. The person who used it evidently discovered that his conscience would not allow him to keep it, so that he left it against a verandah on Bolivar street. On noticing in the paper that the wheel was gone, the finder telephoned the police, who notified Mr. Mollmoyle.

COIN CELEBRATED HOWE'S VICTORY

Mr. Chas. Duggan, who saw in the Examiner of yesterday the reference to the finding of a coin model by Mrs. Nicholls, reported to the Examiner last night finding in an old Bible a coin dated 1795, and marked half-penny. This coin was evidently minted to celebrate the victory of Lord Howe over the Dutch fleet at Brest, in 1794. "for on the face of the coin in this legend, "Earl Howe, the first of June, 1794," and a bust of the noted admiral appears on this side, while on the reverse is this inscription, "The wooden walls of old England," with a ship under sail in the centre. It was originally a copper coin, but had been silvered over.

RECKLESS DRIVERS AT RAILWAY CROSSINGS

Want Admission Through Grand Trunk Gates When They are Down

Certain express drivers of this city are running a great risk in attempting to get through the gates at the Grand Trunk crossing at the corner of Charlotte and Bethune streets. Mr. Charles Noyes, the gate keeper there, who is always on the look out to prevent accidents, of any kind, states that on several occasions express drivers have come down Bethune street, and attempted to go through the gates when they were down. Mr. Noyes in order to prevent the driver and the horse from being run down by the train, is compelled to raise the gates. To make matters worse there are generally a number of vehicles waiting to go through, resulting in several horses and drivers having narrow escapes.

The same practice prevails at the Simcoe street gates, and certainly is one that should be eliminated. Reckless drivers will sooner or later get into undesirable mix-ups, the occurrence of which they will have good cause to regret.

The Kirkfield Lock Beats Peterborough's For Show

From Spectacular Standpoint New Lock Will be Superior to That Here, Says Official.

MACHINERY IN SIGHT

It will be interesting to Peterborough citizens to learn that with the opening of the Kirkfield Lift Lock, Peterborough's right to the claim to having the most unique piece of mechanism in hydraulic locks on the continent will be contested. The Lindsay Post giving an interview with a 'leading official" of the Canal, credits him with saying:—

"From a spectacular point of view, the lift lock at Kirkfield will surpass the lock at Peterborough, although the latter is six or seven feet higher. You see, the Peterborough lock was the first of its kind in Canada, and it was thought necessary to build it entirely of cement, at a great cost. The Kirkfield lock is an all-steel structure, and the wonderful mechanism—hidden in the Peterborough structure—is open to the gaze of every visitor, who will be protected by guard rails at all dangerous points of vantage. I predict that the Kirkfield lock will, when the canal to Lake Simcoe is entirely open, be visited by a constant succession of excursion parties from all points on Lakes Simcoe and Couchiching and the upper Kawarthas."

A HAT FACTORY FOR CITY

Matter is Not Settled by Any Means, but Hawe Hat Company is Looking for Canadian Location.

WROTE TO MR. BARRIE

Would Employ About 100 Hands, Majority of Whom Would be Skilled Workmen.

How would a branch of the Hawes-Vongol Company, the makers of the celebrated Hawes Hats, look in Peterborough.

The statement is made that representatives of this company are now in Canada with a view of selecting a location for a Canadian factory to manufacture their hats, and there does not seem to be any good reason why Peterborough should not be selected, if their attention is called promptly and forcibly to the superior advantages which Peterborough offers in the way of available manufacturing sites, transportation facilities and power at reasonable cost.

A decision will be reached within two weeks, and at the end of that time an announcement of the future plans of the company with reference to its Canadian branch will be made.

The Examiner was informed to-day that Mr. Thos. Barrie, who is the local agent for the company, received a letter from Mr. Vongol, the president of the company, a short time ago, in which he stated that a Canadian factory would be established in a short time, and that he, with other officers of the company, be coming to Canada soon to look over the available sites. He had heard of Peterborough, and thought that it might prove a favourable place to locate. He asked for information, and Mr. Barrie placed the letter in the hands of Ald. Morrow, the chairman of the Manufacturers' Committee, who corresponded with Mr. Vongol.

It is expected that during their present tour through Canada the officials of the company will visit Peterborough and look over the situation themselves. Mr. Barrie is hopeful of this and will, of course, do all in his power to convince them of the superior advantages possessed by this city as a manufacturing centre.

The party now on tour through this Province consists of Messrs. Edward Vongol, President of the company, New York; J. O. Shaw, General Manager, also of New York, and William F. Smith, the New England and Canadian Manager, Boston.

In Brantford, a newspaper man interviewed Mr. Vongol in reference to his plans, and he stated trat the firm, as a result of an increase from 30 to 35 per cent. in the Canadian tariff against American hats, had decided to open a branch factory in this country for the Canadian trade, which had been secured at a cost of $100,000 during the past eight years. Now that the trade had been established the company were determined to hold it.

To this end, a factory would be erected, 100x40 feet, four storeys high, at a cost of probably $30,000, employing 100 hands, men and girls, at the start, and in all likelihood 400 hands in the course of three years. This, in brief, was the plan of the company.

In reply to a query, Mr. Vongol said that they wanted no concessions of any kind. The points which would most influence them would be a good position and desirable labour. Most of the labour, he said, would be skilled, probably 98 per cent. of the operators being experts, and these at the start would have to be brought from England and the States. No local capital would be wanted. During the first year or two only parts of the hats would be manufactured in Canada, the bodies being imported, but when all the hands became skilled the entire process would be done in this country, with the result that the number of employees would be more than trebled.

If there is any possibility of this industry being secured for Peterborough, the citizens may feel assured that it will come here. Ald. Morrow referred to matter to Senator Cox, and he had an appointment with the Americans in Toronto.

Removes Poison From the Blood

There is a need in every home of a medicine that by cleansing and invigorating the liver, kidneys and bowels will remove all poisonous waste matter from the blood, cure biliousness, kidney derangements and constipation, and by so doing prevent fevers, colds, coughs and Bright's Disease. No medicine satisfies the need so well as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, as is proven by the testimonials appearing in all the leading papers.

Wheat In Manitoba Has Very Hard Work In Getting Above Ground

Visitor From the West Reports That the Conditions There Are Still Very Backward.

ICE IN NEW ONTARIO

Snow and ice in the section from North Bay to Winnipeg with the lakes and rivers still frozen over and the wheat in Manitoba just beginning to show through the ground are the conditions described by Mr. John Ross, of Vancouver, B.C., who is in the city on a two weeks' visit to his home. Mr. Ross left the western city on the 24th, and reached the city on the midnight last night. He stated that there was very little sign of spring in Manitoba, though farther west, in Alberta, the wheat was coming up nicely. Evidences of the hard winter were to be seen on every hand, and in the district between Moose Jaw and Medicine Hat, he saw a number of dead cattle along the line of the railway. New Ontario, however, was, to use a slang phrase, "the limit." Fresh snow was experienced on the divisions west of North Bay, and at every siding where the train stopped the passengers amused themselves throwing snowballs.

Two narrow escapes from accidents occurred to the train on which Mr. Ross was travelling. At Carberry a freight train had been wrecked, and the express almost ran into the wreckage, while at Sunshine, west of Fort William another freight had been ditched just prior to the arrival of the express and but for the prompt action of the brakeman on the wrecked train in running back to warn the engineer on the passenger train another accident would have occurred.

Vancouver, Mr. Ross states, is making wonderful progress, the population at present numbering between sixty and seventy thousand. It has all the ear-marks of a coming western metropolis, sky-scrapers being erected ten and twelve stories high.

An illustration of the activity of the real estate business is furnished by the fact that there are 450 real estate agents in the city, and, apparently they are all making money.

Mr. Ross is on the staff of the Daily World, one of the five western daily newspapers.

MUSICAL EVENT OF THE SEASON

The Minstrel Show Promises to Be a Great Success

The minstrel show under the auspices of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club which will be held in the Grand Opera House on June 11th and 12th, promises to be the premier musical event of the season. Those taking part have been rehearsing for some time with Mr. John Crane acting as director of the singing, which will be the strongest feature of the entertainment. The musical numbers are new and catchy and rendered by the best talent in the city while the soloists will be assisted by an especially capable quartette and a strong chorus. The second part will consist of musical sketches, a short farce, rope walking clog dancing and other specialties. The whole show will be bright and clean and the ladies of the city need have no hesitation about patronizing the entertainment. It is in aid of a worthy object and with the low prices, 25, 35 and 50c., there should be capacity houses for both nights.

WEDDING BELLS

CLARKE-WEBSTER

Ennismore, May 29. — A very pretty wedding took place at 3 p.m. to-day at "Mapledale," the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Clarke, of Ennismore, when their eldest daughter, Miss Pearl Augusta Clarke, became the bride of Mr. Thomas James Franklin Webster of Asphodel. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. H. Toney, rector of Emily, in the presence of the immediate friends of the bride and groom. The bride looked very pretty in a dress of silk crepe de chine trimmed with white silk ribbon and silk lace and bridal veil, with wreath of lilies of the valley. She carried a bouquet of white roses. Her going-away gown was dark castor broadcloth trimmed with white lace, with cream hat trimmed with pink roses. The groom wore the conventional black. They were unattended.

The little maid of honour, Cora Clarke, sister of the bride, wore white muslin over pink and carried a basket of pink carnations. The wedding march was played by Miss Gladys E. Toney.

After the ceremony the guests sat down to a very sumptuous repast, prepared with all the skill of the culinary art.

The wedding presents were very numerous and costly, attesting to the popularity of the bride. Among others, was a purse of gold from the congregation of St. James Church, Emily, where Miss Clarke had officiated as organist for a number of years. The groom's present to the bride was a solid silver tea set, and to the maid of honour a gold brooch with pearl setting.

The happy couple left the family residence at 6 p.m. to take the C. P. R. train at Peterborough for their home in Norwood. They carry with them the best wishes of a very large circle of friends.

Rev. E. A. Langford, M.A., of St. Luke's Church, Peterborough, was an expected guest at the wedding, but was unavoidably detained. His absence was much regretted.—Com.

ANDERSON-JOHNSTON

Port Stanley, May 30. — "Acadia Villa," the summer home of Mrs. Mary B. Fitch, was the scene of a very pretty wedding when her niece, Miss Bessie M., daughter of the late William Johnson, of Onslow, N. S., was married to Mr. William B. Anderson of Peterborough, Ont. The ceremony was performed at high noon by Rev. Mr. McKay of the Presbyterian Church. Port Stanley, after which the company of friends and relatives sat down to a dainty wedding breakfast. During the hour congratulations were received from friends in Scotland and England. —Com.

A DRUNK INDIAN WOULD GO TO BED IN A BUSY CITY STORE

An Exciting Time When Young Red Man Wanted to Undress and Go to Bed in Store.

HE WAS VERY DETERMINED

A Chemong Indian, loaded up with a generous dose of "firewater" caused consternation in a large George street store yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock. The young redman came into the store, in which a number of lady clerks are employed — the feminine element largely predominating, in fact —and he was probably attracted by this fact. After making a minor purchase a drowsy feeling came over him, and he decided that this would be a pretty comfortable place to take a nap—go to bed, in fact. No sooner said than done, and before the clerks could utter a protest or raise an alarm, the now thoroughly determined Indian had taken off his boots and socks, shed his coat, and vest, and hat, and was proceeding with his disrobing operations. A stalwart male clerk was hurriedly called and he impressed upon the intruder the impropriety of making a sleeping chamber of a busy store, but the Indian was unconvinced, and still insisted that he knew what he was doing, and that he was "heap tired," and wanted to go to bed. A lively scrap was soon in progress, and it was only after considerable trouble that he was again clothed, and ejected from the store.

He went raving vengeance upon the inhospitable persons who would not allow him to take a nap in a place which looked to him like a pretty comfortable place to spend a few hours and even attempted to push in the door which had been closed against him. The police were telephoned for but as soon as he heard the magic word "police," he took the hint, and left.

ARE BUSY

Steamers Get Away to Good Start

GOOD SEASON PREDICTED

Navigation News of Local Interest —Many Steamers Arrive, Chiefly With Wood Cargoes.

This year promises to be an unusually busy one in navigation circles. With the opening of the Lift Lock on Tuesday afternoon the real opening of navigation on the Canal took place, and the officials of that waterway anticipate an exceptionally active season. Already the freight traffic has commenced in earnest over the lift lock, and there is reason to believe that it will continue to be as active all season. Up to the present time the traffic this season has consisted mainly of wood, and there are good prospects for the continuation of this traffic, while in a short time the shipments of cement from Lakefield will in all probability be resumed, and there are reasons to believe that this season it will assume large proportions.

The navigation news gathered to-day gives an indication of the volume of the traffic that is likely to be experienced here during the present season. That the lookages in both the lift lock and others will exceed those of former years is freely predicted by the canal officials.

150,000 FEET FIRST CARGO OF "MAJESTIC"

The steamer Majestic of the Stony Lake Navigation Company made her first trip of the season over the lift lock yesterday evening. She now lies in the canal just below the C.P.R. bridge. The steamer brought down a scow load of lumber consisting of 150,000 feet for R. Hicks & Co., from South Bay, where it was manufactured at the company's saw mill last year. There are now half a dozen men engaged in unloading the scow and the Majestic will make her return voyage about Friday afternoon or Saturday morning.

"MYRTLE" WILL TOW COOKERY OF DRIVE

The steam yacht, The Myrtle, is engaged at present in towing boom timber, cookeries, etc., to Rice Lake for the McBurney Lumber Company of Toronto. The Company's drive is passing through the city on its watery way to Campbellford where the saw mills are located. The drive consists of about 20,000 pieces.

MATERIAL FOR NEW WHARF AT SMITHSON'S

The Government steamer Sovereign has gone down to Smithson's Landing, on the Otonabee River with a load of lumber. A new wharf will be constructed there.

"WATER LILY" FIRST PASSENGER BOAT

To the steamer Water Lily belongs the distinction of being the first passenger steamer to go over the lift lock this season. She went up yesterday with a barge bound for Stony Lake, where she will take on a load of wood, and return to Peterborough in a few days.

STR. "RAINBOW" BRINGS WOOD FROM THE LAKE

The steamer Rainbow arrived in port last evening from Rice Lake and docked at the East City wharf with a scow load of wood for Weir & McIntyre.

NEW LAUNCH MAY BE BROUGHT HERE

Mr. Wm. Irwin, lumberman, of Peterborough, was in town to-day for the purpose of inspecting one of Mr. Jesse Perrin's gasoline yachts. A sale will likely follow.—Lindsay Post.

HORSES MUST WALK OVER SMITH ST. BRIDGE

Chief Determined to Enforce This Law—Close Watch in Future

At this morning's court Thos. Deck and Jos. Sullivan were charged with having driven across the Smith street bridge at a rate faster than a walk. They both pleaded not guilty and managed to escape punishment through a technicality. The police are hot on the watch of this particular bridge, and the Chief wants it understood that the next one caught will not get off so easily. Police Officer MacDonald saw both these men last Monday and reported them. A constable will be appointed to give this bridge his careful attention so that in future the drivers totally ignoring the notice above the bridge will be prosecuted.

GREAT BRITAIN'S BIG LEAD

The Buffalo News points out that Great Britain is far from being a decadent and moribund nation, but that, with about half the population of the United States—and, it might be added, but a fraction of their natural resources—she is doing nearly double the world's trade of the United States. British exports last year reached the value of $2,270,000,000. Import values for the same period were $3,040,000,000. The total is more than five and a quarter billions. The foreign trade of the United States for the same twelve months ran to a total of about $3,000,000,000 and a little over. The United States do only 8 per cent. of their own carrying trade, and the incidence of the protective system kills off their merchant marine business, and enables the trusts to tax their own people and give cheap goods to foreigners. The News adds: "Theoretically, the balance of trade is against England to the extent of nearly $800,000,000 a year. Actually, she is making more money out of foreign commerce than twice her population in any other part of the planet. Our domestic exports are the largest in the world, but we make less money out of them than would be credited but for figures not to be disputed."

It cannot be expected that Great Britain will always have so easy a course in the race of trade. When other great nations shall gain fiscal sanity and fight her on her own grounds, then the weight of population, natural resources and expanse of territory will tell. But the Mother Country has gathered around her a big family of infant nations, which will serve to perpetuate the supremacy of the flag in trade and in all that the flag stands for. Canada, with its resources, which, great as they are known to be, are still infinitely less than, as is being discovered every day, they really are, is coming to be a mighty factor in the immanence and perpetuity of British commercial influence. Canada does not know the immense extent and variety of its natural resources, and it is to the fact of the greatness of these resources and their easy development that the Dominion can boast of having the greatest total trade per head — about $100—of any nation in the world. Great Britain, perhaps, only excepted.

NATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

The Brantford Expositor has crowded a good deal of truth in the following brief article:

The present Liberal Government at Ottawa will always be known as having had a progressive and far-seeing policy for the development of the country. The deepening of our canals, the construction of elevators at tidewater, the providing of adequate cold storage facilities on Atlantic steamers, the assistance given to the C. P. R. to secure the construction of the Crow's Nest Pass road on terms which lightened the freight rates to the settlers, the construction of the National Transcontinental Railway, the preference to British goods, are all an integral part of one great scheme.

And still the planning goes on. The final report on the cost and route of the Georgian Bay canal, which will give Canada a waterway 460 miles long from the Georgian Bay to Montreal, via the French River, Lake Nipissing and the Ottawa River, has been completed and will be submitted to the judgment of Parliament at the next session. And within the last few days, the first steps have been taken by Sir Wilfrid Laurier to launch the splendid imperial project of a fast mail and express freight service between England, Australia, New Zealand and the Orient, which will make Canada the highway of travel between the old world and the Far East, and divert the volume of commerce on the northern half of this continent and probably of the American Northwest, to the ocean ports of the Dominion.

It is undoubtedly true that if we are to reap the full benefits accruing from the splendid development which Canada is everywhere witnessing, the trade of the Dominion must be routed via Canadian railways and waterways, and through Canadian ports. It is to the carrying out of this genuinely national policy that the Laurier Government has set its hand, and in its efforts in this direction it will have the approbation of the entire country.

Great as has been the achievements of the Liberal party in the past eleven years, still greater things are being attempted, and the people will see to it that it is given full opportunity to complete its work.

HEALTHY GROWTH

In three years the number of post-offices in Canada has increased from 10,150 to 11,141. In the same period the amount of money orders issued has grown from $26,868,202 to $37,355,673, an increase of over ten and a half millions; the number of postal cards sent has increased from 26,646,000 to 33,674,100; the number of letters from 235,791,000 to 323,644,000; the total revenue from $5,683,162 to $7,708,142. That is to say, in the past three years postoffices have increased 991; money orders, $487,471; post cards, 7,028,000; letters, 87,853,000, and revenue, $2,024,980. This increase in postal business is at once a measure of, and an indication of, the general advance of the country in prosperity. There is not only absolute satisfaction in these conditions, but there is comfort and instruction to be derived from a comparison with the preceding administration, which emphasize the great work which has been done and is being done by Sir William Mulock and Hon. Mr. Brodeur, past and present chiefs of the Postoffice Department. Under the late Conservative administration, the Postoffice Department scored deficit after deficit, that of the last year of that rule being a round three-quarters of a million. Since that time surpluses have been the rule, with a one-third lessened postal rate and increased and improved service.

IMMIGRATION

The tide of old world immigration is still setting strongly in the direction of Canada, this year. During the last five months nearly one hundred thousand immigrants have landed in the Dominion, an increase of 60 per cent. over the arrivals at the corresponding date last year. The feature of this year's immigration is the more general distribution throughout the country. Formerly the west absorbed nearly all our new citizens; the older provinces only got a few scattering drops of the population shower. Now all the provinces have a fair share of this year's arrivals. Ontario has absorbed 32,000, Quebec, 18,000; Manitoba, 7,000; British Columbia, 8,500; Maritime Provinces, 6,500; Saskatchewan and Alberta about 8,000. To the figures for the latter provinces are to be added a large number from the United States.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Mail and Empire is committing hari-kari—it is condemning yellow journalism.

The Toronto police department must have backed the wrong horse at the Woodbine races. It is bringing the bookies to book.

The Edmonton Bulletin thinks that "Eastern newspapers should show a little generosity in giving as much publicity to the salubrity of Alberta's climate as they have done to the unwonted rigor of the present season." Send us down a sample of real spring weather, and if it is any improvement on the mild February weather we have had in May, due credit will be given.

SHOT COST HIM EIGHTY DOLLARS

South Monaghan Farmer Shot at a Sparrow But Killed one of His Colts

A South Monaghan farmer did some careless shooting yesterday with the result that he is now mourning the loss of a yearling colt for which he paid $80. Mr. Farmer was on the still hunt for sparrows, picking them off when they would light on a fence in his pasture field. For a while all went well for the farmer, if not for the sparrows. Then came the tragedy. A particularly bold specimen of the sparrow tribe, lit on the fence and surveyed with a nonchalant air the preparations made for his assassination. The tiller of the soil took careful aim and fired. Unfortunately, for himself, and the farmer, the $80 colt trotted across the line of fire, just at this stage, with the result that the spark of life was suddenly exyinguished, while the sparrow flew off with one of those "You-don't-know-Nelly-like I-do," looks in his eye.

NEW FOOTBALL FELL INTO HOSTILE HANDS

Sent to Quakers on Saturday at Exhibition Grounds and Has Not Been Seen Since

On Saturday last a new football was purchased by a member of the Quaker team and sent down to the Exhibition grounds, where a practice was to have taken place. The ball was handed by a street car conductor to a boy, who states that he gave it to a youth purporting to be a Quaker man. The latter, however, proved hostile, and the ball has not since been recovered.

DOCTORS' INSIDE KNOWLEDGE

Cannot be Compared to Outside Study of Human Proportions

"The anatomical sectional division of the height and weight of the human body" is the scientific title of what the Semi-ready Company shortened to "Physique Type Chart." This is different from the doctor's knowledge, for his is inside information, and the Semi-ready designers have only mastered the outside truths of anatomy. This is how they can tailor to the limiting stage the most expensive cloths without running any risks of carrying dead stock and old styles. You won't find a single garment out of style at Cressman's.

DISORDERLY CONDUCT COSTS FIVE DOLLARS

Two Men Raised Row With Greeks After a Flirtation With the Bowl

There was considerable amusement at the police court this morning, caused by the hearing of a case in which the Greeks at the corner of George and Charlotte streets were plaintiffs against two men whom they said went into their store last night and turned things upside down, threw glasses and spilt biscuits and candies all over. Edward Stein and Lyman Mosier, according to the evidence given, the two men in question, were passing the store at fifteen minutes after eleven when some one called an insulting name from the inside. Mr. Stein went to the door and asked them what they had to say and in his evidence said that the three men in the shop armed themselves with long clubs like base-ball bats. There were no blows struck but there was considerable bad language let loose upon the night air. The police were called and the two men were marched to the police station.

All that several of the Greeks could relate about the matter was the men wanted to fight. Mr. Kerr who appeared for the defendants, said that it was a regular Greek fight—lots of noise but nothing doing. Mr. Kerr humourously suggested that the Greeks were so excitable that when the men came in to the store in their anxiety they knocked over the biscuit jars themselves and imagined that the two men were after their heart's blood.

In the absence of Magistrate Dumble, Mr. S. R. Armstrong, who acted in the capacity of Magistrate, fined the two men five dollars each. Mr. Gordon appeared for the Greeks.

Wilfred Hall and Arthur Wyman were fined the usual sum for riding on the sidewalk. The police are out with the eagle eye these days and bringing in quite a few offenders.

Albert Johns appeared on the charge of being drunk and disorderly but promised to leave the city as soon as possible. Accordingly His Worship considered that it was better that he get out of Peterborough.

BOARD WILL PAY 50C. A FOOT

For Old Fire Hose—Thought That 75c. Was Unreasonable

At the meeting of the Board of Works Committee of the City Council last night, the Fire, Water and Light Committee wanted to sell the board 600 feet of 1901 hose at 75c per foot, for sewer flushing and street purposes.

Ald. Wilson was not in favour of the project. He thought that the board should purchase first class hose, and said that he would be in favour of the purchasing of good rubber hose at $1.10 per foot rather than pay the Fire, Water and Light Committee two thirds of the original cost of six year old hose.

Street Commissioner Evans said it would be economy to use the best of the old fire hose for street purposes but not at such an unreasonable price as 75c per foot.

Ald. Johnston, chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, said that he wished to put a stop to the good fire hose being used for other purposes than for fires. The board should own their own hose which could be stored in the fire hall tower.

On motion of the Mayor, seconded by Ald. Wilson, the Board of Works will offer the fire department 50c per foot for 400 feet of old hose, such hose to be approved of by the Street Commissioner.

The city engineer was instructed to purchase the steam coal required for this year's work with the steam roller and stone crusher.

TWO MORE CASES WERE DISPOSED OF

Judgment for Plaintiff in Case of Clarke vs. Union Stock Underwriting Company

The second case in the non-jury sittings of the High Court of Justice was concluded this morning, and judgment was given by Chancellor Boyd in favour of the plaintiff. It was the case of James D. Clarke vs. the Union Underwriting Company, of Peterborough, to recover $7,000, and judgment was given the plaintiff for that amount, together with the costs of the two trials and two appeals.

The plaintiff's solicitors were Mr. G. Watson, K.C., Toronto, and Mr. S. T. Medd, of Hall, Medd & Davidson, while Messrs. Rose, Toronto, D. W. Dumble, K.C., and Geo. Edmison, K. C., acted for the defendant corporation.

The case of the Canadian Cordage Company vs. C. A. Core, was next called and after hearing some of the evidence Chancellor Boyd directed that the case be tried before the county judge.

Mr. S. T. Medd is acting for the plaintiffs, and Mr. A. T. Bowles, Leamington, for the defence.

HAY ADVANCED TO $15 PER TON

Hogs Gone up to $7.00—Lively Market To-day

The market to-day was of a more lively character than usual. Hay has risen in price and a number of farmers easily obtained $15.00 for the precious fodder. A prediction is going the rounds of the market that timothy hay will advance to $20.00 per ton before the close of the season.

The market clerk weighed some splendid beef cattle to-day, sold by Mr. Jno. Moore, of Smith, to Mr. Wheeler, East City. One holstein bull tipped the scales at 2,280 lbs, while two fat cattle weighed 2,610 lbs.

Messrs. Howden and Thornton purchased 40 hogs for the Matthews Company. Hogs are now advanced to $7.00 per cwt.

EDITOR OF THE PYTHIAN REVIEW HERE

Visited the Marathon Lodge, Knights of Pythias Last Night

Mr. E. Allwin Powers of Montreal, editor of the Pythian Review, the official organ of the Knights of Pythias, was in the city last night visiting Marathon Lodge No. 39, Knights of Pythias.

A special meeting of the lodge was held last night in their hall on Hunter street, when Mr. Powers discussed the endowment rank of the Knights of Pythias, and the insurance department. Mr. Powers has been all over the United States and Canada on this business. He stated that there were 80,000 members in the endowment rank. New Lodges were being started all over. In Montreal there are sithg and in Toronto five. The Order, he said, was going ahead more rapidly than any other society.

This morning Mr. Powers was entertained by a number of members of Marathon Lodge and a few hours were spent in sight-seeing. The lift look was, of course, included in the itinerary. It was Mr. Powers' first visit to the city, and he appeared to be much impressed with its attractive and busy appearance.

The Sufferings of the Dyspeptic

DUE TO NEGLECTING TO KEEP THE LIVER RIGHT, THE DIGESTION GOOD, THE BOWELS HEALTHY BY USING

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

You may shudder to think of yourself as a dyspeptic—as one who, through stomach troubles, has come to look on the dark side of things, and to be ill-tempered and grouchy—but if you neglect treatment for repeated attacks of indigestion you will most assuredly become a chronic dyspeptic.

The great mistake is to put the blame on the stomach, and strive in vain for lasting benefit from tablets and so-called digestives. The real cause of trouble in nine cases out of ten is with the liver.

Thousands of persons are being cured of complicated cases of indigestion by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, because of their direct action on the liver, thus ensuring a good flow of bile—good digestion and healthful action of the bowels.

Mr. C. D. Bennett, Maple Grove, Megantic Co., Que., writes: "I had dyspepsia very bad. The food would sour, my stomach would swell up, I suffered a great deal and could not sleep. As the result of using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills I am now entirely cured, and can eat any kind of food without feeling any bad effects. They have made a new man and a younger man of me, and I cannot say too much in their praise."

"Dr. Chase's Ointment cured a friend of mine of piles when he was so bad he could not work or even stand up."

Mr. Wm. G. Purdy, Bridgetown, N. S., writes:—"When I wrote to you for Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills I was a sufferer from kidney disease, stomach troubles, and liver and bowel disorders. By using one pill at bedtime every night my health has gradually improved until I can say that I am in better health than I have been for twenty years. All other medicines failed, but Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have cured me."

This treatment is thorough, far-reaching and of lasting benefit, and cures the most severe cases of chronic and intestinal indigestion, as well as biliousness and constipation; 25 cts. a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

FIRE IN THE DOURO BLACKSMITH SHOP

Flames Noticed in Time and Were Extinguished

Yesterday at noon, while Mr. M. McCann, the blacksmith at Douro, was at dinner, his shop caught fire, and would have soon burned down had the flames not been noticed in time. The fire started in the roof, presumably from the chimney, but a few pails of water were all that was necessary to extinguish it.

WANTS A WATERING TROUGH

Warsaw Stage Driver Points Out Necessity For This on Warsaw Road

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I understand that a petition, signed by fifty ratepayers of Douro, was presented to the Douro Council, asking them to make a grant of $15 to complete a public watering place on my route from Warsaw to Peterborough, where ratepayers have expended over $15 to try to give the public an invaluable benefit, which water offers at so trifling a price. The motion was moved, and died without a seconder. I myself have given $2 to try to encourage the Council to do its duty. The spring is on one of the most travelled roads in the county, and the small sum asked would put a trough there, and make one of the best watering places in the county. Who elected the Douro Council, or what would they elected for? Is it to ignore the request of a body of fifty ratepayers asking a trifle for public benefit? Is Douro to go away back and sit down in early fifties and read of the advancement throughout the country by the light of a tallow candle, and compel their mail carrier to buy a canal that can store in water enough to carry him over that long dry road from Warsaw to Peterborough. Is this economy, for the saving of the fifteen dollars? I have carried the mail from Warsaw to Peterborough and back every day for several years and am surprised that Councillors Farley and Quinlan, between whose wards this great blessing to the public can be so easily obtained, let this motion pass without seconding it. I give Councillor Leahy credit for moving to have the first watering place in Douro township. Hoping I shall soon see this watering place in shape for the refreshment of every horse, and thanking you for the space in your valuable paper, I remain,

Yours truly,
JOSEPH CROWE,
Stage driver.

Warsaw, May 29th, 1907.

In this column will be published communications upon post cards only. It will remain open for the use of readers, who are invited to contribute suggestions, inquiries or replies. Anything of a scurrilous personal nature will be prohibited.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—I would like to ask those who are in charge of the matter why the watering trough near the corner of McDonel and George streets is not in use. Is itt for ornament, or for service? If the latter, it should be put in shape to be used, and if it is there merely as an ornament why not paint it up and make it look presentable?

Yours truly,
"HORSEMAN."

Editor Post-Card Column.

Dear Sir,—As you are aware, the 41st anniversary of the defeat of the Fenian Raid falls on Saturday next, and, as there is a Veterans' Association in the city, I would like to hear that they intended remembering the event by an appropriate celebration.

Yours, etc.,
"LOYALTY."

Week's News of This Enterprising Village Interestingly Told—Revival in Football

Examiner Special.

Hall's Glen, May 29. — Mrs. Wm. Carveth is spending a few days at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Hamblin, Warsaw.

The young men of the neighbourhood have become very enthusiastic over football and are practicing faithfully. Why not organize a team, boys, and challenge Ontario? We were pleased to have Misses Lane and Read and Mr. A. C. Carveth in our midst on Sunday.

Messrs. Levi Payne and R. Hamblin are busy painting the English church. They have succeeded in appearance of the church very much.

Miss Laura and Mr. Cephas Norbey of Selwyn, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. William Carveth.

We are pleased to notice the very marked increase in the attendance at our League meetings. Miss Brown is to be congratulated on the increase in numbers and the interest shown during her presidency.

Mr. H. Moore, who recently met with an accident, is recovering slowly.

Mrs. G. Crowe and Miss Tassie McAdams, were the guests of Miss Carveth on Wednesday.

Our estimable mail carrier is puzzling his brain over the following conundrum: "Why will not a bag full of Galesburg mail satisfy the people of Hall's Glen as well as a bag of Rabbi Glen mail does?" Can anyone help him solve the mystery?

Wanted.—A panacea for sprained ankles. A liberal reward is offered to any person producing a remedy which will cure above ailment within a reasonable time.

GRAYSTOCK NOTES OF INTEREST

Personal Items—Seeding is Almost Thing of the Past

Graystock, May 28.—Seeding is almost a thing of the past in this part of Otonabee, the farmers are now busying themselves preparing the ground for the roots and potatoes.

The Peterborough butter factory is being well patronized by many here, the majority of the farmers sending their milk there, and it is likely that next year will see all of the remaining farmers doing the same.

Mrs. Robert Kindred of Peterborough, is renewing her many friends around Zion.

Dr. Harold Kindred was the guest of Mr. John Kindred last Wednesday.

Mr. Norman Breakenridge was in our berg last week on business.

Mr. Wm. Rutherford shipped a load of mixed hogs to Norman Breakenridge, Monaghan, one day of last week.

Mr. Dan Hayes has completed bricking his house, and when he has put on the finishing touch, will be the finest on this part of the Keene Road.

Miss Edith Hutchison spent Victoria Day at her home in Monaghan.

Miss Mary Dionne, of Peterborough, spent May 24th at Mr. Dan Hayes'.

Some of the farmers here are plowing up their fall wheat and also the young meadows which will be the means of a small hay crop.

Messrs. John Dysell and Sid Smith, 14th concession, were here in search of horses, lately.

In the future we will have regular services here in St. Mark's church, at 10.30 a.m., and in the Methodist church Sunday school at 1.30 p.m., and regular services at 2.30 p.m.

The Keene cheese factory shipped their first lot of cheese two weeks ago.

Mrs. Thomas Gillott of Millbrook, spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. John Kindred, here.

Rev. Mr. Harrison preached a very interesting sermon on "The Lilies," on Flower Sunday, which was much enjoyed by all.

A Sewer Recommended For The Ingleburn Park

Board of Works Approved of the Proposition Submitted by Mr. C. B. McAllister---City Engineer Instructed to Prepare Plans of the Work

The Board of Works last night decided to recommend to the council that a sewer system be built to connect with the Ingleburn Park property in East City, owned by Mr. C. B. McAllister.

The project was discussed by the Board for some time last night, and the aldermen appeared to think favourably of the plan. The city engineer has been instructed to make a survey of the property, prepare a plan of the work to be done, and also an estimate of the cost. It will require a septic tank into the river at the foot of Maria street to complete the work, and the consent of the provincial Board of Health will have to be obtained before any work can be done. It is impossible as yet to prepare any estimate of the cost.

Mr. C. B. McAllister waited upon the Board with a plan of Ingleburn Park, which has been registered. He is desirous of having a system of sewers put in, so that he can dispose of the property in building lots. He stated that he proposed to construct a septic tank at the foot of Maria street, built according to the requirements of the health authorities. There was no other way in which the property could be provided with a sewerage system. There are thirty-seven lots in the property.

The sewer would have to be built by the city and the cost would be provided for by a frontage tax.

The city engineer thought that the cost of the outlet should be taxed to the property. The first step he said, would be to secure the approval of the Provincial Board of Health for the septic tank.

Mr. McAllister stated that he wished to be able to guarantee to those taking lots that there would be sewerage connection there next year.

Ald. Johnston moved that the city engineer be instructed to make a plan showing the septic tank and sewer system, as well as the property to be given sewer connection, with an estimate of the cost, at his earliest possible convenience. This was seconded by Ald. Wilson and was carried.

It was moved by the Mayor, seconded by Ald. Wilson, that this committee recommend to the council the construction of a sewer system for the Ingleburn Park property, subject to the approval of the Provincial Board of Health.

The River Frontage

A communication was read from F. J. Conroy, stating that he had finished his work in connection with the filling in of the property between the C. P. R. spur line and the western bank of the river, and asking for complete payment of the same. He also offered to do any more of this kind of work required by the city.

No action was taken, and the chairman will look into the matter.

Mr. Bogue Well be Held Liable

Ald. Johnston brought up the matter of the filling in by Mr. Bogue of the drain through property along the Lakefield Line of the G.T.R. It would mean that a serious flood might quite easily occur there.

It was explained that Messrs. Bogue and Eastwood had had the dam moved from the centre of the proprtey to th eedge, and the city had made change in the drain on Aylmer street to meet the changed position of the trench.

It was moved by the Mayor, seconded by Ald. Wilson, that the city solicitor be instructed to write and inform Mr. Bogue that he will be held responsible for any damage done to the city's property, and also for any claims for damages on private property that might be made on the city, and that he be asked to remove the obstructions in the trench at once.—Carried.

Important Changes Made In C. P. R. Train Service

Noon Train From the West Will Arrive Earlier in the Day—Other Trains Earlier.

NO NEW TRAIN YET

Commencing on Sunday, June 2nd some important changes will be made in the time table of the C.P.R., so far as it affects Peterborough. Two of the expresses will arrive in this city nearly half an hour earlier than at present. The train which formerly arrived from the west at 11.38 a.m. will be here at 11.16, commencing on Monday morning, 22 minutes earlier than the present time. Another important change is in the afternoon train from the east, which in future will arrive at 4.48, instead of at 5.15, twenty-seven minutes earlier.

These are practically the only changes in the schedule, though the local at night will be seven minutes later, arriving at 7.47. The early morning express goes through at 5.16, and the midnight will be a couple of minutes later, the new time of arrival being 12.26 a. m. These changes will be appreciated by Peterborough citizens, doubtless. The most welcome change will probably be that in the noon express, by which the Toronto mail will reach the city twenty-two minutes earlier than at the present time. In the evening, too, the change will be a desirable one, landing passengers in Toronto nearly half an hour earlier than at present.

The new time table does not provide for the long-expected early morning train from the west. It had been hoped that this summer the C. P.R. would have instituted the new service, and that express matter would have reached the city about 10.30, instead of an hour later, and that the train would have returned early in the afternoon. It appears, however, that the management did not feel justified in establishing this addidional train at the present time. The rapid growth of the traffic in the west is absorbing all the equipment the railway can spare, and it is probable that Ontario will not be given additional train service until the shops are able to turn out new cars faster than the demand of the increasing traffic in the west absorbs them.

Well Known Preacher Institutes Libel Charge

Rev. Dr. Workman, Professor in Montreal Methodist College, Enters Suit Against Dr. Shaw.

A VERY INTERESTING CASE

Rev. Dr. Workman, who has, for many years, spent his summer vacations at Keene, and is, at such times, a frequent visitor to Peterborough, is again the centre of a controversy which involves his peculiar theological tenets and opinions. The following despatch from Montreal will, therefore, be read by many with interest:—

Montreal, May 28.—The Montreal Conference of the Methodist Church, which opens at Gananoque this week, will be called upon to give a decision upon the charge of libel brought by Rev. Prof. George C. Workman, Ph.D., against Rev. Dr. Shaw, Principal of the Wesleyan Theological College in this city. Rev. Dr. Workman, who is professor of Old Testament exegesis and literature in the Wesleyan College, stands for the historical method of interpreting Scripture. Recently, at a meeting of the Governors of the college, the question was raised as to whether Dr. Workman really was teaching the doctrines of the Methodist Church to the young men studying at the college for the ministry.

Dr. Shaw, principal of the college, replied at considerable length to the question, reading a document in which he alleged that Dr. Workman denied the doctrine of inherited depravity, the doctrine of the trinity and the doctrine of the atonement as involving any expiatory element in the death of Christ. Further, he asserted that Dr. Workman denied the virgin birth of Christ, and rejected the genuineness and historicity of the fourth Gospel, and some other points of doctrine.

Having heard and discussed Principal Shaw's statement, the Governors, by a vote of nine out of thirteen, decided to inquire into the doctrinal attitude of Dr. Workman, and a committee of six, of which Principal Shaw was a member, was organized to find out in a friendly way if his teaching were entirely orthodox or not. Their finding was not favourable to Prof. Workman, and, as a result, a libel suit is pending.

"Ratepayer" Objects To New Proposed Garbage By-law

Thinks the Cost Should be Charged to the One Benefitted, Not the Owner of the Property, but the Tenant.

THE FIRST CRITICISM

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—As a property owner I wish to take advantage of your invitation to express my views on the proposed Garbage Bylaw. It seems to me that in one respect at least the bylaw is most unfair. I understand that the cost of the operation of the system is to be charged to the property, so that in the case of the man who owns several houses, the cost would fall heavily. I have no objection to the proposal to collect the garbage but think that the persons who reap the benefit should pay for it. In the case of a house being rented, the tenant, in my opinion should be the one upon whom the cost should fall. If it is carried into effect as it is at present proposed, the result would be that the landlords would be obliged to increase the rent at least twenty-five cents a month, to cover the extra tax represented by the fifteen cents charged for garbage collection.

Yours truly,
"RATEPAYER."

Ald. Elliott, who fathered this by-law was interviewed in reference to the objection given above, to-day, and stated that the writer was entirely mistaken. The cost of garbage collection would be borne by the householders themselves, not necessarily the one who owned the property. The intention was to carry out exactly the suggestion made by Ratepayer, and make the one who was benefitted pay the cost.

A NORWOOD LADY WAS INJURED

Mrs. Kelly Fell Off Train on Her Way Home From Peterborough Recently

The Norwood Register says:—Mrs. David Kelly, Belmont street, met with a somewhat serious accident on Thursday night. Mrs. Kelly had been to Peterborough, and was returning by the midnight express, and just as she was stepping from the car to the platform of the station here, the train started, the motion of which turned her partly around and caused her to lose her balance, and she fell with considerable force on the platform. Being a heavy woman, she sustained quite a severe jar, causing something like concussion of the spine.

COUNTRY TEAMS ARE WORKING IN THE CITY

The City Teamsters are Objecting to Such an Arrangement

It is stated that the Board of Works has a number of teams from the country working for the city, which is contrary to the City Corporation Act. Many of the city teamsters are objecting to this arrangement, and there may be some trouble over the matter.

The teamsters here believe that the city has no right to employ teams from the country when a sufficient number can be procured here, who assist in filling the city coffers.

Redeemed Themselves In Second Half Of The Game

Quakers Lost to Champion Fall River Team in the First Half---Score Was 2-0---Best Game Witnessed in Peterborough in Years---The Home Defence Starred

The Pan-American team from Fall River finished their second victory in Canada last night on the Riverside Park grounds by defeating the Peterborough senior Quakers by the score of 2 goals to 0. The Pans found the Quaker goal twice in the first half, but were held down after the turn to no score, the superb work of the Quaker defence being responsible for this. The touring American team are a great aggregation of soccer players, and they upheld their reputation last night by numerous brilliant plays. Manager Murphy had 20 players to choose from, and he placed his best line-up in the game against the home boys. The forward line of the visitors has been intact for seven consecutive years, and they were the men who made the counters that gained for the team the reputation of being the New England champions for that length of time.

Both the touring team's goals were scored in the first part of the play, before the Quakers had actually awakened to their old-time form. The first was tallied from a corner kick, which was headed through in a scrimmage within the goal area. The final counter was scored from a long drive from left field by Bowden, which barely grazed the bottom of the cross bar. McFadden was hard pressed during the early stages, but was equal to the occasion, returning to the field what, apparently, were counting balls. His brilliant stops were repeatedly applauded.

The visitors played a style of game uncommon in the Midland League. When a man was hard pressed he was not the least backward in passing to the rear to a defence man, or even to the goal-tender. The feed was had, therefore, a clear opening for a long punt down the field. Their forwards seldom retired past centre field when their own goal was being pressed, so that they were ever present when the ball was returned. The combination work was accurate and much of this was accomplished with the head.

The match was played under Semi-British rules, which allowed the players at touch to throw the ball in by using on the heads. The Midland rules do not permit of this, and the throw-ins kept a number of the spectators guessing.

Manager Murphy stated after the game that he was perfectly satisfied with it. He considered that the Quakers compared most favourably with the Canadian teams he had met so far, and that, with a little more practice, would have made a much better showing. He complimented the work of Captain Crough on the right wing, but, in his opinion, he was given too much work to do.

For the visitors, the star of the team was Cyr, their sturdy half-back. His generalship and style of play was a feature. Healey in goal is certainly one of the best in the business, and handled a few hot shots with alacrity.

The Quakers' defence made many brilliant plays. The two veterans, Davis and Evans, at back, never put up better football, and not a goal was scored at close range. Fitzgerald at centre-half made numerous spectacular plays, and was more than a match for the Yankee at centre forward. Ray Beat and Archibald broke up combinations galore and fed the forwards skilfully. The forward line of the homesters was somewhat disconcerted, but at times they gave brilliant demonstrations of how the combination game should be played. Coleman and E. Beat held down the left wing well, combining for some effective rushes. Crough and Baker at right were strong, and repeatedly evaded their active opponents.

The match was played in the evening between 7 and 8 o'clock in ideal weather for football. Two 30-minute halves was the extent of play, which brought the fight well up to the descending of the shades of night.

Mr. J. E. Sullivan refereed and was perfectly satisfactory to both teams. No rough play was indulged in, and, although a couple of offsides were called, his task was not an extra difficult one. The visitors are not accustomed to hard checking, but took their bumps good naturedly.

The Yankees left the city this morning on the 8.30 G.T.R. train for Montreal, where they meet the famous Westmounts for their final Canadian game. They leave Montreal on Sunday morning and will arrive in Fall River to meet their friends and loved ones on the Sunday evening." Yesterday they visited the Lift lock and explored its wonders. They were fortunate in arriving there at the opportune time when a tug was passing over, and enjoyed the 65-foot ride through space.

The line-up of the two teams last night was:

| Fall River | Goal. | Quakers |
|---|---|---|
| Healey | | McFadden |
| | Backs. | |
| Greenwood | | Doris |
| Lough | | Evans |
| | Half-Backs | |
| Cyr (Capt.) | | R Beat |
| Dalton | | P Fitzgerald |
| Lynn | | Archibald |
| | Forwards. | |
| L Gauthier | | Baker |
| G Gauthier | | Crough (Capt.) |
| Cummings | | Hughes |
| Barrister | | E Beat |
| Bowden | | Coleman |

Referee—J E Sullivan.
Goal Umpires — H Crook and C E Simon.
Linesmen — Donnelly and C Fitzgerald.

STATIONING COMMITTEE GIVES SANCTION TO THE TRANSFE

Examiner Special.

Berlin, May 30.—In the first draft of transfers from and into the Hamilton Conference of the Methodist Church, there are two changes of interest to Peterborough. Rev. Dr. Crothers is transferred from George Street Church, Peterborough, Paul Street Church, St. Catharines and Rev. John Pickering, of St. Catharines, goes to the Toronto Conference to become pastor of the church which Rev. E. A. Pearn leaves to come to Peterborough.

LACROSSE PRACTICE FOR TO-NIGHT

A Full Practice is Expected—The Game With the Maitlands

There will be a full practice of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club at the Riverside Park to-night, and every player is asked to turn out in uniform. An exhibition game has been arranged for June 9th, with the Maitlands of Toronto, and the first C.L.A. game will be played a week afterwards in Toronto with the Young Torontos, so that it behooves the local team to get into shape. They have had scarcely any practice yet, and some hard work will have to be done before the bunch will be in a condition to play.

The following are asked to be out to-night: McGrath, Darocher, Morgan, Crowley, Glover, McDonough, Judd, Donovan, Regan, Meagher, Dillon, McCabe, Ford, Barber, Dumble, Mein and any others intending to play.

KARNOTS AND WEST ENDS WIN OUT

The Schedule Being Run Off Without a Hitch

The winners of the first game in the Intermediate Baseball League as a result of last night's concluding innings are the West Ends and the Karnots. The former team defeated the Lakeviews in a three innings game by the score of 2 runs to 0. The seven innings therefore resulted in favour of the lads from the west by 4 runs to ... The game on Monday night resulted in a tie, 2 all, and the Lakeviews were unable to withstand the strain thus occasioned. However the two teams are about equal, and had the Lakeviews played as they know how to, that is by not making just errors at crucial moments, the score would have been different. As it was they could not touch Butcher, whose amide and provoking inshoots kept the Lakeviews guessing. Butcher will give any of the leaguers a hard game, and the team as a whole is well balanced, the fielders eating up anything in sight. They are also good stickers, and their hits were timely placed last night.

Mahoney played good ball for the Lakeviews but the support given him was very ragged, and by no means the best the south enders can do. Fred Craig gave entire satisfaction and had several close decisions to determine.

The two teams lined up as given on Tuesday night, except Moore who replaced R. Halpin at right field.

The other game was between the Lilies and the Karnots, and from reports was a ragged exhibition, especially on the part of the Lilies. Ryan who pitched for the latter was batted out of the box by Manager Craig's bunch, whose stock has soared greatly since last night. Ferguson pitched a steady game for the Karnots and will make the team of them move some.

The teams lined up as follows: Carton c; Ferguson p; Laing 1b; Craig 2b; Ray 3b; Gailles ss; Conroy rf; Johnston cf; Berradaile lf.

Lilies — Ryan p; Hilker c; Pye 1b; N Simmons, 2b; J Simmons ss; Foley ss; Comeore cf; Bartley lf. umpire, Mr. Stacey.

A SUCCESSFUL BENEFIT CONCERT

Electric Lighting Was the Only Thing That Failed the Salvation Army Last Night

The band of the Salvation Army gave a benefit concert last night in their hall in aid of one of the bandsmen, who is ill. The affair, although arranged by Band-master J. M. Greene on very short notice, was well attended, and in every way was a success. The band invariably presents a fine programme, and this was no exception to the rule. The intention of the concert also helped to bring out the people. The numbers contributed by the band were rendered in a musicianly manner and pleased the audience, as did the supplementary selections. On the whole, the affair was a gratifying success and will be a help to the comrade for whom it was intended. The programme was as follows:

Opening Song — "Come, Join Our Army."
Prayer.
March—Band—"Warrior."
Vocal Solo—Bandsman Payton.
Piano Solo—Miss Ethel Card.
Instrumental Quartette, Band Accompaniment—"Nestor to the Lord."
Reading—Sister Mllie Bacon—"Miss Nancy's Experiment."
Selection — Band — "Songs About Jesus."
Vocal Solo—Bandsman Gandy.
Euphonium Solo—Bandsman Choate —"The Last Chord."
Song by the Band—"Our Band."
Piano Solo—Miss Pearl Payton — "Witch Dance."
Recitation—Miss Eva Stevenson — Selected.
Vocal Solo—Sister Nellie Leader.
Violin Solo—Bandsman Leader — "Vital Spark."
Vocal Solo—Bandsman Brown.
Selection—Band—"Peace."
Doxology.

HUNTER STREET BEING GRADED EASTWARD

Road to Lift Lock Will Soon be Open for Traffic

The Board of Works has now a gang of men at work on the eastern extension of Hunter street, and that road will soon be open as far east as the Lift Lock for traffic. The workmen have begun at the eastern end to turn over the sod. The hill will be cut down a distance of eight feet, so that considerable time and money will have to be spent before the work is completed.

The road will not be a straight one from Hunter street to the Lift Lock, as Hunter street east is not on a line with the driveway of the lock. The street will therefore have a considerable curve in it.

It is also stated that a board sidewalk will be constructed to the lock to accommodate pedestrians.

Indian Tribe in New Mexico, the Members of Which Threw New Born Babes to Reptiles

Examiner Special.

El Paso, Texas, May 30. — In spite of the fact that a similar charge was investigated and dismissed by a jury some time ago, another complaint has been filed with United States District Attorney Llewellyn, of New Mexico, that a tribe of Indians in that territory are given to the worship of an enormous serpent, to which is fed the new born babes of a Pueblo in which it is housed, and carefully tended and guarded. The complaint was filed by a Catholic priest.

"AJAX" WILL TOW DOWN 1,500 CORDS WOOD

Mr. Fitzgerald Has That Amount at Gilchrist's Bay

The steam tug Ajax, belonging to Mr. J. E. A. Fitzgerald, has a busy season in store. It came down from Stony Lake on Wednesday with a scow load of wood, the first of a pile of about 1,500 cords. Mr. Fitzgerald's wood is situated at Gilchrist's Bay which means that it has to be brought a distance of about 25 miles. The tug will bring about 75 cords at each load.

A BAD FIRE GUTTED MR. S. HOULIHAN'S HOME

Brigade Save the Shell of the Building But Interior is Almost Gone

The fire that was mentioned in yesterday's issue as visiting the residence of Mrs. Daniel Houlihan, 460 Donegal street, proved to be a rather disastrous one. It started about fifteen minutes to 3 o'clock, supposedly in the back kitchen. Mrs. D. Houlihan was upstairs at the time and did not know of the presence of the fire until Mrs. J. F. Galvin entered and told her of her danger, for the fire was then well under way. Mrs. Houlihan might have had great difficulty in escaping from the house had much more time intervened before she was made aware of the situation. In fact, this is one of the fortunate circumstances of the conflagration, in truth the only one, for in every other way it was a distressing affair.

The alarm was sent in from the box at the corner of Hunter and Donegal streets, and the brigade was quickly at the scene of the fire. By that time, however, the flames had made good progress, and the back part of the building was in the arms of the fire, which had extended through the lower hall and was even enveloping the verandah. A number of neighbours had responded, and were hurrying the household effects to the lawn. Most of the parlour furniture was saved; in fact, the best of the furnishings are in good condition. The firemen under Chief Rutherford did good work, and managed to confine the flames to the rear portion of the building. Mr. S. Houlihan, who resides with his mother, was called from his work in the Wm. Hamilton works, and worked like a Trojan to remove the furniture.

There is no insurance on the effects, but it is thought that the house is partially covered. There was a large crowd assembled about the premises, and many of them assisted in rescuing the furniture from the house. A lady living on Park street, at the rear of the burning building, turned on the waterworks to her fence, which she considered was in danger.

Clarke, of Peterborough, rendered several selections on the violin and banjo, and Mr. Coleman of Peterborough, was encored time and again, and was a general favourite with the audience, his selections being both humorous and entertaining.

PETERBOROUGH LUMBER COMPANY'S DRIVE NEXT

The McBurney Lumber Company's drive has now passed through the city and the next to arrive will be that of the Peterborough Lumber Company. Editor Post-Card Column.

Dear Sir,—In reading the proposed garbage bylaw in last night's issue of the Examiner, I noticed what I consider one of the main points, not mentioned at all, as regards our citizens. I would like to hear from our intelligent, fair-minded Council why people who have no garbage to cart away should be compelled to place a barrel in their yard and pay 15 cents a month, with nothing to be drawn away? I know a good many people of small families who make a practice of burning what refuse they have. Now, why should those people be compelled to pay 15 cents for nothing every month? I would like to hear from someone on the subject.

FAIR PLAY CITIZEN.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—I am glad that at last a member of the City Council has had the enterprise and good judgment to father a bylaw to provide for the collection of the city's garbage. I have read the bylaw and so far as I can see it leaves little or nothing to be desired, and gladly avail myself of opportunity of expressing my approval with this measure, which I think cannot help resulting beneficially to the health of the citizens and to the sanitary condition of the city.

Ald. Elliott deserves the thanks of all public-spirited citizens.

Yours truly,
"APPRECIATION."

GAVE REPORTS OF THE CONVENTION

At Closing Meeting of St. Luke's Women's Auxiliary Held Yesterday Afternoon

The monthly business meeting, which was also the last meeting for the season, of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. Luke's church was held yesterday afternoon. Mrs. L. Gaskins, the president, was in the chair. After the devotional exercises conducted by the president, the usual routine of business was attended to. Mrs. John Butcher gave a very interesting and comprehensive report of the annual meeting recently held at Toronto and to which she, with others, has been a delegate. Mrs. Phillips, who is one of the most faithful members of the W. A., and also its vice-president, gave a most carefully prepared review of the history of St. Luke's branch of the Woman's Auxiliary since its inception.

Mrs. Gaskins read a carefully prepared paper on the "Spiritual Helps Derived from the Annual Meeting." Her account of the motives prompting missionary activity was most impressive, and her earnestness and deep spirituality in her work as president, will give much enthusiasm to the members.

It was decided that the W. A. hold its annual picnic to Jackson Park on Thursday, June 6th.

After the meeting the members were entertained to tea by Rev. R. A. and Mrs. Langfeldt.

The annual corporate communion of the W. A. will be held on Sunday, June 9th, at the morning service.

The Mission Band Box Sale and Entertainment which is being held tonight will undoubtedly attract a large number of of friends who will remember the reputation of its excellence. A splendid programme has been arranged. The box sale promises many surprises. The ladies have been making fancy work for the purpose. Articles worth one dollar will be found in some of the boxes. The event begins at 7 o'clock.

Here's the Cure for Sick Kidneys

TEST THEM FREE

Perhaps you are skeptical about GIN PILLS. So was Mr. Brown. He had tried so many things for his kidneys, without getting any better, that he had just about made up his mind that he couldn't get well.

When he first read about GIN PILLS he laughed. The second time, he thought. The third time, he said "he would write for a sample just to see if there was any chance of getting well."

He was pretty nearly tickled to death over that box of GIN PILLS. They did him so much good that he would have paid $5 a box for the second, if necessary. The dizziness, headaches and backaches stopped. Those shooting pains in hips and legs died away. Urine lost its high color. He slept through the night without being disturbed by bladder trouble. His appetite began to pick up and he felt better than he had been for years.

34 John St., Hamilton, Ont.

Being a sufferer from my Kidneys and Dizziness in the Head, and could get nothing to help me, I saw in the papers what good Gin Pills were doing. I got a sample box, and they did me so much good, I bought three boxes and am taking them. They have worked wonders for me. I can recommend them to any similar sufferer. GEO. A. BROWN.

Don't be prejudiced. Give Gin Pills a fair trial and they will cure you just as they cured Mr. Brown. Mention this paper and we will send you a free sample. The Bole Drug Co., Winnipeg, Man.

A Garden.... ....Romance.

By BERNARD BRAINERD.

Copyright 1907, by E. C. Parcells.

Tilling the soil was one of Earl Bently's hobbies.

A gentleman tiller this young man might have been called, though the style in which he was dressed on this particular morning while working in his garden was no fanciful affair.

A faded coat, corduroy trousers, earth stained canvas leggings and an old broad brimmed hat composed his attire. Between his teeth he held a short brierwood pipe.

Bently bent down and was soon busily engaged in placing a great cluster of sweet alyssum in its midst earthy bed and finishing by encircling it with a gorgeous Mabel Morrison.

So engrossed was he in his work that he did not hear the sound on the drive in front of the house nor the light footfall on the gravel walk.

When he glanced up at last he was startled to see a young woman but a few feet away. She wore a pretty white summer costume trimmed with ribbons and a huge picture hat. In her hand she carried a white silk parasol. Bently, however, saw only the calm, beautiful face.

"She looks like a queen," was his thought as he arose and lifted his hat.

The young lady could not have failed to see him; but, to Bently's surprise, she did not notice his salutation. Bently gazed after her in astonishment. She moved gracefully along his garden walk, occasionally pausing to look at some choice specimen.

Bently very nearly fancied that this proud intruder was a phantasy of his brain, and he stood starring after her until she disappeared. Then he decided to follow her. When she again appeared before him she was bending over a rosebush.

"What are these?" she asked, indicating the pretty buds with her tapering finger.

Bently described the variety of the rose.

"It is a very rare specimen," he added.

"Break me off several, please."

Bently deftly severed half a dozen bunches and handed them to her. She thanked him and moved away. Bently took out his handkerchief and mopped his brow.

"Well, if this isn't a puzzle! Shall I follow her again and speak to her? She seems to be perfectly at home and to regard me, egad, as the earth under her feet. I must find some way to ask this magnificent young person what her business is here."

His perplexity was dispelled for a time by the lady looking over her shoulder and calling softly, "Will you come here a moment?"

Bently was soon at her side.

"What is the name of that beautiful rose?" she asked. Indeed, that rose—the pride of his garden—was a splendid specimen which Bently had watched unfold in the hothouse, and only a short time before he had overseen it transplanted in the garden. Two beautiful blooms were on the stalk. He told her its name.

"Clip me off a rose, please."

She noticed Bently's hesitation and strange expression and said, "I suppose you know I am Miss Blaney?"

The name still left Bently decidedly in the dark, but he clipped a rose and presented it to her, with a bow.

"Miss Blaney, everything in this garden is yours," he said gallantly.

"I am glad you are aware of it," she replied as she pinned on the rose. "I thought you doubted my right."

"Not in the least," he said. "Your visit is too much of an honor. With your permission I will show you through the garden. Perhaps there is something else you would fancy."

His intended irony was lost on his fair visitor. She allowed him to walk by her side like a pet spaniel or a cat, not troubling herself to speak further. Bently pointed out and asked her to accept some of his most beautiful specimens, but every time she refused.

"No, thanks. I shall ask no more favors. I see you are jealous of your pets," she said. "Little wonder you keep this place beautiful."

In a short time they had finished the inspection of the garden, and, looking up, she said, "Would you like to remain here, or have you other arrangements?"

Bently looked at her in surprise. "Well—I—certainly I would like to remain—that is, if you have no objection," he said, with a mocking smile.

Miss Blaney replied rather musingly: "No, I do not think I could do better."

She allowed her eyes to rove over the garden. "It is a beautiful place. I am delighted with it."

Bently bowed low.

"I would like this question settled at once," she said. "Are you willing to engage?"

The humor of it all began to appear to Bently.

"But, Miss Blaney," he said, "it is my duty to warn you that I am a very high priced personage."

"I do not think you can take the advantage of me because I am a woman," she replied quickly, "for you will find that I am a good business woman, I can assure you. Your salary will be according to your service and no more." Then she added less emphatically, "But try to please me and you will find we will have no occasion to quarrel over your compensation."

Miss Blaney and Bently were now walking toward the house. Looking at her watch, she said: "I shall not have time to go into the house today. Thank you for showing me through the garden." Then quite pleasantly, "What is your name?"

"My name is Bently," he replied.

"Good day, Bently," she said. "I think we shall agree."

WHEN YOU ASK FOR # SURPRISE

A PURE HARD SOAP.

INSIST ON RECEIVING IT.

Carelessly nodding to him, she moved on in the direction of her carriage. The footman alighted and opened the door, and Bently watched her drive away.

Several mornings later Bently was out for a morning's ride on his favorite saddle horse when he saw a carriage approaching with two people in it. His heart beats quickened as he recognized Miss Blaney. The other person was a real estate agent of the name of Hunt, with whom Bently was well acquainted.

As they approached he raised his hat to Mr. Hunt's salutation. Miss Blaney started and looked at him with eyes that expressed surprise and dismay. Bently quickly turned up a lane and gazed intently after them. He saw her bend over and speak to Hunt in a hurried, anxious way.

He turned his horse's head and followed at a respectable distance, but not until he had given the carriage ample time to disappear. As he followed a turn in the road he saw it pass his own property and turn into the estate adjoining him. Then the light broke over him, and he saw through it all. He made a quick dash for home and to change his riding costume, having a presentiment that he was going to have a call from Miss Blaney.

"A lady called and asked for you, Mr. Bently. She would not come in, so I gave her a seat in the summer house while I hunted you up."

Bently sprang to his feet and hastened to the summer house. Before reaching the house he saw her approaching.

"Mr. Bently, I have discovered my mistake," she said before he could speak, "and have come to apologize for my inexcusable rudeness. I am certainly humiliated."

Her cheeks were crimson, and the expression on her face was one of genuine distress.

"Why, Miss Blaney," began Bently, "I consider it beneath any notice."

But she interrupted him. "No; please allow me to explain. About a year ago my uncle purchased the next property and made me a present of it. I saw it once, but for a few minutes only, just before we went east. Several days ago I returned to take possession. On Tuesday of last week I drove out to see it. I was to have met Mr. Hunt at Barclay station, but missed him. I never dreamed I would make a mistake in the place, but they are quite alike from the road. I drove in. The garden looked so inviting I sauntered in. You know the rest."

"Yes. You found a cranky looking fellow in rough clothes digging in the garden, and you naturally supposed him to be the gardener."

"The idea! Think of how I behaved; ordered—yes, ordered—you to cut me those flowers! Oh!" She covered her face with her hands for a moment.

"Wasn't that splendid?" The young man laughed joyously.

"But you were somewhat to blame yourself," she said, with an indignant flash of her splendid dark eyes. "You must have realized my mistake at once. You were very unkind not to tell me."

"My dear Miss Blaney, I had not the least idea who you were. It took me until this morning to realize the true state of affairs. On Wednesday I was at a loss to tell whether it was a queen of the royal blood or a fairy princess who so suddenly appeared before me. I only know that I was elated at her company and highly disappointed when she left."

Bently accompanied her to her carriage and handed her in.

"I hope you will not worry over our—our little comedy. Will you?"

"Not a bit. I felt bad for awhile, but I'm through with it. I am not seeking trouble."

Earl Bently passed a happy summer. All his horseback rides, sails, golf, tennis and little picnics were in company with her. It seemed to Bently that he had loved her from the first glance he got of her that morning in the garden.

Many of their small parties also included Mr. Blaney, the father, and Miss Bently, Earl's sister. They made an ideal number. The former always went to sleep, and the latter lost herself in her fancy work.

One beautiful October night when the Bentlys were having a house party Earl Bently, with a designing mind, invited Miss Blaney out on the veranda to take a look at the moonlight. The garden slept under the splendid full moon, the waters of the sound were covered with a sheen of silver.

"It was there I saw you first," he said, pointing to a patch of white gleaming amid a dark green. "On that very spot we parted on that beautiful morning in June, and there you made me a promise."

"Me—a promise?"

"By a light, graceful movement she drew back until her face came within the shadow of an overhanging woodbine.

"I can repeat your words, 'I believe we will agree.'"

"Ah, yes!" came from the shadow of the vine. "But that was to my gardener, not to the real landed proprietor, who took his place."

"Your gardener has come back. He asks to be your servant, your slave, anything you bid him, if you will let him love you. But remember," he added, "remember, I warned you I would be satisfied with no paltry sum for my wage. My price is the very highest imaginable—it is yourself."

"'Gardener' and 'slave,' but now—this sounds like 'master,'" she murmured.

"Let them all be merged into one word—lover!"

Two heads were in the shadow of the woodbine now, and the moon hid behind a cloud.

Fooled the Carpenter.

A carpenter called at a flat to make some repairs and knocked on the door.

"Who's there?" asked a voice.

"The carpenter," was the reply.

"Come in," was the response.

The carpenter tried the door, but it was locked.

"Open the door," said the carpenter.

"Haw, haw, haw!" came the voice from the inside.

The carpenter was getting very mad. Then the woman who lives in the flat on the opposite side opened her door and said:

"There is no one at home there except the parrot."—New York Globe.

Mixed His Lines.

The manager of the great war drama was furious.

"Blockhead!" he thundered as he rushed into the theatrical office. "What do you mean by sending me an actor who used to work in the kitchen of a cook house?"

"How do you know he used to work in the kitchen of a cook house?" faltered the agent.

"How do I know? Why, in the battle scene outside of the fortress instead of shouting 'Scale the walls!' the numskull bellowed 'Scale the fish!'"

Disguised.

"Look here, waiter," said a New York drummer at the breakfast table of a small Texas hotel, "how are these eggs cooked?"

"Dat's a cheese om'let, boss. I know yo' axed fo' a plain om'let, but dem eggs was promiscus, boss—jes' a little bit promiscus—an' so de cook jes' throwed in a little cheese."—Woman's Home Companion.

Approaching the Limit.

"It's worse than that. She even makes him help her celebrate the anniversary of her marriage to her first husband."—Chicago Record-Herald.

CLEMENCEAU'S JOKE.

But For It the French Premier Might Have Been President.

Georges Clemenceau, the present premier of France, is said to be a master of clever repartee, which he seldom loses a chance to exercise, even though by so doing he stings bitterly a very close friend. William Morton Fullerton in Everybody's Magazine remarks upon this characteristic and upon Clemenceau's love of a practical joke. The serious consequences of two of his sallies are told by the writer:

Once his penchant for making fun cost him more than a friend. It lost for him the presidency of the French chamber. There was some years ago in that chamber an honest countryman by the name of Michou, who loathed all the refinements of civilization. He was always asking for the suppression of the opera. He carried his peasant rusticity so far as to avoid, in fact, the use of water, not merely for drinking purposes, but also for his ablutions. One day during a debate in the chamber on the Paris water system the defender of the project remarked that each inhabitant required per day at least sixty liters of water. Michou rose indignantly, exclaiming, "What, the Parisians drink, then, sixty liters of water?" Clemenceau thereupon in his most sarcastic tones cried out from his place, "My dear Michou, I assure you that there are certain tribes where water is also used for washing purposes." Very possibly Michou would have forgiven this personality if M. Clemenceau had henceforth let him alone. But there is something of the gamin of Paris about the disabused philosopher Clemenceau, and his face wears uniformly an ironic grin, which is the mask of an essential playfulness of temper not wholly free from malice. He is an irrepressible practical joker, as one day Michou found out to his cost. It was Michou's custom when his colleagues were thronging the house during a lively debate to visit alone the buffet of the chamber and there to fill his pockets with sandwiches. As he wore a voluminous shooting jacket, the inroads thus made on the deputies' larder were by no means insignificant.

M. Clemenceau one day glided behind him and when Michou was thus storing away his dinner dexterously filched each successive sandwich from his pocket. Michou, however, soon discovered the larceny and burst into a furious passion. He vowed vengeance. Shortly after the chamber had to elect its president. There were two candidates for the post, M. Clemenceau being put forward by the Radicals. The latter was beaten by one vote, and that vote was cast by Michou, who, although a Radical and the object of his colleagues' supplications, refused to pardon the pickpocket Clemenceau. The fortunate candidate was M. Fallieres, now president of the republic, of whose high destiny this election was the beginning. Never before had M. Clemenceau come anywhere near public office. And later on, instead of attaining power, he was beaten down by storms of obloquy. They who amuse themselves when reading history with such classic problems as the influence of the length of Cleopatra's nose upon the destinies of Rome may find in this tale excellent matter for similar speculation.

Germany's New Railway Rates.

The new German railway passenger rate is 2.68 cents a mile, first class, with no reduction for round trip tickets and no free baggage. For express trains the rates will be higher, causing a substantial addition to the cost of travel. The object is to keep local passengers off the long distance trains. For second class the rate a mile is 1.72 cents, with an additional charge for baggage and for express trains. Railway tickets are taxed. This adds to the traveler's expense. The density of traffic averages much greater in Germany than in the United States.—Baltimore Sun.

Native White Population.

In native white population West Virginia is first, having in 1900 the largest percentage of native whites of native parents, North Dakota being last in the list. Oklahoma, Kentucky, Indiana and New Mexico follow close upon West Virginia, each having over 75 per cent of their total population native white of native parents. In each of twenty-nine states and territories the native white of native parents constituted in 1900 more than 50 per cent of the total population.—New York American.

Fellow Travelers.

A Greenwich man tells of a Connecticut farmer who after having driven a lot of hogs to Greenwich sold them for precisely what had been offered him before he left home.

"You don't seem to have made much by bringing your hogs down here," remarked the man who tells the story.

"Well, no," replied the agriculturist dejectedly, "I ain't made no money, but then, you know," he added, his face brightening, "I had the company of the hogs on the way down."—Harper's Weekly.

What He Prays For.

"Who's that, pa?" a little Kansas youngster in the senate gallery at the capitol inquired as a magnificent looking old man rose before the opening of a session.

"That," said the father, "is Edward Everett Hale, the chaplain."

"Oh," said the boy. "He prays for the senate, doesn't he?"

"Well, no," said the father, "not exactly. He gets up, takes a good look at the senate, and then he prays for the country."—Woman's Home Companion.

FRILLS AND FURBELOWS.

Ribbon Belts and Collars—Flowered Chiffon Scarfs—Four-in-hands.

Two or three sets of ribbon belts and ribbon collars and suspenders will help out a young girl's wardrobe wonderfully. The hair bows worn by little girls are increasing marvelously in size. Checked and plaid ribbons will be most in favor this summer. The little folks can stand the gay hues, and two big bunches of ribbon, one over either ear, give the appearance of bright flowers.

Scarfs of flowered chiffon and of paisley printed mull are twisted around the crowns of large, graceful leghorn hats.

Soft finished fabrics of all kinds are in highest favor. Blue and brown are the informed shades. Both of these are very smart when containing a green striped or plaid design, or the blue may have a hair line stripe of white. Grays are decidedly out of the vogue at the present moment.

Four-in-hand ties are approaching the extreme of narrowness. The most recent arrivals from abroad are an inch and a half in width and are of delicate solid colors. This vogue of narrow cravats means oblivion to the wing tie and a revival of the fold variety with front edges almost meeting.

The vogue of the Japanese sleeve is still pronounced. The sleeve and the bodice are cut in one piece. The front is surplice edged with a broad band of oriental embroidery. It is filled in with a little vest, usually of velvet, and the collar and cuffs are of the same.

The fetching costume shown in the cut is of pongee in the natural color trimmed with banding, combining that shade with brown.

DAINTY DISHES.

Good Things to Eat and How to Cook Them Well.

Macaroni With Eggs.—Break two ounces of straight macaroni into inch lengths and throw into boiling salted water. When tender drain in a colander. Have ready two hard boiled eggs. Chop them rather coarsely, mix with half a pint of white sauce, add the macaroni and season with salt and pepper. Serve garnished with slices of fried tomato and parsley.

Imitation Sweetbread.—Pound in a mortar one pound of veal, add to it a little bacon, two beaten eggs, half a teacupful of breadcrumbs, season with salt, pepper and a pinch of mace. Stir in a tablespoonful of cream or melted butter. Form the mixture into the shape of sweetbreads, bake for half an hour, basting meanwhile. Serve very hot with rich brown sauce.

Bacon Rolly Poly.—This is a dish that will suit you if you wish to make use of bacon. Make a light suet paste either with suet or dripping, roll out and spread with thin slices of bacon. Make a seasoning of some powdered sage, a little chopped onion, pepper and salt and scatter over the bacon. Roll up, wet the edges, tie in a cloth and boil for two hours and a half. Serve with a good dish of spring cabbage.

Orange and Rhubarb Preserve.—To every pound of rhubarb allow three or four oranges and one pound and a half or gar sugar. Peel the oranges thinly and cut them into strips as for marmalade. Take off the white pith, which will not be needed. Remove the pips from the fruit and cut it in slices. Place oranges, rhubarb and sugar in the preserving pan and boil gently till sufficiently cooked and the scum has ceased to rise. Put the preserve in small pots and cover while hot with paper brushed over with white of egg.

Baked Mackerel and Potatoes.—Clean a good sized mackerel and fill with stuffing made as follows: Two ounces of breadcrumbs, one ounce of chopped suet, one dessertspoonful of chopped parsley and a teaspoonful of thyme. Mix the stuffing with milk and season with pepper and salt. Sew the fish up, put the tail through where the eyes were, fasten with a skewer; grease a baking tin and place the fish on it. Have some parboiled potatoes ready, cut each in half and arrange round the fish. Put some small pieces of dripping over the fish and potatoes and bake in a good steady oven for half an hour. Baste frequently and serve with good brown gravy.

THE FASHION WORLD.

Lace Frills—Handmade White Gowns. Novel Gloves—Linen Pincushions.

The use of little lace frills to outline other trimmings is a very popular and pretty wrinkle in trimming all sorts of gowns of filmy material.

If cost is no object, there is nothing more satisfactory for a handsome girlish frock than fine batiste or handkerchief linen made and embroidered by hand, the tucks all hand run, the embroidery hand worked, the valenciennes insertions whipped in with the needle.

Something new in gloves is invented every day. The long lengths afford great scope for originality. One exclusive house is showing gloves of sixteen button length with suede hands and arm parts of silk.

Lovely summer hats can be made entirely of worn lace after it has been side or accordion plaited.

White lingerie gowns with border designs worked in delicate colors are becoming more prominent among the exclusive exhibitions of spring and summer costumes, as are also those in colored linens and batistes, with white embroidered borders.

Linen pincushions for summer use will be greater favorites this year than they were last, for they are made in such practical but artistic designs that they will be equally serviceable on an elaborately appointed dressing table and on a plain bureau. Another advantage these cushions have over the ordinary silk and satin varieties is that they may be washed when soiled and after a rubbing will look just as fresh as when new.

The charming gown in the picture is of natural colored and green checked pongee fashioned in the princess jumper style. The skirt is trimmed with bias folds of the material piped with green. The waist is trimmed with applique.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Man and the Horse.

Men are apt to say severe things of the absurdities to which many women will submit at the behest of fashion, but, really, they are every bit as bad. A good horse has a naturally arched neck, an inferior one has not. But the owner of the latter must pretend that his sorry steed is blessed with blood, and to effect the deceit he slaps on a monstrous bearing rein and defies public opinion. A London carman, who is in many things a bit of a brute, will ease his horse when going up hill by removing the reins which keep its head up, but whoever saw the same kindness extended to a horse drawing a brougham? The same slavish following of fashion marks the attention to the horse's tail. The thoroughbred has his three-quarter length bush, so have the matched pair for the brougham, but what man would drive a cob which had a tail bigger than a half expanded fan?—St. James' Gazette.

CURRENT FANCIES.

Chiffon Boas For Mourning—Lingerie Bonnets—Polka Dots Popular.

Chiffon is rather too firm of texture to be made into a summer boa, but there are in the shops a number of different styles that are decidedly smart. For mourning black chiffon is more employed than net. Chiffon cloth is a better investment than chiffon or mousseline de soie, both of which are unsatisfactory as wearers.

Dainty lingerie bonnets trimmed with flutings of fine linen and batiste, and edged with narrow valenciennes lace will be worn by small children this season.

Polka dots are rivaling stripes and checks as the characteristic decoration of the summer. They are to be seen on every sort of material and on all sorts of accessories to the toilet. There is among the new materials a great variety of polka dot chiffon in all the colors, the design being formed of all sizes of polka dots. Some of the chiffons are white with colored polka dots, and some are in the pale tints with darker polka dots.

The first gowns to be worn in the late spring and early summer are the linen dresses, and these costumes are not one bit less popular this year because of having been so fashionable for the last three or four seasons. Linen, duck and crash are to be used again, made up in all styles of dress both for afternoon and morning. To wear in town during the spring a linen or crash coat and skirt suit is a most convenient thing to possess.

The chic corsets shown in the cut are especially adapted to the wearing of the sheer lingerie waists so much the vogue.

BRASS BEDS.

Be Careful in Cleaning Them Not to Remove the Lacquer.

The less a brass bed is touched the better it will look. At least this is the opinion of a prominent furniture dealer, who declares that if women would only keep their hands off the highly sensitive finish put on the metal in an endeavor to keep it in condition the shine and newness would last indefinitely.

"Most housekeepers want to rub the brass," he says, "and because the lacquer finish put on to keep the metal from tarnishing is easily worn off the rods, knobs and corners, frequently handled, often look dull after a few months' usage. The best advice I can give to any one possessing brass beds or tables, etc., trimmed with it is to let the metal alone. I don't believe in careful dusting, for it is impossible to do this cleaning thoroughly without rubbing the surface of the metal and wearing away the finish.

"If a feather duster is whisked over the brass once a day, the loose dirt should be removed, or if a piece of cheesecloth is more desirable and it is used the same as a duster instead of as a polisher the result is equally good.

"The mistake of applying a patent polish such as is used on brass door and name plates should never be made, for when the rubbing is over the delicate lacquer finish would have vanished, and the metal would then have to be thoroughly gone over and rubbed every day to keep it looking even fairly bright. And the only way the finish could again be put on would be by sending the bed to a factory for a new coat of lacquer, which would entail expense."

NO WOMAN CAN BE STRONG AND HEALTHY UNLESS THE KIDNEYS ARE WELL

When the kidneys are ill, the whole body is ill, for the poisons which the kidneys ought to filter out of the blood are left in the system. Then how important it must be to see to it that this system of sewerage be not clogged up. Those who have never been troubled with kidney trouble know not the misery and suffering which these afflicted undergo.

Doan's Kidney Pills

are a specific for all kidney troubles. They begin by healing the delicate membranes of the kidneys and thus make their action regular and natural.

They help the kidneys to flush off the acrid and poisonous impurities which have collected, thus clearing out the kidneys, bladder and all the urinary passages.

Doan's Kidney Pills are entirely vegetable, and may be safely taken by young and old.

Let Doan's Kidney Pills do for you what they have done for thousands of others, that is, cure you. Mrs. John Young, Harwood, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with my kidneys for some time and my back was so lame I could scarcely get around. After using two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, I am completely cured. I find there is nothing like them for the cure of all kidney troubles."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

Beneath the Surface.

By EPES W. SARGENT.

Copyright, 1907, by M. M. Cunningham.

Hallen looked pityingly at the girl. In spite of the degradation to which she had sunk, vice had not yet set its seal indelibly upon her features. The blackened eye, emphasized by the pitiful little attempt to conceal it by the use of powder, was the only stamp of viciousness, and from between the blackened lids the eye seemed to mirror an immaculate soul.

He looked with disgust about the cheap dance hall, with its blaring three piece band and its little crowds of merrymakers. There was a sordidness about it all that surprised him. But this girl seemed to have no place in the picture. Even the simple lines of her tattered dress bespoke a different plane of life.

Yet the story she had told shocked him in its revelation of the depths of misery to which a woman could sink. She was scarcely past twenty, but she had been deserted by her husband, had lost her little daughter and had gradually sunk into the slough of despond. It was a tale common enough in city streets, yet he hated to hear it from her lips. He wished that it might be, like his own, a fabrication.

A week before an editor had sent back a story he had offered.

"This rings false," the man wrote. "Dig down and get your facts first hand and let me see the result. I want something like it."

"WON'T YOU LET ME SEE YOU AGAIN?" HE PLEADED.

Disguise had been easy—a three days' growth of beard, tousled head and a shabby suit. He knew of the Odeon as a place where he was most likely to get material. He had intended to approach some man, but somehow he dropped into a chair beside the girl, and over a few drinks (he was rather proud of his trick of ordering gin and drinking the water instead of the spirits) they had exchanged experiences.

His own experiences were drawn from his imagination, but here was a story vivid in its directness, terrible in its unconcerned unveiling of misery and sin.

"Won't you let me see you again?" he pleaded. "Have you some address?"

She waved her hand comprehensively.

"This is mostly my address," she laughed. The music had not yet gone out of her voice, and the laugh appealed to him. "I'm most always here."

Hallen rose and slouched out. It was a relief to get into the bath, and a shave was a positive luxury. He tumbled into bed with a sigh of satisfaction, but when the lights had been switched off no sleep came to his tired eyelids. He lived again the scene of the evening, and the girl's face haunted him.

She had laughed when he spoke of uplifting, had scouted the possibility of reform, and yet he was determined that he would find her again and in spite of herself lead her steps back into the paths from which they had strayed.

He was at the Odeon again the next evening; but, though he sat from early evening until late in the night, the girl did not come. The waiter grinned when he asked concerning her.

"I never saw her before. I thought you brought her in."

"But she said she comes in here every evening," he persisted.

"Well, she don't," was the surly retort. "I guess I know what I'm talkin' about, and that goes. See!"

There was an intimation in the voice that Hallen would go if the statement did not, and he subsided. For a week he haunted that place and others like it, but not a trace of her could he find, and at last he went back to his work.

It seemed almost like sacrilege to use her story as material, to vivisect the quivering remains of a miscreant life, but the story carried a great moral. Perhaps others might read and profit. He worked on it a week before he sent it off and then half hoped that it would be rejected.

On the contrary, he got instead a most cordial letter.

"Just what I wanted," declared the editor. "I've another almost as good. I am going to run the two together under the title of 'Beneath the Surface.' I am sending the check."

Hallen started as he saw the check. It was double rates, but even that did not atone for his failure to find the girl. He wished that he might take it to her, for it was she, not he, who had really earned it.

Perhaps, he told himself, it might be the means of bringing her back to the things worth while. It was at least worth trying. He could scarcely wait until evening to set forth in his quest.

He made several stops before he reached the Odeon, and it was late when he entered the gaudy resort. With a start he recognized the girl and went toward her.

A heavy set man was arguing with her as he came up. Hallen gathered that she had refused to dance with him, and he was glad of it. Her face brightened at his approach, and the other man, noticing the welcome, slunk away.

"I am so glad you came," she cried as he slipped into a chair. "I wanted to see you."

"I haunted the place for a week," he said, "but no one seemed to remember you as a regular visitor, and so I gave it up."

"I—I thought you might want to escort me home," she explained as a flush rose to her cheek. "It would have been embarrassing, so I said you could always find me here. Did you want me for anything particular?"

"I just wanted to see you again," he said. "I was not prepared to admit that your case was hopeless."

"I am afraid that I—I have a confession to make," she said. "Do you remember the other night how you said that with a fair start you might make your way up again, but that no one would take you since you came from prison? You said you wanted to go out west, you remember?"

Hallen nodded, and his face turned red. He had confessed to being a convict, deprived by that fact of a chance to get ahead.

"Then listen," she cried. "I did something I ought to be ashamed of. I put the tragedy of your life into a magazine story. See! I received $75 for it. Won't you take it? It's really yours, you know. That will take you west and enable you to make a fresh start. Won't you, please?"

"On one condition," he said soberly, though his eyes twinkled.

"And that is?"

"That you take the check I received for writing the pitiful little tragedy of your life. You told a better yarn than I did. I got a hundred."

He laid his check beside hers on the table.

"To be published jointly under the caption of 'Beneath the Surface.'"

"You are Howard Hallen?" she gasped.

"And you Gertrude Perley? Wouldn't Loewer yell if he heard how his advice turned out! I presume he sent you the same sort of letter he sent me—to study the type at first hand."

The girl nodded.

"Just what he said. I've a friend who is a mission worker. She told me how to make up. She also told how they sell women ginger ale instead of whisky and give percentage checks."

"I was wondering about that whisky," he laughed. "It gave a very real touch to your story."

"I don't know whether the joke is on us or Mr. Loewer," she smiled. "But let's get out of here."

"Let's have a supper to celebrate," he suggested. "I can get home and back in no time and call for you and your friend at the mission house."

"Agreed," she nodded. "I think such an encounter deserves a better ending than a simple 'Good night. Glad to have met you.'"

"I think it does," he said, "a very different ending." His tone was pregnant with suggestion, and she answered with a smile. She could imagine what that ending might be, and the idea was not unwelcome.

PASSPORTS.

The Strict Regulations That Are Enforced in Russia.

There are very few countries where travelers now require passports in order to promote their convenience and security. In Brasil and Venezuela a passport must be shown to the officials before one is allowed to leave the country for a foreign port—a vexatious measure, enforced apparently for the sake of enabling a few officials to collect small fees.

In Russia, as is well known, passport regulations are enforced with the greatest stringency. No traveler, indeed, is permitted to enter the empire until he has obtained a passport and convinced the Russian consular officers at the port from which he sails that he is neither a Roman Catholic priest nor a Hebrew. The question ordinarily asked is, "What is your religion?" but it is designed to provide against the entry of either of these two classes.

When the traveler arrives at a Russian port with a passport that has been properly vised and countersigned at a consular office, it is critically examined by a police officer and duly registered. At the entrance of the hotel another police officer takes possession of the document and in the course of twenty-four hours returns it with a permit for a limited residence in the country.

It has been said with but little exaggeration that it is as difficult for one to leave Russia as it is to enter it. When the traveler departs for another city in the empire, he must have the passport countersigned by the police. This process continues until he reaches the frontier, which he cannot cross unless the passport has been vised and stamped by the police. Not infrequently tourists are stopped at the frontier and subjected to serious inconvenience because they have neglected to comply with the police regulations respecting passports. All this red tape causes annoyances and irritation among tourists, who are apt to overlook the fact that Russians as well as foreigners are compelled to observe these police regulations. It is the business of the police to know where everybody lodges.

The same system prevails in Turkey, where it is not practicable for a foreigner to travel without a passport. Elsewhere in Europe passports are not required. They are relics of a bygone period when communication between countries was slow and infrequent.—San Francisco Chronicle.

A Matter of Temperament.

By TRAY ALLISON.

Copyright, 1907, by Homer Sprague.

"Am I the joy to your soul that you are to mine, Roger?"

Cynthia's drawling voice could lend itself to bits of sarcasm in a way that would have maddened a less inflammable person than Roger Somers.

Roger was enveloped in a scowl that made it seem incredible he could ever have entertained thoughts of being the joy of anybody's soul, Cynthia's own particular soul being beyond the limits of possibility.

"Did you—address me?" His coolness added decidedly to Cynthia's interest. She raised herself in the hammock and arranged the cushions with the care of one who is determined to get comfort out of life.

"I was trying my voice sweetly. It's been growing rusty for the last hour."

Roger sat stolidly on the doorstep, his back eloquent with offended dignity.

"One labors under suchian inconvenience in addressing the back of one's audience."

The audience, however, kept its eyes upon a distant spot on the lawn, trying to concentrate its mind upon the exact spot where the driveways met and wondering why the place didn't seem the bit of heaven it had appeared a week before upon entering through that driveway to become one of Mrs. Keener's guests.

"I feel such an inclination to—er—babble, Roger, that if you don't mind I will continue to put it into sentences for—er—my own entertainment. Do you mind my saying that I never have seen such a bunch of dignity as your back represents? I cannot, without making an effort that the warmth of the day forbids, see more of you than the back of your blue serge coat, a slight glimpse of profile and the tips of your patent leathers where the sun strikes them."

She leaned back in the hammock shamelessly convulsed with her own wit. It was clearly evident that Cynthia was enjoying herself.

"Well, if you are waiting for an answer to that psychological problem you propounded"—Roger sat erect, delighted with the alliterative impressiveness of his opening remark—"we can probably reach the answer with less difficulty if we reason about it logically. The statement that I am a joy to your soul—we will let that remain undisputed until it is clearly proved that you have a soul."

Cynthia looked at him in frank delight, an appreciative smile curving her lips. She thought it possible the audience might face her soon, so she changed the cushions and put the rose colored one next her face.

"You have such a beautiful flow of language, Roger"—there was a sweetness in her voice that caused the audience to turn and look at her quickly to discover the possibility of latent sarcasm—"I often wish I could talk."

"Good Lord"—his fervor left no doubt as to his sincerity—"is it really a fact that you have recently lost your voice? I thought you were merely joking."

"You had sulked for an hour. I might as well talk to a stone wall as the back of a serge coat. Now, I admit cheerfully that I have a fiendish temper. You, according to your own showing, are never moved by a stronger or less meritorious feeling than righteous indignation. As for me—Roger, did you ever see me when I was really angry?"

That Cynthia was an adept at facing an audience no one of her acquaintances would have denied. Perhaps the possession of an adorable nose and a fluffy mass of curly hair strengthened her innate self confidence. Anyway, Roger, having once looked, had a feeling that he had in some way weakened for the fray—not that he intended giving Cynthia any inkling of the slight feeling of pollification that stole over him, but the ruffles fell around her forearm in a most distracting manner.

His eyes softened into pity, the poor girl had had so little opportunity for learning self control. Taking a course as a trained nurse had at one time been her fad—not that she ever expected to be one, but because a desire for knowledge and an everlasting propensity for making experiments seemed to have been born in her.

Roger in the depths of his soul had always disapproved of trained nurses. Her last escapade had completely convinced him that there was nothing more unsuited for a woman than such a profession.

Was there any other circumstance, he asked himself, that would have made it seem proper to Mrs. Keener's household that Cynthia should sit in that man Harding's room all the morning, administering little doses of medicine simply because Harding's cold had given him a fever that made him talk out of his head?

Mrs. Keener or one of the servants could have given that medicine.

"I was sorry not to go rowing with you last evening. The moonlight on that river is something one doesn't see always."

There was an expression in her eyes that was reminiscent.

Roger broke off viciously the piece of honeysuckle vine that had been tickling the back of his neck.

"There were perhaps other things that appealed to you more," coldly.

"You know I prefer rowing," insinuatingly.

"Perhaps, if Harding had been well enough to do the rowing—not that I believe he's sick enough to amount to anything," refusing to give an iota of doubt as to Harding's general duplicity of nature.

"He talked out of his head—all about a girl." She shamelessly broke all rules of etiquette as to confidence between nurse and patient.

Roger's increased scowl annihilated the possibility of belief that he ever had been or ever could be a joy to any soul.

"That's exactly what I thought he was raving about," hotly—"all about loving a girl."

"It was evidently a very nice girl—he called her dearest—I think he even referred to her as—er—an angel." The childishness of her smile seemed insufficient cause for the symptoms of apoplexy Roger was exhibiting.

"And you sat there all the morning and let that idiot make love to you"—His sentence was swallowed in a snort of disgust.

Cynthia glanced at the writing pad near her, wondering if it would not be salutary to Roger's manners if she forgot his existence and wrote letters the rest of the morning.

As the scratching of her pen became more noticeable the audience thought it owing to its dignity to disperse and walked across the lawn toward the gate, its hands stubbornly in its pockets.

Roger leaned over the gate disconsolately. She had seemed so different the last time they had been on the river. She had really come so near saying everything he wanted her to say that he had walked around for hours afterward in a state of ecstasy.

He tried to possess his soul in patience, waiting for the next evening, when she had promised to go with him on the river and perhaps say exactly what he wanted her to say. Roger considered it a piece of malignity of fate that Harding—that idiot Harding—should have been taken so ill, or at least should have pretended he was so violently ill. The soreness of his heart added a suggestion that Cynthia probably jumped at an escape from giving him the answer he was so anxious for.

The pleasant odor from the honeysuckle vines that clambered over the hedge, the effect of the soft breeze that gradually fanned some of the heat from his brow—something induced him to saunter slowly toward the veranda.

Cynthia had probably, he thought, had time to finish her letter in the half hour that had elapsed.

He saw that she was fast asleep. Evidently she had not been worrying much. There was a note conspicuously addressed and conspicuously pinned on a ruffle of the rose colored cushion.

He reached for it with an eagerness he would never have allowed the waking Cynthia to behold. Perhaps, after all, she might be amenable to reasoning; her somewhat flighty nature might gain sobriety from contact with him. Cynthia with a slight addition of sobriety—he gave a sigh that intimated it was more bliss than one man could properly realize. His fingers were nervous as he tore the note from its envelope.

"Joy of my soul," it ran, "your moods are truly a delight. They afford all kinds of opportunities for studies in human nature. After all, we are rather much alike, a mere matter of temperament, I suppose. If you prefer calling yours righteous indignation I don't mind. Mine can still go under the name of plain temper.

"He was really sick, Roger, and the girl he raved about he called Helen. I am awfully fond of rowing and am ready to go on the river any time, whether the sun is shining broiling hot or the moon as it was the other night, just as soon as your righteous indignation calms down to a degree that would make it safe for a person to get within ten feet of you."

Roger leaned over into the depths of the hammock, his face well mixed with pink cushion and sleeve ruffles.

"Wake up, Cynthia," he whispered. "I'm in a heavenly frame of mind."

A MOTHER'S STORY

How Zam-Buk Brought a Blessing to Her Home

Mrs J. J. Wilson, of 53 Wickson Avenue, Toronto, tells mothers of the benefits her home has derived from her habit of keeping a box of Zam-Buk, the great healing balm, always handy. She says: "My little girl, five years old, had an abscess on her knee. The knee was very much swollen and inflamed, and very painful. We put on some Zam-Buk and it quite cured her. I have also used it for cuts and bruises sustained by both my children, and it is wonderful how quickly it gave the little ones relief. Zam-Buk is so pure that a mother need not fear using it even on very young children.

My husband had his eye badly burned with hot lime. The eye was swollen and the agony was terrible. We applied Zam-Buk and the pain was speedily relieved. In three days time the eye was quite cured. We have also found Zam-Buk a fine remedy for piles, and I believe it to be the finest household balm obtainable."

Zam-Buk is purely herbal, and may be used by mothers even for skin of children of very tender years. It cures rashes, tetter, baby's skin troubles, chafing sores, etc. It also cures eczema, itch, pustules, blood poison, scalp sores, sore feet, sore nipples, ulcers, abscesses, chronic wounds, bad leg, running sores, varicose ulcers, etc. For piles it is absolutely unequalled.

All druggists and stores at 50c. a box, or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price: 6 boxes for $2.50. Send 1c. stamp for trial box.

Where Titles Are Cheap.

The cheapest country for buying a title used to be Portugal. When a man is made a baron or a count there his patent recites the service for which the grant is made. I was once in Portugal, and I had some curiosity to discover what were the services for which an Englishman of my acquaintance had been made a Portuguese baron. I therefore looked the matter up, and I found that it was for having introduced into the country a new tree. There used to be another plan for becoming a baron. It appears that there is—or was then—a convent which once had large possessions. All its tenants were, by the fact of being tenants, barons. But the convent had lost its possessions with the exception of one farm. It had an agent in London. For a very moderate consideration the agent let this farm to a would be tenant. He therefore became a baron, and when he resigned the farm to the next applicant he retained the title.—London Truth.

Gaelic.

Gaelic is the language of the highlanders of Scotland. The name belongs also to the sister languages of Ireland and the Isle of Man, but these have other names more commonly applied to them—Irish and Manx—and the term Gaelic is usually reserved for that spoken in Scotland. The three languages were originally one and now stand in much the same relation to each other that broad Scotch does to king's English.

Echoes.

Every one is familiar with the phenomenon of echoes. In a cave in the Pantheon the guide by striking the flap of his coat makes a noise equal to a twelve pound cannon's report. The singularity is noticed in a lesser degree in the Mammoth cave in Kentucky. In the cave of Smellin, near Viborg, in Finland, a cat or dog thrown in will make a screaming echo lasting some minutes.

Sandals.

In ancient Egypt the laborer, the soldier and the man of the people went barefooted, but sandals formed part of the costume of the man of rank. They could not be worn, however, in the house of the king or in his presence.

The Sun.

The sun if hollow would hold 300,000 globes as large as the earth, and an eye capable of hourly viewing 10,000 square miles would require 55,000 years to see all its surface.

A Smash.

"The McBangs have had a marital bust-up, haven't they?"

"I should say so. McBangs exploded with rage, his wife burst into tears and was all cut up about it, and now they have broken with each other."—Cleveland Leader.

Opposed to It.

"Really," said Mrs. Subbubs, "we ought to have one of those burglar alarms put in"—

"What!" exclaimed Subbubs. "And have the thing go off at night and wake the baby? Not much!"—Philadelphia Press.

Unavoidable.

"The trouble with that man is that he takes small matters seriously."

"Yes," answered Miss Cayenne, "but you could not expect him to do otherwise without sacrificing his self esteem."—Washington Star.

Heard in the Restaurant.

"I haven't spoken to my wife for three years," said the henpecked man.

"Why?" asked some one.

"I didn't want to interrupt her," he said.—Houston Post.

New cotton often causes needles to break because of its exceeding harshness. This difficulty may be overcome by rubbing the part to be sewn with a dry piece of soap. The plan answers equally well whether the work be done by hand or machine.

For a moth prevention and exterminator steep in about eight ounces of strong alcohol for about four days one ounce of gum camphor and one shell of red pepper; strain and sprinkle the clothes or furs and roll in sheets.

THE RIOTING REBELS ARE ROOTED

Chinese Government Troops Gain Complete Victory.

LEADER AND FLAGS TAKEN

Rebels Have Over Hundred Killed—Two Thousand Additional Troops Despatched, With Gunboat—Famine is Over—Supply Becomes Abundant—Milk Supplied to Babes—Gifts Were Liberal.

Canton, China, May 31.—A severe engagement has occurred between the provincial troops and a body of rebels, resulting in a victory for the former. The rebels lost over a hundred men killed and the Government forces captured the rebel leader.

Two thousand additional troops have been despatched to Chaochow.

The Chinese gunboat, Sum Hong, having on board the fifteenth regiment of Chinese troops, has sailed from here for Swatow, to defend that city against a possible attack on the part of the rebels.

Chinese Famine Ended.

Shanghai, May 31.—The famine which has prevailed for many weeks, causing hundreds of deaths and great suffering, has been broken.

The crops are still thin, but the hot weather of the past month has been favorable to a good yield.

American gifts have supplied milk regularly to 1,000 babies at the Hau Ohee Fu Temple, while 200 more have been nourished occasionally. The children are left with their parents or relations, as the Chinese dread foreign orphanages.

What is left of the gift will be turned over to the Red Cross Society to relieve individual cases of need, and to grapple with the next crisis.

ASSELIN LIBEL SUIT.

Laflamme Insists That Article Published Was True.

Quebec, May 31.—Judge Bosse yesterday having ruled against the evidence offered to prove Baron Lepine's incapacity as a witness, all his testimony was allowed to stand and Laflamme spent all the afternoon addressing the jury for the defence.

He claimed Asselin's article in Le Nationalist was fully justified by evidence which showed that as charged, Prevost sold mining permits privately and lands as well. Thus one other paid $1,000 for 200 acres, which he sold for $100,000.

McKenzie had bought land for a few thousand, which he sold to a company with a capital of six millions, and declined to say how much he made out of it. He had been favored by being given permits fraudulently, which had been previously applied for.

"I have known men to serve time in penitentiary," said Mr. Laflamme, "for less offences."

He said that the mining department had been proved to be thoroughly demoralized.

BOGUS LIQUOR LICENSES.

Two Men Asked $3,000 for Government Campaign Fund.

Toronto, May 31.—The provincial detectives have unearthed what they believe to be the beginning of a gigantic swindle in the sale of bogus liquor licenses in Cobalt.

Two men were arrested Monday. A man called Enright was taken into custody by Chief Caulback of Cobalt, and another, Davison, of Ottawa, was arrested there, charged with conspiracy to defraud.

It is alleged that these men went to Cobalt and undertook in at least one instance to procure a liquor license for a Cobalt man in consideration of $3,000, which should go to the Provincial Government's campaign fund.

They are said to have represented themselves as the fountain-head of influence, and to be able to produce licenses at the given figure.

Davison is being sent to Cobalt, and the twain will appear there before Police Magistrate Brown this morning for a hearing.

Was Almost Asphyxiated.

Brockville, May 31.—A man named Hurst, hailing from Toronto, who has been about town for some time, was found in a room in the Grand Central Hotel unconscious from the effects of inhaling gas.

He will have to remain at the hospital for some time.

Race Train Derailed.

New York, May 31.—Several persons were injured, none fatally, when a Long Island train was derailed at the Belmont Park race track station yesterday afternoon.

CHURCH FLOOR INTO THE CELLAR

Flooring of Church Collapsed At Wilkesbarre.

SIXTY PERSONS INJURED

Cornerstone Was Being Laid—Spectators in Perilous Position—Removed in Ambulances by Police—Bishop Hoban Badly Shaken Up—Insufficient Bracing Was the Cause of the Accident.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., May 31.—At the laying of the corner-stone of St. Mary's Greek Catholic Church yesterday, a temporary flooring collapsed, precipitating about 60 persons into the cellar, 12 feet below.

For over an hour the utmost excitement prevailed. The screams of those in the wreckage and the groans from the injured could be heard for a block away. Ladders were obtained from neighboring factories, and with the aid of the police, the injured were removed from their perilous position. Some were able to walk to their homes. Others were removed to hospitals in ambulances.

The accident, it is said, was due to insufficient bracing beneath the new floor.

Bishop Hoban of Scranton, who went down with the wreckage, was at first reported to be seriously hurt. He was soon rescued by friends and removed to a place of safety. He was badly shaken up, but escaped injury.

WEST YORK ELECTION.

Suddenness of Campaign Hardly Appreciated By Electorate.

Toronto, May 31.—Canvassers in the West York campaign report a surprising lack of knowledge among electors that a contest is imminent in this riding.

The speed with which the vacancy in the local House is being filled is believed to be mainly responsible for this, as it has allowed little time for public meetings. The election takes place to-morrow (Saturday). The riding comprises Etobicoke and Vaughan and York Township west of Yonge street, the towns of Toronto Junction and the villages of Weston and Woodbridge.

The candidates are Dr. Godfrey, Conservative; Eaten William, independent, and F. J. Peel, Socialist.

TWO GIRLS MURDERED.

Bodies Found in Creek by Their Distracted Father.

Springfield, Ill., May 31.—Carrie Lederbrand, 7 years old, and her sister Cora, 17 years old, daughters of Joseph Lederbrand, a farmer, were murdered and thrown into Sugar Creek Wednesday, and the bodies were found that night by the girls' father.

The girls left home early in the afternoon.

Dr. Duncan found that each girl had a bullet hole in the right temple.

It is believed that Cora shot her invalid sister Carrie and then killed herself. Cora had often complained that she was unable to associate with other girls because she had to care for Carrie.

BISHOP IN DANGER.

Attempted Assassination Foiled By Young Priest.

Lublin, Russia, May 31.—An attempt was made to assassinate Bishop Yatchevsky, of the Catholic church.

A man, who subsequently was identified as a socialist agitator, who had twice been imprisoned, fired several shots from a revolver at the Bishop while the latter was walking through a street here and then attacked him with a dagger, slightly wounding the prelate.

The latter's life was saved by a priest, who sprang before the Bishop. The would-be assassin was captured by the police.

BALLOON DRIFTS AWAY.

Two Military Experts Carried Out to Sea—Are Rescued.

London, May 31.—A military balloon, piloted by Lieuts. Caulfield and Leake of the Royal Engineers, which was sent up from Aldershot camp, May 28 during the review in honor of Prince Fushimi of Japan, was picked up at sea by a fishing smack yesterday morning, some distance from Exmouth, County of Devon, at the mouth of the Exe, in the English Channel.

Later in the day a despatch by wireless telegraphy was received from the coast guard station at Scilly Islands reporting that the two lieutenants had reached the station in safety.

WAS NEVER EJECTED FROM HOTEL

Hon. Mr. Emmerson Explains Incident At Montreal Hotel.

DENIES ANY IMPROPRIETY

Was Protecting Lady Friends of Many Years Standing From Insult—Party Was Not Noisy—Nor Were They Asked to Leave—Acts of Kindness Misconstrued — Defence Pleads Justification.

Fredericton, N. B., May 31.—Yesterday was redolent with surprises and rich in dramatic incidents in the Emmerson charges of criminal libel against the editor of The Gleaner.

Just now the issue narrows to a point of veracity between Mr. Emmerson and Harry Deane, once night-watchman at the St. Lawrence Hall.

The facts are so nearly agreed upon that judgment in the end must depend only upon the inference to be drawn.

Indeed, the case, if submitted to a jury, will be largely decided upon Mr. Emmerson's testimony.

Mr. Emmerson's Star.

Mr. Emmerson, examined by Mr. White, stated: On Sunday, June 10, 1906, he left Ottawa for Montreal, arriving about 7.30 p.m. He was assigned a room at the St. Lawrence Hall. He glanced over the hotel register and found the names of Mrs. Allen and Mrs. Beauthner. He went to their room and, at his suggestion, the party went for refreshments to the Oxford Cafe. They returned to the hotel about 10.30 and, after a brief conversation at the door of the ladies' room, he went to his own department. He was awakened by a knock on the door and found the two ladies, Mrs. Beauthner somewhat hysterical. They complained that a porter had come to their room and insulted them, and Mrs. Beauthner insisted upon leaving the hotel. Mr. Emmerson asked them to wait, and stepped into the bathroom to complete his toilet. Meanwhile another porter appeared and made some apology, and both Mr. Emmerson and Mrs. Allen urged Mrs. Beauthner to quiet down.

He afterwards escorted them to another hotel.

Mr. Emmerson declared that both of the ladies were of irreproachable character, and Mrs. Allen moved in the best society of Moncton, and had been known by him since her childhood. The other he knew slightly, but esteemed her of blameless life.

Cross-examined by Mr. Hazen, Mr. Emmerson denied that he came to Montreal by appointment with them on the following Sunday, and also that the women were with him in his room and that the lights were turned off. Possibly they were in his room while he was in the bathroom.

He denied that the porter came to the room and ordered the three of them to make less noise.

He did not ask what the porter had said to the ladies, or in what way they were insulted.

He had given the money to Mrs. Beauthner to pay his bill and to hire a carriage, because she was fully dressed for the street and he was not.

He denied that either lady was in his room after midnight, clad in a kimona.

He denied all improper conduct.

The next morning he had returned to Ottawa.

Upon re-examination, Mr. Emmerson recalled that Mrs. Allen's father had been his father-in-law's private secretary. He declared that Mrs. Allen was of untainted character.

Plea of Defence.

With the conclusion of Mr. Emmerson's testimony, the crown rested. Mr. Crockett was then formally arraigned, and his counsel stated that he had admitted writing the article, that he claimed that it was true, and that the matter contained therein was true, and that long before the publication by The Gleaner, it had become a matter of public discussion among the people, by the public press and in Parliament.

Porter's Testimony.

Harry Deane, night porter, testified that about 12 o'clock he saw two ladies going towards Emmerson's room. They were in dressing gowns. They had left the door of room 9 open, and he closed it. At 1.30 he heard loud talk and loud laughter in Emmerson's room. The voices indicated that two ladies and a gentleman were in the party. Witness tapped on the floor. After two or three minutes the door was opened. A tall woman came to the door. The room was dark, although there may have been a light in the bath. He told her and the party generally that they must keep quiet. She said, "All right," and shut the door.

He then reported the occurrence to Lloyd, the night clerk, and, acting under Lloyd's direction, returned to room 137. Mrs. Beauthner opened the door. He said to the party inside, "You will have to make less noise or get out of the hotel." Mr. Emmerson and the two ladies were then in room 137. The room was now lighted up.

Question: Did you see the bed? Answer: Yes.

Question: Had it been occupied? Answer: Yes.

A few moments later he saw the three leaving.

On cross-examination, Mr. Pugsley recalled Mr. Emmerson's statement that he was asleep when the ladies came to his room, and witness admitted that this might explain the condition of the bed.

Principal Falconer was present and his resignation of the principalship of the college, in view of his decision to accept the offer of the presidency of Toronto University was laid before the board. The action of the board was that, while greatly regretting to lose his services, nothing would be placed in the way of Dr. Falconer accepting.

The board unanimously nominated Rev. Dr. Magill, one of the professors of Pine Hill College, as Principal Falconer's successor, and Rev. J. W. Falconer, pastor of Fort Massey, to succeed his brother as professor of New Testament exigises.

FAMINE THROUGHOUT CHINESE EMPIRE HAS BEEN BROKEN

SHANGHAI, May 31—The famine which has prevailed for many weeks causing hundreds of deaths and great suffering, has been broken. The crops are still thin, but the hot weather of the past month has been favourable o a good yield.

American gifts have supplied milk regularly to 1,000 Hsu Cheo Fu Temple, while 200 more have been nourished occasionally.

The children are left with their parents or relations, as the Chinese dread foreign orphanages.

What is left of the gift will be turned over to the Red Cross Society to relieve individual cases of need and to grapple with the next crisis.

Bishop Scollard Has Good Scheme For Colonization

Writes a Letter to Montreal French Paper Pointing Out Advantages Possessed by New Ontario.

WANTS FRENCH CANADIANS

Toronto News.—Mgr. Scollard, Roman Catholic Bishop of Sault Ste. Marie, is doing patriotic work in urging French-Canadians who intend to leave home in search of fortune to come to Northern Ontario. In a letter to La Patrie he shows the advantages of the north compared with the factories of the United States. He says: "To the thousands of French-Canadians of Quebec and of the United States who might settle here, I give a cordial welcome. I urge them to visit our country and when they have seen for themselves, they soon will be convinced of the splendid, prosperous future which awaits them." Canada for the Canadians is a good motto."

ENJOYABLE AT HOME WAS HELD

Under the Auspices of Knox Church Young Men's Guild Last Night

A SPLENDID PROGRAMME

A very enjoyable "At-home" was held in Knox Church last night under the auspices of the Young Men's Guild. There was a large attendance of young people, and the evening was one of unmitigated enjoyment, reflecting great credit upon those who organized and took part in the programme. Mr. Duncan Campbell made an efficient chairman.

Before the programme began, Rev. Mr. Keith and Mr. Morrison made short speeches of welcome to the young people.

Following was the most enjoyable programme, nearly every number of which was encored:

Instrumental—Miss Lottie Childs.
Vocal Solo—Miss Agnes Carr.
Recitation—Miss Eva Barclay.
Piano Solo—Miss Buyers.
Solo—Miss Winnie Anderson.
Instrumental—Miss Childs.
Solo—Mr. Duncan Campbell.
Instrumental—Miss Winnie Anderson.

During the evening a very interesting guessing contest was held. It was announced that Miss Thompson and Messrs. Campbell, Stewart, and Evans White were tied for the prize, and it was decided to draw for it, with the result that Mr. White won.

Enjoyable refreshments were served at the conclusion of the programme and a pleasant social hour spent.

The cakes remaining over were disposed of by auction, Mr. Campbell making a capable auctioneer.

ONTARIO BANK WON CASE FROM M'DONALD

In the case of the Ontario Bank vs. McDonald, the former was given judgment for the $305.08 claimed together with costs. Hall and Hayes acted for the plaintiff and Cleary & Buchanan, of Sudbury, for the defendants.

Judgment was reserved in the case of the Peterborough Hydraulic Power company vs. McAllister. Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr acted for the plaintiffs, and O'Connel & Gordon for the defendant.

An Otonabee Man Finds Rich Silver Vein In Coleman

Mr. Wm. Crowley, After Month's Work in Cobalt District, Strikes a Rich Find.

300 OUNCES TO THE TON

Another Peterborough county man has made a rich strike of silver in Cobalt. On Monday last Mr. Wm. Crowley, who has been in the Cobalt district for less than a month prospecting for minerals made a find on the Montreal River, in Coleman township, which promises to be very rich. Silver found on the surface on Mr. Crowley's strike, went 300 ounces to the ton, which is considered by mining men to be an eminently satisfactory quantity, and stamps it as a paying proposition.

Has Had Offers

Mr. Crowley is a cousin of Mr. T. H. Crowley, who has made some rich discoveries in the Cobalt district. His success after having been prospecting less than a month, is considered as rather remarkable. It is stated that already he has received a number of good offers for his property, but he has not disposed of it yet; and, in all probability he will hold it, and do some further development work on the claim. If it is as rich as it appears to be on the surface there is little doubt that it will be regarded as one of the finds of the Cobalt region.

EDITOR OF POST CARD COLUMN

Editor Post-Card Column.

Dear Sir,—I don't particularly object to the garbage bylaw unless payment is made by general tax. But, if the work, according to the bylaw, is done like the street watering and the snow ploughing, it is not worth while beginning. If the men who gather garbage are like some of the men who smash fences and bark trees with the snow plow, there will be a lot of damage done when they tramp round in private back yards.

Yours truly,
CAUTION.

Editor Post-Card Column.

Sir,—By all means pass the garbage bylaw and carry it out. Neatness and cleanliness of premises and healthy conditions above everything. But, while we are forced to have to keep our premises neat and tidy, let the city do its share in keeping the streets decent and tidy, and not permit rubbish, litter, piles of rotten wood taken out of walks or drains, heaps of earth, loose stones, and so forth. Make a clean job of it all round.

Yours truly,
MISS PRIM.

GRAIN PRODUCTS ARE GOING UP AND WE PAY MORE FOR GROCERIES

Rolled Oats Jump Up 25c. a Barrel This Morning — Other Food Stuffs Must Follow Soon.

FRUITS SHARE INCREASE

Some Figures, Showing the higher Prices Prevailing, as Compared With Those a Year Ago.

It will be unpleasant news to the householders of the city to learn that there has been an almost general increase in food stuffs, which are grain products. This morning rolled oats were boosted 25 cents a barrel, not alone by the local mills, but a similar action has been taken by all the millers in the province. It is understood, too, that it will be only a matter of a short time until package goods will be increased in price, and twenty-five cents a case will be added to them. The result will be that there will be no more ten cent packages, or at least that the packages will have to be smaller.

Syrup up too

Simultaneous with this increase comes the announcement that starches and syrup, both of them grain products to a large extent, have been raised in price.

The effect of the recent jump of thirty cents a hundred in the price of sugar is also being felt. The cheaper grades of candies, mixtures and cupids, have gone up, while at the same time cocoas and chocolates have been increased, too. Baker's cocoa has gone up four cents a pound.

Those who have been buying salmon recently have learned that the price of that staple has increased, fully seventy cents a case having been added since last summer.

Fruit Shares Increase

Fruit, too, seems to have shared in the general advance. Prunes and seedless raisins have gone up, the cause attributed being the partial failure of the crop, and it is predicted that the new goods for full delivery will be fully two or three cents a pound higher than at present.

There seems to be no clearly defined reason for this increase in the price of groceries, and, in many respects the loss will fall on the retailer, because he will be compelled to sell the goods at the same price as formerly, while they will cost him more. In other cases, however, the price to the consumer will be raised in proportion to the increase to the retailer, and he will probably make up on these lines what he loses on the others.

The brunt of the higher prices will thus fall eventually on the consumer in any event.

BRIGADIER HARGRAVE FOR THIS WEEK'S END

Will Conduct Special Services at the Army Barracks

Brigadier Hargrave of the Salvation Army will arrive in the city tomorrow and will conduct the week-end meetings. A special meeting will be held on Saturday night and also on Sunday. The meetings will be most interesting, as the brigadier is known as an eloquent speaker.

On Sunday morning at 10 o'clock an open-air meeting will be held at the Corner of Aylmer and Lake streets. These assemblies are proving a great boon to every person involved and are well attended every Sunday. A large number of the bandsmen is asked to be on hand sharp at the hour and make this meeting like the others.

ANNUAL ROLL CALL HELD LAST NIGHT

A Large Representation of the Park Street Baptist Church

The annual roll call of the Park Street Baptist Church was held last night, when there was a large representation of the church membership present. Prior to the business and devotional exercises, the usual tea was held, and was much appreciated. The first table was laid at 6.40, and from that hour until 8 o'clock tea was served. Following this, the company was called to order by the pastor, who presided, and, after singing "Blessed be the tie that binds," the roll of members was called by the pastor, in the absence of the clerk, Mr. George Sloan. The members responded with passages of Scripture. An inspiring address was given by the pastor on the outlook of the church for the future. He stated that the prospects for the church were of the brightest, and, referring to the proposed new church, made the announcement that a liberal offering had been received for this fund, and that there were still many envelopes to come in. He announced that Rev. Dr. Norton would preach on Sunday. Dr. Norton has but recently returned from Cobalt, and will likely have something interesting to say of the missions there.

THREE MONTHS' SUBSCRIPTION FOR REPORTING SUCCESS WITH ADS.

Comparatively few persons appreciate the varied uses to which the Want Columns of the Examiner can be put with benefit and profit. In order to exemplify this, the Examiner made an offer, notice of which was given in yesterday's issue. To the first person reporting to this office a satisfactory conclusion to an advertisement appearing in Saturday's paper, a free three months' subscription to the daily will be given. Each week, the first person reporting to the office, having a successful result to any condensed advertisement, will be given a free three months' subscription valued at $1.

It should be understood that the advertisement need not necessarily appear for the first time on Saturday, but it must be contained in that issue, and the result cannot be reported until after the paper is issued on Saturday.

MANAGER ABSCONDED WITH THE COMPANY'S MONEY IN HIS POCKETS

SHAVED HIS MOUSTACHE

His Whereabouts Are Unknown To the Rest of the Company—Has Had a Chequered Business Career.

After collecting and safely stowing away over $100 worth of accounts and disguising himself by shaving off his moustache, Jno. C. Ortmiller, manager of the Peterborough Decorating Company, Hunter street, is said to have left the city with the intentions of remaining away and defrauding the rest of the company out of the money he had gathered together. The date of his disappearance was Tuesday of this week, according to the statements of the family who lived in the other portion of the house on Park street.

Ortmiller came to Peterborough about last Christmas and was instrumental in forming the Peterborough Decorating Company, in which are two or three Peterborough capitalists. It has been an open secret to many that he was not conducting the business in a satisfactory manner, and, financially, the company was losing ground. During the last few days he spent in Peterborough he made it his business to collect as many accounts as possible, and it is stated to the Examiner by another member of the company that he secured over $100 cash.

Moustache Disappeared

One of the employees of the company states that he saw Ortmiller about Monday evening, minus his moustache, and he believed that he had intentions of leaving the city. He communicated this to Mr. Jno. Richardson, a member of the Decorating Company, and the latter, on going to the residence of Ortmiller on Tuesday evening, discovered that the bird had flown and taken with him some household goods and the company's money. His wife had also accompanied him.

Ortmiller's business career has never been a very brilliant one, according to report. Born in England, he came to Canada when a boy, and settled in Cavan township, where he was brought up, but uneducated. In Lindsay he began a business similar to that which he lately managed in Peterborough, and, it is said, his debts forced him to vacate that town also. He left there, so far as can be understood, with a quantity of the company's money and went West, but returned again last year. His subsequent actions were centred in Peterborough.

No Books Kept

While here, he employed Mr. Harry Seddon as bookkeeper, but the latter states that it was impossible for him to keep any track of the money expended or received. Ortmiller, he said, often collected accounts, but would not keep any track of where they came from, so that the transaction was never posted. This loose style caused Seddon to abandon his position some time ago. The latter then predicted that the company could not do business much longer with Ortmiller as the manager.

The absconding of the manager has left no person in direct charge. Mr. Richardson intends, if possible, to obtain a competent manager, and, if not, the business will be disposed of.

FIRE IN DANCE HALL CAUSED A PANIC AMONG THE DANCERS

Examiner Special

Montreal, May 31.—As a result of a sensational fire, which took place early this morning during the progress of a dance in a hall in the east end, one man, Arthur Duperreault, a butcher, is dead, and 18 others are injured, some of them seriously.

The fire started in the basement of the building, the ground floor of which is occupied by G. Marsoleis as a dry goods store. The dancers became panic-stricken by the rush of smoke and flames, and began jumping from the windows before the firemen arrived. The firemen rescued many by means of ladders.

STRIKE AT ARMOURIES THIS MORNING

Concrete Mixers Wanted $2.00 Per Day and Were Refused

A strike which occurred this morning among the concrete mixers and labourers employed in the construction of the new armouries, interfered considerably with the work to-day. The six concrete mixers who had been working there had been receiving $1.75 per day, and made a demand for $2, which was refused, the sub-contractor expressing his willingness to pay the men what they were worth.

The six went out this morning, and with them went half a dozen labourers employed at the excavation work, which left only a few men at work.

Brotherhood Of St. Andrew Growing In The Great West

Mr. A. C. McCollum, Local Representative, Returns From Convention in Winnipeg—Will Report at Joint Meeting of Local Branches.

WEST'S GROWTH BACKWARD

Mr. A. C. McCollum, the representative of the local assembly of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, to the big Winnipeg Conference, arrived home on the midnight last night, after a ten days' absence.

Mr. McCollum was one of 238 delegates to the Brotherhood of St. Andrew convention, among whom were 45 clergymen. The delegates present came from the larger towns and cities between Halifax and Vancouver, and a number from St. Louis and other large American cities.

The convention was held in the Winnipeg Y.M.C.A. building and included seven conferences upon the work of the Brotherhood between the two oceans. Mr. McCollum reports that the society is rapidly growing and especially is this the case in Western Canada. The Brotherhood of St. Andrew was first instituted in Winnipeg in March, 1906, and already that city embraces 90 members. The Brotherhood in other western towns and cities is growing just as rapidly in proportion to their population.

The convention this year was held in Winnipeg expressly for the purpose of giving the west the benefit of the experience of the Brotherhood in the eastern portion of the Dominion. The Brotherhood out there is yet in its infancy, and the congregation of delegates in the western metropolis will do much to further its progress in the vast prairie land.

A joint meeting of the three local branches will be held shortly in St. Luke's church, when Mr. McCollum will report on the convention.

Growth not Rapid

The vegetation, Mr. McCollum stated, was not as far advanced in the west as in Ontario. A little snow yet lies on the ground in the woods in the vicinity of Winnipeg and the growth so far has been slow.

Mr. McCollum had a delightful trip, going by special car from Toronto to Winnipeg by way of Chicago and St. Paul, in company with 28 other delegates. Returning he sailed across Lake Superior from Fort William to Owen Sound, where he took the train for home.

What Do You Think of the Man

Who says he will pay rent no longer! Six weeks ago he bought from me a block of 8 Lots, ploughed and planted 7 Lots, has all material on the ground to build a house. He has already built a temporary Cottage which his sensible wife is quite satisfied to occupy pending completion of the home. The children are happy and free from many city dangers. The hens have occupied their coop and are supplying the wants of the family in their line. The big garden will soon supply many other wants. There is no rent to pay. The block of 8 Lots would now sell for $200 more than cost. The owner being a builder bought a second block to-day and with his 16 Lots to build upon the tenant of six weeks ago will very soon be a Landlord and an employer on the road to riches. If you are a good class of man I can start you in like manner. My Lots, my Prices and my Terms have no equals in Peterborough. Call without delay. Prices advance June 1st.

PARTIZAN IN THE EXTREME

At the South Oxford Liberal Convention, Hon. Mr. Graham expressed the conviction that the time is coming when the administration of the liquor license department will be taken out of party politics altogether and put in the hands of an independent commission. There is no doubt that, the Woodstock Sentinel-Review says, such a proposal, honestly set forth, would receive the very general approval of the people of Ontario. Mr. Whitney and some of his colleagues helped to win their way to power by the proclamation of such a policy; but the fulfillment has fallen so far short of the promise that the liquor traffic to-day is probably capable of exercising a stronger political influence in support of the party in power that it ever was before in the history of the Province. So far from removing the administration of the license department from party influences, Mr. Whitney and his friends have made it an important and influential part of the party machine, to the great disgust and disappointment of those who looked forward with confidence to some real improvement. Real temperance reform in this Province has always been associated with the Liberal party, quite as much, perhaps, as Provincial Rights, and in spite of Mr. Whitney's fine talk, it is becoming more and more apparent that it is to the Liberals that the people must still look for real reform.

THE ORANGEVILLE CASE.

The origin of what looks like a double miscarriage of justice, at Orangeville, is unsavoury enough to drop, but the circumstances connected with it, will not down. We have here a situation unprecedented in the annals of Canadian justice. One man, who pleaded guilty to a crime, tantamount to murder, was allowed to go on suspended sentence, and now we have the man who was charged with being an accomplice, relieved by the action and efforts of the Crown, from standing trial, or even preliminary inquiry. Mr. E. F. B. Johnston, counsel for Douglass, charged with supplying drugs, whose criminal use led to the death of a woman, made a strong plea for dismissing the charg against his client, as was his duty to do. But we have the course of the Crown Attorney, without precedent. His duty was to bring the accused to trial, but he made, if anything, a more forcible plea than the defending counsel, to secure the escape of the accused, without hearing. The gist of Crown Attorney McKay's plea for neglecting his duty, is that the Crown felt it impossible to secure a conviction on the evidence available. If such a plea were recognized as valid, thousands of accused criminals would never be brought to trial. No special pleader in a law court could have made a stronger effort to clear his client, than Crown Attorney McKay did to prevent an accused criminal being brought to trial. There must be something behind all this solicitude to prevent investigation into a monstrous crime. We have the admitted arrangement, if not collusion, between the Crown counsel, and the presiding Judge, to permit the escape of Jackson, who pleaded guilty to the murder of Elizabeth Wells; and we have the extraordinary fact of a Crown counsel, with or without the authority the provincial Department of Justice, laying aside the functions of a Crown prosecutor, and taking the place, and exercising the functions, of a defending counsel, on behalf of an accused, but, practically, admitted accomplice, before the fact, Is is reasonable to suppose that a Crown attorney would take this tremendous responsibility upon himself, on his own independent initiative? The doubt created justifies a demand for inquiry, rigid and complete, into the circumstances surrounding what seems to be a double miscarriage of justice, not by the action of a jury, but by the direct and overt action of those charged with the fearless and full administration of justice, and the protection of society.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Prof. E. Stone Wiggins must have been "hitting the booze" again. He says he sees two moons in the sky.

Haven't we suffered enough from coal quakes without the local Astronomical Society talking about earthquakes? They might as well grow dreary over graves, worms and epitaphs.

The blue law regime is widening. Following Peterborough's illustrous anti-salivary example, Winnipeg has passed an anti-spitting bylaw. It's a little peculiar that, in a free country like this, a man can't spit if he chews.

Crown Attorney McKay, at Orangeville, said in justification to his refusal to do his duty in prosecuting Douglas, that he did not think a jury would convict. Why didn't he give the jury a chance? Results would be their concern, not his. His duty was to prosecute, leaving the issue in the hands of the jury.

Some of the Conservative newspapers are endeavouring to prove that Sir Wilfrid Laurier misled the country when he stated that the cost of the National Transcontinental Railway would only be $13,000,000, and they point to the fact that six millions of dollars has already been spent on the enterprise, and that Parliament, at its last session, voted $28,000,000 more for the same purpose. This is a line of argument, says the Brantford Expositor, to which Mr. W. F. Cockshutt, M.P., has also resorted, and it is obviously misleading. What Sir Wilfrid meant was that a sum equal to about $13,000,000 then invested would cover the actual amount paid in remission of the first seven years' rental, plus the interest on the money during the construction of the road. In other words, the $13,000,000 paid at the inception of the scheme would be the country's total contribution to the building of the road on which it would receive no rental, but which would represent the cash bonus or encouragement to the construction of the new highway across the continent. Sir Wilfrid can only be convicted of misrepresentation by wresting a few words from one of his speeches and ignoring the context, as well as the entire tenor of the debate of which it formed a part.

EXTRAORDINARY

LaPresse, Montreal, has the following:—In every country of the world medical practices which tend to the destruction of embryonic human life are ranked with the most odious of crimes and punished accordingly. In fact they have the gravity of murder. Chief Justice Falconbridge of Ontario does not seem to see things in this light, nor indeed, the public authorities. An Orangeville man, was cited beofre the court for this crime. He pleaded guilty and, to the great surprise of everybody, the presiding judge gave the following decision, after having heard the representative of the Crown Attorney, who declared to the effect that there was an understanding between the Crown, the prisoner and the judge:—"The crime in question deserves to be punished, but I suspend sentence. Perhaps the accused will never be sentenced." We have the right to call attention to a complaisance which would never be tolerated in the province of Quebec and we sincerely hope that similar words will never be pronounced in our courts of justice.

HAD SMALLPOX BUT WORKED STILL

Dr. Bell Makes a Startling Discovery in Eastern Ontario—Sick But Worked in Fields

Dr. Bell, Provincial Health Inspecspector, has returned from Grenville and Carleton Counties, where a mild type of smallpox has prevailed for some weeks.

"Kemptville Village and Marlborough South Gore, and Oxford Townships are the districts affected," said Dr. Bell to-day. "Many cases were not seen by a doctor, and others were erroneously diagnosed as chickenpox. Until a week ago not a house was placarded. The sufferers have been going about as if nothing were wrong, and on this, my second visit, I met several at work in the fields and elsewhere in a condition likely to result in spreading the disease.

"However, I have conferred with the health boards and municipal authorities, and proper precaution will be taken. Fortunately, no death has occurred."—Toronto Star.

"PALACE GIRL" SHOT.

Mysterious Death of London Favorite In South America.

Miss Lily Parker, who created some sensation in London a few years ago as a member of the dancing troupe known as the "Palace Girls," has been found shot in Buenos Ayres under mysterious circumstances.

The troupe was offered a tour in South America, and set out for Buenos Ayres in the early part of 1905. The troupe returned, leaving Miss Parker behind. They informed her mother that in October last the young dancer married a South American millionaire.

Miss Parker had not been in South America long before she wrote to her married sister in London, saying that she had "met a boy who was awfully good" to her. She said he had bought her a motor-car. She wrote regularly to her parents up to February 18 last. A week later Mrs. Parker received a cutting from a Buenos Ayres paper stating that her daughter had shot herself through the chest in her rooms, and expired before medical assistance could reach her.

In her letters to her parents the deceased never made allusions to her marriage. "She told us in her letters," said her mother, "that she had lovely jewels and dresses, and one of the girls who was out there with her said you couldn't see her for diamonds. Lily was not the sort of girl to kill herself. She was to come back shortly to fulfil a four years' contract in Drury Lane pantomime."

Miss Parker's brother is in communication with the Argentine Minister in London, and efforts are to be made to solve the mystery of the girl's death.

CZAR'S TARS DELIGHTED.

Visit of Russian Sailors Completes "Alliance of Sentiment."

Once more the Kaiser's restless diplomacy has placed Germany in a dangerous position of isolation. The Triple Alliance between Italy, Austria, and Germany has practically broken down. In spite of all the threats and cajoleries that have been recently made, Italy has determined to free herself from the fetters of this "triplice."

This means that Germany stands alone in Europe, faced by the powerful dual alliance of Russia and France. Her isolated position is further emphasized by the new "entente cordiale" that has sprung up between Russia and Great Britain.

The King's tactful entertainment of the Russian sailors on their arrival at Portsmouth has completed the new "alliance of sentiment" with Russia.

"We never had such a treat in our lives as our visit to London," was the verdict of the Czar's tars. The verdict of the officers was equally enthusiastic But with excusable patriotism, all the King's recent guests agreed that while London was "big and crowded," it did not compare for comfort with St. Petersburg.

A laughable incident occurred while the Russian sailors were wandering round Portsmouth gazing at the shops. In one window they saw a caricature of the Dreadnought—a fearful looking vessel with twenty-four funnels, a hundred 12-inch guns, steam pinnaces the size of Atlantic liners hanging at her davits, and with railway lines on her decks. So awed were they by the picture that many went in to purchase copies. Their astonishment and concern were increased when the shopman jocularly informed them that Japanese were building twelve ships exactly similar.

Bishop As Navvy.

Bristol has had the opportunity of watching its Bishop engaged in the novel role of a navvy.

Unable to secure sufficient money for the erection of the Fishponds Parish Hall, the Bishop determined to carry out the work by voluntary labor. The parishioners gave a site, an architect presented the plans, a clerk of works offered his services free, a lady came forward with £150 in cash for the purchase of materials, and a gang of workmen agreed to give their services free in their spare time.

To show that he himself was no laggard in the good work, the Bishop started the preliminary excavations on the site. Spade in hand, he was the first to commence the task of cutting the trenches. Archdeacon Stewart, Canon Alford, and Canon Weight supported him, armed with picks and shovels, while a crowd of other clergy energetically wheeled away the debris in barrows.

In spite of the heat and the difficulty of the work, the Bishop and his colleagues labored strenuously, with the perspiration streaming down their faces. They are determined that their hall shall be built by midsummer.

George Bernard Shaw, the British dramatist and critic, addressing a meeting of the national art collection fund recently in London, referred to the deficit for the year and the urgent need of money. He regretted that the people with big, unearned incomes did not take much interest in the society's work, says a special cable from London to The New York Sun.

There was, he said, $2,500,000,000 in England belonging to people who did not work. Therefore the society must tell the rich class that more money was needed because it was coming in sharp competition with America. If wealthy people did not respond to the demand they ought to be guillotined.

manufactured especially for the heating of large halls and public edifices, is designed to thoroughly warm the greatest amount of cold air in the least possible time. Entering the flues, as shown in the accompanying cross section of the fire pot, the cold air is taken up through this heated column which overhangs the fire, as illustrated, thus coming in direct contact with all products of combustion, and insuring a very rapid circulation. This warmed air ascending straight through the flues in which it started, can be carried direct, with practically all its heat retained, to the furthest and coldest part of the building. 106

Eczema is Baby's Enemy

CAUSING KEEN DISTRESS FROM THE DREADFUL ITCHING—SOMETIMES LASTS FOR YEARS—CURE EFFECTED BY

Dr. Chase's Ointment

The first indication of eczema is a red pimple, or blister-like eruption. The points run together, and make a moistened patch, which "weeps" at first, and then dries into a crust.

The intense itching of eczema of the face and scalp is very hard for the little one to bear, and the result is scratching until free bleeding takes place, and recovery is further retarded. Besides the suffering from the distressing itching, the child is restless and sleepless.

When left to itself, eczema runs on indefinitely, covering the body with sores, but fortunately there is positive cure in the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment, a preparation which by its marvellous soothing and healing powers, brings quick relief from itching and heals up the sores.

Mr. William Crafts, Jr., Burk's Falls, Ont., writes: "Our little boy, aged three years, broke out with eczema all over his face, hands and back, and we had a terrible time trying to relieve his suffering. It was so bad that when he scratched it would almost make the blood flow. The use of Dr. Chase's Ointment quickly brought relief and made a thorough cure, as there has never any return of the disagreeable ailment. We always keep Dr. Chase's medicines in the house and find them very useful."

Mrs. M. McCann, 4 Short street, St. John, N. B., writes: "My little girl, three years old, had her face covered with eczema and it was beginning to spread all over her body. I tried many different ointments, and the doctor could not do her any good. A friend of mine advised me to try Dr. Chase's Ointment and she was completely cured by one box. I cannot praise Dr. Chase's Ointment enough for the good it has done her."

Dr. Chase's Ointment has proven especially successful in the cure of baby eczema, as well as the prevention of this torturing disease, when used for chafing and skin diseases, in which eczema finds its beginnings. Sixty cents a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 12

CATTLE MARKETS.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, May 30.—Receipts of live stock at the city market as reported by the railways since Tuesday were 90 car loads, composed of 1203 cattle, 2365 hogs, 195 sheep and lambs, and 300 calves.

Exporters.

Not many offered and prices ranged from $5.25 to $5.60, and those quoted at the latter price were bought for butcher purposes. Export bulls sold at $4 to $4.50 per cwt.

Butchers.

Prime picked lots sold from $5.25 to $5.50; loads of good at $5 to $5.25; medium at $4.75 to $5; common mixed at $4.25 to $4.60; cows $3.50 to $4.60 per cwt.

Stockers and Feeders.

Harry Murby reports a light trade in feeders and stockers during the week, owing largely to the active demand for butchers cattle, which has placed them at a price too high for those who were buying shortkeep feeders. Mr. Murby bought about 100 stockers, and feeders, during the week, weighing from 600 to 800 lbs., at $3.50 to $4 per cwt.

Milch Cows.

There was a good outlet all this week for good to choice milkers and springers, the bulk of which were taken by eastern buyers from Montreal, Ottawa and Quebec. A good many went to Montreal. Buyers, as usual, were after the high-class cows, giving or likely to give a large flow of milk. The best sold up to $60 and $70, and the bulk of good ones went at $45 to $55. Medium cows have been slow sale in comparison with the good. Common light cows were not wanted, and were hard to cash or close out at $25 to $30.

Veal Calves.

Receipts of veal calves have been large for some time, and, of course, there are some that are choice and just what the butcher requires, but the great majority lack the necessary age, and finish to make them satisfactory killers. This has been the case more emphatically than usual this season, because the price of milk is higher than it has been in years, and that is about it some of the dairymen seem to think about. For him there is money to sacrifice the calf, and save the milk. The result has been that the market has been flooded with a poor class of veal, and dealers want something better. If 75 per cent. of the calves coming on the market were fed about two to three weeks longer, prices would average much higher, but the dairymen have figured it out and have concluded that it wont pay. Prices for calves were firmer to-day in sympathy with the advance in beef prices, selling from $5.50 to $6 per cwt., and some few were reported at $7 per cwt., but this was for an odd new milk fed vealer of choice quality, such as butchers are anxious to get.

Sheep and Lambs.

The run being light prices were firmer all round. Export ewes sold at $5 to $6 per cwt.; rams $4 to $4.50; yearling lambs $6 to $7 per cwt.; spring lambs $3 to $7 each.

Hogs.

Twenty-four hundred hogs were bought by Mr. Harris at $7.10 for selects, and $6.85 for lights and fats. Mr. Harris reports prospects to be for easier markets.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, May 30.—Cattle—Receipts 100 head; slow; prime steers, $5.80 to $6.

Veals—Receipts 800 head; active and 25c lower; $5 to $8.25.

Hogs—Receipts 4300 head; fairly active and 5c to 10c higher; heavy, $6.25 to $6.50; mixed, $6.50; yorkers, $6.50 to $6.55; pigs, $6.55 to $6.60; roughs, $5.40 to $5.65.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts 2000 head; active; sheep steady; lambs 25c higher; lambs, $5.50 to $8.75.

British Cattle Markets.

LONDON, May 30.—Liverpool and London cables are steady at 11½c to 13c per lb., dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 9c to 9½c per lb.

Cheese Markets.

KINGSTON, May 30.—A year has made a cent's difference in price of cheese. In 1906 this week's price was 11⅝c; to-day 531 boxes of colored and white, all registered on the Frontenac board, sold at 12⅝c.

GUILTY OF MURDER.

Frank Capello Slays Man During a Fight at Parry Sound.

Parry Sound, May 31.—The trial of the two Italians, Capelle and Marano, accused of the murder of Daw on Christmas Day, as the result of a drunken row, was brought to a close yesterday.

A verdict of guilty was brought in against Capelle, while his companion, Marano, was acquitted.

All the evidence was put in on Wednesday, and the proceedings opened yesterday morning by the address of Mr. Keefer for the defence.

He spoke for one hour and devoted most of his remarks toward the defence of Marano.

Judge Teetsel's charge to the jury lasted upward of an hour and was considered very fair toward the prisoners.

At about 1.30 the case was given to the jury, and after deliberation of some four hours the verdict was reached.

Sentence will not be passed until the close of the term, as the two accused in the case just terminated, have two more charges against them, on which they will be tried during the present term.

CLERICAL LIBEL SUIT.

Professors of Montreal College Settle Their Difference.

Gananoque, May 31.—The libel charge as preferred by Dr. Workman against Prof. Shaw of the Wesleyan Theological College, Montreal, has taken a great deal of the time of the ministerial sessions of the Montreal conference which opened here Wednesday, and is the main theme for discussion between sessions.

Dr. Workman and Prof. Shaw were both on hand. Dr. Workman was allowed to read the circulars issued by Prof. Shaw, but when he proceeded to comment on them he was ruled out of order. The question was then warmly debated and finally it was decided to have a committee deal with it.

The committee heard both Dr. Workman and Prof. Shaw and endeavored to get both to give and take a little. It is understood Prof. Shaw expressed regrets that he had made statement to the board of governors before they had been proved true, and also published without his knowledge, there by doing an injustice and harm to Dr. Workman. Dr. Workman was willing to accept this and call quits.

CARGO WAS ABLAZE.

Cotton Ship Arrives in Port With Her Decks Crumbling.

Hamilton, Bermuda, May 31.—The British steamer Boniface from Galveston for Liverpool arrived here yesterday morning with her cargo of cotton on fire.

The Boniface carried nine passengers, eight of whom are women. The flames were discovered May 26, when the vessel was 700 miles from Bermuda. The hatches were battened down and the Boniface was headed for the island. When she arrived here her cargo was burning furiously and her decks were crumbling in.

Train Derailed By Poker.

St. Catharines, May 31.—While a freight train on the G. T. R. Welland division was running between Merritton and St. Catharines the poker fell from the engine on the track and derailed three cars, all of them being smashed to kindling wood. None of the crew were injured.

Killed By Pulley.

Moorefield, May 31.—Wm. Hewitt, a farm laborer, employed by Jas. Douglas, was struck on the head by a pulley, while engaged in stretching a wire fence.

ALLIANCE NOT SATISFIED.

Judge Morson's View of Sunday Selling Not Appreciated.

Berlin, May 31.—The 13th annual session of the Hamilton conference opened in New Trinity Methodist Church yesterday afternoon, over 300 ministerial and lay delegates being present. President R. J. Elliott of Waterloo, presided.

A civic welcome was extended by Mayor Bricker, who was accompanied by several aldermen, and the delegates were given the freedom of the town.

In speaking of the recent decision of Judge Morson in Toronto, Rev. T. Albert Moore, secretary of Ontario Lord's Day Alliance, pointed out that it only touches the City of Toronto and County of York, and does not affect any other portion of Canada, and he was confident that very few judges in the Dominion would coincide with Judge Morson in his opinion.

Was Not Beresford's Wife.

El Paso, Texas, May 31.—Flora Wolff, commonly called "Lady Flo," a negress, who set up a claim against the estate of Lord Delaval Beresford as his common-law wife, Wednesday accepted $10,000, devised to her by the will of Lord Beresford, and an additional $5,000, and waived all claims to the estate. She certified that she was never, either in law or in fact, the wife of Lord Beresford.

Coal Going Up.

Winnipeg, May 31.—G. G. S. Lindsey, of the Crow's Nest Coal Co., who was in Winnipeg yesterday, said: "A rise in the price of coal is inevitable, owing to the action of the public and the press.

The newspapers stated that the recent strike would tie up everything in the West and the effect of this in the striking miners was to make them feel that the rotation of the wheels of industry depended upon them, and consequently they became more independent than ever, for what the workman likes to think more than anything else is that he holds the key to the situation.

"The public can hardly complain, then, if the operators are forced to raise the price of coal on account of the increased wages which they will have to pay the miners."

The horns, however, escaped her body, but she had a leg broken.

Will Build An Addition To The Havelock School

School Population of That Town Growing to Such an Extent That This Has Become Necessary.

CONTINUATION CLASS

Havelock, May 31.—The School Board held an important meeting on Wednesday night when they decided to build a two-storey addition to the school to be 36x53 ft, south of the present building. The addition will be brick veneered with a stone foundation, and Mr. Mathison will go to Peterborough to get an architect to prepare plans for it, after which the project will be laid before the town council and that body asked to raise the necessary funds by bylaw.

The Board also decided to reorganize the present school system, and with that in view, will advertise for a complete staff. The present lady teachers have been notified of the invention of the Board and asked to apply for their positions next term.

Mr. George Priddle's resignation was accepted by the Board.

It is probable that next school term will see a principal in charge, who will be qualified to teach grade A, continuation class work, which means that pupils will not have to leave Havelock in order to obtain their second class certificates.

The Board adjourned to meet again on Friday night next.

Plant of Otonabee Light and Power Company Disabled Last Night Because of Minor Trouble.

THE LIGHTS WERE OFF

The patrons of the Otonabee Light and Power Co. were without light for a few hours last night. The trouble was by no means a serious one, but it was very annoying, both to the officials of the company and those who were without the light.

Some bolts on the exciter shaft worked loose, and when the power load was taken off the machines at 6 o'clock, dropped out, the result being that the exciter, and, consequently, the whole plant, was thrown out of commission. Had it been possible to get at the seat of the trouble it could have been remedied in fifteen minutes, but in order to do this it was necessary to shut off all the water, which required six hours in the present high flow of the river.

The plant was running again at 2 o'clock, but the lights were not out that long. Shortly after 9.30 connection was made with the Peterborough Light and Power Co.'s circuit, the manager of that company coming to the rescue of the less fortunate power company.

Labour Conditions In Peterborough Satisfactory

Monthly Report of Ald. W. J. Johnston to Labour Gazette, Shows a Gratifying Condition of Affairs.

ALL CLASSES ARE BUSY

Ald. Johnston's monthly report on the local labour conditions furnished the Labour Gazette, gives evidence of the fact that Peterborough is singularly well situated, so far as labour conditions are concerned. His report is as follows:—

Employment during April was active, but would have been more so if the weather had not impeded building operations. The majority of mechanics were employed, but unskilled labour was not in great demand. Building operations have now started and all classes will be well employed. A large amount of work has been carried on at several points on the Trent waterway, a large number of workmen sing engaged under representatives of the Department of Railways and Canals. All classes of workmen employed in factories were active. Transportation and shipments have been heavy, especially on export trade. Wholesale and retail trade was very active.

Nineteen harness makers, employed by Ackerman & sons, went on strike. They asked for an increase of $1.18 per week in wages and a reduction of one hour per week. Outside of this, the labour market was free from unrest. The Carpenters' demand for an increase to 27 1-2 cents per hour was granted. The Canadian Pacific Railway company's trackmen received notice of an advance in wages commencing May 1st.

The Peterborough Lumber Company has begun work in its mills, employing 75 men, and in a short time will increase this number to 100. The company expects to do a large season's work.

The Peterborough Cereal mill was running 24 hours per day.

The contract for the Collegiate Institute building has been let and the work of erection commenced. The new King Edward school is nearing completion and will soon be ready for occupation. The contract for the North Ward school addition has also been let and work started.

The Peterborough Canoe Company was very busy, with so many orders ahead that its output is insufficient to meet the demand.

The City Council has formmulated its plans for the season's work. There are to be two gangs of men on granolithic sidewalks and one on street crossings. Two gangs will also be employed on sewers and two more on creek diversions. All of this work will be done by day labour, experience having proved this method to be the cheapest and most satisfactory. The river dredging work will soon start again. The city has made arrangements to secure the dredgings to fill in along the water front.

The work on the large transformer building at the Canadian General Electric Company's Works is being rapidly pushed forward. The contract for the construction of new Canadian Pacific Railway from Peterborough to Victoria Harbour has been let. The total cost will be about $40,000 per mile. It is understood that work will commence every soon.

The different local industries were all well employed, and present indications point to a good summer.

The high price of building material has somewhat affected the building trade, as a large number of persons who anticipated building have postponed doing so for this year. The chief demand is for a class of dwelling houses that can be rented for $9 or $10 per month, but in consequence of rising prices it is almost impossible to build a house of sufficient size that can be rented for the above amounts.

Condition of Local Industries

Agriculture. — Sugar making has given employment to a large number of farmers. Large quantities of maple syrup have been marketed, bringing $1.40 per gallon, being an increase of 15 cents over last year's price. Preparations were being made at the beginning of the month for spring work among the farmers, but owing to the cold weather no seeding was done. Considerable damage has been done to fall wheat and clover by frost. Farm labourers were very scarce.

Fishing.—Active conditions prevailed.

Lumbering.—Conditions were very busy.

Manufacturing. — Busy conditions prevailed in all lines.

Mining.—Dullness prevailed.

Railway construction and employment.—Ordinary section work, such as keeping the roadbed in order, was active.

Condition of Particular Trades

Building.—Bricklayers, lathers and plasters, gas and steamfitters were active; masons, plumbers and stonecutters busy; painters and paperhangers very busy, and builders' labourers dull.

Metal, Engineering and Shipbuilding.—Busy conditions prevailed.

Woodworking and Furnishing. — Woodworkers and upholsters, varnishers and polishers, carriage and wagon makers were busy. Car builders on repair work were active. Pattern makers were busy and coopers dull.

Printing.—All branches were very active.

Clothing.—Journeymen tailors have been exceptionally active. Hat makers and boot and shoe makers were very busy.

Food and Tobacco Preparation.—Bakers and confectioners, butchers and meat cutters were busy, and ice handlers and cigar makers active.

Leather.—These trades were busy.

Miscellaneous. — Barbers, broommakers, clerks and stenographers were busy; delivery employees, hotel, restaurant, theatre and laundry employees were very busy, and furriers active.

Transport. — Railway men in all branches were well employed. Steamboat employees were getting rady for the season's work. Some small boats have commenced operations hauling freight, etc. Street railway men, men, teamsters and expressmen were active, and cabmen very busy.

Unskilled Labour.—Conditions were active.

District Notes

Cheese factories were preparing for operations. Markets have been well attended and produce of all kinds brought good prices. The general stores did a good business throughout April. Large numbers of men are going to the west.

Violent Form of Itching Piles

Rev. S. A. Dupraw, Methodist Minister at Belleville, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with itching and bleeding piles for years, and they ultimately attained a very violent form. Large lumps or abscesses gathered and I suffered great pain. A single box of Dr. Chase's Ointment cured me and saved me from a very dangerous and painful operation. The lumps and swellings disappeared and I am an entirely different man.

FIRST BLUE CLAY DUG TO-DAY

Cars Will Soon Begin to Pass Through the City Daily

Mr. A. A. Hagerman, of the Lakefield Cement Company, was in the city to-day from the company's blue clay fields in Otonabee, and states that the first digging was begun there this morning. The big digger is now in operation and it will only be a short time before 24 cars laden with the material will be passing daily through the city for Lakefield.

Mr. Hagerman expects that the first load of 12 cars will leave Drummonds station this evening, or tomorrow morning. Sufficient siding has been constructed to the clay pit to enable operations to be begun, the small shunting engine being now on the ground. The company has now about 15 men employed there.

THE YACHT "BOBS" WENT UP THE CANAL TO-DAY

Mr. Denuford Will Have It at Work About June 15th

The steam yacht "Bobs" left her moorings at the Peterborough Canoe Company's dock to-day and began her northward voyage to "Port Royal," the home of Mr. A. L. Dunford, Stony Lake. The "Bobs" was taken up by Mr. Fred Dunford and Messrs. Andrew and Robt. Brotherson, and will begin her duties as supply boat on Stony Lake about the middle of June.

THE NIGHT SOIL BY-LAW WAS DISCUSSED

Two Meetings of the Council Committees Last Night.

Two of the council committees met last night to transact necessary business, preparatory to the council meeting on Monday night.

The Property Committee took up the night-soil bylaw, and considerable progress was made with this important measure, which is along the same lines as the garbage bylaw.

The chairman was authorized to buy the season's supply of coal for the city buildings. This includes the coal necessary for the new fire hall.

The Finance Committee discussed and passed a number of accounts.

A ROYAL TONIC

Beats Anything We Ever Sold as a Strength Creator and Body Builder

Our well-known druggists, McDermid & Jury, are very enthusiastic over the delicious cod liver preparation, Vinol, which contains no oil. In referring to the matter, Mr. McDermid said: "We sell many tonics and we handle all kinds of remedies that claim to be tonics and strength-creators, but when our advice is asked in regard to a tonic, body-builder or strength-creator we invariably recommend Vinol, as we know of nothing that can compare with it.

"In Vinol modern science has given us all of the tonic, body-building and curative elements of that famous old remedy, cod liver oil, actually taken from fresh cods' livers, without a drop of the system-clogging oil which characterizes old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions.

"In the most natural manner Vinol tones up the digestive organs, creates a hearty appetite, makes rich, red blood, and strengthens every organ in the body.

"Our faith in Vinol is so strong that we gladly offer to refund the money in every case where it fails to give satisfaction." McDermid & Jury, Druggists. Also at the Market Drug Store (The Ormond & Welsh Old Stand).

GROVE CAMPER MADE HIS OWN TENT

Summer Campers at Crawford's Preparing to Pitch Their Tents

The camping season at Crawford's Grove, on the banks of the Otonabee, will begin about the last week in June. A number of the annual campers at that pretty spot are making preparations already. Mr. Wm. Robertson of Perry street will be among the first to pitch a tent. He has made a 14-16-foot tent himself, and has it ready to place in the grove as soon as the warm weather is here to stay.

GALLERY REMOVED TO JACKSON PARK

Yeates Bros. Will Conduct Their Shooting in Open Air

Yeates Bros., proprietors of the shooting gallery on George street, have removed their plant to Jackson Park for the summer, and are now ready for the opening of the season there. The targets, etc., were taken out yesterday. The gallery has proved most popular during the winter months, and should be even more so in the open air. Special events of interest will be arranged during the season, which should add to the popularity of the pastime.

"FREE CITIZENSHIP" IS OBJECTING

He Thinks the Proposed Garbage By-Law Will not Meet Requirements

Mr. Editor,—It does seem to me that some of our aldermen are conticually concocting some plan to become conspicuous or ridiculous before the eyes of the public. This garbage bylaw is to be promoted, I believe, for the general benefit of the health of our citizens. I ask, "What is garbage? or, rather, "What garbage is detrimental or injurious to our health? Take ashes—is that garbage? No! You might better call a woodpile garbage. Take broken crockery, glass, tins and metal—what neighbour would have sore eyes if he happened to see a few pieces in his friend's ash pile when removed once or twice a year? Grass, when dried, is hay, or when buried in the garden enriches the soil. Weeds are not allowed to propagate, according to the law. Boots, bones and waste paper will easily burn in stove or furnace. The only refuse worth mentioning, that may be injurious to our health, is a few potato peelings and vegetable waste that is subject to decomposition, and this, our Council wants to create a box or barrel to be utilized as a sink for that purpose. If the ordinary citizen would use a little chlorate of potash along with our ashes, to neutralize any germs that might arise from decomposition. Then what a classification—manure, night soil and building material—these to be exempted. Stable manure and dog kennel filth and night soil are the very things that should be included.

Boob! Boob! Patow! Our Council is more nice than wise. Wishing the garbage bylaw a premature birth and its remains to be interred with the relics of the late sign bylaw, and hoping that this will be sufficient, without referring to the other conglomerated articles of the bylaw.

FREE CITIZENSHIP.

IS THE CIGARETTE CRUSADE JUSTIFIED?

Is cigarette smoking injurious? The question is one of paramount importance, for the fragrant weed is enjoyed in this form by an incalculable number of men, both young and old, in every country in the world. It is a question on which medical men disagree; and where they disagree, the "man of the street" can hardly be expected to follow the advice of one or another, but naturally obeys the dictates of his common sense. An old proverb runs: "One man's meat is another man's poison." Some men smoke heavily during a long life time, without being one whit the worse for it. Most cigarettes, being machine made, they contain a percentage of tobacco dust, which is inhaled with the breath and settles on the lungs. Herein lies the chief danger. A brand of cigarettes has just been marketed, in which these objectionable features have been entirely eliminated. They are introduced by men who have spent many years in cigarette manufacture and have realized the smoker's ideal. "SWEET VIOLET CIGARETTES" represent the highest achievement in the manufacture of the popular whiff. The finest growths of tobacco from Virginia and North Carolina only are used in their manufacture, from which, by a new process, all the dust is removed. Consequently, there is an entire freedom from the feature common to all other cigarettes, the small particles of tobacco which get on the tongue, giving an intensely rank bitter taste. A Sweet Violet can be smoked right to the very end, with the same delightful coolness as when first lighted. The flavour, due to the magnificent growths of leaf used, is a revelation to smokers who have used other brands of cigarettes. The Sweet Violet package, with its floral design, is becoming everywhere familiar; when anyone offers you a cigarette, it is sure to be a Sweet Violet. The name of the manufacturers, "The Dominion Tobacco Co.," Montreal, is a guarantee that these cigarettes are of the very finest grade, worthy to be used by the most excellent connoisseur.

PETERBORO' CANOE COMPANY BUSY

Have Orders for Many Dinghys From Ottawa—Canoe Business is On the Increase

VISITORS GETTING LAUNCHES

The Peterborough Canoe Company has a busy season before it in filling out the many orders for its products throughout Canada and the United States. That the goods turned out of the canoe factories of Peterborough are among the best is exemplified by the distances they travel to fulfill orders.

The Peterborough Canoe Company is now filling an order for eight dinghies to be sent to Ottawa to members of the various canoe clubs there. Some of these have already been shipped, and work is progressing on the remainder as rapidly as it can be pushed ahead. The dinghies are 14-foot boats and carry 140 feet of sail.

The company has also orders for two new gasoline launches for Americans who will spend the summer in local waters. One of these is for Mr. W. J. Matson of Falls Creek, Pa., who at present is staying at the Snowdon House until the boat is finished. He and his family will spend a considerable part of the summer season in Rice and Stony Lake waters. The other launch is being built for Prof. Bull of New York, who has a cottage at Ctemond Park.

The above company is shipping out canoes regularly every day. Their market is chiefly in New Ontario, Western Canada and the United States. Their canoe business is rapidly increasing, and the prospects for a record season's output is most promising.

Music and Drama

AT THE GRAND TO-NIGHT

"A Royal Slave," dramatized from Gen. Lew Wallace's "A Fair God, or The last of the Montezumas," will be presented at the Grand to-night. There are five acts and seven scenes, interspersed with "breezy" specialties. John Arthur, who appeared here in "Fabio Romani," is in the title role, supported by a fine acting company.

HOUSEHOLD TOOLS.

Implements That Should Always Be Kept on Hand.

Five principal tools belong to the household tool box. With these almost any kind of work such as women undertake may be done in a neat and satisfactory manner.

The first in importance is the hammer, "the universal instrument," for it ranges from the weighty sledge of the ironworker to the delicate toy of the goldsmith. Even those forms of hammer intended for home use alone are legion. The first principle in buying is the selection of a hammer with stoutly made and firmly secured head that will not come off. Cast iron hammers are useless, since their brittleness causes them to break with ease. Buy a medium weight implement, which drives the nail fully home in two or three blows. A double headed hammer for large and small nails is most convenient.

For general use fixture pliers rank next to the hammer. They serve to tighten rivets, nuts, bolts and gas jets and by twisting the bolt in the elbow under the kitchen sink have been known to save the visit of a plumber in behalf of some trifling obstruction.

The awl saves many a crushed finger tip. When once the awl hole has been made, the nail or screw may be pushed into position and unassisted will there hold ready for the final blow that will drive it home. Even in the placing of the longer carpet tacks the awl hole should be made first in order to expedite matters and obviate needless noise in hammering.

Good screwdrivers are cheap, though cheap screwdrivers seldom are good. A good size for household purposes has a three-eighths inch end and a nine inch handle. Where desired a screw may be sunk below the surface and the hole filled in with putty and a finish covered over all. In the making of bookshelves, built-in seats, putting up shelves, making shirt waist boxes, etc., the screw is infinitely to be preferred to the nail. Builders use it in every practicable place.

Next comes the tack lifter. Such seductive combinations as the hammer and tack lifter should be avoided, since the tax upon the hammer head is great and quickly loosens it from the handle.—Philadelphia Ledger.

THE SPRINGTIME TERROR.

Hang the rugs upon the line;
Beat 'em black and blue;
Fill your lungs with dust germs fine
And your nose—kerchoo!

Yank the pictures from the wall
Till your muscles hurt.
What if some of them should fall—
You are out for dirt!

When the dust has made you blind,
Back the rugs you bring.
Then look around, and you will find
You can't find a thing!

—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Barber's Little Joke.

Customer—I wish I had as good a head of hair as you have. I have tried everything to remedy my baldness, but with no good results. Barber—Have you ever tried rubbing your head with steel? Customer—Certainly not. That seems to me ridiculous. Barber—Why ridiculous? My brother is a watchmaker, and he tells me as a fact that steel makes the hair spring!—London Mail.

A WORDY FIGHT OF NO IMPORTANCE

Highly Insulting Language Proved to be Very Tame—Employer Won Case Against Employee

REGULAR SPRING TRADE

As Police Officer Meharry says, the force is doing its spring business these days and everything is rather brisk. People may house clean, merchants may dispose of their wares, and nature itself may re-awaken, but the police are ever there to have an eye to everything, otherwise there might not be any law or order.

A local manufacturing company was the defendant in a case at the police court this morning in which Ernest Hull, who was employed by the firm tried to obtain $9.35 which he claimed was due him. He was engaged 7 months ago at $8 a week. On the 25th of May he gave notice that he intended to quit work, according to a regulation that an employee must give two weeks' notice or forfeit his wages. In his evidence he said that he had a little difficulty with his employer on the 28th. It seems that he had been displaced from managerial power by a woman and his employer had asked him to work in harmony with him. On the contrary he raised obstacles on every hand and the climax was reached when he forbade a messenger boy to do as this woman desired. The employer was told about the matter and said to the man that his obstinacy could not be tolerated and that if he could not agree in the work that he had better quit. Mr. Hull felt that his dignity had been lowered by a woman being placed above him which may account for his hindrances to harmonious work. He said that he had further words with the employer and the latter said to "quit right now." Considering this sufficient dismissal he left and was latterly refused his wages. Magistrate Dumble dismissed the case since the information was given before pay day and his dismissal had not been absolute, but merely conditional.

Insulting Language

Arthur Burroughs was charged with having used grossly insulting and abusive language towards Edward Gardiner on May 20th. The court expected to hear something out of the ordinary in the line of nauseating epithets and thought that the vilest of names would be laid bare. Gardiner went into the box and told his story, which was quite commonplace. He said that Burroughs had accosted him on Romaine street and said "I'll knock your d— head off an' blow your bloody block off," adding "which was very awkward for a chap, you know, to be saluted in that way, when you had said nothing to the man." Gardiner thought that such language was highly insulting. Burroughs then went into the box and said that on Wednesday night Gardiner, while under the influence of liquor had insulted him, but he had said nothing, as he did not want to take advantage of his condition. On meeting him the next morning Gardiner said "Good morning! How are you after last night?" Witness answered, "Look here you want to be careful in the future about what you say or you'll get your head knocked off." Burroughs said he did not swear. Both used rather eloquent language for their appearance, which was none too prepossessing. His Worship dismissed the case as there was but little said and done by both parties.

GAME WAS ORDERED TO BE PLAYED AGAIN

A. Weatherston Was Signed for the Strathconas—Other Business

At the meeting of the City Intermediate League last night it was decided to throw out the game played last Saturday between the Strathconas and Excelsiors, and it was ordered to be played over again on June 15 at the Oval. The meeting was fully attended, each team being represented. Mr. Jas. Lang, President was in the chair, and Mr. F. D. Craig, Secretary-Treasurer, was also present. There was considerable discussion as to what should be done about the protest entered by the Excelsiors, but the general opinion was that the game should be played again. However, the league will not tolerate any further infringement of the rules, and desire that the umpire will have full control of any game at which he may be officiating, and also that he see that only certified players are on the field engaged in playing. Another matter that received attention was the granting the Strathconas the privilege of taking on another player, as they are greatly handicapped through lack of players. All their men are fast, and it was felt by the other teams that this aggregation would be too strong if given more men. It was decided, however, that Alec. Weatherstone be allowed to replace Crane, and thus the matter was settled.

WANT TO GET INTO THIS DISTRICT

Collingwood would Like to Take Grillia's Place in Schedule

Mr. A. M. Regan, secretary of the local lacrosse club, has received a letter from Mr. C. S. Stewart, secretary of the Collingwood lacrosse team, asking that that club be allowed to fill Orillia's dates in the schedule for this district. Orillia has dropped out, not being able to secure a team, owing to the fact that most of the players will accompany Jack Miller's team to Australia.

The local club is not likely to accede to Collingwood's request. The train connection to the northern town is not of the best, and there are other reasons why they will not consent to play them. They are willing, however, to let the Collingwood club come in, provided that they consent to play their home games in Orillia, instead of in Collingwood.

NO SENIOR GAME FOR TO-MORROW

Neither Strathconas or Cobourg are Able to Come

There will be no senior baseball game to-morrow with the Strathconas, as had been arranged. The Toronto team have had some trouble in their club, and have been forced to call the game off. They will probably be seen in action here before long.

An effort was made to have Cobourg play here to-morrow but that team had a game arranged. They want to play here, however, and a game will be arranged as soon as possible.

SCHOOL BOYS WON FROM SENIORS

An Interesting Game of Baseball Played at Havelock, When Old Stagers Lost

Examiner Special.

Havelock, May 31. — A baseball match between the school boys and a picked team of the boys not attending school was played at the park and pleasure grounds on Wednesday evening, May 29. Quite a number gathered to cheer for the younger ones, who will no doubt grow to be professional baseball players. The game started at half past six, lasting until about eight o'clock, and ending in a score of 13-6 in favour of the school boys.

LACROSSE

The senior lacrosse team will practice to-morrow afternoon at Riverside Park and every player is asked to be out in uniform. There is only a week left to get in shape for the first game of the season, an exhibition game with the Maitlands next Saturday.

• • • •

There was a good attendance of juniors at the lacrosse practice last night, but the majority of the seniors were conspicuous by their absence. The boys cannot expect to win games if they do not get into condition. Other teams are practising faithfully, and the locals will be at a decided disadvantage if they do not get out and get into condition. The first league game is only two weeks ahead, and the team has not yet had a well-attended practice. There has been some excuse for this during the bad weather, but with the climatic conditions as they are at present, there is no reason why every member of the team should not be out in uniform on practice nights.

• • • •

The lacrosse club minstrels, the premier musical event of the season, will be held on June 11 and 12. Friends of the club are asked to keep these dates in mind and patronize the entertainment, which will be one of the best in this line ever presented in this city.

Stratton sells dainty wall paper cheap.

FOOTBALL

"Dubby" Shea has turned down an offer from Souris, Man. The Malleable catcher is certainly playing the game this year, and he is hitting the ball terrifically.—Brantford Expositor.

• • • •

The Senior Quaker football team is scheduled to play in Cobourg next Thursday afternoon, June 6.

• • • •

The intermediate Quaker team will practise to-night at the Exhibition grounds in preparation for their game in Omemee to-morrow. The following players are requested to meet at McCallum's livery stables at a quarter to one o'clock to-morrow afternoon, as the bus leaves sharp at 1 o'clock: Laing, Scrimshaw, Sullivan, Archibald, Dingman, Hamilton, Dowell, Hedley, Caniff, Brodie, Evans and Crough. Mr. L. Bolin will referee the game.

BASEBALL

KARNOT'S PRACTICE.

A full practice of the Karnots will be held to-night at the oval. Each member of the team is asked to be on hand in uniform for the intermediate city league game with the Strathconas to-morrow.

TENNIS

The formal opening of the Nicholls oval Tennis Club games will be held this evening on the oval after 6 o'clock. The occasion will be marked by a tennis tea.

EXHIBITION CRICKET MATCH TO-MORROW

Will Play on Nicholls Oval at 2.15 To-morrow

To-morrow afternoon at 2.15 o'clock two local cricket teams will play an exhibition game on the oval. The teams have been chosen and will line up as follows:—

First team. — Hill, Hall, Wood, Moore, Edwards, Duggan, Cameron, Roe, Clarke, Greer, Reisson.

Second team.—Neilson, Cook, Conney, Brittain, Coleman, Saunders, Greenhow, Bailey, Roe, Lovekin, Gordon.

Any player whose name is not in the above teams, and who is present, will be chosen with one or the other as the management are anxious to give them all a good workout.

ROMANCE IN HIGH LIFE.

Course of True Love Which Did Not Run Smooth.

A remarkable love affair is attracting the attention of old London. It appears that recently a New Tyrolean giantess named Mariedl arrived in the British metropolis to go on exhibition at the London Hippodrome. She is eight feet high, and is described by the management of the theatre as "the tallest, brightest, and most genial lady ever discovered." She had not been long on exhibition when there came along a giant from Australia, a man named Clive Darril, eight feet high also, who wanted to court Miss Mariedl and marry her.

In order to see her and possibly attract her attention, Mr. Darril went to the Hippodrome and bought tickets. But it seems that the management were aware of his attentions and not wishing to run the risk of losing their most remarkable performer, they refused the giant admission. The latter then brought the matter before the courts, and the case is referred to as follows by one of the London newspapers:

Mr. Clive Darril, who is apparently about eight feet high and is very broad-shouldered and well built, attended to request the magistrate to grant a summons against Mr. Trussell, of the Hippodrome, Cranbourn street, for assault, alleged to have been committed on Friday last.

Mr. Darril was accompanied by his secretary, who made the application for him, stating that when he and Mr. Darril went to the Hippodrome with tickets for the stalls, for which they had paid £2, they were refused admission and assaulted at the entrance by Mr. Trussell.

Mr. Denman: What was the assault?

The Applicant: He had all his attendants at the front and collected a crowd of about 300 people and pushed us from the hall to the pavement. We had to get into our brougham and go away.

Mr. Denman pointed out that there must be something to cause conduct of the sort complained of. He must be satisfied that there was a case for a summons before granting one.

The Applicant: It is a private matter of Mr. Darril's, and I do not know whether it ought to be discussed here.

THE ARDENT SUITOR.

Mr. Denman: Is he a performer?

The Applicant: No, sir, he is a private gentleman from Wagga Wagga, Australia. He wants to marry the giantess at the Hippodrome, and is paying court to the lady, and the management and Mr. Trussell are probably in league together to prevent his approach to the lady.

Mr. Denman: This is a love affair between a giant and a giantess. That looks very much as if they have found his attentions to the giantess are upsetting their performance.

However, a summons was granted.

Statue to Salisbury.

A most interesting and representative list of supporters heads the movement for erecting a statue of Lord Salisbury as the Foreign Office. Sir Edward Grey, as the present Secretary of State, appropriately stands first, while his predecessors, Lord Lansdowne and Lord Rosebery, come next. Though I remember, says a correspondent, all in the capacity of under-foreign secretaries. I was rather surprised for the moment to find the catalogue so long, namely, Sir Charles Dilke, Lord Fitzmaurice, Mr. J. W. Lowther (now Speaker of the House of Commons), Mr. Bryce, Mr. Brodrick, Lord Curzon and Earl Percy, Lord Sanderson and Sir Charles Hardinge, who are also joining in the movement, were permanent under-secretaries during the ex-Prime Minister's tenure of thirteen years in the Foreign Office. It is suggested that the statue might be appropriately placed on the vacant pedestal at the foot of the grand staircase opposite that of Lord Clarendon, who was Foreign Secretary in Lord Palmerston's first administration.

Visiting Cards.

Visiting cards owe their origin to the Chinese, who from the earliest times observed the greatest ceremony in the matter of paying calls. The cards which they used for this purpose were large and colored a bright red.

Coining Money.

The idea of coining money was first conceived by the Greeks of Iona in the seventh century B. C. These people stamped on each coin their city arms and seal, thus giving the guaranty of their state for the correct weight and value of the coins. The custom spread rapidly among all the Greek provinces and into Italy.

Primitive Dentistry.

A farmer of Barakony, Hungary, died from injuries which he received while having a tooth drawn by a blacksmith named Hermann. Hermann fixed the farmer's head in a vise and pulled the tooth with a rusty pair of pinchers.

An Odd Flower.

One of the oddest botanical curiosities in the world is the wonder-wonder flower which is found in the Malay peninsula. It is merely a blossom without leaves, vine or stem and grows as a parasite in decayed wood.

First Presidential Mansion.

The first presidential mansion stood on the corner of Franklin square and Cherry street (1789), New York. A portion of the East river bridge structure rests on the site and is marked by a tablet on the bridge abutment.

A Brick Well Floats Away Intact.

The great strength sometimes exhibited by brick masonry well laid in good cement mortar is shown by a brick cistern seven feet in diameter by ten feet deep, which, according to the Engineering Record, was undermined by a flood at Terre Haute, Ind., and floated away for some distance without breakage of any part of the masonry or water gaining access to the interior.

Engagement Rings.

The custom of wearing the engagement ring on the third finger of the left hand is traced to an old pagan superstition which claimed that a vein connected this finger directly with the heart. It has also become a matter of convenience, as that is the finger least used.

The Care of Flatirons.

Many people have been annoyed at finding their irons quite rusty after they have been put away a few days. The way to prevent this happening is, before you put them away, to rub a little warm grease over them and then wrap them up in brown paper. When you take them out to use, dip them into hot water that has had a small piece of soda dissolved in it, rub dry and then put them to heat in the usual way. When they are ready to be used on the ironing board, have a piece of brown paper with a little powdered bath brick on it and rub the surface of your iron with this. It seems rather a lengthy process, but it really does not take long to do, and housewives will be rewarded for the trouble they have taken by finding the irons delightfully smooth and easy to use, and when they are like this the ironing can be done twice as quickly.

Where to Hang a Mirror.

If the mirror be intended mainly for decorative purposes, take care to hang it where it will reflect something which will add to the good appearance of the room. Sometimes it is a good plan to reflect a window with the view beyond, sometimes one prefers to reflect the open door to another room or a conservatory, but in either case a feeling of space is gained, and though it is only an illusion, it is one which is well worth striving after. Whatever the purpose of the mirror, one point must always be remembered, and that is never to hang it where the sun's rays will fall upon it. Light and heat produce a chemical disintegration of the quicksilver at the back of the glass, which makes it dull and injures its reflecting power.

Bright Reports From Summer Resorts; The Busiest Season In History Expected

Early Notes From Lakeland—Season May be Said to Have Opened To-day — Cottagers at Stony Lake Now.

SOME IMPROVEMENTS

News of Chemong and Rice Lake Points — Larger Than Usual Crowd of Outside Visitors Expected This Year.

There are few persons who in glancing at the new directory, for the city of Peterborough which has just been issued by the Union Publishing Company, of Ingersoll, will find between its covers anything of an interesting character, however valuable it may be at times. Yet a careful inspection of the new book, if closely perused for a time, will undoubtedly furnish the reader with some amusing information, which very often borders on the ludicrous.

The directory, in most cases, when purchased, is hung upon a nail, where it will be easy of access and probably glanced at for an address once or twice a week. But the real pleasure of its pages can only be brought to light after glancing most carefully at the many names and addresses which darken its leaves.

With very little calculation, and one that a public school boy can master, it will be observed that there are more O'Briens in the city of Peterborough than any other single name. The directory shows that the O'Brien family has no less than 57 representatives in the city. But this family is on the decrease, according to last year's directory, which indicates that there were then 66 within the confines of the city.

Next to the O'Briens, the Halls and Smiths hold sway, with 52 representatives each to their credit. The Smiths, however, would surpass their Hall brethren were the two Smythes added to their number.

Third on the list come the Moores, which family has an even half hundred. In close succession to these are the Hamiltons, the Thompsons, the good old Browns, the Wilsons, the Armstrongs, with 42 each; the Davidsons with 39, and the Millers, with 32 representatives. Strange to relate there are only 22 Jones in the city, so, apparently, that family, is degenerating in size. The four largest families in the city, therefore, make a grand total of 211 souls.

It will probably be news to many that in the city there is a Town, but if the directory is correct there is not a single house. Peterborough can also boast of having at least 15 Hills, and in this respect has Hamilton, with its mountain, faded away, and even surpasses ancient Rome, with but seven for its foundation.

The weather man need not be blamed longer for his futile attempts in furnishing summer weather, when the directory is the authority for saying that there are Frosts here continually. This is indeed bitter news when it is learned that the city only contains two Scates.

Gardiners Plentiful

Attention is directed to the fact that there is but one Gardan in the city. This is to be regretted, since there are nine Gardiners, and we must remember that old adage that "too many cooks spoil the broth."

As an illustration to show that names seldom determine the occupation, this wonderful book states that there are 18 Butchers, in the city, but not one of them butchers; there are a dozen Bakers, and it has yet to be proven that any of them bake, but one of them barbers; the Barbers are rather plentiful, but not a single one handles the clippers or the razor; there is one Dyer, but he knows little of the art of colouring; there are a couple of Fishers, but neither of them fish, and there is nothing in history.

Glenwood with Mrs. Breeze in charge will throw open its hospitable doors about the middle of the month. Glenwood has always been a popular point on the lake and from present indications will be even more so this year.

South Beach Hotel on Clear Lake, anticipates a lively season and Mr. Brooks is making preparations to accommodate the increased number of guests that is expected. To give more room, a new annex is being built and other arrangements made which will give added comfort to the many people who frequent South Beach in the summer months.

Pavilion For East End

At the eastern end of the lake things will be considerably more lively than ever before. At Crow's Landing Mr. J. R. McKelvie is making rapid progress in the big addition which he is making to Belleview. A pavilion similar to the one at Juniper Island is to be constructed and other improvements made at this point which is the gathering place of those who spend their summers in that part of the lake east of Boschink.

Improvements are being made at different parts of the lake in preparation for the summer. Mr. J. J. McBain is having a new wharf built at Bona Vista. At Sandy Point Mr. O N Brown's cottage is being enlarged.

Among the new cottages which are being built is one for Mr. Stewart, of the School of Practical Science, Toronto. He is having a handsome summer residence built at the Clear Lake Narrows.

Mr. Harry Simpson, of Lakefield has purchased the island owned by Mr. Hill near Burleigh Falls and intends to build thereon at once.

At Chemong

At Chemong Park the same cheerful story is told of the prospects for the season. Mr. Brown is at the hotel again and is looking forward to a most busy summer. The hotel has been put in the best of condition and there is little doubt that the hotel will be filled all season with merry guests. It is stated that there will not be a vacant cottage in the park this summer despite the fact that a number of new ones have been built. A number of people have already taken up their residence at the park. Transportation is insured now, as the auto. bus commences its season regular trips today.

Rice Lake Notes.

At Rice Lake also the season will be a busy one. Besides its wonderful beauty, Rice Lake is widely known for its splendid fishing, and those who are in a position to know state that the listing this summer will be better than for some years.

The newly organized Otonabee Navigation Co. will boom the lake this year, and many more visitors than usual are expected, owing to their efforts to bring the great attractions of the resort before those interested. The new steamer Otonabee will make the trip down the river in fast time and will do a great deal to make the lake more popular than ever. The company now owns the hotel at Idyl Wild, and has made many improvements which make that point one of the most desirable on the lake.

At Jubilee Point, Mr. J. J. Gilman is making arrangements to accommodate a large number of guests, and has the commodious hotel in the best of condition.

BY-LAW A GOOD THING; DONT KNOCK

"Cleanliness" Writes Letter Endorsing By-law but wants Collections Made Every Week

Editor Examiner, —

Sir, — As an expression of opinion is desired regarding the new Garbage Bylaw, permit me as a citizen, in the so-called outlying district, to express my approval of the bylaw, generally speaking. I think however that collections should be made every week in the outlying districts; the slight increase in cost —five or ten cents per month — would not be any objection to any citizen who preferred cleanliness and tidiness to dirt.

I am informed that a petition is now in circulation protesting against the terms of the Garbage Bylaw. It is being numerously signed. It is said that some people object to being made sober by act of parliament, and it looks as if there were people in this city who object to being made clean by the enforcement of a civic bylaw.

The Garbage Bylaw is a good thing; don't "knock" it; help it along.

HIS MARRIAGE COAT

Correct Apparel for a Man on the Grandest Occasion of His Life

June is the month of brides—and grooms. It is said that there are more weddings in June than in six other months combined.

The proper apparel for the groom, and for his best man, is the conventional frock coat. Very few merchant tailors can master the difficult drapery of a frock coat. In the Semi-ready Tailoring Shops where they make two or three hundred frock coats every week the making is an artistic triumph. The Semi-ready shops have frock coats in fine black vicunas, with gros grain silk facing, and they have the style and drapery which appeal to the most fastidious dresser. Of course there is a saving in them of from $15 to $20 —important, even when the occasion —is one on which the average man exclaims "Hang the expense."

Frock coats can readily be bought by mail orders from the nearest Semi-ready store. A first-class coat and vest may be had for $25.

The Seat of Women's Troubles.

When you get all run-down, feel tired and out of sorts, it is pretty hard to tell just what part of your peculiar organism is going wrong, isn't it? That is why you can take so much medicine and still have it do you so little good.

It doesn't hit the right spot, that is, it doesn't reach the organ or organs that are going wrong.

But supposing you could get a remedy that contains ingredients for every organ of your system, and especially those peculiar to your sex, you wouldn't need, then, to know just what is the matter with you, or just what organ is causing the trouble, would you?

Certainly not, because no matter which organ or organs it might be, they would be reached by some one of the many ingredients of the medicine, and would be restored to a normal condition. And then you would be well again.

And do you know there IS one just such remedy? It is

If there is anything wrong with you—if you don't feel as well as you used to—these tablets will give you the old time life and vigor.

The Hound of the Baskervilles

Another Adventure of Sherlock Holmes.

BY A. CONAN DOYLE.

Author of "The Green Flag" and "The Great Boer War"

Copyright (1902) by A. Conan Doyle.

your boots. The sooner we start the better, as the fellow may put out his light and be off."

In five minutes we were outside the door, starting upon our expedition. We hurried through the dark shrubbery, amid the dull moaning of the autumn wind and the rustle of the falling leaves. The night air was heavy with the smell of damp and decay. Now and again the moon peeped out for an instant, but clouds were driving over the face of the sky, and just as we came out on the moor a thin rain began to fall. The light still burned steadily in front.

"Are you armed?" I asked.

"I have a hunting-crop."

"We must close in on him rapidly, for he is said to be a desperate fellow. We shall take him by surprise and have him at our mercy before he can resist."

"I say, Watson," said the baronet, "what would Holmes say to this? How about that hour of darkness in which the power of evil is exalted?"

As if in answer to his words there rose suddenly out of the vast gloom of the moor that strange cry which I had already heard upon the borders of the great Grimpen Mire. It came with the wind through the silence of the night, a long, deep mutter, then a rising howl, and then the sad moan in which it died away. Again and again it sounded, the whole air throbbing with it, strident, wild, and menacing. The baronet caught my sleeve and his face glimmered white through the darkness.

"My God, what's that, Watson?"

"I don't know. It's a sound they have on the moor. I heard it once before."

It died away, and an absolute silence closed in upon us. We stood straining our ears, but nothing came.

"Watson," said the baronet, "it was the cry of a hound."

My blood ran cold in my veins, for there was a break in his voice which told of the sudden horror which had seized him.

"What do they call this sound?" he asked.

"Who?"

"The folk on the country-side?"

"Oh, they are ignorant people. Why should you mind what they call it?"

"Tell me, Watson. What do they say of it?"

I hesitated, but could not escape the question.

"They say it is the cry of the Hound of the Baskervilles."

He groaned, and was silent for a few moments.

"A hound it was," he said, at last, "but it seemed to come from miles away, over yonder, I think."

"It was hard to say whence it came."

"It rose and fell with the wind. Isn't that the direction of the great Grimpen Mire?"

"Yes, it is."

"Well, it was up there. Come now, Watson, didn't you think yourself that it was the cry of a hound? I am not a child. You need not fear to speak the truth."

"Stapleton was with me when I heard it last. He said that it might be the calling of a strange bird."

"No, no, it was a hound. My God, can there be some truth in all these stories? Is it possible that I am really in danger from so dark a cause? You don't believe it, do you, Watson?"

"No, no."

"And yet it was one thing to laugh about it in London, and it is another to stand out here in the darkness of the moor and to hear such a cry as that. And my uncle! There was the footprint of the hound beside him as he lay. It all fits together. I don't think that I am a coward, Watson, but that sound seemed to freeze my very blood. Feel my hand!"

It was as cold as a block of marble.

"You'll be all right to-morrow."

"I don't think I'll get that cry out of my head. What do you advise that we do now?"

"Shall we turn back?"

"No, by thunder; we have come to get our man, and we will do it. We after the convict, and a hell-hound, as likely as not, after us. Come on! We'll see it through if all the fiends of the pit were loose upon the moor."

We stumbled slowly along in the darkness, with the black loom of the craggy hills around us, and the yellow speck of light burning steadily in front. There is nothing so deceptive as the distance of a light upon a pitch-dark night, and sometimes the glimmer seemed to be far away upon the horizon and sometimes it might have been within a few yards of us. But at last we could see whence it came, and then we knew that we were indeed very close. A guttering candle was stuck in a crevice of the rocks which flanked it on each side so as to keep the wind from it, and also to prevent it from being visible, save in the direction of Baskerville Hall. A boulder of granite concealed our approach, and crouching behind it we gazed over it at the signs light. It was strange to see this single candle burning there in the middle of the moor, with no sign of life near it—just the one straight yellow flame and the gleam of the rock on each side of it.

"What shall we do now?" whispered Sir Henry.

"Wait here. He must be near his light. Let us see if we can get a glimpse of him."

The words were hardly out of my mouth when we both saw him. Over the rocks, in the crevice of which the candle burned, there was thrust out an evil yellow face, a terrible animal face, all seamed and scored with vile passions. Foul with mire, with a bristling beard, and hung with matted hair, it might well have belonged to one of those old savages who dwelt in the burrows on the hillsides. The light beneath him was reflected in his small, cunning eyes which peered fiercely to right and left through the darkness like a crafty and savage animal who has heard the steps of the hunters.

Something had evidently aroused his suspicions. It may have been that Barrymore had some private signal which we had neglected to give, or the fellow may have had some other reason for thinking that all was not well, but I could read his fears upon his wicked face. Any instant he might dash out the light and vanish in the darkness. I sprang forward therefore, and Sir Henry did the same. At the same moment the convict screamed out a curse at us and hurled a rock which splintered up against the boulder which had sheltered us. I caught one glimpse of his short, squat, strongly-built figure as he sprang to his feet and turned to run. At the same moment by a lucky chance the moon broke through the clouds. We rushed over the brow of the hill, and there was our man running with great speed down the other side, springing over the stones in his way with the activity of a mountain goat. A lucky long shot of my revolver might have crippled him, but I had brought it only to defend myself if attacked, and not to shoot an unarmed man who was running away.

We were both swift runners and in fairly good training, but we soon found that we had no chance of overtaking him. We saw him for a long time in the moonlight until he was only a small speck moving swiftly among the boulders upon the side of a distant hill. We ran and ran until we were completely blown, but the space between us grew ever wider. Finally we stopped and sat panting on two rocks, while we watched him disappearing in the distance.

And it was at this moment that there occurred a most strange and unexpected thing. We had risen from our rocks and were turning to go home, having abandoned the hopeless chase. The moon was low upon the right, and the jagged pinnacle of a granite tor stood up against the lower curve of its silver disc. There, outlined as black as an ebony statue on that shining background, I saw the figure of a man upon the tor. Do not think that it was a delusion, Holmes. I assure you that I have never in my life seen anything more clearly. As far as I could judge, the figure was that of a tall, thin man. He stood with his legs a little separated, his arms folded, his head bowed, as if he were brooding over that enormous wilderness of peat and granite which lay before him. He might have been the very spirit of that terrible place. It was not the convict. This man was far from the place where the latter had disappeared. Besides, he was a much taller man. With a cry of surprise I pointed him out to the baronet, but in the instant during which I had turned to grasp his arm the man was gone. There was the sharp pinnacle of granite still cutting the lower edge of the moon, but its peak bore no trace of that silent and motionless figure.

I wished to go in that direction and to search the tor, but it was some distance away. The baronet's nerves were still quivering from that cry, which recalled the dark story of his family, and he was not in the mood for fresh adventures. He had not seen this lonely man upon the tor and could not feel the thrill which his strange presence and his commanding attitude had given to me. "A warder, no doubt," said he. "The moor has been thick with them since this fellow escaped." Well, perhaps his explanation may be the right one, but I should like to have some further proof of it. To-day we mean to communicate to the Princetown people where they should look for their missing man, but it is hard lines that we have not actually had the triumph of bringing him back as our own prisoner. Such are the adventures of last night, and you must acknowledge, my dear Holmes, that I have done you very well in the matter of a report. Much of what I tell you is no doubt quite irrelevant, but still I feel that it is best that I should let you have all the facts and leave you to select for yourself those which will be of some service to you in helping you to your conclusions. We are certainly making some progress. So far as the Barrymores go we have found the motive of their actions, and that has cleared up the situation very much. But the moor with its mysteries and its strange inhabitants remains as inscrutable as ever. Perhaps in my next I may be able to throw some light upon this also. Best of all would it be if you could come down to us. In any case you will hear from me again in the course of the next few days.

CHAPTER X.

So far I have been able to quote from the reports which I have forwarded during these early days to Sherlock Holmes. Now, however, I have arrived at a point in my narrative where I am compelled to abandon this method and to trust once more to my recollections, aided by the diary which I kept at the time. A few extracts from the latter will carry me on to those scenes which are indelibly graved in every detail upon my memory. I proceed, then, from the morning which followed our abortive chase of the convict and our other strange experiences upon the moor.

October 16th.—A dull and foggy day with a drizzle of rain. The house is banked in with rolling clouds, which rise now and then to show the dreary curves of the moor, with thin, silver veins upon the sides of the hills, and the distant boulders gleaming where the light strikes upon their wet faces. It is melancholy outside and in. The baronet is in a black reaction after the excitements of the night. I am conscious myself of a weight at my heart and a feeling of impending danger—ever present danger, which is the more terrible because I am unable to define it.

And have I not cause for such a feeling? Consider the long sequence of incidents which have all pointed to some sinister influence which is at work around us. There is the death of the last occupant of the Hall fulfilling so exactly the conditions of the family legend, and there are the repeated reports from peasants of the appearance of a strange creature upon the moor. Twice I have with my own ears heards the sound which resembled the distant baying of a hound. It is incredible, impossible, that it should really be outside the ordinary laws of nature. A spectral hound which leaves material footmarks and fills the air with its howling is surely not to be thought of. Stapleton may fall in with such a superstition, and Mortimer also, but if I have one quality upon earth it is common-sense, and nothing will persuade me to believe in such a thing. To do so would be to descend to the level of these poor peasants, who are not content with a mere fiend dog, but must needs describe him with hell-fire shooting from his mouth and eyes. Holmes would not listen to such fancies, and I am his agent. But facts are facts, and I have twice heard this crying upon the moor. Suppose that there were really some huge hound loose upon it; that would go far to explain everything. But where could such a hound lie concealed, where did it get its food, where did it come from, how was it that no one saw it by day? It must be confessed that the natural explanation offers almost as many difficulties as the other. And always, apart from the hound, there is the fact of the human agency in London, the man in the cab, and the letter which warned Sir Henry against the moor. This at least was real, but it might have been the work of a protecting friend as easily as of an enemy. Where is that friend or enemy now? Has he remained in London, or has he followed us down here? Could he—be the stranger whom I saw upon the Tor?

It is true that I have had only the one glance at him, and yet there are some things to which I am ready to swear. He is no one whom I have seen down here, and I have now met all the neighbors. The figure was far taller than that of Stapleton, far thinner than that of Frankland. Barrymore it might possibly have been, but we had left him behind us, and I am certain that he could not have followed us. A stranger then is still dogging us, just as a stranger dogged us in London. We have never shaken him off. If I could lay my hands upon that man, then at last we might find ourselves at the end of all our difficulties. To this one purpose I must now devote all my energies.

My first impulse was to tell Sir Henry all my plans. My second and wisest one is to play my own game and speak as little as possible to anyone. He is silent and distrait. His nerves have been strangely shaken by that sound upon the moor. I will say nothing to add to his anxieties, but I will take my own steps to attain my own end.

We had a small scene this morning after breakfast. Barrymore asked leave to speak with Sir Henry, and they were closeted in his study some little time. Sitting in the billiard-room I more than once heard the sound of voices raised, and I had a pretty good idea what the point was which was under discussion. After a time the baronet opened his door and called for me.

"Barrymore considers that he has a grievance," he said. "He thinks that it was unfair on our part to hunt his brother-in-law down when he, of his own free will, had told us the secret."

The butler was standing very pale but very collected before us.

"I may have spoken too warmly, sir," said he, "and if I have I am sure that I beg your pardon. At the same time, I was very much surprised when I heard you two gentlemen come back this morning and learned that you had been chasing Selden. The poor fellow has enough to fight against without my putting more upon his track."

"If you had told us of your own free will it would have been a different thing," said the baronet, "you only told us, or rather your wife only told us, when it was forced from you and you could not help yourself."

"I didn't think you would have taken advantage of it, Sir Henry—indeed I didn't."

"The man is a public danger. There are lonely houses scattered over the moor, and he is a fellow who would stick at nothing. You only want to get a glimpse of his face to see that. Look at Mr. Stapleton's house, for example, with no one but himself to defend it. There's no safety for anyone until he is under lock and key."

"He'll break into no house, sir. I give you my solemn word upon that. But he will never trouble anyone in this country again. I assure you, Sir Henry, that in a very few days the necessary arrangements will have been made and he will be on his way to South America. For God's sake, sir, I beg of you not to let the police know that he is still on the moor. They have given up the chase there, and he can lie quiet until the ship is ready for him. You can't tell on him without getting my wife and me into trouble. I beg you, sir, to say nothing to the police."

"What do you say, Watson?"

I shrugged my shoulders. "If he were safely out of the country it would relieve the tax-payer of a burden."

"But how about the chance of his holding someone up before he goes?"

"He would not do anything so mad, sir. We have provided him with all that he can want. To commit a crime would be to show where he was hiding."

"That is true," said Sir Henry. "Well, Barrymore——"

"God bless you, sir, and thank you from my heart! It would have killed my poor wife had he been taken again."

"I guess we are aiding and abetting a felony, Watson? But, after what we have heard, I don't feel as if I could give the man up, so there is an end of it. All right, Barrymore; you can go."

With a few broken words of gratitude the man turned, but he hesitated and then came back.

"You've been so kind to us, sir, that I should like to do the best I can for you in return. I know something, Sir Henry, and perhaps I should have said it before, but it was long after the inquest that I found it out. I've never breathed a word about it yet to mortal man. It's about poor Sir Charles's death."

The baronet and I were both upon our feet. "Do you know how he died?"

"No, sir, I don't know that."

"What then?"

"I know why he was at the gate at that hour. It was to meet a woman."

"To meet a woman! He?"

"Yes, sir."

"And the woman's name?"

"I can't give you the name, sir, but I can give you the initials. Her initials were L. L."

"How do you know this, Barrymore?"

"Well, Sir Henry, your uncle had a letter that morning. He had usually a great many letters, for he was a public man and well known for his kind heart, so that everyone who was in trouble was glad to turn to him. But that morning, as it chanced, there was only this one letter, so I took the more notice of it. It was from Coombe Tracey, and it was addressed in a woman's hand."

"Well," said I, "has this precious relation of yours departed?"

"Well?"

"Well, sir, I thought no more of the matter, and never would have done had it not been for my wife. Only a few weeks ago she was cleaning out Sir Charles's study—it had never been touched since his death—and she found the ashes of a burned letter in the back of the grate. The greater part of it was charred to pieces, but one little slip, the end of a page, hung together, and the writing could still be read, though it was grey on a black ground. It seemed to us to be a postscript at the end of the letter, and it said: 'Please, please, as you are a gentleman, burn this letter, and be at the gate by ten o'clock.' Beneath it were signed the initials L. L."

"Have you got that slip?"

"No, sir, it crumbled all to bits after we moved it."

"Had Sir Charles received any other letters in the same writing?"

"Well, sir, I took no particular notice of his letters. I should not have noticed this one only it happened to come alone."

"And you have no idea who L. L. is?"

"No, sir. No more than you have. But I expect if we could lay our hands upon that lady we should know more about Sir Charles's death."

"I cannot understand, Barrymore, how you came to conceal this important information."

"Well, sir, it was immediately after that our own trouble came to us. And then again, sir, we were both of us very fond of Sir Charles, as we well might be considering all that he has done for us. To rake this up couldn't help our poor master, and it's well to go carefully when there's a lady in the case. Even the best of us——"

"You thought it might injure his reputation?"

"Well, sir, I thought no good could come of it. But now you have been kind to us, and I feel as if it would be treating you unfairly not to tell you all that I know about the matter."

"Very good, Barrymore; you can go." When the butler had left us Sir Henry turned to me. "Well, Watson, what do you think of this new light?"

Haldane's Girl.

By NELLIE CELY GILLMORE.

Copyright, 1907, by Mary McKeon.

Haldane whistled merrily as he tossed the ornate paperweight aside, slammed books and papers into drawers regardless and closed his desk with such a brisk snap that the man in the next office looked up in surprise. Surely something was "in the wind." Haldane had never before been so buoyant, so triumphant.

Just ten minutes earlier the office boy had left a fragrant, cream colored envelope at his elbow containing a few hasty lines which read as follows:

Dear Dick—Cannot you run down this afternoon and help us out with some tableaux? There's to be a mock wedding, too—Chic—and we have picked you out for the bridegroom. If you can come, come; if not, phone. Hastily yours,

THEODORA.

Haldane jerked out his watch impatiently and fumed at the whole hour that must elapse before he could get a Sunny Jim car and set to work jamming things into a hand satchel—his kodak, the latest magazine, an extra pair of gloves and a box of bonbons—for Theodora. Then he telephoned to his "man" about his suit case and as lessly as his exuberance would allow he closed and locked his office door and sauntered across the hall to a fellow colleague's office.

The door stood ajar, and the room was quite deserted, but Haldane, with the ease of a long intimacy, sat down at Trescott's revolving chair and began to finger the latter's pencils.

After a time he glanced up with a smile directly into the shadowed brown eyes of a girl whose face was startlingly familiar, his girl. He looked from the picture to the door, then back again to the picture. His cheeks whitened; his face indexed a variety of painful emotions. Even a casual observer might have detected that he had been struck hard. He reached up a trembling hand and drew the photograph toward him. Scrawled across the back of it in Theodora's unmistakable backward characters were the words:

"CONGRATULATE ME!"

"To my beloved [illegible] from his own T. H. L."

Theodora Hartwell Lancaster! There was no way out of it. These were the initials he had had engraved in their betrothal ring. He, a fool he had been, and Trescott—the perfidious wretch! Of the latter he dare not think—not now.

After a minute that seemed more like an hour he laid the picture down on the desk and with dumb despair in his heart sat regarding the cardboard stupidly.

Suddenly Trescott interrupted his daze, swinging breezily into the room and tossing his hat on a table in the corner.

"Hello!" he cried. "What's the trouble? You look green."

Haldane stared gloomily at the opposite wall and did his level best to speak. But his lips remained mute; the color seemed squeezed out of them. Trescott came up to him and laid an affectionate hand on his shoulder.

"Anything gone wrong, old man?" he asked, concerned genuinely at the other's silence.

Haldane squirmed away from his touch, his eyes flashing. "Lord," he thought, "if I can just get out of this without smashing his face!"

He lifted his eyes savagely.

"I've had some unexpected trouble, and I'd prefer not to discuss it at present."

His words were stiff, colorless.

Trescott contemplated him a moment in bewilderment. Then he smiled, shrugged and turned away. He recognized the symptoms plainly enough now and knew just how to deal with the patient.

There was a constrained stress of silence. Trescott had gone to an open window, but he came back and stood looking down at Haldane's sphinx-like form with sympathetic mien. He glanced down at the desk where the other had laid the girl's photograph. After a pause he bent and took it up, restoring it to its conspicuous stronghold on the top of his desk. Haldane watched him in ominous silence, his fingers tinging pugnaciously as Trescott paused to cast a fatuous smile into the girl's—his girl's—pictured face.

"Pretty girl, that, don't you think?" he asked carelessly.

"Quite pretty," acquiesced Haldane, glowering through the window. "Good friend of yours?" He held back the sneer by an effort.

"Oh, the very best. Theo's the dearest little girl ever. We simply adore each other."

Haldane shot up electrically and started toward the door, pulling out his watch with a prodigious assumption of alarm.

"By George," he exclaimed, "I've almost missed an important appointment!"

His quick steps sounded down the polished corridor, and Trescott sat down in the vacated chair before his desk, shaking his head and smiling indulgently at the recollection of the other's explosiveness. He gave him, mentally, about ten days to recuperate.

It was more than a month before Haldane encountered Bert Trescott again. The latter came into his office late in the afternoon with the luminous announcement of his approaching happiness.

"I am to be married on the 23d of June," he said. "Congratulate me!"

And, despite the fact that Haldane had fancied himself "done with the whole blamed business," he was acutely conscious of his vanishing color as he answered:

"Of course I congratulate you. You are just the sort of fellow girls go crazy over, and as for Theodora"—

"Theodora! Don't talk drivel, man. What on earth are you driving at?"

"Why, about the girl, of course, the girl you are going to marry."

Trescott frowned.

"You are way off," he said. "My girl is Miss Elise Harriman. Why, I've never even had a flirtation with any one of the name of The"—

"Notwithstanding that a month ago you were adoring each other," said Haldane, with an imperceptible lift of his eyebrows.

Trescott's mouth opened with astonishment; then all at once light broke across his brain, and he laughed immoderately.

"Oh, she's all right!" he cried. "Nothing the matter with that little girl. She's everything that could be asked or desired. But, much as I 'adore' Theo, it isn't likely that I'm in for marrying my own niece."

Haldane flushed furiously, gripping the arms of his chair to keep from reeling. The world swam black about him. He had gone and made of himself an everlasting fool, he thought chaotically. And doubtless now he had lost her for good. A mad longing possessed him to kick himself black and blue on the spot, but prudence forbade, and as soon as he could decently and gracefully do so he got clear of Trescott and set himself to write a lengthy explanation of his conduct to Theodora, begging on his knees in every known term for her pardon.

In due time came a reply. Haldane broke the seal in some trepidation. One could never tell about a woman. His recent experience had left him cynical. Why, by this time she might even be—somebody else's girl! What he read was:

Dear Dick—Considering the circumstances, I presume I shall have to overlook everything. However, I think you might have had the grace to investigate, don't you? Yes, we are planning to have a second installment of tableaux, and the position I spoke of is still open to you. Let us know when to expect you. As ever,

THEODORA.

He answered:

Dearest Girl—I shall be delighted to officiate under one condition—the next time I must be permitted to choose the bride, and I'd rather have the wedding along American lines. Is it a go? Devotedly,

DICK.

It is not recorded what Theodora wrote back.

However, Haldane went.

Shaved the Statue.

Near the entrance of beautiful Oak Hill cemetery, Georgetown, where reposes the dust of James G. Blaine, Edwin M. Stanton and other great Americans, stands a fine statue of John Howard Payne, author of "Home, Sweet Home." The bringing home of the remains of this famous American who died at his post in Africa generations ago when he was serving there as United States consul was the occasion of a great national function many years ago.

The late William Corcoran, the Washington banker and philanthropist, defrayed all of the expenses and also paid for the monument and statue of Payne which mark his resting place in Oak Hill. The sculptor who executed the life size statue had palmed off on him as a picture of John Howard Payne the photograph of a man whose face was completely covered with a luxuriant growth of whiskers. Accordingly he faithfully reproduced the whiskers in marble. Soon after the statue was set up in Oak Hill it was discovered that John Howard Payne had never worn a beard.

The sculptor, enraged and undaunted, proceeded forthwith to chisel the whiskers off the marble image of the immortal author of "Home, Sweet Home," so that today the visitor to Georgetown's historic old cemetery beholds the classic face in marble of John Howard Payne sans whiskers except for a mustache.—Washington Herald.

The Limit.

Barry—Is Forde optimistic? Wynne—I should say so. I have known him to go into a restaurant with a penny in his pocket, order a dozen oysters and feel sure that he would be able to pay for his bill with a pearl.

The Decree.

"My life," said the poet, "is saddened by the memory of a beautiful girl, but it was decreed that we should part."

"Who was the judge?" asked Miss Chicago thoughtlessly.

Athletes of Attica.

The athletes of ancient Greece, if they should appear to view, would not be taken for a football team of today. The old time man of muscle wore his hair cropped, a distinguishing feature in a land of long hair. Trainers for the games led a very careful life. They were under orders for a rigid diet, which became especially severe just before the contest. Their bill of fare consisted of fresh cheese, dried figs and wheaten porridge. A little later in the era meat was allowed, with a preference for beef and pork. Bread was not allowed with meat, and sweets not at all. At one time a strange custom of diet came into vogue. Every day at the conclusion of practice the athletes were obliged to consume enormous quantities of food, which was digested in a long continued sleep. The amount was gradually increased until huge meals of meat were taken. This diet produced a corpulence which was of advantage in wrestling, but injurious for other sports.—Youth's Companion.

His Shipwrecks.

Among the many multimillionaires South Africa has furnished London is one who, although he has since learned to read and write, could do neither in the old days when he was making a fortune at Kimberley. His want of education was a standing joke among the members of the Kimberley club, where he was wont to spend his afternoons, pretending to read a newspaper, which he more often than not held upside down. In those days the English newspapers were not so freely circulated in South Africa, and readers had to depend on a shipping gazette style of journal, in which the advertisements were generally headed by the block of a ship in full sail. X, as we will call him, was holding this newspaper upside down when a friend approached and put the usual question, "Well, my boy, what's the news?" "Oh, not much," replied X; "only a lot of bloomin' shipwrecks," pointing to the inverted pictures of the sailing vessels.—Illustrated Bits.

Comic Neutrality.

International law can sometimes develop a situation that is not devoid of humor. Something of the kind has just happened in Luxembourg. A man who had been arrested in German Lorraine had to be conveyed to Saverne through Luxembourg. On reaching Bettembourg, the first station in Luxembourg, he managed to get the carriage door open and, leaping to the platform refused to re-enter the carriage on the ground that, as the country was neutral, he could neither be compelled nor arrested. He was detained, but the Luxembourg government by telephone ordered his release, while the jailer returned to Lorraine crestfallen.—London Globe.

New Gold Camp OF Northern Ontario.

THOMAS McCAMUS, President.
Vice-Pres. of The Temiskaming and Hudson Bay Mining Co'y., and President of The Temiskaming Telephone Co.

FRANK WESLEY HAYNES, Vice-Pres.
Director of The New Liskeard and Northern Ontario Mining Co.

We earnestly recommend that you purchase the Lucky Boys Gold Mines stock at 6 cents per share. This advice means riches to you. The time is not far distant when Lucky Boys will be paying large and continuous dividends. By buying now at a price you can afford to pay you will be a participant in these assured profits.

As we have heretofore stated in our circular letters and advertisements, we are willing to stake our standing and reputation on the present conditions and the future outcome of the Larder Lake district and as to its possibilities. We believe it will be the most wonderful gold field that the world has produced. When we make these assertions it is after we have made most searching and thorough investigations. We do not believe that a financial house who has every facility at its command, having a number of experienced mining men in the field, and reliable and trustworthy mining engineers, could go to more pains regarding the actual worth of a gold camp than we have done. We have been most cautious and we are very particular as to what we recommend for investment. We have built up a big business and the investors who place confidence in us and follow our advice number many thousands. We guard the interests of our investors just as closely and with as much care as we do our individual investments. This is the reputation we have attained among the investing public. We have gone to great expense in ascertaining the true merits and real conditions of the Lucky Boys properties. In order to satisfy ourselves beyond question we despatched various crews of men to make examinations. They were supplied with all the necessities, such as hand drills, dynamite and camp outfits. They have visited all of the properties, have blown out the ore, and we have had some assayed, not only by our own assayists but by others. The proofs that we have obtained demonstrate beyond question the great values of the LUCKY BOYS.

We say to our clients follow our advice in the purchase of shares of the Lucky Boys, rely upon our reputation and standing as being reliable and trustworthy. Follow our advice and you will make profits that will astonish you.

Law and Co. have experts and engineers who are rated among the best engaged in examining and reporting on properties. Only those properties which have every indication of richness are handled by us; all the others are turned down as too risky. Our engineers and experts are in the field at a great expense, and it would not pay us to simply make a report on and sell the stock in any worthless company

We are looking far into the future, and we thoroughly realize that the only way to hold our customers and keep them interested is for them to invest their money in stocks that have merit and that are sure winners.

THE MAN OR WOMAN WHO INVESTS THEIR MONEY THROUGH US CAN SIT DOWN AT THEIR HOMES AND FULLY REALIZE THAT WHATEVER FUNDS THEY HAVE INVESTED HAVE BEEN WELL PLACED.

You can absolutely depend that the officers and directors of the Lucky Boys will expend the money received from the sale of Treasury stock in the development of the property. We wish to call your attention to the fact that 1,000,000 shares of the stock of this company are for the absolute use and benefit of the Treasury.

6c PER SHARE

(Par Value $1.00, Fully Paid and Non-Assessable.)

If you will compare the price, 6c per share, and the organization and incorporation of the Lucky Boys against any of the other companies, you cannot but realize the great percentage there is in favor of your investing your money in this stock in preference to any other.

Coming to the most vital point of all, when you interest yourself in Lucky Boys you are becoming a partner of people who are either practical mining men, and have made fortunes out of mining, or of mining men who are willing to wait the development of this property to make their fortunes.

Useless Tom.

Carlyle's severest critic and a critic of his own school was an old parish roadman at Ecclefechan.

"Been a long time in this neighborhood?" asked an English tourist.

"Been here a' ma days, sir."

"Then you'll know the Carlyles?"

"Weel that! A ken the whole o' them. There was, let me see," he said, leaning on his shovel and pondering "there was Jock; he was a kind o' throughither sort o' chap, a doctor, but no a bad fellow, Jock—he's deid, mon."

"And there was Tommas," said the inquirer eagerly.

"Oh, aye, of coorse, there's Tam—a useless, mune struck chap that writes in London. There's naething in Tam; but, mon, there's Jamie, owre in the Nowlands—there's a chap for ye. Jamie takes mair swine into Ecclefechan market than any ither farmer i' the parish."—London Answers.

Trials of a Woman Suffragist.

Keir Hardie had a trying experience the other evening. Addressing a meeting mainly attended by the other side, he failed to get a hearing until the chairman said, "Gentlemen, if you will listen to Mr. Hardie quietly, he will be happy to answer any question you may put to him at the end of his speech."

When the honorable member had resumed his seat, a question written on half a sheet of note paper was sent up to Mr. Hardie and passed by him unopened to the chairman, who read it, and grew very red in the face. "Read it out!" roared a dozen men, and the chairman at last obeyed. The question was, "Why do they call you a Gibson girl?" It finished the meeting.—Onlooker.

Persian Humor.

The Persians possess a sense of humor with which they are not always credited. Almost modern is the anecdote of the man whose disagreeable voice in reciting his prayers in the mosque was annoying to every one. One day some one asked him how much he was paid for reciting. "Paid!" he replied. "I am not paid. I recite for the sake of Allah!" "Then," said the other, "for Allah's sake don't!"

Impossible.

Doctor—Perhaps it's your cooking that's responsible for your husband's illness. He's got a bad case of gastritis. Mrs. Newwife—Gastritis! But I always cook on a coal range—never use gas.

Milk in Turkey.

In Turkey there is a great consumption of the milk of the buffalo, the common cow, the goat and the ewe, but it is hardly ever used in a natural state. After slow cooling the milk is treated with a ferment taken from the previous day's supply. In a few hours a curd forms which is called yaghoun. The preparation is preferred to milk, and it has a pleasant, clean, acid taste and is, of course, nutritious.

His Desperate Remedy.

By CECILIA A. LOIZEAUX.

Copyright, 1907, by E. C. Parcells.

"I tell you, Mary I cannot afford it and that's all there is to it!"

John Brent unfolded his evening paper and held it under the light, which was shaded to an artistic dimness by many ruffles of crepe paper. His wife brought her hand down upon the piano keys in a crashing discord that made him shiver and set his teeth. Presently she seated herself in a low chair on the other side of the table, the soft light falling full upon her pretty, petulant face as she bent over her fancy work.

John Brent forgot that he had been reading the political editorials and looked over the top of the paper at his wife.

"What makes you want a diamond ring, Mary?" he asked gently.

Her blue eyes brightened. She thought he was relenting.

"Why, I've wanted one all my life. When I was a little bit of a girl I had one with a glass set, and when I grew too old for that I used to dream of the time when I would be old enough to be engaged, so that my lover would get me one."

"You should have chosen a richer lover," said her husband, with a tinge of bitterness. "Young hardware merchants can't quite go at the diamond ring pace."

His wife hardly heard what he said. She stretched a dimpled white hand out across the table and was admiring it.

"See," she said, with a flash of coquetry, "it's pretty enough for diamonds, isn't it? That Mrs. Burrows on Tenth street has hands that are big and red. She has one diamond as big as a robin's egg—almost."

"Her husband is a saloon keeper. He can afford it," smiled John, looking at the dainty hand that lay in his rough palm. He was wondering just how long he was going to be able to keep it from doing any work, hardly considering the diamond question. Then he put it gently down and leaned on the table, looking at his wife closely.

"Perhaps I haven't told you so that you fully understand, Mary," he said after a minute. "You're a good deal of a child about some things, and you don't think. But business is bad—not mine only, but every one's. There's that new store here, a branch of the big one in the city, and they are cutting prices murderously. And we have heavy expenses too. I don't know how, but we manage to eat and drink and wear almost more than we can pay for. And then there was the hospital bill, as well as the doctor's. It took months to pay those."

"I suppose you wish it had been a funeral bill," said Mary sulkily.

"Mary! Don't you dare to say such a thing again as long as you live! You shall not twist my meanings in that way. Can't you be a little reasonable? Then you decided that the house was too shabby to be lived in, though the things we had bought when we were married seemed very fine to us at the time, and it wasn't so very long ago."

"We were awfully green," she said.

"Well, you've got over the greenness," said her husband dryly. "And the rugs and furniture and hangings have not yet got the last payment, and the furnace needs fixing, and the house needs painting. We must go slow, little girl."

Mary Brent's lips quivered for a moment, and then, hiding her face on her arm, she sobbed like a spoiled child. Her husband was first sorry, then angry. This was too childish.

"The trouble with you and all the rest of the women like you is that you haven't enough to do to keep interested. You sit around and think of yourselves until you believe you are martyrs, when a little work would be better for you. It isn't all your fault, though," he added slowly. "If the baby had lived you would have been more grown up."

His wife sprang to her feet. "I—I'm almost glad he didn't live," she sobbed. "I wouldn't want him to hear his father talk like that to me." And she whirled from the room.

John Brent spent a wakeful, uneasy night, but by morning he thought he had found a solution. He ate his lonely breakfast—Mary never got up to breakfast any more—and went down town early. During the forenoon he went over to the office of Jim Reade, the most prosperous attorney in the town and his best friend. The two were closeted in the consulting room for over an hour, and as he came out into the reception room John said: "I'll take good care of it, Reade, and bring it back tomorrow. The fact that you aren't married makes it easier. I wouldn't want any other woman to know."

As soon as he got to the store he went straight into his private office and called up the police station. Within a few moments a detective whom John Brent knew well passed through the store and into the little room. The clerks looked at each other furtively and applied themselves vigorously to their work. They could not help hearing the burst of laughter that came from the office, however, though the ensuing conversation was too low to be heard.

That evening John Brent went home a little later than usual and sat down to the waiting dinner table without changing his coat, which he usually did to please his wife. Mary, apparently entirely recovered from the headache she usually had after such stormy times, sat opposite to him, dainty and pretty in her pale pink house gown. The dinner table was attractive and daintily set, and Nora, in a clean white apron, lumbered awkwardly around the table serving the simple dinner.

John seemed to be very nervous. He ate little and kept glancing furtively at his wife, who was seemingly indifferent, but who knew the signs and thought he was about to present her with a peace offering. She wondered what it would be.

They had reached the pudding and Nora had retired to the kitchen when the doorbell rang, and John started to his feet as if he had been expecting some one. He sat down again, however, as he heard Nora's step in the hall, and in a moment she opened the door, and Jack Burnet appeared in the doorway.

"Come in! Come in!" cried John heartily, a trifle too heartily, his wife thought. She wished John would not associate with this class of people.

"Sit down and have a bite," said her husband, and she was forced to echo the invitation, though she felt greatly relieved when the man refused. He leaned over the back of a chair, seeming at a loss how to begin. His feet shuffled nervously.

"I—I just dropped in," he stammered. "Fact is, I'm working on a case. Can I see you alone, Brent?"

"Oh, fire away!" said Brent. "My wife would find it out sooner or later."

"Well, some one stole Jim Reade's diamond ring this morning. They got me working on the case, and I've got to do my duty."

Mary Brent, looking across the table with a sudden, lurking fear in her eyes, saw John's hand make a sudden involuntary movement toward the breast pocket of his coat. She turned white.

"Of course you must do your duty," said John. "Who is the thief?" He tried to look unconcerned and natural, but something clicked in his wife's throat, and she was not surprised when the detective laid a hand heavily on her husband's shoulder.

"John Brent, I place you under arrest," he said solemnly, and then, "I hate to do it, John."

"I'll get my hat and come with you," said Brent, rising. "Mary"—

"No, you won't," she interrupted, running around the table and standing in front of him. Then she stepped back and put her hand through John's arm. She looked steadily at the detective, her small face very pale and her blue eyes flashing.

"If any one has to go I will. It isn't his fault; it's mine. I—I made him do it. He told me he couldn't afford it, and I acted like a little beast, and so he did it to satisfy me, I suppose. He isn't a thief. You know he isn't a thief." She appealed to the detective. He stammered, "But the ring"—

"Take the ring back," she said, "and I will come and explain the whole thing to Mr. Reade. He wouldn't let you arrest John anyway if he knew who it was. Oh, please go! Give him the ring, John," she begged.

John drew the ring from his pocket and threw it down on the white tablecloth. She picked it up and handed it to the other man.

"I don't ever want to see a diamond again as long as I live," she said, beginning to sob. The detective went to the door feeling somehow as if he'd been robbing widows and children. He looked back once as he reached the door and then hastily let himself out.

"Gee!" he said to himself as he went up the street. "It was a mean trick to play, but it did the work. I'll bet that by tomorrow morning that little woman will be thinking she'd rather darn his socks than make tidies!"

SUNSHINE FURNACE

The Sunshine way of placing coal in the furnace.

THE LARGE DOUBLE FEED DOORS

on the Sunshine furnace provide an opening deep and wide enough to admit great rough chunks of wood that would either have to be wasted, or chopped up for an ordinary furnace.

As for putting coal in the Sunshine, why, it's the easiest thing imaginable!

Such a generous opening would be next to impossible to miss. And you can easily deposit the coal in any spot you desire.

After you have experimented with small feed-doors, and hit the edge of the door frame a few times, you will recognize more completely the ease and advantage of the Sunshine method. The illustrations hint at the difference.

If you will examine the fire-pot of the Sunshine you will notice that the sides are straight up and down.

On many furnaces the fire-pots slope, forming a rest on which the ashes accumulate.

As ashes are non-conductors of heat they prevent the fire-pot from radiating as much heat as it should; they clog up the draft and deaden the fire.

But the Sunshine fire-pot is a wonderful radiator of heat. No ashes can cling to the straight, sheer sides of its fire-pot. The live, red-hot coals are always snug up to them. There is nothing to prevent the radiation of every unit of heat produced by the fuel.

The Sunshine is the most scientifically and perfectly constructed furnace. It radiates most heat with less consumption of fuel. It is the easiest-managed, cleanest, greatest labor and fuel economizer you can buy.

If your local dealer does not handle the Sunshine, write direct to us for Free Booklet.

A Telltale Nail.

Dr. John Donne, the famous English divine and poet, who lived in the reign of James I., was a veritable Sherlock Holmes in bent of mind.

He was walking in the churchyard while a grave was being dug when the sexton cast up a moldering skull. The doctor idly took it up, and, in handling it, found a headless nail driven into it. This he managed to take out and conceal in his handkerchief. It was evident to him that murder had been done. He questioned the sexton and learned that the skull was probably that of a certain man who was the proprietor of a brandy shop and was a drunkard, being found dead in bed one morning after a night in which he had drunk two quarts of brandy.

"Had he a wife?" asked the doctor.

"Yes."

"What character does she bear?"

"She bore a very good character, only the neighbors gossiped because she married the day after her husband's funeral. She still lives here."

The doctor soon called on the woman. He asked for and received the particulars of the death of her first husband. Suddenly opening his handkerchief, he showed her the telltale nail, asking in a loud voice:

"Madam, do you know this nail?"

The woman was so surprised that she confessed and was tried and executed.

Night Window Shopping.

"I used to think the money spent for light in show windows from closing time till morning was wasted," said a Fifth avenue merchant, "but I have changed my mind about it, and now I keep my windows lighted until 3 a. m. every night but Sunday. I took the trouble to make some investigations as to the value of shop windows before I changed my method. I found that in daytime, when the streets are filled, no one has time for more than a glance at the displays. But at night, and particularly late at night, while there are fewer people out, they are not in a hurry and many of them stop to examine critically the goods shown. I have frequently seen men and women, too, who were window shopping before my place at night inside buying the things the next day. Many people in New York keep themselves posted on fashions and on what is to be had in the stores by 'window shopping.'"

Atmospheric Deflection of Sound.

One of Uncle Sam's scientists at Washington gives an interesting explanation of the action of the wind in preventing the spread of sound. It is, he claims, not the wind as such that prevents sound from traveling against it, but differences in the strength of the wind. If, for instance, the wind is stronger above than below or stronger at one side, its effect will be to tilt the sound waves in one direction or another. Differences of temperature in the air also cause deflection of the waves of sound. Other atmospheric causes exist which deflect sound from a straight course and prevent it from going as far in a certain direction as it may have been expected to go. Some of the sirens in this country, says the scientists, produce sounds which ought theoretically to be audible at a distance of 1,500 miles, but in fact the authorities are satisfied if they are heard only two miles away. The reason for the discrepancy between calculation and experiment was probably atmospheric deflection of the sound. — New York Tribune.

The sand of Sahara averages thirty feet in depth, but in some places it has been found 300 feet below the surface.

A Fright.

Actress—Did he really tell you I had a case of stage fright? Friend—No; he said you were. Philadelphia Inquirer.

He Could Dodge.

"There's nothing slow about Jones," he said reflectively.

The other laughed scornfully.

"I guess you never loaned him any money," he said.

"Oh, yes, I have," replied the first speaker. "That's what made me speak that way. I loaned him $10 six months ago, and I haven't been able to catch him since."

The winter port season of 1906-7 was brought to a close recently with the sailing of the C. P. R. steamer Montreal. Owing to exceptional conditions in the West, the amount of freight outwards has not been anything like the total for last year.

Total freight valuation was $19,387,300; grain handled 3,349,162 bushels; 117 steamers arriving during the past season represent a total tonnage of $456,432, as against 113 steamers with a tonnage of 389,036 last year, and 102 steamers with a tonnage of 366,737 in 1904-5.

Live stock shipments this year show a decrease from those of the season of 1905-6. Cattle shipments particularly fell off. Shipments of horses were about the same, one less having been sent this year.

The total number of persons landed here this winter was 30,025, and of these C. P. R. steamers carried the greater majority. During the season C. P. R. steamers from Liverpool, London and Antwerp landed in St. John 26,032 passengers, against 16,804 last year.

Not more than 2,516 were destined to the United States. In 1904-5 the C. P. R. brought to St. John 12,271 persons, so that last season's traffic showed an increase of 4,533, while this year's continued increase amounts to 8,682.

Most Allan Line passengers were landed at Halifax.

Panic Stricken Dancers Jump For Their Lives.

MANY INJURED--ONE DEAD

Fire Broke Out In Basement—Social Reunion Was In Progress Upstairs —Was a Banquet of Death—Cut Off by Smoke—Man Has Back Broken—Expected That Some of the Others May Die.

Montreal, June 1.—A sensational fire took place early yesterday morning during the progress of a dance in a hall in the east end. A number of persons were compelled to jump from a third storey window, and eighteen of them were more or less injured, some fatally.

Arthur Duperreault, a butcher, has succumbed to the injuries sustained by jumping. It was about 3 o'clock when the fire broke out.

The hall is in the top floor of a building, a few doors east of the City Hall, on Notre Dame Street. The fire started in the basement, the ground floor being occupied as a dry goods store by C. Marsolais.

The crowd of dancers upstairs became panic-stricken by the rush of smoke and flame, and started jumping from the windows before the firemen arrived. One man had both legs broken, and another his spine injured. The firemen rescued many by means of ladders. The fire did not amount to much, and was quickly extinguished. Many injured were taken to their homes for treatment, and it is difficult to ascertain the exact number hurt.

Madoc Church Burned.

Madoc, June 1.—St. John's Church, the oldest church in Madoc, was almost completely destroyed by fire Thursday afternoon. The fire started in the roof of the building, burning through inside, destroying all the woodwork and the leaded glass windows and the pipe organ.

Serious Prairie Fire.

Snowflake, Man., June 1.—A prairie fire, starting on the plateau, caused considerable havoc for a few days, commencing May 24, and continuing on the 25th and 26th.

It swept over the prairie west of T. Phillips', and made its way into the woods and along the east side of the river, burning up much timber.

By Sunday the fire had not spent its force, and J. White and others had to fight the flames all day. The loss caused by the fire is enormous.

TRIED TO SAVE CHILDREN.

Four People Burned to Death—Servants' Narrow Escape.

Long Branch, N. J., June 1.—The bodies of four persons were found yesterday in the ruins of the house occupied by Walter Schiffer, secretary of the United Cigar Manufacturers' Co., which was burned Thursday night. They were: Ruth Schiffer, aged 14, and Marion Schiffer, aged 10, daughters of Mr. Schiffer, and Tilly Monthon and Mary Diller, servants.

In attempting to rescue her children Mrs. Schiffer was so severely burned as to be in a critical condition yesterday and Mr. Schiffer suffered severe burns in fighting the fire.

Two guests of Mr. and Mrs. Schiffer, B. Citreon and M. Breicer, were also seriously burned. The servants were awakened barely in time to jump from the windows of the upper storey, several of them being severely injured.

The building was a blazing furnace before the fire alarm sounded.

Stores Burned Out.

Kingston, N. Y., June 1.—A fire which started in the drug store of Eltand & Shoonmaker on Wall street yesterday burned out that store and the adjoining stores of Herman Marblestone, clothier, and W. Scott Gillespie, wholesale grocer and liquor dealer.

The total loss is estimated at $130,000, partially covered by insurance.

Compliment Bishop Dunn.

Quebec, June 1.—The Anglican Synod yesterday concluded its labors by presenting a complimentary address to Bishop Dunn on the completion of fifteen years of his episcopacy, enlarging upon his great liberality in his work as well as his fervency and zeal.

His lordship gave his entire salary to the work of the church, and since his consecration is said to have contributed to church objects in Canada over $100,000.

The proposal to make arrangements for the appointment of a coadjutor was practically killed by being referred to a committee to report only in two years hence.

POLICE CRUELTIES EXCUSED.

Infliction of Torture on Prisoners Is Officially Denied.

St. Petersburg, June 1.—The Lower House of Parliament Thursday declined as unsatisfactory the explanations made by the Government in the matter of the tortures inflicted upon prisoners at Riga, and consequently the affair will be submitted to the Emperor.

In the course of the debate the Minister of Justice denied that officials of his Department had taken any part in inflicting these tortures, as had been charged, and declared that the information of the Douma committee in this respect was absolutely untrue. M. Makaroff, Assistant Minister of the Interior, then denied that the police had been guilty of inflicting tortures. He said a preliminary inquiry had shown that in some cases policemen had struck prisoners with their fists, but these blows were never severe. A total of forty-two police officials had been arraigned on charges. He did not wish to justify their conduct, but under the existing abominable conditions the actions of the police might be excused by the cruelty of the revolutionaries. It could not be expected that the police always should remain calm when more than one thousand of their comrades had been killed or wounded in the Baltic Provinces alone.

The debate on the answer of the Government to the interpellation concerning the mutiny in the prison at Riga, April 13, when seven mutineers were killed and twelve wounded, was then continued. This matter last came up in the House on April 23. The Minister of Justice, M. Chlogheglovitoff, denied that mediaeval tortures had been inflicted on the mutineers, but admitted they had been beaten with Cossack whips and rubber sticks.

JURY NEARLY COMPLETE.

Delay In Haywood Murder Trial Is Now Almost Over.

Boise, Idaho, June 1.—The state yesterday exhausted its arbitrary rights as to the personnel of the jury by using its tenth peremptory challenge. In all probability the defence must use its final challenge to-day. After that the selection of the twelfth juror is to be left to chance, for the first talesman who comes within the requirements of legal qualification must be chosen. There may still be dismissals by mutual agreement, but it is usual, for contending counsel to agree on the disqualifications of a juror.

The new special venire of 61 talesmen which presented itself when the trial was resumed yesterday morning, proved fruitful in men qualified to act as jurors. There was the usual offering of asserted excuses, but only five of them moved the heart of the court.

As the court rose, Judge Wood remarked to counsel that the length of to-day's session would depend on the celerity with which the jury was completed.

CUSTOMS MAKE GOOD SHOW.

Increase of $1,208,968 Announced For the Month of May.

Ottawa, June 1.—An increase of $1,208,968 in customs revenue for the month of May is the decidedly satisfactory statement handed out yesterday by the Customs Department. The total revenue for the month was $5,333,253, as compared with $4,124,285 for the corresponding month of last year. For the first two months of the present fiscal year the revenue has been $9,801,647, an increase of $1,736,367 over the same period of last year.

Yukon River Open.

Winnipeg, June 1.—Postoffice authorities received a telegram announcing the opening of navigation on the Yukon River. The telegram arrived at 7 o'clock, and one hour later more than a ton of merchandise that had accumulated at the various mail order houses in the city during the winter was started on the way to that destination.

The regular navigation opens on June 5, and all the different classes of mail are now being forwarded to points beyond White Horse.

Undigested Food

When any portion of food remains in the stomach and refuses to digest, it causes the torments of indigestion. This undigested food rapidly ferments, irritating the sensitive coating of the stomach, while other parts of the body, particularly the head, suffer in consequence.

So long as this undigested food remains in the stomach, the discomfort continues. A few doses of stop all fermentation, sweeten the contents of the stomach and give natural assistance that relieves the stomach of its burden. The use of Beecham's Pills gradually strengthens the stomach nerves and soon restores them to a normal, healthy condition.

Beecham's Pills positively cure all stomach troubles, while their beneficial effects on the liver and kidneys greatly improve the general health.

Beecham's Pills have been used and recommended by the general public for over fifty years.

Prepared only by the Proprietor, Thomas Beecham, St. Helens, Lancashire, Eng.

CAPELLO WILL HANG FOR MURDER

Sentenced For Murder of William Dow At Parry Sound.

MARANO GETS THREE YEARS

Judge Makes Strong Comment on the Habit of Carrying Knives and Pistols — Should Trust the Law for Protection—Boy Goes to Prison and Will Be Whipped Twice For Assaulting Little Girl.

Parry Sound, June 1.—The trial of Frank Capelle, convicted already of murder, and his chum, Eugene Marano, acquitted of compticity in that crime, for an assault which occasioned grievous bodily harm to the person of Angus McLeod was continued Thursday after the first jury had rendered its verdict, and at about 11 o'clock the second jury found both prisoners guilty of the joint offence, Capelle having done the actual stabbing, and was assisted and countenanced by Marano.

Yesterday morning all the prisoners convicted at this Assize were brought up for sentence. James Vancoughnett, a boy said to be under the age of 14, was convicted of indecent assault on a little girl, his age saving him from a more serious offence, and he was sentenced to be imprisoned three months in Parry Sound jail, and to receive two whippings of ten lashes each on the first Thursday in June and the first Thursday in July.

Eugene Marano, for the assault, was sentenced to three years in Kingston Penitentiary, less the time he has been confined here awaiting his trial.

Frank Capelle, for the murder of Dow, was sentenced to be hanged in Parry Sound jail yard on Thursday, the 1st of August next.

In sentencing the prisoners, the judge commented strongly on the habit of Italians and others carrying daggers, knives or pistals, and said that it would be a good thing for the country if some Italian, possibly Marano, after his release, would constitute himself an apostle to his countrymen to urge them to lay aside their old country habits of carrying weapons and learn to trust to the strength and protection of the just laws of Canada.

UNION WIPED OUT.

Expelled From American Federation of Labor for Rebellion.

Chicago, June 1.—The last barrel of "union" beer in Chicago and the whole country, according to an edict of the American Federation of Labor, was manufactured yesterday.

At midnight the Brewery Workers' Union cease to exist, in the eyes of the national labor leaders, and the two million working men in the United States will be asked to "get on the water wagon," or use some other kind of beverage.

The brewery employes have rebelled against President Gompers and the National Labor Executive Council, and they are to be disciplined. The method adopted is that of expulsion.

Two months ago the National Labor Council met in Washington and gave the Brewery Workers' Union until June 1 to comply with an order to oust all engineers, firemen and teamsters from its organization. They refused.

NAVY ENTAILS ECONOMY.

Overpaid Spanish Officials to Have Salaries Reduced.

Madrid, June 1.—The scheme for an enlarged navy, now being carried forward under the direction of Minister of Marine Fernandez Nino, has necessitated extensive reforms and economies in other directions, and, as a result a number of overpaid officials are hard hit.

Consequently, the Minister's plans are receiving considerable opposition at some of the arsenals and naval stations, whence a number of heated protests have been received. The Minister, however, is supported firmly by the Cabinet and the Chamber of Deputies, and is proceeding with his policy in spite of this opposition.

Must Live 100 Years.

Cleveland, June 1.—Chief Chemist Wiley, of the United States Department of Agriculture, in the course of an address delivered before the graduating class of the Case School of Applied Science yesterday, said:

"I belong to a 100-year club, any member of which who shall die before he's 100 years old will be immediately expelled in disgrace.

"The present generation is going to live much longer than the one which came before, because it knows more about the laws of diet, hygiene and surgery.

"It's a rank disgrace for any man to die, except from old age."

Beat Horse to Death.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 1.—J. I. Cunningham, a clerk in the employ of Larkin, Sangster & Marshall, contractors, pleaded guilty in the Police Court to having beaten a horse over the head with a stick and killed it. The horse was in one of the firm's team, and got stuck with a wagon in a sandy spot. Cunningham tried to drive them by beating, and killed one horse. He was fined $5 and costs. The animal is said to have been old and weak.

WILL CHARGE MOTORMAN.

Arrested for Causing Death of Car Wreck Victims.

Elyria, June 1.—C. M. Forney, motorman of a Cleveland and Southwestern traction car, was arrested in Cleveland yesterday and brought here to answer to the charge of being responsible for the death of seven persons, killed in a traction accident here early Thursday evening, and for the injury of eight more persons, several of whom will probably die. He pleaded not guilty and was held in $5,000 bonds.

Forney was operating a car which ran at high speed into the rear end of another standing still on a straight track in broad daylight.

RESOLVED

THAT THINGS LOOK DIFFERENTLY TO US WHEN THE LAUGH IS ON US. SOME PEOPLE ARE GOOD LAUGHERS AT OTHER PEOPLE'S MISFORTUNES, BUT THEY CANT LAUGH AT THEIR OWN. NOW DEAR BROTHERS, WHEN YOU CAN LAUGH AT YOUR OWN MISFORTUNES YOU ARE A PHILOSOPHER YOU MIGHT AS WELL LAUGH AT THEM. IT WONT DO ANY GOOD TO CRY. YOU WILL LAUGH A YEAR HENCE AND WONDER WHY THINGS WORRIED YOU- NOTHING IS IMPORTANT ENOUGH TO WORRY ABOUT. LIFE IS TOO SHORT. JUST BE HAPPY— MAKE A BUSINESS OF IT. ITS A SIN TO BE UNHAPPY BESIDES IT WILL MAKE YOU SICK TO WORRY

The Latest In Fashion's Realm; Items Of Interest To Ladies

FASHION BITS.

Revival of an Ancient Fad—Pongee Is the Fabric Most Worn.

If you have an old oval brooch with bar crossing it lengthwise in buckle fashion, its time has come again. If it is a jeweled brooch, you are in great luck fortune, for it is the latest cry—black satin neck scarf with an antique jeweled pin fastening it.

Plain velvet collars and velvet buttons rimmed with cloth like the gown are two features that are prevalent in the new checked and striped suits. Velvet collars are a natural outcome of the mixed materials, and the buttons are an ingenious new development emanating from some clever tailor's brain.

Early styles in millinery are always spectacular. It always takes the entire spring season to curb them into something like sensibleness. Ultra fashions are always short lived. The eye tires of them as certainly as does the palate of condiments and sweets.

For summer wear there is nothing more serviceable and yet so attractive than the natural toned pongees, rajahs and tussahs which are so much in vogue at the present moment. Jaunty coats in full and half lengths are shown for summer wear in conjunction with skirts of the same material.

The tailor made woman will have it all her own way this summer. Blouses and shirts on the most approved mannish lines are to be prominent, and the lingerie affairs of past seasons are again to become negligee.

The handsome gown shown herewith is made of pongee in one of the lovely new apricot shades. It is trimmed with soutache braid applied over a stamped design and is worn with a guimpe of ecru lace.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

BEAUTY SPOTS.

To whiten the hands rub them first with lemon juice and afterward with dry salt.

Red spots which have been left on the face by pimples will look better after being massaged gently with cold cream.

Equal quantities of glycerin and benzoin rubbed into the finger joints night and morning will keep the fingers supple.

An excellent massaging emollient for the neck, bust and arms is made by mixing one ounce of cocoa butter and two ounces of lanolin.

Lanolin should never be used alone on the skin, but when combined with white wax and spermaceti it is a most excellent tissue builder and wrinkle eradicator.

If your complexion is rough and flaky, it is possible that you should put some softening agent in the bathing water, or else the soap you are using does not agree with your skin.

Hints to Nervous People.

The best nerve food in the world is sleep. Good, sound, refreshing sleep will do more to replenish the nerve centers and build up a fagged brain than anything that can be devised. Nervous people ought to cultivate the practice of sleeping after dinner. A short nap after the noon meal will strengthen the nerves and make it much more liable that the rest of the day will be spent in some sort of comfort. One of the principal difficulties that beset a nervous person is that he becomes too tired in the latter part of the day to digest food or to go to sleep. Thus it is that his supper generally disagrees with him, and all the horrors of indigestion await him in the latter part of the day. Often a short nap in the middle of the day will prevent this. Nervous people ought to go to bed early. If there is a habit of waking up in the latter part of the night, after which sleep is impossible, the best way is to get up. But go to bed early. If you wake up about 2 or 3 o'clock in the night, get right up and dress and go about some light employment that will keep the mind occupied. The next night you will probably sleep later until the habit of waking up in the latter part of the night and lying awake is overcome.

To Make Cold Cream.

This valuable adjunct to the toilet should, when possible, be made up at home. This is an excellent recipe: One ounce of pure white wax, two ounces of spermaceti and half a pint of almond oil. Melt together in a small jar in the oven; stir well and run into small pots

USEFUL NOTES.

The Styles Hopeless—Bracelets of Antique Designs—Rusty Gold.

There is no use fighting against the fact that Parisian styles this season are abominably ugly, and it is not an ugliness that has many attractive features either. Oftentimes we run across modes that are so original that we are immediately amused, but there is no sensation of that kind now.

Among fashionable women to whom money is no object there is a marked fancy for bracelets of original and exclusive design. A woman artist who has a genius for working in metals has seized the opportunity thus afforded and now gives her time almost entirely to the making of odd and beautiful bracelets, often using over discarded pieces of jewelry brought to her by her patrons.

Some of the most beautiful bracelets are those made of carved rose coral set in gold filigree mountings. The best examples are quite expensive, the workmanship being of fine quality and executed entirely by hand.

Quantities of rusty gold are put upon the spring gowns, whether in braid or in touches of embroidery. The idea is a pretty one, for, harmonizing with everything, it lights up a color and, paradoxical as it may sound, robs it at the same time of any loudness, and a spring gown often appears too frivolous even though the season be far advanced. Some silver is in evidence, but for popularity it has no place with gold.

The graceful morning robe depicted herewith is of flowered batiste, but it may be evolved from india silk and the washable pongee.

THE BUREAU DRAWER.

A Suggestion Toward Turning Its Chaos Into Order.

The bureau drawer, the bane of every normal woman's existence, is hard to manage. Inspired by a violent attack of neatness on a certain night, ordinarily after she has come home from the theater or evening party, she undertakes the difficult task and with superhuman effort and energy neatly folds all her neckties in one pile, belts in another and turnovers in another. The next morning she arises a little later than is advisable, is not over sweet tempered, makes a dash at her neat bureau drawer, and in her frenzied search for her pet belt or ribbon all her work of the night before is in a state of upheaval. The proper piles have all become parts of one big blooming confusion.

The first suggestion as a cure for this unsystematic arrangement is to have as few accessories as possible. Get rid of all the old neckties that are seldom worn and are simply kept for old time's sake. Then secure a collection of boxes of various sizes, each with a little lid that lifts on hinges, and in one box may be kept all that is needed of shoestrings, in another handkerchiefs, in another ties, and so on. When the owner gets used to this very inexpensive and thoroughly satisfactory arrangement, she will look with horror upon the old days when her top bureau drawer was in a state of chaos.

GOWNS FOR YOUNG GIRLS.

Cotton Voile In a Checked Pattern With Many Pleasing Accessories.

Cotton voile is of course to the fore as a fabric for the girls as well as the grownup folks and in a checked pattern—white and black and blue—is used for the making of a pretty little dress which has a plaited skirt and a bodice arranged with a collar of white Japanese silk, edged with valenciennes lace and embroidered with French knots in blue silk. A flowered pattern guimpe is used for its bordering, the lace petaled blossoms falling prettily over the shoulders. It fastens with a black velvet bow below the square cut chemisette of silk and valenciennes lace, and on the sleeve cuffs the same idea is carried out with the addition of clusters of tiny pearl buttons, which are reproductions in miniature of those which appear on the central plaits of the bodice. The dress is made all in one and with a fold of the voile to suggest the waist line, and it is, furthermore, lined throughout with batiste, so it will keep its shape and smartness for many a long day.

Another, well suited to a girl of fifteen, is made of a new alpaca-like fabric in the favorite banana shade. Here, again, bodice and skirt are permanently united, so that there is no fear of a "parting of the ways" or waistband, while the very up to date style of the bodice will assuredly find favor with its wearer, the chemisette and sleeves being of lace, with effective touches of the softly colored fabric of the frock, embroidered in silk to match. Button-like circlets and borderings of silken cords are also introduced as a trimming, and bretelles with their embroidery of single violets and edging of lace are an effectual detail, while the skirt in its turn can boast a trio of tucks and frills as a finish.

Boston's First Building Law.

Two hundred and twenty-six years ago a house was burned in Boston, which led to the promulgation of the first building law. The fact developed at a legislative hearing recently, and when told by Assistant Solicitor Child aroused great interest. The order passed on March 16, 1681, was as follows:

"About noon the chimney of Mr. Thomas Sharp's house in Boston took fire. The wind drove the fire to Mr. Colburn's house and burned that down also. For the prevention whereof in our new town indended this somer to bee builded we have ordered that noe man there shall build his chimney with wood nor cover his house with thach, which was readily asented unto."—Boston Herald.

Bagging the Smoke.

At nearly all of the large dinners this year a flashlight photograph has been taken of the feast, photographs being developed and ready for the diners by the time the dinner has been over. Such a thing has not been allowed before by the places where the big dinners are held. That such photographs have been taken this year has been due to an ingenious contrivance which the flashlight man now has for collecting his smoke. This is a large inverted baglike arrangement into which the smoke ascends and is caught so successfully that not a vestige can be detected afterward. Now the flashlight man, instead of being tabooed, seems to be one of the adjuncts of the large public dinners.—New York Sun.

Try Hot Water.

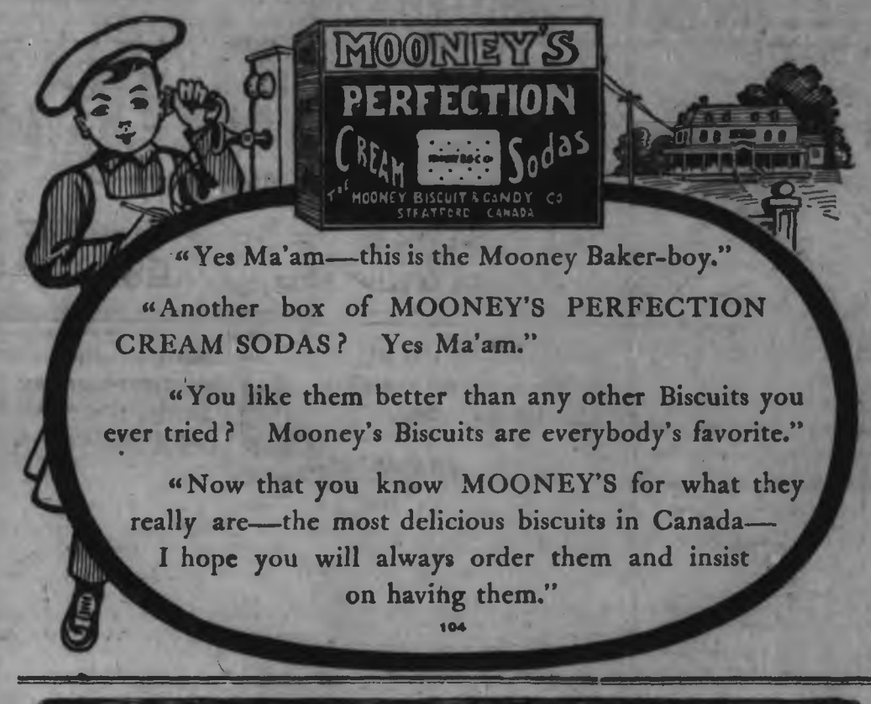
The best toilet preparation in the world is plain hot water. Here are some of the uses to which it may be put:

Drink a bowl of it every night if you want good digestion, good sleep and a clear complexion.

Put a bag of it at your feet when you have a cold, to your back when you have a backache or at the nape of the neck when you have a headache or cannot sleep, says the Boston Herald.



"Yes Ma'am—this is the Mooney Baker-boy."

"Another box of MOONEY'S PERFECTION CREAM SODAS? Yes Ma'am."

"You like them better than any other Biscuits you ever tried? Mooney's Biscuits are everybody's favorite."

"Now that you know MOONEY'S for what they really are—the most delicious biscuits in Canada—I hope you will always order them and insist on having them."

ALL RUN DOWN

Weak---Nervous---Unstrung.

Thousands get run down and become invalids before they realize anything is wrong. By permitting low vitality to develop, the way is paved for fevers, pneumonia and diphtheria. To put off makes it all the harder to get well. The time to repair the system is right now, before the damage gets any worse. The remedy is Ferrozone; it revitalizes, renews, builds up vitality that outlasts old age.

FERROZONE is a genuine invigorator that banishes weakness, and instils surplus force and vigor into every organ of the body. Ferrozone sharpens the appetite, produces rich nutritious blood, and thereby contributes that sense of buoyancy that adds so enormously to one's pleasure and usefulness in life.

For all forms of debility, weakness, lack of blood or nerve tone, sleeplessness, tiredness and exhaustion, there is no medicine so vitalizing and potent as Ferrozone. Even one trial demonstrates its rapidly and certainty of action.

To restore the energy of youth, to get back your vital stamina and reserve force, there is positively no treatment so certain as Ferrozone. You have only to try Ferrozone to know the enormous benefit it invariably brings to all in poor health.

FERROZONE

It makes the weak strong, the sick well, and assures lasting good health.

FERROZONE

Miss Dorothy E. Leduc of Chester gives the following convincing evidence of Ferrozone's power:—"My work compels me to rise early in the morning and work ten hours daily as a saleslady. Last Spring I was run down, lost my color, and fell off in weight. I seemed to lack ambition and the life was out of me. A friend recommended Ferrozone, and I took one tablet after meals with wonderful results. Ferrozone brought back my complexion, and has given me new strength and abundance of energy and spirits. I would advise all young ladies to use Ferrozone."

Mrs. H. G. Wilder of Dexter says:—"My daughter was not very well last Winter, and lost her strength completely when the Spring came. I gave her Ferrozone, and am glad to say it did wonders. After six boxes were used my daughter was strong, and looked the picture of health."

Gave New Strength

WARNING—Beware of any substitute for Ferrozone; it alone can cure you. Sold by all druggists and dealers in medicine, only in 50c boxes containing 50 chocolate-coated tablets. By mail to any address if price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., or Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

Remarkable scenes were witnessed recently at Exeter, when the goods of Mr. Hems, sculptor, were sold under distraint from the Inland Revenue authorities after a prolonged dispute as to the income tax. Addressing the crowd, Mrs. Hems said that the bailiff had made forcible entry into his house by means of a jemmy used by burglars, and that the bailiff afterwards admitted a policeman through the library window. That officer, he said, stood on guard at his bedroom door, where he lay sick, while an inventory was taken of his goods. The very tablecloth just used for breakfast was ticketed. No such outrage would be permitted in any civilized country in the world except Russia. Uproarious scenes took place at the auction, and public feeling was against the authorities. Mr. Hems prevailed on the auctioneer to offer an effigy of St. Matthew, the first tax gaberer, two second-hand tombstones and the jemmy used to break into his house. Also his faithful bull-dog, which he described as suitable for any first-class burglar. Mr. Hems had his house barred and bolted during the sale, and exhibited a notice outside that any person daring to enter stood in danger of being shot.

Four thousand workmen from Woolwich Arsenal, demonstrating against the Government policy of discharging arsenal employees recently walked from Woolwich to the neighbourhood of Westminster through eight miles of cheering crowds. In the forefront of the marchers was carried a big white banner, which bore in black letters the words, "Woolwich Arsenal Demands a Fair Share of the Nation's Work." Midway there was a man carrying a tiny girl on his shoulder, and above them was reared a banner with the inscription, "Can We Let These Starve?" At St. George's-circus, mounted police were in waiting, and here came the stop. It was as near to the Houses of Parliament as the authorities would allow the procession to go. So, amid the shouts and cheers and songs of the people, twenty of the procession, selected as a deputation to see the Prime Minister, separated themselves from their comrades, and, escorted by the police, made their way to a pair-horse brake in waiting, which was to convey them to the House of Commons. The crowd then quietly dispersed.

Desperation, induced by inability to repay money borrowed at exhorbitant interest from female lenders, was responsible for some startling revelations at one of the Liverpool police courts recently. One woman charged with being drunk and disorderly, said that she became desperate because of the hopelessness of her efforts to repay a loan of one pound she had obtained from a woman money-lender. The money, she said, she had to repay, together with interest at the rate of 10s. a month. Even more sad was the plight of a sailor's wife. (From a female money-lender she borrowed five pounds, on which the interest she had to pay was 1s. 8d. per week, a rate of 400 per cent. per annum. For a time she kept up the payments of the interest by pushing her husband's advance notes. After a time her husband left his ship, and as a consequence the advance notes ceased. Unable to free herself from the toils, she attempted suicide by taking salts of lemon.

A German doctor who claimed to have discovered the secret of restoring youth, advertised in London that he could in two days rejuvenate the most decrepit hag. This brought a crowd of ancient dames to his house. At the first interview, he invited each patient to write her surname, Christian name and age on a sheet of paper. The ages whereto they pleaded guilty varied, but all ruled high. The doctor undertook to give each patient the promised elixir next day. On the appointed day the doctor regretted that he unfortunately had mislaid the papers containing his youth-seekers' ages, and he, therefore, requested each one to write it down and call again. In waiting her age the second time each woman took many years off the age she previously had admitted. The doctor, pretending to have found the first papers, called them to witness, comparing the lists, that he had kept his word, inasmuch as in 48 hours they had all become many years younger.

A parallel to the Beak case occupied the attention of the Clerkenwell Justices for several hours one day recently, seven people swore that they identified an accused man as one who had either swindled or attempted to swindle them, while 10 witnesses, including a police inspector and two constables, were prepared with proof that in each instance it was a case of mistaken identity. The jury came to this conclusion, and the accused was acquitted. The money obtained by the frauds amounted to 9s. altogether. The swindler was said to have introduced himself to the prosecutors as a comedian who had left his purse at home, and he presented a card bearing the words, "George Martin, comedian, 84 The Grove, Brixton, S. W." There was no such place. The witnesses for the prosecution maintained that they were not mistaken in declaring that the man who had swindled them was the accused. The witnesses for the defence established a complete alibi, and accused was discharged.

IRELAND

A sensational case of baby farming is at present engaging the attention of the Belfast police authorities. Some time ago an advertisement was inserted in a number of newspapers to the effect that a lady without children desired to adopt a baby. Entire surrender was a strict stipulation, and a good comfortable home was guaranteed on payment of a premium of 15 pounds. In response to the advertisement certain parties hailing from Lurgan, a market town in the vicinity of Belfast, entered into correspondence with her. An interview was arranged in the General Post Office in Belfast, and at the prearranged time the various parties met, recognizing each other by a certain signal. The Lurgan party consisted of several women, one of whom carried an infant. The female advertiser was fashionably attired, and was attended by a smart looking male accomplice. The parties from Lurgan informed the advertiser that they could only give 10 pounds, and, after pretending to demur the English gentleman remarked that he would have to be satisfied with that amount. The money was no sooner pocketed than the gentleman raised several fastidious queries about the child's clothing. Further argument was followed by a request on the part of the Lurgan girls that their money should be refunded. The request at once revealed the nature of the English couple. The Englishman remarked that he could not think of doing such a thing, adding that it would take every penny of the 10 pounds to pay expenses. With that he and his blonde accomplice turned on their heels and vanished, leaving the girls in consternation.

Excitement was caused in Queenstown one evening recently by signals which were observed flying from the four masted full-rigged ship, Compton, of Liverpool, at anchor in the inner harbour, intimating that she was sinking and required assistance immediately. Tugs proceeded to the assistance of the Compton, when it was ascertained that she was more than half full of water and fast settling down. Hawsers were got out at once, and efforts made to tow her to the Spit bank in order to prevent her from sinking in deep water. At six p.m. the tugs had succeeded in getting the Compton on to the edge of the bank, and at that hour the sea was level with the deck and her draught of water was so great that it did not seem possible to get her far enough on the bank to beach her. The vessel arrived from Queenstown the previous day with 4000 tons of wheat on board. It had been blowing a strong west north west gale, and it is explained that the vessel dragged anchors into shallow water and that her bottom was pierced by one of the anchors.

Two Dundee persons are on the way to what seems like the securing of an unexpected windfall. The story is a romantic one, and has its foundation in the days of California fortune seeking. A Scotsman had gone to California and had become possessed of a certain number of shares in a mine. Returning to Scotland he came to Dundee and there in response to acts of kindness rendered to him, he handed to a friend what is understood to have been a share certificate for his holding, along with a note saying that he had handed the shares to him, but at the time expressing the opinion that the shares were worthless and that he might light his pipe with them. The giver died in Dundee and the friend seems to have lost one of the papers, but his descendants, two daughters, now living in Dundee, have the document certifying that he had bequeated the shares to their father, who died in January last. It now appears that the shares are worth about 16,000 pounds, and the daughters, one of whom is in humble circumstances, are taking steps to make good their claim. Dundee and Edinburgh agents have the case in hand.

How a railway twelve miles long, was stolen, has been told to the Irish Railway Commission. The line, which is the Burr and Parsontown Railway, was built in 1860, and abandoned a few years later. Then the people began to steal the metals. The chairman— (Sir Charles Scotter) — This is most extraordinary —the people of the district saw this line gradually disappearing and they took no action. Mr. Healy: Yes; they did; they took a bridge.(Laughter.) Mr. Trench: Oh, no; the police prevented the bridge from being taken. After this looting of the railway a man came down with cranes intending to carry away the girders, but the sergeant of police took it upon himself and prevented him from taking it away.

While the Royal Commission on Congestion in Ireland, was visiting Carrick on Shannon recently a large crowd of young men marched with their bands from Roscommon to the bridge across the Shannon for the purpose of protesting against the grazing system. Their progress was barred by a strong body of police with drawn batons, and they were informed that if they wished to to enter the town of Carrick they must leave their bands behind them. Several who tried to cross the bridge were batoned. Eventually the procession marched into the town without their bands, and encountering large droves of cattle deliberately dispersed the animals in all directions, causing the greatest confusion in the town.

SCOTLAND

Two fashionably dressed ladies who resided in a hotel in Inverness were arrested the other day in highly interesting circumstances, the charge against them being one of obtaining board, lodgings, and food for the past six months, the hotelkeeper's bill against them amounting to £264. The elder lady, on their arrival in Inverness in September last, informed the hotelkeeper that she was the daughter of a general in the Russian army, who had recently died, and that she was in possession of a large fortune, but that there was some delay in the distribution of her father's estate owing to the death of his solicitor. The younger prisoner, who is the daughter of a deceased architect at Bonn, Germany, was a companion to the elder lady. They lived in Inverness throughout the winter, and occupied most of their time in visiting vacant residences in the district with the view of purchasing a house and settling down in the place. A local house agent took them by motor car to a large number of such residences, and finally they resolved to purchase a house on the banks of the Ness. The negotiations were all but completed at the end of last year, but as the money, amounting to over £1,000, was never forthcoming, they did not receive possession. The ladies inspired further confidence by their expressed desire to purchase a motor car at a cost of about £2,000, and their engagement of a chauffeur. The car, however, was never bought. The arrest was made after inquiries in Germany made though Scotland Yard.

The Dundee Greenmarket was the scene of an exciting incident one evening recently. About 7.30, when traffic was at its height, a man who was selling sweetmeats at a penny per packet discovered that a packet had disappeared from his stand. At the back of the stall the youthful members of the auctioneer's audience had congregated, and he charged one of the boys with the offence of lifting the packet. Whether the boy in question was the culprit or not, the punishment meted out to him by the vendor was so much in excess of what befitted theo rime that the crowd promptly showed their displeasure by tumbling the vendor and his stall and its contents all in a heap on the ground. When he got to his feet the man bolted, and a wild scramble ensued amongst the wreckage. In a very few moments every packet of the sweetmeat had been appropriated by eager youngsters.

The gymnastic fever has attacked the young ladies employed in offices and shops in Dundee, and at the annual meeting recently of the subscribers to the Public Gymnasium it was reported that the ladies' classes had increased in point of attendance during the year by three times as many as formed the classes in any previous year. The young ladies who are the chief devotees of physical culture are typewriters, employes in drapery establishments, and in the post office. Indeed, the post office can claim to have the champion lady wrestlers of Dundee, they being clever exponents of the Japanese art of jiu-jitsu. For the first time in its history the Gymnasium is now clear of debt. The year opened with a deficit of £27 9s. 6d., and this has been turned into a credit balance of £15 19s. 7 1-2d., being brought about by increased revenue and decreased expenditure.

A sculptured portrait of Mr. Gladstone recently gifted by Lord Armitstead to the committee of the Albert Institute, Dundee, has been advantageously placed in the galleries. It is of statuette size, is in bronze and depicts the famous Prime Minister in the attitude of addressing the House of Commons. The likeness is a very faithful and pleasing one, and the work is also o fmuch value on account of its high artistic qualities. The statuette is a replica of one done some time ago for the library at Hawarden Castle, where it has been greatly admired as the most characteristic likeness ever done of its late master.

A Remarkable Story of Millionaires' Doctor Who Died This Week in Obscurity in Park Hotel

BROTHER IS J. H. CAMPBELL

Was at One Time Doctor to Buffalo's Exclusive Families. Visited Here Every Summer. A Pathetic Death.

Examiner Special

Buffalo, June 1. — John H. Campbell, whose post office address is given as Peterborough, Ontario, is one of the beneficiaries in an estate estimated variously from $15,000 to $100,000, left by Dr. Robert Campbell, who died here under peculiar circumstances early this week.

Millionaire's Doctor

By his death is revealed the fact that "Doc." Campbell, who died in obscurity at the Park Saloon Hotel, on Monday, without a friend at his bedside, was none other than Dr. Robert E. Campbell, one-time a physician to the Buffalo millionaires, who married wealthy Helen Thornton, from whom he was separated after sensational divorce proceedings.

He lived and entertained in the height of his social glory, in the mansion in aristocratic North-street, later occupied by the recently deceased multi-millionaire, Frank Goodyear.

The adjustment of the estate has revealed the fact that the relatives of the dead man who will divide the property, are for the most part in Canada.

Four years ago he came to the Park Hotel and there he lived, unknown to his prominent friends of the old days. No one called on him, except on business; he went out little, kept aloof in his room, and no one about the place knew or dreamed that the man who was droning away the years in his single little room was the formerly prominent Dr. Campbell.

Died in Obscurity

He died on Monday, with only a bell boy at his bedside, and not until Wednesday did the identity of the man, whose body had been unceremously taken from the hotel to an east side undertaker's, became known.

Dr. Campbell practiced his profession in quarters such as no other physician in Buffalo, before or after, has been able to boast of. His offices, separate from the household rooms, consisted of five expensively furnished apartments. There was a first reception room, then a boudoir for women patients, with a maid in attendance.

Mrs. Campbell became unhappy because of that five-room string of offices, and the women who came there, and their married life became filled with quarrels. A tour of the world, which was to consume two and a half years, was planned. Then seven years ago, Mrs. Campbell began her divorce action in New York city, which was sensationally thrown out of court because of perjury charges. She named as co-respondent Cora Alden, a Denver girl, and the offence was complained to have taken place in the hotel of the little town near which was Campbell's Nebraska ranch.

His Fortune

It was estimated, after Dr. Campbell's death, that his estate was worth about $100,000, but that this valuation is too high is evident from the application made yesterday by Dr. Edward N. Pfohl of Buffalo to Surrogate Hart to be appointed administrator of the estate.

According to the petition, the estate may not be worthy much more than $15,000.

The relatives of the dead man, who are named in the petition, are

Move Church to Allow Miners to Work Silver Vein

Extraordinary Conditions Which Prevail in Cobalt Described by Mr. J. A. Tully After Visit.

ODDFELLOWS FLOURISH

"The rush to Cobalt is simply indescribable," said Mr. J. A. Tully, to the Examiner to-day, in telling of his recent trip through that portion of Ontario, in connection with his work for the I.O.O.F.

As was predicted, this spring has see an unprecedented rush of prospectors, capitalists, labourers, soldiers of fortune and men of every calling, and from almost every nation into the silver fields of New Ontario, and the result is that Cobalt, the centre of the district, is crowded so full that it is almost impossible to secure accommodation of any kind.

Mr. Tully carries with him some samples of silver taken from mines he visited during his recent trip. From the Silver Leaf mine he had a piece of pure silver taken by himself from the vein, which is several inches thick.

During the time that he was in Cobalt a new find was made right in the village. The vein was discovered to lead under the new Methodist church recently built — and the church will have to go — the result being that the house of worship will have to be removed to some other location to permit mining operations to be carried on.

In one day recently, when the ice on the Montreal River showed signs of breaking up no less than 175 canoeists left Latchford for the new fields along the river. They had been waiting, some of them for weeks for the ice to break up, and allow them to reach the fields, which were reported to be very rich.

Oddfellowship, the promotion of which was Mr. Tully's object in visiting New Ontario, is prospering. Two new lodges were instituted by him, one at Cobalt and the other at Burk's Falls. Grand Master Johnston and A. H. Blackaby were in Cobalt at the institution of the new Lodge, and while there they paid an official visit to Lodges in Haileybury, Sturgeon Falls, New Liskeard, Latchford, North Bay and Powassan.

Mr. Tully ran across a number of Peterborough people while he was away, including Mr. Jas. McPherson, who was going to locate a claim on the Montreal River, and Mr. Arthur Graham and Messrs. John and Richard O'Brien, sons of Separate school Inspector O'Brien. Cobalt is a good place to go for a few days, Mr. Tully thinks, but all the silver there would not tempt him to make it his home.

Smallpox is Reported Bad in This Province

Dr. Bell Tells of the Conditions Prevailing in Extreme Ends of Ontario. Sick Work in Fields.

A DESPERATE SITUATION

The smallpox prevailing in the two extremes of old Ontario is giving Dr. Bell, Provincial Health Inspector, considerable work and worry at the present time. He was in the city today and informed the Examiner that since his last visit here about two weeks ago, he has been on the jump looking after infected districts. He spent several days in the south-eastern portion of the province, in the vicinity of Petrolea, where there is an epidemic which is giving the authorities some considerable concern, and after doing what he could to improve conditions there he left for the eastern portion of the Province, where he discovered an even worse condition of affairs. Men actually sick with the dread disease, were at work in the fields and did not know what their trouble was.

Dr. Bell's presence in Peterborough to-day is not in connection with any health troubles. He is here attending to personal business.

New Three Story Store To Grace Simcoe Street

Toronto Saving and Loan Company Break Ground for Erection of a Handsome Structure.

FIVE STORE IN BUILDING

Work will be commenced at once on a three story brick building, 50 by 68 feet, on Simcoe street, east of Cavangh's Hotel. The building will be erected by the Toronto Savings and Loan Company, and will include a double store and four single stores. The western store in the building will be occupied by Messrs. Adamson and Dobbin, and this portion of the building will be 29 by 130 feet.

It is expected that the building, which will be a handsome and substantial structure, and will be a credit to the mercantile section of the city, will be completed this summer.

The erection of the building will greatly improve this section of the city, and will no doubt be occupied, as soon after its completion as desired. There has been such a demand for store premises in the city that no difficulty is anticipated in securing tenants. Ground has already been broken for the foundation and the building will be rushed. It is understood that the present store of Adamson & Dobbin will be occupied by the J. C. Turnbull Company, who find their present premises too small for them.

JUNE BRIDES AND BREECHES

O, dainty June your crown of leaves
Makes Spring's conquest complete;
You're sweet beyond the praise of words
But the June bride is sweeter.

She comes in beauty like the day
Of sunny skies and flowery riches—
What shame to waste such sweetness on
A Prosaic man in breeches.

Violent Form of Itching Piles

Rev. S. A. Dupraw, Methodist Minister at Belleville, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with itching and bleeding piles for years, and they ultimately attained a very violent form. Large lumps or abscesses gathered and I suffered great pain. A single box of Dr. Chase's Ointment cured me and saved me from a very dangerous and painful operation. The lumps and swellings disappeared and I am an entirely different man.

MADE SUPERINTENDENT OF THE ENTIRE PLANT OF OTONABEE POWER CO.

MR. P. A. KERR,
Who This Morning Assumed His New Duties as Superintenednt of the Power Company

Music and Drama

THE LION AND THE MOUSE

The dramatic event of the season will undoubtedly be seen here on Wednesday next, when Charles Klein's famous play, "The Lion and the Mouse," will be presented at the Grand. The production is one of Henry B. Harris' attractions, which, to any theatregoer, is a guarantee of its excellence. Last week it filled a week's engagement at the Princess Theatre, Toronto, and this week the company has been at His Majesty's, Montreal's best theatre. The plan will open on Monday morning at 10 o'clock at the box office, and the seats will undoubtedly go with a rush.

THE ROYAL SLAVE

A fairly large audience was in attendance at the Grand last night on the presentation of "A Royal Slave," a story of Mexico in the days when Spain had the upper hand. It is replete with dramatic passages, which were portrayed in a true manner. John Arthur, in the title role as El Aguila, acted the part of the royal slave in a splendid style, there being no weak spot in his characterization. Miss Helen Harrington, as the scheming Countess Inez De Ora, was also very good. In fact, the company is well balanced and pleased the Peterborough audience.

JUDGMENT GIVEN TO THE PLAINTIFFS

Decision Reserved as to Indemification by Ontario Bank

In the case of the Peterborough Hydraulic Power Company versus McAllister, which came up at the recent High Court before Chancellor Boyd, judgment was given in favour of the plaintiffs for the $750 claimed and costs, but the question as to whether McAllister was entitled to be indemnified by the Ontario Bank was not decided, the judge reserving judgment on this point. Mr. F. D. Kerr of Dundstown, Peak and Karr was counsel for the plaintiffs, and Messrs. O'Connell and Gordon for the defendants.

MR. HUFF SECURES NEW STORE

Will Occupy Store at Present Held by Mr. M. W. Porter—It Will be Fitted Up

Mr. Ed. Huff, the tailor, whose place of business has been at 408 1-2 George street, has, it is understood, secured the lease from Mr. M. W. Porter, of his lower George street store, and will remove there immediately. His new premises will be much more suitable for his business, and he will be glad to welcome his customers in his new store, which will be elegantly fitted up.

THE CUSTOMS RECEIPTS FOR MONTH OF MAY WERE MORE THAN $1000

The Customs collections for the month of May amounted to $31,547.23, for the port of Peterborough. The collections during the month just passed, were not as large as those in the corresponding month in 1906, but the decrease is explained by the statement that last May was an exceptional month, an additional importation being responsible for the large amount of the collections during that month. Over $1,000 a day, the amount represented by the collections for the month of May in this year is a good record, and gives evidence of the steady progress Peterborough is making.

New Superintendant Of Otonabee Power Co.

Mr. P. A. Kerr, Appointed to this Position and Commenced His New Duties Today.

IN CHARGE OF THE PLANT

This morning Mr. P. A. Kerr, who for some years has been with the Peterborough Shovel and Tool Company, as master mechanic, commenced duties in a new position he assumed with the Otonabee Power Company. Mr. Kerr will be superintendent for this company, and will have charge of the power house at No. 5 dam, and the plant there, as well as the equipment on the streets and sub-stations. It will be his duty to bring the plant to, and maintain it in a state of perfection, and with the prospects of the new power house at dam No. 4 being built and a second plant being installed, it will be seen that it will require considerable work.

For a number of years Mr. Kerr was employed with the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company, Limited and installed in late years the majority of the big power plants manufactured and sold by this company. After leaving that firm he was for a short time master mechanic for a large lumber firm on the Georgian Bay, leaving that position to accept one with the Peterborough Shovel and Tool Company, with which company he has been ever since.

He brings to his new position a number of years of valuable experience which should, and no doubt will, stand him in good stead in his new duties.

Proposed New Schedule For The Lakefield Train

Important Change in the Train Schedule—New Route Seems To Be Complete in Detail and Should Be Servicable.

WILL RUN TO PORT HOPE

At noon on Sunday, June 16th the change in the G.T.R. train schedule will come into force and the new arrangement of the Lakefield train is of importance to the Peterborough public. The G.T.R. Company in their endeavours to facilitate the tourist traffic and also to provide the best service for their patrons, have innovated a new train route which which should be efficient and prove equal to any demand.

The Belleville train that arrives in Peterborough at 8.10 a.m., will, instead of remaining here, proceed to Lakefield and return at the same time as the regular Lakefield train. The Lakefield train will leave Peterborough on the arrival of the train from Port Hope at 8.25, and will proceed to Port Hope where it will connect with the regular passenger train from Toronto and Western points. It will then return to Peterborough and connect with the noon train from Lindsay and Toronto and at 11.55 will leave for Lakefield. This is an important change, as passengers from the west may be taken by the G.T.R. direct to Lakefield without any delays. The connections appear to be systematic and should prove successful.

Not a Mixed Train

This change will mean that no freight cars will be included in the Lakefield train which will be a regular passenger train. Conductor Jobbitt will have a pleasant run to Port Hope with Engineer Pilking in the cab. It will also necessitate a new uniform for Mr. Jeff Dinsdale the genial brakesman who will now be dressed in his official suit of blue.

FIRST OF JUNE WEDDING

WALDINGER-DAVIDSON

O, dainty June, your crown of leaves
Makes Spring's conquest complete;
You're sweet beyond the praise of words,
But the June bride is sweeter.

This afternoon the residence of Mrs. R. S. Davidson, 202 Dalhousie street, was the scene of an event of more than usual social interest, the occasion being the wedding of Miss Christine Madge, eldest daughter of the late Mr. R. S. Davidson, and Mrs. Davidson, to Mr. Carl Waldinger, of Boston, Mass. The wedding took place at three o'clock. The bride, who was born here and who has spent her life in this city, outside of the time spent at school, and travelling in recent years, is one of the city's most popular young ladies, and, by reason of this fact, as well as because the young bridegroom, since he has been visiting in Peterborough, has, by his engaging manners and attractive qualities, made himself a general favourite among those who met him, the function this afternoon was one of more than usual interest.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. F. Torrance, D. D., pastor of St. Paul's church, in the presence of about eighty invited guests. The bride was given away by her mother, and was dressed in excellent taste in an exquisite Empire gown of ivory white Liberty satin with yoke and bolero of rose point lace. She wore the conventional veil, and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. The bridesmaids, Miss Helen Davidson, sister of the bride, and Miss Pearl Lundy were attractively costumed in white embroidered muff over white silk and large leghorn hats, trimmed with marguerites and roses, and carried bouquets of marguerites and ferns. Mrs. Davidson, mother of the bride, wore an artistic gown of French silk chiffon with fine black silk stripe, over silk and trimmed with rose point lace. The bridegroom was supported by Mr. A. B. Holmes, of Toronto.

The presents were in every way worthy and characteristic of the occasion, comprising many handsome and valuable tokens of esteem from friends far and near. The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a diamond and ruby ring, to the bridesmaids, gold chains, with pearl pendants and to the groomsman a pearl scarf pin.

After the nuptials the reception was held and felicitations were extended to Mr. and Mrs. Waldinger. The drawing room, in which the ceremony was performed and the reception held, was prettily decorated with primroses, narcissus, blossoms and other spring flowers. Refreshments were served from a large marquee on the lawn.

Mr. and Mrs. Waldinger left on the 5.15 C.P.R. train for points west, and will return to the city in about ten days. After spending a short time here they will leave for their future home in Boston, Mass., en route, remaining a few days in New York. The bride's going away costume was an ecru and blue tailor made suit, trimmed with rajah silk, and touches of blue broadcloth and white braid; smart blue toque, with brown wings.

Among the guests were several of the bride's school friends from Toronto and other places, constituting a house party who have been spending the few days prior to the wedding as the guests of the bride, and who, after the wedding were taken for an automobile ride to several points of interest. Those present at the wedding from outside the city were Mr. and Mrs. W S Stout, Miss Stout and Miss Helen Stout, Miss Morrison, Miss Mabel Lennox, Miss Elsie Ruddell, Miss Emma Gilmour, Mr. Leonard Morrison, Mr. R R Sanderson, Mr. T C Irving, Jr., Miss Irving, of Toronto; Mr. W H Fieldhouse, of Montreal; Miss Susie Milne, of Sarnia; Miss Hilborn, of Berlin and others.

Closing Meeting

The closing meeting of St. Luke's Mission Band will be held next Saturday at 4 o'clock.

$100.000

This is the Amount Paid for Mine

ALBERT O'CONNOR'S LUCK

Sold a Silver Claim in Cobalt for a Good Round Sum This Week.

Mr. Albert O'Connor of Emsmore is reported to have struck it rich in the Cobalt district. Mr. O'Connor left Emsmore about 18 months ago for New Ontario, and since then has been prospecting for precious metals in that favoured region. He is said to have made a number of discoveries which promise well, and J. A. Tully informed the Examiner to-day that he had been told by Mr. O'Connor that he had sold one of his properties for $100,000 to a company of capitalists. The mine, upon which some development work has been done, will be further developed and will be worked, the preliminary development giving evidence of the presence of silver in paying quantities.

NEW MEMBER OF A LOCAL FIRM

Mr. Oscar Labelle, Takes Interest in Kingan Hardware Company and Returns to the City.

WAS A GOOD BUSINESS MAN

Mr. Oscar Labelle, who for the past four years has successfully filled the position of representative for the wholesale hardware firm of Lewis Bros., Toronto, has acquired an interest in the Kingan Hardware Company of this city. Mr. Labelle began to-day as an active principal in the firm, and many of his friends here were pleased to see him back again in the store which he left a little over four years ago to acquire a thorough knowledge of the wholesale end of the business. Mr. Labelle's practical experience will no doubt prove to be a valuable acquisition to the Kingan Hardware Company and add increased efficiency and energy in coping with the growing volume of business which this firm is enjoying.

PETITION AGAINST THE GARBAGE BY-LAW

Mr. J. P. Metheral Circulating One Protesting Against Provisions

A petition is being circulated by Mr. J. P. Metheral against the proposed Garbage Bylaw. This morning about seventy ratepayers had signed it and Mr. Metheral stated that there were a large number of others who had promised to affix their signatures to the protest.

OBJECTIONS TO SALE OF OTONABEE CHURCH

Question Before Quarterly Board—The Stewards Elected To-day

At the Quarterly Board meeting of the Mark street Methodist Circuit, held this afternoon at the Mark street Church, East City, Messrs. M. Carton, A G Throop, W Brown, R Deyell, S Matchett, T Sargeant and W Sargent, were elected Stewards for the Circuit, the first two to be the recording steward.

At the meeting, it is understood that the proposition of selling the Bethel Church in Otonabee came up for discussion, and that a number on the Board raised some objections, as there is a burial ground in connection with the edifice.

Insure Against Serious Colds

Of the many forms of insurance probably that which protects you against the serious results of colds is the most valuable at this time of the year when so many are becoming victims of la grippe and pneumonia. By the prompt use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine you can keep the cough loose, prevent further development of the cold and cure it in a few days.

What Do You Think of the Man

Who says he will pay rent no longer? Six weeks ago he bought from me a block of 8 Lots, ploughed and planted 7 Lots, has all material on the ground to build a house. He has already built a temporary Cottage which his sensible wife is quite satisfied to occupy pending completion of the home. The children are happy and free from many city dangers. The hens have occupied their coop and are supplying the wants of the family in their line. The big garden will soon supply many other wants. There is no rent to pay. The block of 8 Lots would now sell for $200 more than cost. The owner being a builder bought a second block to-day and with his 16 Lots to build upon the tenant of six weeks ago will very soon be a Landlord and an employer on the road to riches. If you are a good class of man I can start you in like manner. My Lots, my Prices and my Terms have no equals in Peterborough. Call without delay. Prices advance June 1st.

MUNICIPAL MYSTERIES

To parody a verse of the melancholy-man poet, Cowper—the civic authorities of the city of Peterborough "move in a mysterious way their blunders to perform." Take Hunter street west, from Reid street to Park street, as an object lesson in the best manner to destroy a good street. When Mayor Davis was in power, Hunter street, from Reid street to Belmont avenue, was constructed in a first-class manner. This was several years ago, and that it was a well built street is shown by the circumstance that it has remained in a good condition to the present day without repair. Legitimate traffic did not injure this street, but the civic authorities have allowed injury to happen, which, if done with deliberate intention, could not be more effective. Last year a six-inch pipe was laid on the south side, close to the pavement. The work was not well done, for, in spite of the fact that only a six-inch pipe was laid in a comparatively shallow trench, and a large quantity of loose stones removed, there was no effective attempt to restore the street surface to its original level. With a little tamping, all the soil could have been put back into the trench, but, instead of this, a continuous mound, about three feet in width and about a foot in height, reaching, in some places, several inches above the level of the pavement, was left till this spring. The City Engineer was goaded into action to remove the eye-sore and obstruction to the use of the street by residents from the north side. And what was done? Simply this. The mud mound was levelled by scattering it over the adjacent macadamized portion of the street, and the street metal, which was broken up by the digging of the trench, carefully raked out and carted away! The long line of mud that has lain there for nearly a year was levelled somewhat, it is true, but, in the process, the water-table and gutter, permitting of the easy flow of water, were obstructed. But the trench is there yet to be an obstruction. When rains come, the wheels that use the street will churn it into mud, and, judging by the past, the heaps of mud will be replaced by a continuous mud hole, which will remain for another year, or until the city goes to the expense of repairing the damage by bringing back street metal to replace the wagon-loads that were carted away. Can one fancy anything more absurd and idiotic, from a business point of view, than a course which not only destroys one side of the best built street in the city, but involves an expenditure of the money paid by taxpayers—to repair the blundering, lack of system, lack of oversight and criminal negligence of the city authorities? This matter is referred to because it is a type of conditions prevailing throughout all the city streets, and in connection with every transportation interest. It is a deep mystery that men charged with the expenditure of the people's money should permit themselves to so flagrantly neglect their duty. Why are things thus? Why do the civic authorities show so little interest in rightly doing the right thing and such a determined persistence in doing the wrong thing — a little easier, but not much more so, than doing things right. Do the aldermen ever realize that the streets are intended for traffic, and that they should be made as smooth as possible and as free from obstruction, and kept so? It costs enough, in all conscience, to put our streets in good condition without permitting them to be constantly broken up by excavations of all kinds and by a neglect to restore them to a decent condition. If any merchant on George street managed his business in the unsystematic and slipshod manner in which the civic business of dealing with our streets is done, the sheriff would be putting up his shutters within three months. These things are referred to, not in a spirit of fault-finding, but in the interests of the citizens who use our streets, and in the interests of the reputation of the city, which is injured, in the eyes of visitors, by the continuously disgraceful state of our general street conditions.

Developments of Modern Science.

Modern science shows no higher development than the New Scale Williams Piano. Perfect in every detail, of the highest artistic musical excellence and finished in the most beautiful manner in costly polished woods. Few people are aware that the varnishing and polishing of a single piano case involves almost constant labor for a period covering nearly two months.

MR. PRESTON'S RETIREMENT

A letter from T. H. Preston, M.P.P., to the South Brant Reform Association, is published, in which that gentleman announces his intention to retire from public life at the close of the present term of the Legislative Assembly.

It is no secret that Mr. Preston has never had a desire for a parliamentary career, and that he was reluctantly induced in 1899, the occasion of his first election, and again in 1902, to become a candidate. In 1905 he accepted the contest without hesitation because the fortunes of the Liberal party were at that time at low ebb, but he now feels that he is in a position to hand over to another the banner which he has endeavoured to keep aloft. —Brantford Expositor.

The retirement of Mr. T. H. Preston represents a distinct loss in effective and intelligent public service, not only to South Brant, but to the provincial legislature and the province at large. Mr. Preston was, during the three terms he sat in parliament, a very important factor in legislative work. He was one of the best-informed, most level-headed, most industrious and most useful members of the House. Many good members could be better spared than Mr. Preston. He was a good speaker, and never spoke but to say something. Whenever he "caught the speaker's eye," the House was sure of hearing something that would contribute to a larger conception of the merits or demerits of the subject in hand. He was moderate in sentiment and statement and chivalrous in combatting what he considered wrong. There will be a much greater vacancy in the House than Mr. Preston's vacant seat, by his retirement, the Legislature will lose one of its best members, South Brant one of its best representatives, and the province, one of the most valuable of its public servants.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Mr. Birrell, in arguing for his Irish Council Bill, said: "I feel perfectly justified in saying that it cannot be argued that the Irish people ought to be denied the right of showing themselves fit for self-government simply because if they should show that they are fit for it the English people may be disposed, some day or other, to give way to the demand for Home Rule. That would be a shocking and terrible doctrine, and I am quite sure that it is not the doctrine of hon. gentlemen opposite. The Unionists of Ireland I know love their country as much as any man can do, although they know that it will remain probably for ever a Roman Catholic country, and I cannot believe that they will deliberately refuse any well-reasoned opportunity of way whereby the wealth and prosperity of the Irish people can be increased and their chances of growing in those habits of self-respect, dignity and self-restraint that we all long to see them possess. I am satisfied that when the bill is before them, and when their reluctance to accept this measure, which is founded simply and solely on their apprehensions of Home Rule, is proved to be unjustifiable, they will, after full consideration, not stand between Ireland and the great advantages offered to them by these proposals."

SETTLING LABOR DISPUTES

The Lemieux Act is coming in for plenty of praise. Following Mr. Nesbitt's tribute, comes one from Professor Adam Shortt, chairman of the Conciliation Board which settled the difficulty between the Grand Trunk Railway Company and its machinists. The case was not an easy one. The matters in dispute covered almost every typical feature of the labour problem, such as rates of wages, hours of employment, including night and day work, overtime, both as to hours and pay, classification of men, the number and status of apprentices, the promotion of helpers, improvers, etc., the reinstatement of men on strike or lockout, some of them for over two years, and the general recognition of the union.

Professor Shortt says it seems difficult to determine which party was the better satisfied with the character of the proceedings and the efficiency of the new law, which all recognized to have been on trial, and which all parties admitted to have been on trial, and which all parties admitted to have been highly successful. "An important and complex labour dispute, involving feuds of more than two years standing and not improving with age, had been settled to the satisfaction of both parties, without the loss of a day's work to the men or a dollar to the company, and, above all, without disturbance to the public service. Thus was every object of the Lemieux Act secured."

One of the dangers arising out of labour questions is that of ill-feeling between employers and employed. Strikes and lock-outs, like other kinds of war, are at once results and causes of ill-feeling. They begin with misunderstanding and the longer the dispute lasts the worse the feeling grows. There may be disputes that cannot be settled by the Lemieux Act or any other means of arbitration or conciliation. But the procedure has at least the merit of cutting away the unnecessary causes of conflict, and reducing the problem to its lowest terms. Under a strike or lock-out the situation continually grows worse; under arbitration it continually grows better.—Toronto Star.

EARTHQUAKES WERE DISCUSSED

Regular Meeting of the Astronomical Society Was Held Last Night

TWO INTERESTING PAPERS

The last regular meeting of the Peterborough Astronomical Society for the present term was held last night in the Y.M.C.A. parlours, with a fairly large attendance of members present. The programme proved decidedly interesting, and the audience showed, by their close attention, that they were eager to gain information along the lines laid down by the speakers. The society has proved a great success, and no doubt when the meetings are resumed after the summer there will be a largely increased membership, as interest in the project seems to be developing at every meeting.

"Earthquakes" was the subject taken up last night, well prepared and interesting papers being read by Messrs. D. W. Dumble and S. W. Lowry, who gave much valuable information on this fascinating subject, which has been under investigation by scientists for so many years. Both speakers spoke at some length on the causes that are responsible for earthquakes, and their explanations were listened to with a great deal of interest.

During the evening a vocal solo by Miss Manning was rendered in splendid voice and was received with warm applause. Miss Julia Choate delighted the audience with a violin solo, given in her usual finished style, Miss Curry and Miss Doty were the accompanists for the occasion.

Although the regular meetings are over, the members of the society have still something to look forward to. It is proposed to hold a field day next month. Some instruments will be forwarded from Toronto, and there, with the splendid ones owned by Dr. Marsh, the president of the society, will be used in making observations.

Tom Chubbs, a Butcher — B. McBurney.

Kate Ashton, Mark's wife — Edna Dentke.

Lily Ashton, their daughter—Pearl Brown.

Patty Jones, a Yankee Girl—Jessie Jacobs.

Between acts, Miss Robson of Norwood, Miss Archer and Miss Richards, of Havelock, entertained the audience with readings and songs. The proceeds will be devoted to the Hospital for the Galicians.

Rev. Mr. Camp will leave for his new field of labour on June 23.

Dr. Kindred will open up his office next week on Ottawa street in the dwelling lately occupied by Mr. Neil Donnelly.

Mr. Roy Fordham, formerly of town, died in Owen Sound on the 13th inst., at the age of 20.

At the High School Entrance examinations to be held in June, Mr. Smithson of Norwood will take charge at the school here, while Mr. Priddle will go to Keene.

A cheque for $350 has been received by the Belmont Council, being the amount of the Government grant in aid of the heavy expense incurred by the epidemic of smallpox last year.

The only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Quackenbush of Belmont passed away on Thursday last, after a short illness. The funeral took place on Saturday afternoon to the Maple Grove Cemetery.

Mr. Hawthorne, of the Bank of Montreal staff, Peterborough, was the guest of Mr. Cecil Starke on Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. T. A. Symington of Knox Church, Toronto, who will be in charge of the Presbyterian mission of Round Lake, South Lake, Stony Lake and Oak Lake during the summer, was the guest of Rev. A. E. Camp, B.A., on Victoria Day, and commenced his duties on Sunday.

Messrs. Wm. and H. T. Andrews left on Tuesday for Winnipeg, Man., where they intend embarking in some business venture.

Mr. Andrew McLaughlin of Blairton was in Havelock to-day looking hale and hearty at the age of 83. Mr. McLaughlin was born in Ireland, and has been a resident of Blairton since the time they worked the iron mines there 40 years ago.

The public meeting, which was held in the town hall Monday night, was very largely attended, and everyone seemed quite interested in the first of July celebration, which no doubt will prove to be the best ever held in the village of Havelock. A number of committees were appointed, who are getting to work to procure special attractions for that day.

When Your Health Fails—What Then?

BETTER TO GUARD AGAINST SUCH AN EMERGENCY BY KEEPING VITALITY AT HIGH-WATER MARK BY THE USE OF

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

Good health is the capital of persons who earn their livelihood with brain and muscle.

In these days of strenuous life and keen competition there is no place for tired brains and weak bodies.

Success is for the strong and alert for those whose blood is rich and whose nerve cells are filled with vigour and energy.

It is not pleasant to contemplate what might happen with failing health, and for this reason it is well to head the first symptoms of nervous exhaustion, such as brain fag, headache, nervous dyspepsia, sleeplessness, failure of memory and loss of power to concentrate the mind.

While Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has succeeded in curing many cases of partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, and the most severe forms of nervous prostration and exhaustion, it is not well to delay treatment until these stubborn and dangerous diseases set in.

At the slightest indication of waning nerve force, begin the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and with a few weeks' treatment you will be able to restore the vitality of the body to high-water mark, remove the cause of nervous disorders, and prevent serious results.

Miss Mary Leitch, Cottison, Simcoe county, Ont., writes: "When I began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food my nervous system was all run down, and I suffered terribly with nervous headache and sleeplessness. Sometimes I could not sleep for three or four nights in succession. By the use of several boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food these troubles were entirely overcome, and I consider the preparation an excellent nerve tonic."

The council held a session on the same date, when the following business was transacted:

A deputation from the Keene Street Improvement Society were present, asking to be allowed to overdraw on the township funds without interest to improve the Keene sidewalks, the amount overdrawn to be refunded by Keene next year. The request was granted.

A petition was presented, requesting that J. Manley be paid a bonus for erecting a wire fence on the west side of the road, lot 19, con. 12.

Messrs. Miller and Stewart were appointed to view the fence, and, if approved, to give an order on the treasurer for 25 cents per rod.

The following commissioners were appointed to expend what money they think necessary to improve the boundary roads: Messrs. Fife and Cameron for the Otonabee and Asphodel boundary. Messrs. The Council then adjourned to meet on June 17.

"PROGRESS" COMMENDS THE BY-LAW

Has No Sympathy With the Fifteen Cent Kickers—Health of Community Must be Considered

Editor Daily Examiner,—

Dear Sir, — Ald. Elliott is rendering the city a good service by introducing the Garbage Bylaw. As a whole it is in good form for a start; but once a week is not often enough service. During the hot weather householders should be served twice a week during at least July and August.

It would be an advantage to have householders provide two receptacles, one for garbage that can be disposed of for feeding purposes, including kitchen refuse and decomposable matter; the other for ashes, general refuse, etc.

By this division the contracts could be secured much lower, on account of feed value, and a monthly service would take care of the general non-decomposable refuse.

To secure best results and cheapest service the cost should be general and no householder exempt because he does not want to use it. There are too many people who care more for $1.80 a year than the general health and cleanliness of the of the community.

This law is for the benefit of the community and all are protected by it. The principal advantage is a health value, not so much a load for dirt, etc.

Personally it will cost me more than at present, but what is $1.80 per year if chances of epidemic are encouraged; and certainly it is not a heavy tax to pay for reasonable and rational precaution, and, in addition, neat and sanitary surroundings.

We hope the council will put a discount on the 15 cent kicker, or the man who wants his ashes carried out of the cellar, or the over-economist, to whom community interests are nothing.

If it were made general householders assessed for $1000 or $1200, could be served for 10 cents a month, and a more equitable distribution of costs secured.

By all means let us have health safeguarded and surroundings clean.

PROGRESS.

Read the Letters of Gratitude From Women Who Have Been Benefited By Dr. Hartman's Advice.

A Multitude of Such Letters Are Received Every Year.

A TYPICAL LETTER.

Mrs. Carry Peduzzi, Linstad, N. Dak., writes:

"I take pleasure in telling you that through your wonderful medicine I am entirely cured of catarrh of the stomach and pelvic organs.

"I was so rundown on account of my illness that I could no longer attend to my housework. I could not eat or sleep and had terrible pain in my back.

"I took Peruna and in five months I was well. I have not felt so well for a long time.

"I wish everyone who is sick would take Peruna and thus recover their health.

"I have Peruna in the house continually. I thank you for all that you have done for me."

A Medicine of Merit.

Miss Katie A. Washer, 1706 Prentice street, Louisville, Ky., writes:

"As my experience has been so favorable from the use of Peruna, I unhesitatingly state that I believe that it is a medicine of unquestioned merit for all the ills that we women suffer from.

"I find that it strengthens and infuses new life into the system, and whenever I feel rundown or over-tired, a few doses of Peruna will strengthen me again."

Found a Friend in Need—Pe-ru-na.

Mrs. Florence Aitkens, 1104 Front St., Toledo, Ohio, writes:

"Peruna cured me of catarrh of the uterus. I took about four bottles when I noticed an improvement and five bottles cured me.

"I do not know what I would have been like to-day had I not obtained Peruna, for I was in a terrible state.

"I had pains all over and was cross and irritable. I was losing hope of ever being well again.

"I am to-day a well woman after suffering for nine months. I cannot tell you how happy I feel, but you will know.

"Peruna is the best medicine on earth.

"My husband is now taking it and I will always keep Peruna in my house.

"Peruna is the best friend I ever had. It cured me."

America is the Land of Nervous Women.

The majority of women are nervous because they suffer from some form of pelvic catarrh.

The greatest obstacle in the way of recovery is that they do not understand that catarrh is the main source of their illness.

Women who are in doubt as to their ailments should write to Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio, who will give their letters prompt attention, without charge.

Miss Anna McGinn, 161 Plain street, Providence, R. I., writes:

"I wish to let you know of the good your medicine has done for me.

"I had what the doctors called heart trouble. I had been doctoring for a year before I tried your Peruna.

"I got a bottle of your Peruna and after a week's use of it I began to feel better. I could not eat, sleep, or work, but I have at last found that the medicine that will cure me is Peruna."

DRAMATIC SUCCESS OF THE CENTURY

"The Lion and the Mouse," the greatest drammetic success the American stage has known, will be presented here Wednesday June 5th, by Henry B. Harris with a company of exceptional strength and every requisite in the way of stage accessories. The play is by Charles Klein and it deals with a theme that has human nature as its keynote, the conspicuous element that Mr. Klein has so vividly pictured representing the influence which the moneyed interests of the country is exerting on the social and financial phases of present day life. The triumph which the play has achieved is ably expressed by the fact that it was played its second year in New York City; has been played for six months to crowded houses in Boston and broke all records in the city of Chicago during its run of eight months. The reserved sale opens at the box office, Monday at 10 a.m.

DESTROY THE CAUSE

You Cannot Cure Dandruff Without Destroying the Cause of it

Many people wash their scalps on Saturday night or Sunday to try to keep the dandruff down for the week, but on Monday night the scalp has begun to itch, and Tuesday morning will find a good supply of dandruff when the hair is brushed. There is but one real scientific way of curing dandruff, and that is to kill the germ that causes it, and failing hair, and, finally, baldness. There is only one preparation that will destroy the germ, and that is Newbro's Herpicide. It is an entirely new discovery and the only hair preparation that is based on the new scientific principle. In addition, Herpicide is a very refreshing hair dressing for regular toilet use. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes—50c and $1. ## PUPILS DELIGHTED AUDIENCE

Operetta Given by Bright Pupils of St. Mary's School at St. Peter's Hall Last Night Much Enjoyed

A SPLENDID PROGRAMME

St. Peter's school's spacious concert hall was crowded last evening with an appreciative audience to hear the grand operetta given by the pupils of St. Mary's school. The entertainment was one of the most enjoyable ever presented in this hall, the programme consisting of drills, instrumental and vocal numbers, an operetta and a pantomine being given entirely by the children, and the grace and precision of movement that characterized the drills reflected great credit upon the untiring efforts of the Sisters of St. Mary's, who so carefully trained the girls. It, indeed, must have been gratifying to them to see their efforts were appreciated, as was amply proved by the large attendance and the hearty applause which greeted the several numbers. Sisters St. Fergus and Geraldine trained the children and everything was given in a most creditable manner, which is an evidence of the careful training they received at the hands of these two sisters. The excellent concerts given by the pupils of the convent in the past were sufficient to draw a large audience, but the entertainment last night eclipsed any previous effort.

The programme was opened with a well-executed instrumental duet by Misses E. Doris and K. McCarthy, who played violins and Misses M. Grady, A. Sullivan, L. Hatrick and E. Morrow, who played pianos. This was a most pleasing selection and was loudly applauded.

The scarf drill, given by a number of little girls, was a very pretty exercise. They were all attired in white frocks tied with sashes, each one of a different colour. As they went through difficult movements a charming scene was presented. They also sang in chorus, "Grandpa's Birthday," given by forty little girls and Mr. James Weir, who acted a grandfather's part in a most acceptable manner—a delightful musical number. Mr. Weir's fine tenor voice was heard to good advantage in this number. Miss Vera Walsh and Miss Mollet, two little dots, sang a pleasing duet and the "Good Night" chorus was all that could be desired. When one considers the youth of the performers they were exceptionally well given. This was followed by a vocal duet by Misses Pearl Morgan and Mille Hallighan first soprano and Misses Helen Rush and Emma Denocher, second soprano. Their selection was a pleasing one and won merited applause.

The operetta entitled "The May Queen," was the enjoyable number of the evening. It was given in two scenes. The many different coloured costumes presented a pretty picture as they danced round the may pole. This pretty fairyesque opened with a splendid chorus by six floral maidens, who presented their claims for the honour of May queen. Princess Goodwill, the good fairy, was splendidly portrayed by Miss Louise Potvin. Her song to the flower girls, in which she asks them to select Charity, a little waif, for queen, was sung in a sweet soprano voice. The part of Charity was taken by little Cecelia Shevlin. The flower girls do not approve of Charity being made queen, but Miss Kathleen O'Brien, as moss rose, in a contest for queen puts forward Charity. She pleads for her in a very sweet solo. The fairy queen transforms Charity into a pretty flower girl and she finally is declared May Queen amid much festivity. The queen's subjects then enter and give the maypole dance.

The programme in full was as follows:

PART I.

1. Instrumental duet—Pianos, Misses M. Grady, A. Sullivan, L. Hatrick, E. Morrow; violins, Misses E. Doris and K. McCarthy.
2. Scarf drill.
3. Grandpa's Birthday—Forty little girls
   Grandpa, Mr. Weir.
   Grandpa's Darling, Margaret Hayes.
   Little Maud, Florence Giroux.
4. Vocal Quartette—Pearl Morgan, Nellie Halligham, first soprano; Helen Rush, Emma Denocher, second soprano.

PART II.

1. Rag Dolls.
2. Operetta—"May Queen."
   Synopsis: Scene 1—Village girls' chorus. Floral maidens who present claims for the honour of queen. Princess Goodwill wishes them to select Charity, a little waif. Scene 2 Charity bemoans her sad lot. Moss Rose promises her a part in the festivities, and in the oratorical contest which follows, puts forward Charity. Through the instrumentality of princess she is made queen.
3. Instrumental Duet—"Spanish Dance." B. Giroux and H. Pierce, M. Rutherford and S. Cleary.
4. Pantomime—"Holy City," by twenty little girls.

Misses E. Connor, N. Shevlin, L. Fife and B. Flynn were the accompanists for the evening.

Despite Shakespere's Assertions There Is Something In A Name

Some Interesting Information About the New Peterborough Directory Which Has Just Been Received.

O'BRIENS HEAD THE LIST

Closely Followed by Hails and Smiths—Name Is No Indication of Occupation, Says the Directory.

To-day is June the first, the first day of summer and the day which marks the beginning of the season at the different summer resorts around the city. It will be three or four weeks before the population of Peterborough will be much decreased by the lure of the lakes, but that portion of the summer colony which comes from Buffalo, Cleveland, Rochester and Pittsburg will soon be with us again. The majority of the Peterborough people who spend their summers at the nearby resorts have to wait until school days are over before they shake the dust of the city off their feet. There are no such delays on the part of most of those visitors from across the border who flee from the hot cities to spend the summer in the wonderful land of lakes and rivers that are Peterborough county's most delightful heritage. In two weeks time when the fishing season opens there will be a big influx of these visitors, the advance guard of which has already arrived.

From present indications the season of 1907 will be the most successful in the history of any of the resorts around Peterborough. This is the cheerful report that comes from the steamboat companies and the proprietors of the different headquarters for tourists. It is anticipated that the number of visitors from outside points will be larger than ever before, and provision is being made at the different points to accommodate this increased number of tourists.

The Stony Lake steamboat men anticipate the busiest season in their history if the weather conditions this summer are normal which, judging by the brand with which we have been served with so far, cannot be taken for granted.

The season at Stony Lake may be said to be now open. A number of summer residents are already at their cottages for the season, among them Messrs. Hopkins of Boston and McCreadie, of Toronto.

Others are expected within the next few weeks and the proprietors of the different boarding houses along the lake have received word from many Americans who intend coming over this year to reserve accommodation for them which is taken as an encouraging sign.

The Boarding Houses

Most of the boarding houses will be open in a few days and the hotels at McCracken's Landing, Mount Julian and Burleigh Falls are of course, ready to receive guests now.

Messrs. Freeman & Carveth, proprietors of the Victoria House at McCracken's have everything in readiness for a busy season. The hotel and premises have been placed in first class condition and the popularity of this point is shown by the fact that already a number have engaged rooms for the summer. The same conditions exist at Burleigh Falls where Mr. Darcy has made numerous improvements since last season. He too looks forward to an extremely busy season this summer.

Mr. W. Thompson is at Mount Julian Hotel again this year, and that well known headquarters for tourists is better prepared than ever to accommodate those who have grown to look upon it as their summer home. The hotel is open now and guests have begun to look for the season.

The Juniper Island store which will be conducted this summer by Mr. T. W. Robinson, as usual, will be opened for the season on June 15th.

Viamede, Mr. Graham's beautiful resort will open on Wednesday next and a number of guests are expected almost immediately.

To show that they ever handled a rod and line. None of the Coopers work at that trade, and none of the Porters wear the hat with the gold fetters.

The Astronomical Society might soon become famous should they discover the whereabouts of the three Starrs in the city, which have hitherto been obscured.

So far as can be seen from the new directory, the city's morals will be weakened in the near future, and it is a most lamentable fact to state that there are only two Churches, three Parsons and one Usher.

The poets and authors are well represented. There is a Tennyson, a Browning, Bryant, Burns, Dickens, Hawthorne and others. But these illustrious persons will find considerable difficulty in extending their thoughts to the world, as there is only a single Inkpen in the city.

The safety of the citizens is at once assured, when it is known that there are five Gunns in different places in the city, not including the two in Victoria Park and the sub-target guns in the Armouries. To make assurance doubly sure, the city has the protection of several Spears, five Armours, and two Gadds. The highest rank in the army represented is Major, and there are three of these to look after the forces.

The directory also shows that there are some citizens of Peterborough who would find much better occupations in the country. For instance, there are four Shepherds here and six Shearers, but there is not a single Sheep inside the limits. There are, however, five Lambs, but there is little chance of them ever becoming sheep.

In the city are about 30 Woods, giving plenty of room for the Foxes, the Hawke, the Wolf, the Coon, and a large number of Birds. There are 18 Fowlers, but the game is well protected by the three Rangers and the one Copp.

Many people will be interested in knowing that there is only one Wilde man in the city, but when it is announced that there are two Wilder, one's brain gets somewhat tangled. The Horticultural Society has plenty of work on hand to take care of the Lillies, the Roses and the Ivey.

The Ministerial Association will certainly have to get busy if the directory is correct. Its pages show that out of the 15,000 population, only one is Goodenough. Seven are Goodfellows, 13 are Wright and none are Wrong; 23 are Young, yet none are old, and 11 are Little and 22 are Long.

The Water Commissioners will be pleased to learn that there are seven Brooks, six Floods, four Pooles three Fords, Lakes, Waters and Burns to burn.

Nature is well represented by the Hills and Dales, Flowers, Floods and Hawes. Among the colours are Gray, Green, Black, White and Brown. Pedestrians have seven Carrs to come and go on, and these could be easily augmented by the twelve Carters. In Biblical names we have Adam, Cain and Sawle — Biblical in name only, perhaps.

The License Commissioners have no reason to worry, since there is not a Barr in Peterborough, but one Spring, who, it is hoped, is not as Spring, who, it is hoped, is not so backward as the present alleged spring.

A delightful tennis tea marked the opening of the tennis season last night, so far as the Nietolis Oval Club is concerned. The tables were spread on the lawn at the western end of the oval, and laden with most tempting edibles. About 30 members of the club were present, who, after the supper, played the game until the shades of night began to fall.

ASSELIN LIBEL SUIT AT QUEBEC

Mr. Laflamme Makes Eloquent and Dramatic Appeal to Jury.

DEFENDANT MOVED TO TEARS

Expected That the Jury Will Disagree —Counsel Scores Evidence of Baron Lepine—Asks the Jury to Acquit Mr. Asselin for Noble Example —The Judge Will Deliver His Charge to Jury To-day.

Quebec, June 1.—Counsel completed addresses to the jury last night in the Prevost-Asselin libel prosecution, and only the charge of the judge remains for to-day before the case is left in the hands of the jury.

The general expectation here is a disagreement of the jury.

Before the startling evidence concerning the election fund came out, most people looked for the conviction of Asselin. While Lachance, M.P., and Taschereau, M. P. P., made strong and eloquent appeals in the defence of Messrs. Prevost and Turgeon and against the accused, treating Baron Lepino's evidence as largely false, the real sensations of the day occurred in the masterful address of Mr. Laflamme, whose peroration on behalf of the accused so affected the overwrought feelings of his plucky but excitable young client that the latter burst into tears being utterly unable to control himself any longer.

Mr. Laflamme said Turgeon's evidence was unsatisfactory, because he contradicted in court what he had declared in the House concerning the Belgian syndicate. He had entrenched himself behind his state secret in other matters as Prevost had behind his lack of memory.

"In his peroration he said "When the large papers in Canada" make a cry for reforms, they are at once listened to. The protesting voice in this case comes from a young man who has but the sincerity of his conscience. What is the result? You are asked to stifle voice. Here in a court which confers liberty, you are asked to stifle free expressions." If you acquit Asselin, you set a noble example. If you declare him guilty, you do not recompense a public service. In that case, were I my client I know what I would do. After having devoted my youth to defend conscience, honor, devotion, disinterestedness and patriotism and the patrimony of my fellow countrymen and wounded by such a condemnation. I would turn toward the judge and implore him to inflict the maximum of the penalty, in order at once and for all convince the youth of the country that civic virtues are but vain formulas which sleep in the dictionaries, to be aroused alone, by loaded politicians upon the stump, for the purpose of imposing upon public opinion."

MISSIONS NOT IN DANGER.

The Situation Regarded Purely as a Political Affair.

New York, June 1.—American missionaries stationed in the Chinese provinces of Kwang Tung and Kwangsi, where the standard of rebellion against the Chinese dynasty has been raised, are believed by the Presbyterian board of foreign missions to have suffered no injury thus far from the outbreak.

The destruction of the German mission station at Lien Chow by a Chinese mob, the Rev. Dr. Arthur J. Brown, secretary of the Presbyterian board said yesterday probably occurred, not in the Lien Chow, where the Presbyterian missionaries are stationed, but in another city of the same name several hundred miles away and near the coast. He said that the Presbyterians would have cabled if there had been any trouble at the station.

Concerning the rebellion the Rev. Mr. Brown, said: A new movement of stupendous proportions is now taking place in China. It is on the whole peaceful, and not directed against the missionaries or other foreigners, it is political and economic rather than religious, and is due in part to the Japanese-Russian war, the results of which have deeply stirred the Asiatic mind.

Another Revolution.

Amoy, China, June 1.—An insurrection has broken out 40 miles southward of Amoy. Thirty thousand rebels are under arms and are stated to be well led. The revolt is spreading in towns near Amoy. The viceroy of Fuchow is sending 6,000 troops to deal with the rising, and warships are expected here shortly.

Body Badly Mangled.

Winnipeg, June 1.—T. Williams, section man, committed suicide on Thursday by jumping in front of the westbound C. P. R. express near Rennie, Man. The locomotive struck him and hurled the mangled body one hundred feet into the brushwood along the track. He had tried to court death in the same manner on the previous day by standing in front of an approaching freight, but the engineer saw him and stopped the train. The body was brought to Winnipeg, where it is held awaiting the Coroner's orders.

Fugitive Captured.

St. John, N. B., June 1.—Word reached here late yesterday afternoon that A. E. Akerley, wanted in Seattle on charges of forgery, has been captured in Labelle, Que., by officers of the Canadian Detective Bureau.

Akerley, who came from Seattle, was found in St. John on May 30, but before he could be got, he skipped to Moncton, then to Montreal, and finally, May 26, he went to Labelle, where he was landed. He is said to be one of the most notorious crooks in America.

A little girl held a mirror up before a visitor's face and asked, "Do you see yourself in it?"

"Yes, my darling."

"Are you quite sure?"

"Yes. Why should I not?"

"Because I heard mamma say the other day that if you ever peeped into a looking glass you'd smash it all into tiny little bits!"

STRIKE OF SAILORS.

Threatens Shipping Trade — French Commerce in Danger.

Paris, June 1.—French commerce is threatened with complete paralysis as a result of the general strike of sailors belonging to the naval reserve which went into operation at daylight yesterday at all the ports of France. The naval reserves comprise almost all the entire maritime population devoted to seafaring life. They number about 117,000 men, of which 25,600 belong to the war fleet. Practically the entire personnel of the merchant marine, as well as the longshoremen, are inscribed in the naval reserve. The Executive of the National Seamen's Union ordered the strike because the members of the union regard the Government's new bill, increasing pension from $40.80 to $72.50 in the case of seamen and from $136 to $200 in the case of captains, as being inadequate.

The reports thus far received indicate that the tie-up is complete. The Government promptly ordered the army transports at Marseilles to be placed in commission in order to insure a mail service between France and her African possessions, but the transportation companies were taken by surprise and are at the mercy of the strikers. The officials of the French Transatlantic Co. hope that the steamer La Provence will be able to sail from Havre to-day.

Legally, the companies are in a position to coerce the men, as, being members of the naval reserve, the crews are subject to heavy penalties for insubordination, but it is regarded as more likely that they will try to effect a compromise.

More Going Out.

Bordeaux, France, June 1.—A meeting of the seamen, held last evening, confirmed the decision to strike, and from 15,000 to 20,000 men go out to-day.

Arrange for Mails.

Toulon, France, June 1.—The transports Vinhlong and Nive left here yesterday for Marseilles, following instructions sent out by Minister of Marine Thomson, in order to assure the transportation of passengers and merchandise to Corsica and African ports. The transports Mythe and Shamrock will follow to-morrow. Twelve torpedo boat destroyers have been designated to carry the mails.

GOUIN HOME FROM TRIP.

Came Sooner Than Expected, Declines to Discuss Politics.

Quebec, June 1.—Premier Gouin returned from his European trip yesterday, his first enquiries on landing being naturally as to the progress of the Asselin-Prevost libel case. He declined to discuss in any way the changed political conditions produced by the revelations during the trial, or even to admit their existence, except to deny most absolutely any knowledge or belief in the existence of the alleged election fund mentioned by Baron Lepine.

There were interchanges of courtesies in London between the Quebec party and Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his party, the Canadian Premier being reported by Mr. Gouin is in the best of health and spirits and looming very large in the public eye on the other side of the water.

President Fallieres received him cordially in Paris, the Pope gave him a private interview and Cardinal Merry Del Val, papal secretary of state, entertained him at dinner at the Vatican.

HON. W. PUGSLEY RESIGNS.

New Government for New Brunswick Sworn In.

Fredericton, N. B., June 1.—Hon. Wm. Pugsley last night placed in the hands of the Lieutenant-Governor his resignation. His honor accepted, and called Hon. Clifford W. Robinson to form a Cabinet.

The new Premier announced his Government, which was sworn in, as follows:

Premier, Provincial Secretary and acting Attorney-General—Hon. C. W. Robinson.

Commissioner of Public Works—Hon. C. H. Labillois.

Surveyor-General — Hon. F. J. Sweeney.

Solicitor-General — Hon. W. P. Jones.

Commissioner of Agriculture—Hon. L. P. Farris.

No new members were taken into the new Cabinet, but it is likely such will be the case before long.

Jones will then probably become Attorney-General.

Business Hit Hard.

Halifax, June 1.—Several vessels are tied up here as a result of the strike of longshoremen.

Shippers complain of the injurious effects of the strike on the business of the port and an effort will be made to secure the intervention of the conciliation board.

South Ontario Liberals.

Whitby, June 1.—South Ontario Liberals will meet in convention at the Town Hall here on Tuesday to choose a candidate for the approaching Federal general elections.

Flies to the Woods.

Roblin, Man., June 1.—A posse of fifty are pursuing Joe Winn, a desperate man who shot and fatally wounded Joe Story Thursday. He fled to the woods and is heavily armed.

WILL FORM A CRICKET ASSOCIATION

The Prospects are That This Game Will Boom in The Province

Cricket will boom in Canada this year. A movement is on foot, it is understood, to form district Cricket Associations throughout the Province of Ontario, and a letter has been received by the Peterborough Club, relative to the formation of these associations, and it is stated that the feeling here is that it would be a good scheme, and will meet with hearty support. Efforts are being made to interest particularly the rural clubs in the new project, and with this in view, Mr. W. McCaffrey, chairman of the committee, has sent out a letter to every important centre in Canada urging the formation of district associations, but as yet no responses have been received. When these come in a representative meeting of cricketers from all parts of the Dominion will be held in Toronto. Mr. McCaffrey does not entertain any hope that much can be done this season and stated this morning that the committee was laying its plans for next year.

Last night Warkworth defeated Campbellford in Warkworth, by 1 goals to 1, after the latter had been defeated in Campbellford last week, by 4—0. Jones of Hastings refereed the match.

Warkworth plays in Hastings next Wednesday evening, when Cox, of Campbellford, will referee.

Removes Poison From the Blood

There is a need in every home of a medicine that by cleansing and invigorating the liver, kidneys and bowels will remove all poisonous waste matter from the blood, cure biliousness, kidney derangements and constipation, and by so doing prevent fevers, colds, coughs and Bright's Disease. No medicine satisfies the need so well as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, as is proven by the testimonials appearing in all the leading papers.

STOLEN GUMBOX FOUND WAS IN LUMBER YARDS

Was Stolen From Mr. J. J. Cole's Store Some Time Ago

Mr. J. J. Cocks, who is proprietor of a grocery store at the corner of Water and McDonel streets, has recovered his gum box that was stolen from in front of his store some time ago. It was learned to-day that a Mr. Beavis found the box in the lumber yards near the Peterborough Light and Power Company's power house. It was emptied of all the gum and money and was undoubtedly the property of Mr. Cocks, as his key fitted exactly the lock on it. It was the work of young vandals, who should be run to earth now, before they are led to worse crimes.

PETERBORO' GENTLEMAN HAS BEEN PROMOTED

Mr. D. McMullen is Now the Assistant Trainmaster on Allandale Division

PALE AS A CORPSE

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Brought Back the Ruddy Glow of Health

Thousands of young growing girls have pale, pasty complexions; distressing headaches, backaches and sideaches. Sometimes they are unable to sleep; their nerves are unstrung; they are languid; breathless and the heart palpitates violently at the least exertion—that's anaemia—and it may develop into consumption unless promptly attended to. Anaemia means bloodlessness. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make pure, red blood—that's the secret of their success. Miss Winnie Allen, Montreal, Que., says:—"I was so weak and run down that my friends thought I was going into consumption. I was as pale as corpse, had no appetite and did not sleep well. The least exertion tired me out and if I walked a few blocks I was almost breathless. My sister advised me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and after using them for a few weeks I am again enjoying good health and have a good colour. I think every weak, sickly girl should take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make new, rich blood and in this way strike right at the root of such troubles as anaemia, indigestion, rheumatism, St. Vitus' dance, the secret ills of girlhood and womanhood and a host of other every day troubles and cure them. But you must get the genuine with the full name Dr. Williams Pink Pills for Pale People on the wrapper around every box—imitations never cured any one and sometimes they do much harm. If your dealer does not keep the genuine Pills they will be sent at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

GUELPH MAN HERE TO DO TESTING

Will Take Mr. Somerville's Place—Latter Reports Great Progress

Mr. T. H. Binne, of the Guelph Agricultural College, arrived in the city last night and will take charge of the work of the Cow Testing Associations of the county. Mr. N. G. Somerville has been in this district since Tuesday in connection with the work of testing, but to-day left for his home in Brockville. He visited the Pine Grove and Keene sections and found the associations taking more interest than he had anticipated. Pine Grove particularly, Mr. Somerville stated, was taking hold of the work with vigour, but the interest was by no means centred in any one division.

Mr. Binne has been connected with the testing of milk for a couple of years, and, according to reports, is a very competent man. He will make his headquarters in Peterborough and will begin his duties on Monday, commencing at Central Smith.

A FEW WORDS IN CONFIDENCE.

King Palmetto Compound is a distinct product of the twentieth Century conditions. It is not a secret or patent nostrum, on the contrary the formula is plainly printed on the wrapper. It is the result of the modern investigations into the cause and cure of all disorders of the stomach, liver and kidneys.

Science has demonstrated that ninety per cent. of the diseases to which the body is subject have their origin in the retaining of waste and poisonous matter in the system, and that if the bowels and kidneys are properly performing their respective functions, all the other organs and the nerves will continue in a condition of abounding health. King Palmetto Compound is a kidney and liver tonic and blood purifier of wonderful virtue, and the diseases which arise from impure blood and sluggish liver and kidneys are quickly cured by its use, as cystitis, catarrh of the bladder, nervous prostration, general debility and rheumatism.

One dose a day. Pleasant and convenient to take. It contains no dangerous poisons and no narcotics, but just pure vegetable remedies of universally acknowledged efficacy.

Price $1.00 a Bottle.

Give it a trial. Write for a free sample bottle to the King Palmetto Company, Bridgeburg, Ontario.

Sold and guaranteed by

McDermid and Jury, druggists.

CANADIAN CORDAGE CASE BEFORE JUDGE

Chancellor Boyd Directed it to be Tried by County Judge

The first case which was on the docket for the County High Court of Justice is to-day before His Honour Judge Weller. It is the action of the Canadian Cordage Co. versus C. A. Core of Leamington, where the latter is interested in oil wells.

The action arises out of the sale of a 1600-foot 2 1-8 inch cable by the plaintiffs to the defendant, who is an oil driller, the amount claimed for the cable being $466.55. The defendant has refused the plaintiffs claim to pay this amount or any part thereof, although repeatedly requested to do so.

The defendant claims that the cable was defective and did not fulfill the conditions given when it was purchased.

Mr. S. T. Medd of Hall, Medd and Davidson is conducting the case for the plaintiffs, and Mr. A. T. Bowles of Leamington for the defendant.

The members of St. Luke's Men's Guild are making great preparations for "An evening on the Otonabee," to be held on June 19 per new steamer Otonabee. An Italian orchestra will be in attendance.

Much Drunkenness

There appears to be an epidemic of drunkenness in this village lately. Whether it is the brand of liquor that is being dispensed or the atmosphere that is responsible for it we are unable to say.—Bancroft Times.

The Truth About the Baby

Every member of the club is requested to be on hand Tuesday night, as there is only a week left for rehearsals. The production promises to be the most successful ever held in Peterborough.

Campbell's Varnish Stain

Don't be fooled by Oriental fancy names. Campbell's Varnish Stain is the original and only satisfactory coloured varnish on the market. No mystery about it. Just the best varnish and suitable colours. Nothing equals it for floors, furniture and woodwork. The Peterborough Hardware Company sells it.

Lost Child

A little girl attracted quite a crowd this afternoon in front of Barrie's store on George street, by crying, and it was easily seen that she had strayed away from her home. She was only a little tot, not more than four year old. No one seemed to know where she lived or who her parents were, and she was too young to give any information.

Temagami

The word "Temagami" is derived from the Indian word "Temagamingue," meaning deep water, and is applied to a magnificent territory in New Ontario, that embraces all the attractions that are sought after by the canoeist, tourist, angler, and hunter.

It is comparatively speaking a region known only to a few who have been fortunate enough to traverse the district, under adverse circumstances, owing to the difficulty experienced in reaching its confines.

This however has been overcome by the building of a new railway through the heart of this grand territory opening up the way for the summer visitors, who are looking for a good healthy spot to spend their summer vacation.

Call at the nearest Grand Trunk ticket office for further particulars and illustrated literature.

BUFFALO'S ONCE-FAMOUS DOCTOR BORN HERE

as follows: Rev. James Campbell, brother, San Francisco, Cal.; Mrs. Elizabeth Lowry, sister, Peterborough, Canada; Lorinda McCullough, niece, Newtonville, Canada; John H. Campbell, brother, Peterborough, Canada; Warren Samis, Norman Samis and Joseph Samis, Newcastle, Canada; Arvesta Gibson, Elizabeth Guerin, Margaret Hoar and Martha Hurd, West Superior; Sarah Scott, niece, Toronto.

Word of the death of Dr. Campbell was received in a private message to the Examiner last night, and a search was at once instituted to discover the brother, who was reported to be living in Peterborough. There is no John H. Campbell in this city, but it was finally found that the gentleman referred to as a brother of the dead doctor lived in Douro, about half a mile direct east of Nassau. The news of the death of his brother was conveyed to the old man about 11 o'clock last night, after he had been awakened from his bed. Mr. John Campbell is two years past the four-score mark and is six years older than his brother, whose death is recorded to-day. He had heard nothing of him for some time, though he was over to visit him last August. It had been the custom for a number of years past to pay his brother here a visit once a year. His relatives here did not know that he was sick, and were surprised to learn that he had passed away, since the last time he was heard from he was apparently in good health.

The man whose death occurred under such pathetic circumstances was born in North Monaghan and lived there until he reached young manhood, when he left the home of his childhood and studied medicine, graduating with honours from an American college, the name of which his relatives here did not remember. Since he left home his movements have been more or less a mystery to those left behind, who knew, however, that he was prospering, from a material standpoint, and they were told by him that he had large business interests in Nebraska. He spoke little, however, of his personal affairs, and about the only link there was to connect him with the past and with the scenes of his boyhood was his annual visit to his brother and sister. The latter, Mrs. Elizabeth Lowry, whose name is mentioned in the despatch above, died in Peterborough at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fairbairn, Water street, on May 8th last. At the time of her death a telegram was sent to Dr. Campbell, but no response was forthcoming and he was not over to attend the funeral. The relatives here, of course, thought this strange, but in the light of recent events, it is considered that at that time he was ill and unable to be here to see his sister carried to the grave.

Mr. John H. Campbell, the brother of the once illustrious doctor, lives a life of simplicity on his farm bordering on the shores of the Otonabee River, and when the newspaper man called at the home last night the whole family had retired. The farm is one of the best cultivated, and the large red brick house one of the most substantial in the township. There is, however, nothing in the comfortable and respectable but unostentatious farmhouse and its surroundings to suggest a connection with the most famous doctor the city of Buffalo has ever known.

THE CRIME OF ORIGINALITY

This machine can turn out only FOUR kinds of Policies. Any attempt to improve on these four kinds will be considered an offence. It is a crime to be original.

Had such a law as that proposed been enacted twenty years ago, the vast improvements since made in policy forms, would have been impossible. Were such a law to pass now, future improvements would in like manner become impossible. As might be expected, the forms proposed by the Commissioners are copied from their American text books, a few original clauses being added, and with these additions trouble begins.

The principal alteration is the substitution of a slightly different non-forfeiture clause, by which, in case of lapse, the insurance shall be "continued in force, with all the policy rights, including the right to resume payment of premiums and the right to participate."

If an insurance be thus continued in force, for, say, five years, and the assured then desires to "resume payments of premiums," does he pay the future premiums only, or must he also pay arrears? No one knows. If he must pay arrears, must he also pay interest? and if so, at what rate? No one can tell. And if death occurs during the extension, may the overdue premiums be deducted from the claim? Apparently not, and yet the assured is to continue to receive profits, which implies the payment of premiums. Moreover, how could any company prevent its business from getting into hopeless confusion by the encouragement thus given to lapsing. It is safe to say that no company in the world issues a policy so ambiguous as this standard form proposed by gentlemen who object to the "confusion arising out of the multiplicity of policy forms," and desires something "more simple, intelligible."

The privileges granted by the American form taken by the Commissioners as their model, are, moreover, not even as liberal as those already in use. The surrender values, for example, are less than those already being given. On a life policy taken at age thirty-five, twenty years in force, the surrender value is $295, while some companies already guarantee $351.00.

But, further the Commissioners are in this, actually advising the Dominion Government to legislate on a matter which the highest court of the Empire, has decided is not within its jurisdiction at all. Can it be that the chairman and the counsel of the Royal Commission on Life Insurance were actually unaware of the Privy Council a quarter of a century ago, in the famous test case of Parsons vs. the Queen Insurance Company, (the Ontario standard fire policy case), ruled that legislation regarding conditions in insurance policies, is a prerogative of the Provinces and not of the Dominion? — Office and Field, a Toronto Insurance Journal.

Peterborough Man Tells Of The Bancroft Episode

Desperadoes Were Prepared for Constable Steinberge's Reception in General Store—Six Shooters Brought Into Play—Velocipede Stolen Supposedly by the Bandits.

MEN IN HOT PURSUIT

Mr. G. B. Lucas, Government timber ranger, returned to the city on Saturday night from an official visit in the vicinity of Bancroft, where the wild west shooting episode took place last week. He has an interesting story to tell of the three desperadoes who ran amuck in Bancroft village, terrorizing that little hamlet by emptying the contents of their six-shooters in one of the general stores.

The desperadoes, according to the reports in that district, which are considered authentic, entered the store for some boots, agreeing to exchange jewellery for them. Constable Steinburge of Bancroft had news of their visit and walked into the store to make the arrest.

"You're my prisoner," he said, placing his hand on the shoulder of one of the men.

"Like h—— I am," was the quick return, as a revolver was flashed into the face of the constable.

The shooting began then in real earnest, and it was reported that the officer, in his desire to make a rapid exit, injured his nose against the corner of the door. One of the desperadoes had his boots off when the constable entered, but in the excitement of the minute made an easy escape.

Mr. Lucas states that at Ormsby, a place 16 miles south of Bancroft, a hotel was ransacked and everything that was cooked was stolen. Some "booze," it was stated, shared the same fate. Also at Ormsby, the three men are blamed for stealing the velocipede belonging to Mr. J. McKenzie, a purchaser of telepone poles.

But the most dramatic incident of the whole episode, Mr. Lucas states, was the departure of the various parties, with Winchesters over their shoulders, in pursuit of the bandits. Almost every train running south from Bancroft and Ormsby contained five or six men armed with rifles and apparently on a wild goose chase.

The trio are supposed to have gone by the Bay of Quinte Railway, and it is generally believed that they are hiding in what is called "The Flats" in the southern part of the county. On Saturday they were reported near Bannockburn, but Mr. Lucas states that nothing definite is secured as to their actions subsequent to the battle in the Bancroft general store.

APPROVED OF THE GARBAGE BY-LAW

Board of Health Decides to Urge Upon the Council its Passing

The Board of Health at a meeting held this morning, discussed the proposed garbage by-law, and heartily approved of the measure. After some discussion a resolution to the effect that the Board express its approval of the bylaw and urge upon the council the importance of passing it was unanimously carried and a copy will be forwarded to the council and taken up with the other communications referring to the bylaw at to-night's meeting.

Examiner's Want Ad. Competition

As a consequence of reporting a successful result of the insertion of a condensed advertisement, inserted in the Examiner, Mrs. (Dr.) T. H. Prust, of Grenfell, Sask., will be given a three months' subscription to the Daily Examiner. Miss Laura Belleghem, on April 15, advertised for a pearl pin which she had lost, the following being the advertisement:

LOST—ON SATURDAY AFTERnoon, between 190 Hunter street and the post office, on the north side of the street, or between Oke's and Hooper's up-town store on George street, east side, a pearl crescent pin. Finder will confer a favour by leaving at this office.

Mrs. Robt. Butcher, 319 Burnham street, found the pin, but has been confined to the house with sickness ever since, and was unable to report to the Examiner that she had found it. On Saturday, however, it was learned that she had found a pin which answered to the description of that lost. Miss Belleghem called for it, and was delighted to find that it was her long lost and almost forgotten pin. She reported her find to this office and won the three months' free subscription, and ordered the paper sent to her sister, Miss Prust. Next Saturday the same offer will be made, and the first person reporting success with an Examiner ad. will be given a three months' subscription to this journal.

AUSTRIAN DIED FROM LOCKJAW

Was Brought to the City From Burketon on Saturday and Died Yesterday

James Hatmanchuk, an Austrian, who was brought to the city on Saturday afternoon from Burketown, where he had been employed on construction work with the C. P. R., died in St. Joseph's Hospital yesterday from lockjaw. He took sick on Thursday morning while at work and that night sank into a comatose condition, and never regained consciousness. It was thought that he had taken poison in some way, but that theory was not entertained by the doctors here. Dr. Grey attended him after his arrival here, and decided that there was no occasion to hold an inquest on the body, in view of the circumstances surrounding his death. The deceased had a brother who was working with him, and he accompanied him to the hospital, but when he was informed that his brother would would die, refused, or was unable, to bear the expense of the funeral. The body was buried this morning in St. Peter's cemetery.

Violent Form of Itching Piles

Rev. S. A. Dupraw, Methodist Minister at Belleville, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with itching and bleeding piles for years, and they ultimately attained a very violent form. Large lumps or abscesses gathered and I suffered great pain. A single box of Dr. Chase's Ointment cured me and saved me from a very dangerous and painful operation. The lumps and swellings disappeared and I am an entirely different man.

RACEWAY MUST BE CLEANED

Board of Health Took Up the Matter This Morning—Milk Inspection

THE HARVEY STREET SEWER

Routine business was transacted at the meeting of the Board of Health this morning. Nothing of startling importance was taken up. There was a discussion about the raceway in East City, about which complaints have been received.

There were present, Messrs. Wm. Eyres, chairman; the Mayor, Geo. Schneider, Dr. Burnham, Dr. Bingham, M.H.O., and Geo. Ball, Sanitary Inspector.

The chairman asked if the raceway in East City had been cleaned out.

The Sanitary Inspector stated he had notified the Peterborough Hydraulic Power Co., about the matter.

A letter was read from the Rapid Tool Company complaining of the condition of the raceway, and stating that in the hot weather it would jeopardize the health of their employees. They had already heard complaints from their employees regarding the matter.

Dr. Bingham stated that he did not think the Board had any power to compel the company to fill up the stream.

The Mayor stated that if the race were cleaned out there would be no complaints.

The Sanitary Inspector said he believed the company would attend to the matter.

A letter was read from a resident of Harvey street north explaining why a petition against a sewer on that street had been signed after another had been signed for its construction. One of those who had signed the previous petition had found that his property was so low that it could not be connected with the sewer, and he had therefore gone around and got the people to sign a petition to block the sewer.

It was moved and carried that the Sanitary Inspector be instructed to notify the people on Harvey street who were emptying their sewerage into the river, that they must desist before July 1st, 1907.

Dr. Bingham reported that he had received a report of 39 samples of milk, and that all of them were of saleable quality.

It was decided to leave the publishing of the report of the milk inspection until two samples of milk have been received from each vendor.

Mr. R. E. Wood waited upon the board in the interests of Mrs. Patterson, who owns two small houses on the south side of Aylmer street near the corner of Brock. They are within the area of compulsory sewer connection and Mr. Wood thought that it would be a hardship to Mrs. Patterson to compel her to go to the expense of putting in plumbing and connecting with the sewer.

The members of the Board were of the opinion that no action could be taken in the matter.

The chairman referred to property on McDonel street outside of the compulsory area which he thought should be connected with the sewer.

The matter was referred to the City Solicitor, with a view of ascertaining the board's power in connection with cess-pools, privy vaults, etc., outside the compulsory area.

The Mayor was appointed to act as chairman during the absence of Mr. Eyres in the west.

The Board decided to wait upon the council to-night to urge that immediate action be taken in connection with the Isolation Hospital.

FOR SALE.

THE PARK WILL OPEN TO-MORROW

Many New Attractions for Jackson Park This Season

Jackson Park, Peterborough's Cooney Island, will be open for the season to-morrow night, though, as yet, the different attractions have not been arranged.

To-morrow night the 57th Band will be present, and give a concert of popular music. Visitors to the Park this year will find many new amusement devices. Among other things, there will be a five cent theatre, a shooting gallery, "Ocean Wave" machine, moving pictures, photographing machine, automatic vaudeville theatre, a miniature railway and other midway attractions.

The Park promises to be more popular than ever this season, and there will no doubt be a large crowd on hand for the opening of the Park and the first band concert of the season.

DOG POISONER IS AGAIN AT WORK

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt and Mrs. Robinson Lose Valuable Dogs To-day

The dog-poisoners are around again, and to-day a spaniel belonging to Rev. E. A. Langfeldt fell a victim, as did also a valuable collie, the property of Mrs. Robinson, East City. Yesterday afternoon a clever little spaniel belonging to Mr. D. Belleghem got a dose of poison, but fortunately the prompt measures taken proved effectual and it will likely recover.

Boating Parties Turned Out in Large Numbers Yesterday Afternoon

With ideal June weather yesterday there was a great number of canoeists on the Little Lake and the river below the locks. The lake is particularly beautiful at present looking from the end of Lake street across to the entrance of the canal and around to the Cemetery Point Crescent street, as far as the Little Lake Cemetery is a splendid walk, and the beauty of the cemetery is as good as Nature, under the watchful eye of Mr. Frank Wise, can make it. At the end of Lock street, down the river, the number of canoes and sailing boats at hat dotted the water was surprising, while launches and steamboats were well represented. Parties should be careful on the river at all times, and especially near the locks, where the river is turbulent and treacherous.

What Do You Think of the Man

Who says he will pay rent no longer! Six weeks ago he bought from me a block of 8 Lots, ploughed and planted 7 Lots, has all material on the ground to build a house. He has already built a temporary Cottage which his sensible wife is quite satisfied to occupy pending completion of the home. The children are happy and free from many city dangers. The hens have occupied their coop and are supplying the wants of the family in their line. The big garden will soon supply many other wants. There is no rent to pay. The block of 8 Lots would now sell for $200 more than cost. The owner being a builder bought a second block to-day and with his 16 Lots to build upon the tenant of six weeks ago will very soon be a Landlord and an employer on the road to riches. If you are a good class of man I can start you in like manner. My Lots, my Prices and my Terms have no equals in Peterborough. Call without delay. Prices advance June 1st.

CANADA FIRST

If the British people would know how to appreciate the material significance of the late Colonial Conference, apart from political or sentimental considerations, they might have been presented with a tabulation something like the following, which represents the diverse countries, population and varied industries of the colonies represented at the Conference:—

Mr. T. Moore, Natal. Area of colony, 33,371 square miles; population, 1,108,352; products, coal, tea, sugar, tobacco, fruits and green hides.

Sir Robert Bond, of Newfoundaland. Area, 40,200 square miles; population, 225,000; industries, fisheries and forest products and coal.

Sir J. G. Ward, New Zealand. Area, 109,657 square miles; population, 948,758; products, coal, wool, gold, farm products and sheep.

General Botha, The Transvaal. Area, 111,196 square miles; population, 1,269,357; products, gold and diamonds.

Dr. Jameson, Cape Colony. Area, 276,995 square miles; population, 2,500,000; products, gold, diamonds, wool, sheep and dairy produce.

Hon. Alfred Deakin, Australia. Area, 2,992,906 square miles; population, 3,771,282; products, gold, corn, sheep, wool and dairy goods.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Canada. Area, 3,745,574 square miles; population, 6,000,000; products, wheat and grains, minerals of nearly all kinds—iron, silver, gold, etc., etc., building lumber and timber, pulp woods, manufactured articles and fish.

The seven delegates to the Conference represented seven millions out of the eleven millions square miles contained in the Empire. No Conference has even dealt with and considered such vast and varied interests. It is worth remarking that Sir Wilfrid Laurier represented in himself a greater expanse of territory and a larger population than all the others combined. In this regard the Colonial Conference has served to emphasize the predoominant position occupeid by this country in the British Dominions Beyond the Seas.

MUNYON'S RHEUMATISM CURE

Has Taken a Thousand Zutoo

Always Cured Headache. Never Affected her Heart.

Here is a testimonial from the wife of Doctor W. L. Shurtleff, K.C., of Coaticook, Que., who has taken a thousand Zutoo Tablets (the Japanese Vegetable Headache remedy.)

It should convince any doubting one, that while the tablets cure headache, they do not, like the drug cures, affect the heart, nerves or stomach. No one would or could take such a number if they were not perfectly harmless. Mrs. Shurtleff herself had to discard the drug cures.

Here is what she says:

I have always been a great sufferer from headache, and have taken a great many headache cures. I found that after taking them for a time they caused palpitation of the heart. Three years ago I began using Zutoo. I have likely taken over a thousand tablets. I have never yet felt the least ill-effect from using them and they cure my headaches as quickly as any remedy I ever took.

They are Harmless as Soda.

MR. PRESTON'S RETIREMENT

"It is a great disappointment to me that Mr. T. H. Preston, of Brantford, has decided to retire," said Mr. George P. Graham, the Opposition leader, to the Toronto Star, this morning.

"I had something to do with his coming out in the first place, as the late Mr. Hardy's successor, and I consider him one of the safest and brainiest men in the Legislature. He has wide information on almost every possible subject, paying particular attention to municipal matters and labour affairs. His addresses in the house have been practical and full of common sense. Look at the statute book and you will see that he has had more than a little to do with legislation since he entered the Legislature. He introduced a motion at the beginning of last session dealing with child labour, and his address revealed careful and extensive study, more, probably, than any other man in the house has given to the question. He is not a violent party man. He deals with matters from a somewhat independent standpoint. The Liberal party has valued his counsels, and universal regret will be felt at his retirement from public life. Had he remained, a still more prominent position than he now occupies would have come to him."

SOMETHING OF A REPROACH

The Scottish Local Option bill has passed its second reading in the British House of Commons, and The Pioneer, organ of the Ontario Alliance, points out that while it contains a three-fifths clause, it has the following points of superiority over Ontario legislation on the same subject:

A 10 per cent. petition compels a vote. With us, a 25 per cent. petition is required.

In the Scotch bill, a majority vote insures 25 per cent. in the reduction of licenses. With us it means nothing.

Under the Scotch bill, provision is made for Ward option in towns and cities, and also for district option in rural places. There is no such provision in our law.

Under the Scotch bill, residential districts may be freed from barrooms. With us they are helpless.

It is something of a reflection upon the Legislative Assembly of this Province that a British Parliament should be found enacting more effective temperance reform legislation than exists upon our statute books, and it also discreditable that our legislation on this subject should be more backward than that of most of the states of the neighbouring republic.

The Whitney Government took a decidedly backward step when it changed the law as it had existed on the statute books, even before Confederation, and demanded a three-fifths majority for Local Option, and it has also been extremely slow in correcting the flaws in the present Act which are causing so much friction and uncertainty. The successful enforcement of the law in centres of population may be somewhat problematical, but in the less populated districts, where it is usually applied, it has been found to work satisfactorily, and no unnecessary obstacles should be thrown in its way. — Brantford Expositor.

COMPLIMENTARY AT HOME TO ZEPHRA PERFORMERS

Arranged to Take Place on Thursday in Foresters' Hall

Mr. H. J. Booth of Boston, who has been in the city during the past few days making arrangements for the complimentary "At-home" to the cast of the "Zephra" spectacle, has decided to hold it on Thursday afternoon and evening. The children who assisted will be entertained in the afternoon between 4 and 7 o'clock, when refreshments will be served.

In the evening at 8 o'clock the others will be entertained by Mr. Booth. A concert has been arranged, after which dancing will be the order of the evening. The Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, will be the scene of the gaiety.

FIRST BAND CONCERT OF SEASON FRIDAY

57th Band Will Render a Choice Programme in Victoria Park

It will be welcome news to the citizens of Peterborough to learn that the first band concert of the season will be given by the 57th Regimental Band under the direction of Mr. Gliddon, in Victoria Park on Friday night of this week. The Band has been practising faithfully and has prepared a large amount of new and popular music, as well as a number of more heavy selections, among them the selection, "Under the British Flag." The concerts in the park have always been most popular, and there seems no reason to doubt that they will be even more so this summer.

Removes Poison From the Blood

There is a need in every home of a medicine that by cleansing and invigorating the liver, kidneys and bowels will remove all poisonous waste matter from the blood, cure biliousness, kidney derangements and constipation, and by so doing prevent fevers, colds, coughs and Bright's Disease. No medicine satisfies the need so well as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, as is proven by the testimonials appearing in all the leading papers.

TWO HUNDRED PEOPLE TO APPEAR IN COURT

As a Last Resort One More Week is Given to Dog Owners to Procure Their Tags

Chief Ronnet has decided to give the negligent dog owners a last chance to procure tags for their unlicensed canies and for the remainder of this week no further action will be taken. But after that—why, it is simply awful to think of what is going to take place, and there is going to be no fooling about it. The Chief has a proscription list prepared that will bring dismay to many a man and will result in his pocket being thinned by four or five dollars. On the list are a little over 200 names of dog owners who have not as yet produced tags, and it has been decided to bring them all to account in one scoop instead of in twos and threes as in the recent past. The public have been sufficiently warned and this is positively the last. A word to the wise is sufficient.

ARE YOU SUBJECT TO HEADACHE?

If you are, and have never tried Burdock Blood Bitters it will pay you to profit by the experience of others and give it a trial.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

It removes the cause of the headache by its splendid cleansing, strengthening and tonic properties, whereby the entire system is brought into healthy action. I can recommend it as an efficacious remedy for sick headache, which caused me so much misery.

THE ENTERTAINMENT WAS ENJOYED

St. Luke's Mission Band Sale and Concert Delighted a Large Number Friday Night

GOOD PROGRAMME GIVEN

The Sunday School room of St. Luke's Church was crowded Friday night with the friends and members of the congregation, on the occasion of the annual box sale and entertainment of the Junior W. A., of which Mrs. D. J. Scott is the president. This event is always looked forward to with much expectation, because it has always satisfied its patrons. The articles sold in boxes give many surprises and are much more valuable than the price of 25 cents paid for them. The large attendance and the financial result must have been very pleasing to Mrs. Scott, to whom as president the unqualified success of the undertaking is due. The sales table for the boxes was presided over by Mrs. Scott a. Mrs. T. H. Adams; nearly 100 boxes, containing fancy work, were sold long before the programme was started. Mrs. L. Turner and Misses Ethel Fakenham and Ruby Quartermaine attended to the candy table. Their wares were greatly in demand and they reported "sold out" in a short time. Mrs. G. R. Browning had charge of the "Jack-in-the-box," which was patronized by a large number of children and was "sold out" likewise.

A pleasing part of the evening was the presence of the Rural Dean, Rev. J. C. Davidson, who with the rector, had a seat on the platform.

The opening number was an instrumental duet by Misses Lizzie and Florence Scott.

Then were given the following numbers:

Songs by children of the kindergarten.
Vocal duet—Misses Georgie and Prudence Long.
Recitation—Miss Katie Leary.
Vocal solo—Master Cyril Dewey.
Instrumental—Miss Clara Adams.

At this juncture Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, who was the chairman, gave a short account of the work of the Mission Band, and thanked Mrs. Scott and her two assistants, Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Browning for the good work they were doing for the missionary crusade. The year's work had been most successful; regular and larger attendance of the members had given much encouragement and the means of much work being accomplished. The outfit for Marie Papanuse of Wapanko was a credit to the junior's work. This Indian girl is provided with clothing by the juniors. Mr. Langfeldt referred to the faithful and regular attendance of Misses Ada Adams and Greta Fakenham, who had received prizes from the Diocesan Board of Management. He called upon the rural dean to present these prizes, and was very glad to express his pleasure at having Mr. Davidson present.

In presenting the prizes Mr. Davidson complimented the young ladies on receiving this distinction. His address contained much encouragement to the Mission Band and was listened to with marked attention.

Instrumental—Miss Ethel Goodenough.
Vocal solo—Miss Ruth Dawson.
Instrumental—Miss Katie Leary.
Mandolin selections by Messrs. Tovey, Cranfield, Holland, Brightman and Theobald.

The rector, on behalf of Mrs. Scott, thanked Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Browning for their help in the work; also the W. A. for their interest and co-operation and the contributions they had made to the box sale.

The ladies and gentlemen who so kindly assisted in the programme were also thanked.

Mrs. D. J. Scott, Miss Lottie English, Mr. Dewey and Mr. Theobald acted as accompanists.

The proceeds amounted to about $40.

The singing of the National Anthem and three cheers for Mrs. Scott brought the happy event to a close, which everyone admitted to have been an unprecedented success.

Stomach Troubles Of Long Standing

WHEN DOCTORS' TREATMENT FAILED THIS SEVERE CASE WAS ENTIRELY CURED BY

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

Doctors failed to cure Mr. De Courcey because they were satisfied to treat the stomach instead of getting at the cause of trouble in the liver and bowels.

The most complicated and deep-seated digestive troubles yield to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Livre Pills, because of their direct and combined action on the liver, kidneys and bowels. We are continually receiving such letters as the following in regard to the failure of mere stomach treatment:

Mr. Patrick De Courcey, Midgell, lot 40, P.E.I., writes: "For some time I had stomach trouble, and was scarcely able to do anything at all. I was treated by doctors, but they did not seem to do me any good. A friend advised me to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Livre Pills, and I did so, to very great advantage, for my old trouble has disappeared, and, though past middle age, I feel young and hearty again. I have great confidence in Dr. Chase's medicine."

Another interesting case of liver derangements and stomach troubles is that described in this letter:

Mrs. James Monteith, Saurin, Simcoe County, Ont., writes: "I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for liver complaint, biliousness and terrible sick headaches, and have found that they are more effective than any treatment I ever tried. They cleanse the system thoroughly, remove the cause of pains and aches, and make you feel fresh and strong again. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are also excellent for stomach troubles."

By means of their direct and specific action on the liver—causing a healthful flow of bile—they regulate and enliven the action of the bowels and ensure good digestion in the intestines. At the same time they stimulate the kidneys in their work of filtering poisons from the blood.

MAN OF EIGHTY YEARS DOES THE PLOUGHING

John Beckerton, Inmate of House of Refuge, a Skillful Ploughman

There is at least one inmate of the County House of Refuge, who is making himself useful, and that is Mr. John Beckerton, a man of 81 years, who has done all the spring plowing on the farm. Mr. Beckerton is an exception to the rule that the usefulness of a man becomes a thing of the past, especially in manual labour, when he reaches the allotted age of human life.

Mr. Beckerton, although over four score years of age, is a plowman of skill, and besides turning all the turf at the House of Refuge farm has done considerable cultivating and other farm work. He was once a foreman of a lumber company, and has always been blessed with a strong and vigorous body.

DOURO PICNIC WILL BE HELD IN JULY

An Address by Dr. Doran Will be a Feature

Douro picnic, having received notice to move on, generously and graciously moves on and into July, holding a fond adieu to Wellington Week—even for one year — Douro must console herself, and consequently repeats:

"On Fame's eternal camping ground
Their silent tents are spread;
While glory guards, with solemn round,

The eternal bivouac of the dead."

because, as everybody knows, the Irish are poets as well as soldiers.

Moving into July, Douro salutes the "entente cordiale," and invites the descendants of the men who fought, bled and died at Waterloo to forgather at King Edward Grove on July 4 prox., and, beneath the encircling folds of Union Jack and Tricolour, with Old Glory smiling approvingly on, there fraternize and sing paeans to Peace and "Entente Cordiale!"

The picnic will be followed by an Encaenia and held in King Edward Grove. At the Encaenia, Dr. Doran, a scholar, and a ripe and good one, House of Commons, Ottawa, will deliver an address in English and French. Everybody is invited, and Everybody, young and old, will be made happy. Everybody's old friend, Rev. Father Keilty, is arranging the programme. Come one— come all!

FIFTY-NINE DAYS' TRIP FROM WINNIPEG TO PRINCE ALBERT

A Former Peterborough Man, Now Retiring From Business in the West, Recalls Early Days.

MR. GOODFELLOW'S SUCCESS

A former Peterborough man, who has done well in the Canadian West, is Mr. R. T. Goodfellow, and, referring to a change in his business, the Prince Albert Advocate in a recent issue says:

Mr. R. T. Goodfellow, one of Prince Albert's pioneers, has disposed of his grocery, fruit and confectionary business, at the corner of River street and Central avenue, and to-morrow the store will be opened by Mr. H. A. Manville, trading as Manville & Co.

Mr. Goodfellow first drank the waters of the Saskatchewan in 1879, when he arrived as one of a party of nine pioneers, whose oxen and Red River carts had taken 59 days to make the journey from Winnipeg. Mr. Goodfellow came from Peterborough, Ont., and with him, from the same city came W. J. Carter, Wm. Riley, Alex. Rogers and Harry Proctor. At Shoal Lake they fell in with Robt. Giles, Robt. English, Alex. McArthur and another, and together the nine quated on to the Queen of the North.

Where business blocks now stand, were wheat fields then, and Mr. Goodfellow and his fellow traveller, Mr. Carter, found themselves the only skilled carpenters in the district. They built Emmanuel College and the next year the building trade boomed so much that W. B. and Andrew Goodfellow joined their brother and formed a firm of building contractors, and established a sash and door factory.

In September, '81, Mr. Goodfellow was married at Prince Albert to Miss Leask, a native of the Orkney Islands, having first built the residence on River street, in which he has now resided for over 26 years. Mr. Goodfellow afterwards built the handsome brick block at the corner of River street and Central avenue, where he has kept pace with the times and has done a large and profitable business. Always interested in public affairs and always ready to do his duty as a citizen, Mr. Goodfellow was a member of the town council for four years, and for the past five years has been a valuable member of the school board. He has always declined a nomination for the mayoralty, however, although on one occasion the civic chair might have been his by acclamation.

Mr. Goodfellow, though giving up the grocery business, is not going into retirement, but will devote his attention chiefly to his real estate interests, which are large, both in the city and in farm lands.

MANY INACCURACIES SAYS THE CROWN ATTORNEY

Mr. Wood, Gives Some Information About the Partial Wreck of the Bethune Street Bridge.

The Examiner interviewed Mr. R. S. Wood, Crown Attorney, this morning in reference to the article in last night's Review, reprinted from the editorial page of the Toronto News, and alluding, under the heading "Crown Attorneys, Railway Wrecks," to the partial wreck of the G.T.R. bridge over the creek on Bethune street.

"There are many inaccuracies in the article," said Mr. Wood, "and some statements which are absolutely unfounded. The article states that Crown Attorneys are paid to investigate and prosecute infractions of the Statutes. If the writer means by that that Crown Attorneys are paid for doing police and detective work, which is the natural inference from what is stated, then he is wrong."

"He quotes Sec. 219 of the Railway Act of 1903, overlooking the fact that that act has been totally repealed, and the Act of 1906 substituted for it."

"What I did in respect to this case as soon as it came to my knowledge that a breach of the Act was supposed to have been committed, was to instruct the Chief of Police to investigate, and he reported that at the time complained of there was no freight car of any kind behind the passenger coaches and that therefore there was no breach of that section committed."

"Then, as to the condition of the bridge, does the News or the Review think that it is the duty of the Crown Attorney to inspect every railway bridge in the county and see that it is safe? Here again, these newspapers fail to refer to the proper statutes, and also make no reference to the punishment provided by Section 415 of the new Railway Act, which merely constitutes the wilful neglect of persons in the employ of the railway company, with no reference whatever to the condition of the road-bed, but rather to the infraction of rules by the employees of companies and even then that is not constituted an indictable offence. So that here again, there was no breach of the law whatever."

Under New Name And With Much Additional Capital

A Re-organization of the Canadian Machine Telephone Company Reported to be in Progress

LINDSAY WORK PUSHED

Mr. W. H. Lytle, Superintendent of Construction for the Canadian Machine Telephone Company, has written a letter to Lindsay, in response to an inquiry as to when work was to be commenced on the installation of the system in that town, which gives some new information concerning the company. Referring to it, the Lindsay Post says:

Some of our citizens are wondering why the Machine Telephone Company, who were granted a franchise by last year's Council, are not making a start on construction, as our people were told would happen early this spring. The following letter from Mr. W. H. Lytle, Superintendent of Construction, with headquarters at Brantford, will be read with interest by our townspeople:

"Dear Sir,—I have your card, addressed to me at Peterborough. Our Company has been undergoing a course of reorganization for the past couple of months, and it is for this reason that our start on the Lindsay plant has been so long delayed; however, at this time, I am able to state that it will be but a few days until I am prepared to go down there and get things going.

"We are out under a new name and with a great deal of capital, and will be in a much better position to go on with our work already in hand. These arrangements are only just now complete, and we are already pushing forward the work in hand. When this is nicely going we will start on the Lindsay plant, and will, of course, have to rush the work there on account of the time allowance.

"I might say that we have the poles already in railway yards for shipment as soon as we are prepared to go ahead. Besides this, we have our orders placed for the bulk of the material to be used there. There is no possibility of us not using our franchise there, and the people of Lindsay will see us on the job in a very short time.

"Yours truly,
"W. H. LYTLE."

Scene from Act II in the "Lion and the Mouse," Grand Opera House, Wednesday June 5th, the social and dramatic event of the season. Plan now open.

CHURCH MADE GOOD PROGRESS

During Pastoral Term of Rev. J. G. Lewis Mark Street Church Has Improved its Conditions

THE DEBTS ARE WIPED OFF

The Quarterly Board of the Mark street Methodist church, expressed at the meeting held on Saturday afternoon its appreciation of the services rendered by the retiring pastor, Rev. J. G. Lewis. At this meeting a resolution was passed unanimously commending him for the excellent work he had done during his four years' pastorate now closing.

During the last four years the church has made progress in every department of its work, and Mr. Lewis leaves it in excellent condition, both from a financial as well as a spiritual standpoint.

In responding to this resolution, Mr. Lewis expressed his gratitude for the many acts of kindness shown him by the members during his pastorate and he hoped that the work would continue to prosper under the new pastor, as it has done during his term.

Some facts showing the progress of the church may be of interest. When Mr. Lewis came here there was a debt of over $77 on the parsonage and more than $250 on the church. Both of these have been since wiped out, and there is now no indebtedness on the church property. The other churches on the circuit are in the same happy condition.

One of the incidents of Mr. Lewis' pastorate, was the re-organization of the Ladies' Aid Society. The Society since its organization has raised over $700, the greater portion of which has been expended on the church property, which has been considerably improved. The church has been repainted on the outside, and the Sunday school has been repainted and provided with new seats. In this work the Ladies' Aid Society has assisted materially and deserves credit for the splendid work done since its reorganization.

Mr. Lewis has received, and accepted an invitation to become the next pastor of the second Methodist church, Picton. He left this morning for Bowmanville, to attend the sessions of the Stationing Committee of Conference, which meets this afternoon.

At Saturday's meeting of the Board, Mr. S. Taylor, who has during the last four years most acceptably filled the duties of the office of Recording Steward, asked to be relieved of the office. His resignation was accepted with regret, after a resolution of thanks had been unanimously adopted, and Mr. M. Carton was elected to succeed him.

BOBCAYGEON PREACHER COMING TO PETERBOROUGH

Rev. C. H. Coon Accepts Invitation of Mark Street Methodist Church, to Become Next Pastor.

A SUCCESSFUL PASTOR

At a special meeting of the Quarterly Board of the Mark street Methodist church held on Saturday afternoon Rev. C. H. Coon, of Bobcaygeon, was chosen as the next pastor of the church, subject to his acceptance of the invitation, which was then extended, and the sanction of the Stationing Committee. Subsequent to the meeting on Saturday Mr. Coon was communicated with by telephone and accepted the invitation, contingent upon his release by the Quarterly Board of the Bobcaygeon Church and the Stationing Committee. Mr. Coon has been in Bobcaygeon three years, and in the usual course of events would have remained there another year. It is anticipated, however, that there will be no difficulty in securing Mr. Coon for the next pastor of Mark street church.

Rev. Mr. Coon is a young man with considerable energy, and recognized pulpit ability, and the Official Board of this church considers itself fortunate in securing him as the next pastor.

COTTAGERS ENDORSE ELECTRIC LINE

RESOLUTION WAS PASSED

The Stony Lake Cottagers' Association are reported to have a new scheme on foot whereby quick transportation may be had between Peterborough and the Kawartha Lakes. The association held a meeting in the Juniper Island pavilion last Saturday, and, after considering the extension of the present pavilion as well as a number of other improvements at Juniper, they discussed at length the proposition of an electric road from Peterborough to Young's Point. They considered that this was the best solution of the problem of reaching Stony Lake conveniently and quickly.

The association, before closing their meeting last Saturday, passed the following resolution of approval to the proposition of constructing the electric road:

"That the association regards with satisfaction the proposed building of the electrical line from Peterborough to Stony Lake in the near future, and endorses same as calculative to offer the quickest and most convenient means of reaching the lake."

Music and Drama

SOCIAL AND DRAMATIC EVENT

Charles Klein's play, "The Lion and the Mouse" which Henry B. Harris will produce here at the Grand Opera House, Wednesday June 5th, contains elements of vital interest to all classes of people. One, a portraiture of the octupus of finance who stern in his attitude to all, even to his wife and children is relentless to his enemy, treading under his golden heel all those hwo oppose him or his colossal schemes. The other is a characterization of a young and beautiful girl, the daughter of the judge who is being driven to the wall with impeachment and disgrace as the result of his righteous decision against the trusts. So that in "The Lion and the Mouse" Mr. Klein has given us [illegible] of the influence of money and politics in the affairs of the general public of to-day. For the interpretation of the most successful of plays Henry B. Harris has gathered together an exceptionally fine cast and its advent here should prove a most interesting one. The reserve seat sale is now open.

ANNUAL SERMON TO FORESTERS

Members of the Three Local Courts Attended St. Luke's Church Last Night

AN INSPIRING SERMON

The members of Court Peterborough, No. 29, Court Langton, No. 344, and Court Littlejohn, No. 92, Canadian Order of Foresters, held their annual church parade last evening, to St. Luke's church. There was a large turn out of the three lodges, and in addition there was a large congregation present, so that the seating accommodation of the church was taxed to its utmost.

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt preached an inspiring sermon, in which he pointed out the impossibility of serving two masters. His text was taken from St. Matthew vi, 24, "No man

REV. E. A. LANGFELDT, M.A'
Who preached to the Canadian Foresters last night

can serve two masters, for either he will hate the one and love the other, or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon."

In beginning, the speaker pointed out that the text indicated the moral impossibility of a man serving two masters. There never was an instance when one man did give hearty service to two lords. This point was illustrated by the speaker. "Who are those who hate religion?" and went on to show that they were the people whose hearts and energies were devoted to the world, and whose thoughts were of the earth, earthy. "How bitterly," said the speaker, "do they speak of those who separate themselves from the world!"

On the other hand the people to whom the world was a repulsive thing, were those who loved God, and took delight in the company of godly people, who love His works. If a man has laid hold of Christ, how little he thinks of the worth of anything else, but to the man who takes hold of the world, what a dull, uninteresting thing is religion!

The speaker passed on to define what he intended to express by "world." The world, he said, was whatever was found to separate us from God. It might be almost anything that had no Christ in it.

"Some people," stated Mr. Langfeldt, "have made their lodge their God; I have met men who have said that there was no necessity of going to church, because they went to lodge."

No man could serve God and the world. The world should be used to make it minister to God's service. People might enjoy the world, and turn it to God's glory. There was nothing in religion to make a man go about with a long face, and looking sorrowful.

The speaker referred to that people who were leading, what he termed, double lives. They came to church, took part in the services, and the works of the church, but those things were the exceptions of their lives. The rest of their lives was in the things of the earth. Their minds, and hearts, and energies, all belonged to the world, notwithstanding these exceptions. The world was their master. Though they worshipped in church, they were not servants of God.

Rev. Mr. Langfeldt asked his hearers if they were not trying to give a double service—to lead a double life—and to combine spiritual and secular things? God would not acknowledge such a life, which he regarded it as an impossibility.

"In the world to come," said the speaker, "Hell will be populated very largely, not with the wicked, but with those whose religion was divided between God and the world." These were the people that the devil was gathering in, persuading them to halt half-way between God and the world.

In concluding the speaker urged his hearers to enter into service with God, to make a covenant with Christ. Then they should confess it, and not be ashamed of their religion. They should tell it to that mocking friend and tell that profane and foul-mouthed man that they would not permit the name of God to be taken in vain.

BIG CAMP MEETING TO-MORROW

Many Hundreds of Free Methodists Will Gather for Week's Camp Meetings Near Jackson Park

SOME OF THE SPEAKERS

The preparations for the camp meeting, to be held next week in the pine grove west of Jackson Park, are progressing. To-day the large tent was pitched, and arrangements made for seating the audiences. A large attendance is expected and a large number of tents has been engaged for the week. The district from which those attending this meeting will come includes Toronto, Armdale, Bell Haven, Uxbridge and Peterborough. It is also expected that there will be a number from Havelock.

The first meeting in connection with the camp meeting will be held to-morrow evening.

Speakers who will be present and assist in the meetings, which will continue about a week, are Rev. S. J. Bradbrook of Syracuse, Rev. W. H. Reynolds of Bracebridge and Rev. S. Slingerland of Cordova. The public is cordially invited to attend these meetings, and no doubt a great many from the city will take advantage of this invitation to be present at the first meeting.

The camp ground is only a short distance from the street railway terminus.

Headaches Mean Your Blood Is Poisoned

If your bowels, kidneys or skin are not ridding the system of waste-matter, the blood is laden with impurities, which inflame the nerves. It is these irritated nerves that make the head ache.

because they purify the blood. They act directly on the three great eliminating organs—Bowels, Kidneys and Skin—and restore them to healthy action, thus ridding the system of all poisons.

KINGSTON DIVINE AT ST. JOHN'S

Very Rev. Dean Farthing, of St. George's Cathedral Kingston, Preached Yesterday

PRACTICAL SERMONS

At St. John's church yesterday, V. Rev. Dean Farthing, of St. George's cathedral, Kingston, took the services during the day, beginning with Holy Communion at 8.30. At all services there were good congregations present, especially in the evening. V. Rev. Dean Farthing is an energetic, earnest and eloquent preacher, dealing with his subject in a clear and logical manner, employing plain language, easily "understood by the people." In the evening his sermon was a particularly excellent pulpit delivery based on the first few words of St. Paul's epistle to the Romans—"Paul, a servant of Jesus Christ." The word translated "servant," signifies "slave" in the original, and expressed the proprietary interest of our Blessed Lord in St. Paul, and all Christians, inasmuch as they were bought with a price, and bore the marks of their Owner — the slave, the brand of his master, and the Christian the sign of the Cross on his forehead, placed there in baptism. Considering their relation to Christ, Christians were bound to uphold the honour of their Master. It was pointed out how those who "professed and" called themselves Christians," dishonoured Christ by the crookedness of politics, by dishonesty in business, for the sake of petty gain, and by the action of those who practiced the white lies of society, to avoid a temporary inconvenience. Emphasis was also laid upon the responsibility which rested upon those who were servants of Jesus Christ.

V. Rev. Dean Farthing was warmly welcomed and appreciated by the congregation of St. John's, and the services throughout the day were full of interest.

PRESENTED WITH PURSE AND ADDRESS

Members of the Y. M. C. A. Honour Mr. "Dick" Baker on Saturday Night

On the eve of his severing his connections as janitor of the local Y.M.C.A., Mr. Richard Baker, on Saturday evening was presented with an address of eulogy and a purse containing over $20.

The presentation was made at 9 o'clock, in the parlours of the association in the presence of a large number of Mr. Baker's friends.

The president of the association, Mr. R. E. Harding occupied the chair and after speaking in terms of appreciation for his services on behalf of the Y.M.C.A., and regretting Mr. Baker's departure, made the presentation, which was a complete surprise to the recipient.

Mr. Baker replied, thanking the president and all those interested for their many acts of kindness while he held the position of Janitor at the Y.M.C.A.

Short impromptu speeches were also given by many of the members present, eulogizing Mr. Baker's constant interest in the association, and its members.

Mr. Baker has secured a position with the Peterborough Canoe Comany, and to-day began work there.

MUSIC AT CHARLOTTE ST. CHURCH SUNDAY

In addition to the anthems at the Charlotte street Methodist church yesterday a number of interesting musical numbers were given. At the morning service Mr. W. Bruten, after the sermon, sang a Sudds' "Hear Us," and at the evening service a duet, "Prayer of the Wanderer," was splendidly rendered by Miss Helleghem and Mr. Jas. Browne, and the offertory selection was a solo, "Galilee," by Joseph Adams, sung by Mr. Roger Manning, who is in the city visiting his school friend, Mr. K. Manning, at the Charlotte street Methodist parsonage.

NEW BUILDING FOR WEAVING COMPANY

If City Council Will Give Usual Assistance Granted to Industries Extending Operations.

PROPOSITION SUBMITTED

At the meeting of the City Council to-night a proposition will be laid before the city fathers by the Colonial Weaving Company, one of the city's most promising industrial concerns which, if accepted will ensure to Peterborough a new factory which will employ a largely increased staff of employees, and will make possible a much larger output than can be produced at the present mills of the company.

The proposition submitted by the Company in the letter, a copy of which is given below is similar to that made by other industrial concerns and accepted by the city. It is probable that the Council will deal with this company similarly to the the others who have asked for assistance under like circumstances, and that the city will secure this greatly enlarged weaving works. The letter which will be read at the council meting to-night is as follows:—

Peterborough June 3rd, 1907.

S. R. Armstrong, Esq., City Clerk, Peterborough, Ont.:

Dear Sir,—We beg to state that we have secured an option to purchase lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13 and 14, and Block marked "Lane" according to, and as shown upon registered plan No. 86, for the City of Peterborough, at, or for the price, or sum, of $3,500.00. This property is situated North of Rink street and East of Rubidge street and lies South-west of the C.P.R. siding running from the main line into the Canadian General Electric Company's Works.

The Company proposes to erect upon this property a factory 200 feet long by 60 feet wide and to instal therein at least $30,000 worth of machinery and will give employment to at least 60 hands.

The Company are acquiring more land than is actually required for their present purposes with a view of extending the business as the growth and development of their business warrants it.

The Company respectfully requests that the City of Peterborough pay the purchase price of the land, viz., $3,500.00 and give the Company a fixed assessment for all purposes of $3,500 on the property for a period of ten years. The general terms and conditions set forth in bylay No. 953, entitled "A bylaw to aid Canadian Cordage and Manufacturing Comunpany, Limited," of the City of Peterborough, would be acceptable to the Company.

The Company proposes to engage extensively in the manufacture of silk and cotton woven labels, of all kinds used in connection with the manufacture of clothing, boots and shoes, etc., etc., including coat hangers, top facings, pull straps, etc.

Yours truly,
Colonial Weaving Co., Limited,
F J Jameson,
President.

THE BUILDING PERMITS MUST BE SECURED

Jos. Panter in Court This Morning for Carelessness in This Regard

Mr. Jos. Panter appeared before Magistrate Dumble this morning charged with having neglected to take out a building permit. Mr. Panter said that he was bricking his house on Rusbidge street, but did not know that a permit was necessary. Magistrate Dumble pointed out that the city demanded that permits be taken out in order that it might be known just what work was being done, as well as for other reasons. He enlarged the case until Mr. Panter had obtained the necessary certificate.

LOCAL LAWYER TO LOOK AFTER ESTATE

Mr. John Green May Go to Buffalo Tomorrow—In Interests of the Lowry Family

It is probable that Mr. Jno. Green, barrister, will leave to-morrow for Buffalo, N.Y., to look after the estate of the late Dr. Campbell, who died there recently, under such peculiar circumstances, so far as it affects the heirs of the late Mrs. Lowry, formerly of village of Warsaw.

The late Mrs. Lowry was a sister of Dr. Campbell and only passed away herself about a month ago.

Her heirs are Mrs. Fairbairn, of Water street; Mrs. Thos. Clements, of Dunmer, and Mrs. Jno. Lowry, of Peterborough, and they have placed their case in the hands of Mr. Green.

Quakers Turned The Tables On The Omemee Kickers

Were Twice Conquered This Season but Third Time Was the Charm Score at Finish Was 2-1—Return Game in Lindsay on Wednesday Evening.

COMBINATION WON GAME

The intermediate Peterborough Quaker soccer team journeyed to the Omemee hamlet on Saturday afternoon, and, in the midst of a refreshing rainstorm and in a football field resembling the gentle billows of a summer sea, trimmed the Omemees eleven by two goals to 1. The result of the match was somewhat of a pleasant surprise to local followers of the game, as twice before this season Omemee had showed themselves to be masters of the Quakers. They won the first league game of the season on the Exhibition grounds here by the score of 1-0, and on Victoria Day on their own grounds were again victorious by 4-3 in an exhibition game. By winning Saturday's match, the two teams are now tied in their group, and play off the tie in Lindsay on Wednesday evening of this week.

The Quakers had all the best of the play throughout, and on their merits should have won by a much larger score. The first half was a regular bombardment on the Omemee citadel. The first goal was scored by Caniff often about seven minutes' play, and in the same half Omemee evened up by a corner kick, the ball striking the goal post and glancing through.

The Quakers got away again in the second half, and although several shots rained in on the Omemee goalkeeper, only one got past, Crough doing the trick.

Laing, in goal for the Peterborough boys, was only called upon to exert himself a couple of times, and was always master of the situation. He handled the ball well and guarded the strikes like a veteran. On the back division Sullivan and Scrimshaw had an easy time and took care of almost everything that got past the halves. The half-backs were among the busiest players on the field, and it was due to their brilliant work in feeding the forwards that the victory was cinched. Dingman at centre played a systematic game and followed up well to aid the attackers on the Omemee goal. He had two capable assistants in Archibald and Hamilton, who broke up combinations galore.

The continuation of the forward line really won the match for the Quakers. Crough played his usual fine game at centre, making many brilliant rushes. The wings were Caniff, Yates, Brodie and Hagley, all of whom did their team justice. Yates and Hagley figured in a Quaker match for the first time and did excellent work on the outside wings.

For Omemees, McPherson and Jardine starred, being easily the pick of the team. Their defence was strong, but the forwards were no match for the local half-back line.

Mr. L. Bolin of Peterborough refereed satisfactorily. The return game will be played on Wednesday evening in Lindsay, with Fred Doherty of Norwood as referee.

The line-up of the teams was as follows:

| OMEMEE | | QUAKERS |
|---|---|---|
| | Goal. | |
| Ingram | | Laing |
| | Backs. | |
| McPherson | | Scrimshaw |
| Hayes | | Sullivan |
| | Half-Backs. | |
| Rice | | Hamilton |
| Mitchell | | Dingman |
| McGee | | Archibald |
| | Forwards. | |
| Glennie | | Yates |
| Nugent | | Caniff |
| Jardine | | Crough |
| W Mitchell | | Brodie |
| M McGee | | Hagley |

Referee—L. Bolin.

KARENOTS HEAD THE LEAGUE

Defeated Strathconas After an Up-hill Fight by 16-13—Two Men Short

THE CATCHER WAS INJURED

Playing under decided disadvantages, the Karenots jumped into the leadership of the Intermediate City Baseball League on Saturday afternoon by defeating the Strathconas in a see-saw struggle by 16-13. The winners were without the services of Ferguson, their regular twirler, and had to go on the field one man short. To make matters worse, in the first of the seventh, Carton, their catcher, had his right arm badly sprained in tagging Curtis at the plate, and was compelled to get out of the contest, leaving the Karenots with only seven men to finish the game. For the last three innings they had to do without a shortstop and centre-fielder. They were leading by one run at the time, and managed not only to hold their lead, but even to increase it. Their victory under these circumstances over their older and more experienced opponents was the more creditable.

Long occupied the box for the winners and pitched steady ball throughout. After the first few innings the Strathconas had difficulty in landing on him safely. He had great control and had many strikeouts to his credit. The Karenots, despite the fact that they were short-handed, had it on the losers in fielding, which is shown by the fact that they had no less than four double plays to their credit.

Fred Parnell pitched for the losers and was touched up in bunches of hits which kept the outfielders busy. His support was not of the best, with the exception of the work done by Weatherston and Curtis, while the three outfielders failed to cover as much ground as did the two who looked after the gardens for the winners.

The Strathconas started off like easy winners. They scored three in the first, and four in the third, and at that stage were leading by seven to two. In the fifth, however, with two gone, the Karenots pounded Parnell all over the award, scoring six runs before the third man was put out.

In the sixth the losers once more took the lead, only to lose it in the Karenots' half of the seventh, at which stage the score stood 13-12 in favour of the winners. Both teams were blanked in the eighth, a fast double play from Johnston to Gaele cutting the Strathconas out of a run. The Karenots cinched the game in the ninth, scoring three runs on a combination of hits and errors by the losers' infield. The Strathconas' feat in their half was one run, and the game was over, with the Karenots three to the good.

Mr. W. J. Stacey umpired the game to the satisfaction of both teams.

The teams were as follows:

Karenots — Long, p; Carton, c; Laing, 1b, c; V. Craig, 2b, 1b; Gaele, ss., 2b; Ray, 3b; Borradaile, lf; Johnston, rf.

Strathconas — F. Parnell, p; Wilson, c; E. Allison, 1b; P. Weatherston, 2b; Dornan, ss; Curtis, 3b; Heard, lf; Delaney, cf; B. Parnell, rf.

Score by innings—

| | | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Karenots | 0 | 2 | 0 | 1 | 5 | 1 | 4 | 0 | 3 | —16 |
| Strathconas | 3 | 0 | 4 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 4 | 1 | —13 |

TO-NIGHT'S GAMES IN INTERMEDIATE LEAGUE

Two Fast Ball Games Expected This Evening—Standing of the Teams

The Intermediate Baseball League is proving to be a source of great interest among the younger element and should result in a hot race for the pennant. The Karnots now lead but it may not be for long. To-night the Strathconas will play the Lilies, on the Charlotte street team's former practice ground on Paterson street. This is an important game for both teams, so it is expected that they will both go their best to win out. If the Lilies win the teams will be evened up all around, that is, the result will be as stated. If the boys from the west carry off the laurel in the two parts of their game, the last of which will be played on Wednesday night, they will then be tied with the Karnots for first.

The West Ends will meet the Excelsiors on the Oval and Mr. Stacey will umpire. So far the games have been handled by capable men, which is a most gratifying feature, as the man with the indicator is the real general of the diamond. The games should be started at seven o'clock, if possible, so that darkness may not interfere.

The result of the games thus far is as follows:

| | Won. | Lost. | To play. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Karnots | 2 | 0 | 3 |
| West Ends | 1 | 0 | 4 |
| Strathconas | 0 | 1 | 4 |
| Lakeviews | 0 | 1 | 4 |
| Excelsiors | 0 | 0 | 5 |
| Lilies | 1 | 1 | 4 |

LACROSSE CL 'S GOOD PRACTICE

About Thirty Men Were Out at Riverside Park

The lacrosse team had the best practice of the season on Saturday afternoon when about thirty men were out in uniform. Nearly all the seniors were on hand as well as a fair representation of the juniors. The team had a rattling practice and with a few nights' work out this week will be in good shape for the first game of the season, which will be played here on Saturday with the Maitlands of Toronto.

MONAGHAN CLUB WILL RUN AN EXCURSION

An Outing on June 14th to Jubilee Point —Dancing and Games

On Friday the 14th of June, the Monaghan Club will run an excursion to Jubilee Point from the Wolfe street wharf. The steamer Monarch has been chartered and will have a barge in tow thus it is assured that there will be ample accommodation. This club is composed of young men living in North Monaghan and they promise as good a time on the excursion as they provided at their dance last winter. Music for dancing will be provided on the boat and games and amusements have been arranged for the afternoon on the green at Jubilee. This excursion should attract a large number of the friends of the club and an enjoyable outing is promised.

MINSTREL PRACTICE TO-MORROW NIGHT

Every Member of the Club is Asked to be on Hand for the Occasion

The Lacrosse Club Minstrels will practice to-morrow night instead of to-night, and it is important that every member of the club should be on hand. There will only be three more rehearsals before the production and it is necessary that considerable preparatory work should be done. The minstrels will practice on Tuesday and Friday nights of this week and on Monday of next week and every one connected with the performance is asked to be on hand for those three nights. The entertainment will be given on Tuesday and Wednesday, June 11 and 12.

WESTMOUNTS BADLY BEATEN BY FALL RIVER

Score Was 5 to 1—Same Line-up That Played Quakers

GOOD RESULTS OF YEAR'S WORK

Rev. A. H. Brace Yesterday Commenced on His Fifth Year's Work as Pastor of Park Street Baptist Church

THE WORK IN NEW ONTARIO

Park Street Baptist Church celebrated yesterday the anniversary of the settlement as pastor of Rev. A. H. Brace, who enters upon his fifth year. "Regeneration" was the theme of the morning sermon. He prefaced his sermon by saying that he entered each new year of his ministerial life with feelings of great solemnity and deep gratitude. The result of the four years was then given, viz.: One hundred and twenty-five new members had received the hand of fellowship, and when the three candidates who have been voted on by the church, just 100 would have been baptized. Financially, prosperity had been experienced, $515 mortgage having been paid. The $300 new lot had been paid for, and between three and four thousand dollars in cash and pledges was on hand for the new church. Another interesting item was also given; 35 marriages had been solemnized, and after Wednesday next two more must be added, and still they come.

At the evening service, Dr. Norton of Toronto, superintendent of Home Missions, took charge. He spoke of Cobalt silver and Larder Lake gold and of fair Ontario's sons who were pouring in there, whose souls were more precious than gold and must be saved.

He told of the organization of churches and the erection of suitable buildings for worship. The work was fascinating among towns of between three and four thousand, springing up in a year or two on the site of a dense bush. He asked for a liberal offering for Home Missions about the end of June.

Large congregations gathered to celebrate the day.

SAW MILL DESTROYED IN LINDSAY

Examiner Special.

Lindsay, June 3.—The Kennedy & Davis' sawmill, one of Lindsays' leading industrial factories, was burned this morning at 1 o'clock. Over fifty men are out of work as a result of the fire. The cause of the fire is unknown. The fire had gained considerable headway before the firemen arrived on the spot. They then, however, did splendid work in preventing the spreading of the blaze. One of them, Joe Bell, was hit on the head by some falling timber and was unconscious for over an hour. The loss, which is partly covered by insurance, will be heavy.

WALKED ON A VEIN OE SILVER A DISTANCE OF 1,500 FEET

Surface Silver in the Timmons Mine, Cobalt, Bared to Visitors Who For the First Time Walked a Silvered Path—A Ninety Per Cent. Yield.

IS A VERY RICH COUNTRY

To walk along a vein of silver, extending 1,500 feet, is by no means an everyday experience. In fact, it is generally supposed that mankind enjoys riches in that measure only when he will have passed from this troublesome sphere to Kingdom Come, where, we are told, the streets are paved with silver and gold. Not long ago, however, a party of Peterborough gentlemen visited the Cobalt district to spend a short holiday and also through the curiosity to see the place. So many and so varied are the stories that have been reported regarding this district that the ordinary citizen may be inclined to be skeptical as to their truth. Prospectors have been known to salt certain veins, and by other means have defrauded the public, but it is an established fact that the Cobalt region is a veritable Eldorado.

The Town

One of the party, a prominent business man of this city, relating some of his experiences to a reporter, said that the town of Cobalt is, perhaps, the most interesting sight in the whole district. Hurriedly built on the ledges of rock that rise almost perpendicularly from Cobalt Lake, the houses are here, there and everywhere, and, although there are streets, they are most irregularly laid out. The hills bordering the lake, as already mentioned, are composed of ledges. On the lower one, which was mostly prepared by cutting into the sloping hillside, and throwing the material back, then spreading earth over On this storey of the town is the railway, the main street and business section. There is not a house on this street that is more than a stone's throw from the track, which is laid on the prepared bank, close to the edge of the lake.

The town is lively at all times, as there are people continually entering and leaving. The station platform is crowded at train time, and it is seldom that there are less than several hundred people on the long board walk.

Registry Office

Another busy place is the registry office, where a staff of four registrars are kept busy all day long. One of the Peterborough men said that there is generally a long line of people waiting to have deeds of their property recorded, and it is nothing unusual to have to wait for hours before one can be served.

The Mines

A whole book might be written about the mines in this district. Some of them are rich deposits of silver; others do not show sufficient to encourage the owners to proceed with the work. From any spot in the town one can look around and see the locations of at least 50 different shafts leading to mines, and, in the outlying parts, there are hundreds of them. There are many interesting stories regarding the discoveries of rich finds which occurred by sheer accident. The Timmons mine, equal in wealth to the famous Nipissing mine, was struck in an odd manner. Wagons were continually passing over this ground and finally wore a rut into the rock and revealed the gray coloured silver. It extends over 1500 feet and varies in breadth from one inch to six inches in the surface and goes deep into the rock. It is the very best ore, being 90 per cent. pure silver, which is an excellent find. The mineral was laid bare by removing the upper earth and it was along this strand that the members of the party had the opportunity of walking thus almost becoming famous.

Had to be Guarded

At the end of this vein farthest from the camp it was found that men came during the night and broke off chunks of this silver which being almost pure was very valuable. Night watchmen were stationed to patrol the property and even then thieves got in their work and finally a considerable portion had to be mined. The Timmons Company is not shipping any of their material and they have over 500 tons of practically pure silver ore already in bags. The Company is erecting a smelter on their claim and will save a large sum of money as it is expensive to ship the material to the United States smelters for refinement. A smelter is also being built at Thorald and should prove a boon to Canadian mine owners.

A Lucky Discovery

The McKinley & Darragh mine was found in a fortuitous manner. A man was chopping down timber for ties and was cutting near the roots of a tree when his axe glanced off and cut a piece out of the rock. He broke his axe, but the rock was a valuable find of silver and has turned out to be a rich mine. Another was discovered by a prospector throwing his hatchet at a rabbit that crossed his path. It dug into the rock as it missed the rabbit and silver was revealed.

Horace says: "Nullus argento color ert avaris abdito terris," but the native silver has a bright metallic lustre. Several of the companies are not mining their claims, waiting until a smelter is built. They know they have the mineral and are satisfied to wait until a Canadian smelter will increase their profits.

Cobalt Lake Company

A mine that deserves special mention is that belonging to the Cobalt Lake Company. This Company purchased the Cobalt Lake for the sum of $1,085,000.00 which was paid to the Government. This includes 66 ft. of the shore around the entire water. The Company intends to mine under the lake and have already unearthed 22 veins of gold ore and the general opinion is that beneath the lake there are very rich deposits.

The Montreal River is now the mecca of prospectors and since the 1st of May over 1,000 men have gone in that direction and are staking their claims. Native silver has been found in large quantities and the new district is as rich almost as Cobalt.

Considering everything there is no doubt that Cobalt is a rich district and has untold wealth beneath its rocky surface. However, when a company has control it there is no chance for the average man who may endeavour to work a claim. With the erection of a large smelter in Canada the mine owners will send their ore to it in preference to the United States, where an exorbitant price is demanded for the work.

POST CARD CORRESPONDENCE.

In this column will be published communications upon post cards only. It will remain open for the use of readers, who are invited to contribute suggestions, inquiries or replies. Anything of a scurrilous personal nature will be prohibited.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I think, as a resident of Charlotte street, I should be entitled to a little protection from the City Council in respect to a nuisance that is becoming worse every day. I refer to the bone-yard at the corner of Charlotte and Bethune streets, which is creating a stench that is decidedly malodorous, to say nothing of the unsanitary condition. I have no grudge against the proprietors, but I would like to see their sheds about two miles from their present site. I wonder if Inspector Ball is cognizant of the conditions that prevail at this place? If he is, I am sure that the Board of Health would hear of it. For the sake of decency and the city's good name something should be done at once. The only way is to have the sheds removed, as the heaps of old bones and the cans of rags are eyesores, besides being nauseating and evil-smelling.

Editor Post Card Column:

As announced in yesterday's issue of the Examiner, our splendid band will commence their weekly concerts this week; Now, right at the start why not have these conducted so that the music-lovingpeople will get the fullest measure of satisfaction from them? I refer to the selling of peanuts, popcorn and other trash during the concerts. Can not these vendors be induced to cease crying their wares during the rendering of a selection? And the youngsters that think the time and place the best ever for a game of tag, might also be led to see things in a different light. A little exercise of police authority would set things right. Will it be done?

Yours truly,
MUSIC LOVER

GIRLS TO BE CLASSED AS VAGRANTS

The Law to Deal With Girls of Tender Years Found on the Streets After a Decent Hour—Parents Neglectful

WILL BE TREATED AS VAGS

The good old summer time has arrived, and with it the pleasures and fun that everybody looks forward to during the long, dreary winter. Perhaps the children extract the most pleasure and enjoyment from their games and amusements, and so long as they are innocently carried out there is no room for complaints on the parts of the grown people. But at present there are complaints being registered by people living in various parts of the city that the conduct of young girls between the ages of 12 and 14 is anything but innocent. In fact, it is stated by men, who are led to tell things only when they know them to really exist, that there are many girls whose actions are such that will finally lead them to ruin and destruction if they are not stamped out at once. There would be no sense in speaking of this subject if it were not an actual fact, and the word of those citizens who have made the complaints is sufficient to guarantee their truth. The police have also seen evidences that support the general rumours that the morals of many of our young girls are in danger.

Parents to Blame

If the parents had reared their children properly the state would not have to step in to protect them, but many parents have not the first idea of how to manage little folks when their teaching leaves the greatest impression. When children are permitted to have their own way in things and to go away from their homes after the evening meal there is something very wrong in the home government, and no matter how good the children may be, they are running a great risk. The main difficulty to be met with is to bring the parents to realize that they are not doing their duty towards their children, and because they may be good in their homes, that is no protection when they are alone. The clergy may lay stress on this with good results, and thus bring parents, who may be careless in this respect, to a full knowledge of the matter.

Measures of the Law

The Chief of Police and the Police Magistrate are going to do their share in trying to stem any evil tide that may be getting in. Actual cases might be mentioned here if it would be in place. The police have been authorized to arrest, as a vagrant, any young girl of the age mentioned above found on the streets after 7 o'clock, if she cannot give a satisfactory account of herself. The police will stamp as a vagrant, according to the law's definition of the term, those girls who aimlessly rove around the streets after dark. If they will not guard themselves the law will do it for them.

"BOY BROKER" WHO MADE GOOD

Ed. Bagley, a Young 'Change Operator, Who Cleaned Up a Big Pile on Wheat

SURPRISED THE OLD HEADS

Chicago, June 1.—"Ed." Bagley, "the boy broker," who sprang into the limelight last fall for playing pranks on the floor of the Board of Trade, has won a fortune on wheat, outgeneralling scores of the oldest traders. While his friends credit him with dragging out from $100,000 to $250,000, the young broker does not tell definitely, but says, calmly, "Oh, I cleaned up about $30,000 or so." Bagley began life in the business world as a messenger for the Daily News.

Hardly five years ago young Bagley was engaged in marking up quotations with a piece of chalk on the board at the brokerage firm of A. O. Slaughter & Co. Before that he went to school. Now, at the age when most young men have not completed their studies, he is preparing to do things to the markets.

MANY IMMIGRANTS REACH THE CITY

C. P. R. Steamer "Lake Erie" Brought Large Number of New Settlers

The C.P.R. liner that reached Quebec at the end of last week brought another large number of immigrants from Liverpool. The Lake Erie, the boat in question, had a fine voyage, and, although slow in travelling, made rather good time. Several trainloads of the newly-arrived passed through the city between Saturday and Sunday nights. Altogether about a dozen persons got off at this station, the main body going through to Toronto.

JIMMY REYNOLDS' BIG CONTRACT

Port Hope Barber Has Bet $600 to $1,200 That He Can Walk 132 Miles in 38 Hours

IS TRAINING VERY HARD

Three weeks from yesterday, June 24th, James Reynolds, the famous Port Hope barber, will leave Port Hope and endeavour to make Toronto and return, a distance of 132 miles in 38 hours. It is a large undertaking, but Reynolds feels confident of winning, and has wagered his $600 against $1,200. He is walking each day from 15 to 20 miles, and states that he never felt in better shape. He tips the scales at 140 pounds, but expects to be five pounds lighter before the event takes place.

He will leave Port Hope at 1 o'clock Monday morning, starting from the Queen's Hotel, and will go to the King Edward Hotel, Toronto. He does not intend to take any rest in Toronto, but will probably stop in Pickering for a short time. Reynolds has deposited $300 against the opposition $600, and the balance will be put up a few days previous to the walk.

WEDDING BELLS

O'DONOGHUE-GALVIN

St. Martin's Church, Ennismore, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on May 21st, 1907, when Miss Ida Galvin, daughter of J. K. Galvin, Ennismore, was united in marriage to John O'Donoghue, son of Mr. John O'Donoghue, of the same township.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Vivian Galvin, while Mr. Edward O'Donoghue assisted the groom.

The bride and bridesmaid were charmingly dressed in white silk trimmed with valenciennes lace and insertions and wore pretty white hats.

As the bridal party entered the church the wedding march was played by Miss Gertrude Moloney, who rendered it in her usual good form.

The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, after which the reverend father offered up the holy sacrifice of the mass for the special benefit of the young couple.

After mass the bridal party, accompanied by a number of our relatives, drove to the home of the bride's father where a sumptuous wedding breakfast was served.

Miss Galvin received a large number of costly presents, which testify the very high place the young lady holds in the esteem of her friends. The groom's gift to the bride was a pretty gold bracelet and to the bridesmaid a diamond pin.

It is only a few months since Miss Galvin resigned her position as organist of St. Martin's choir, at which time the choir proved their generous feelings towards her by presenting her with a well-filled purse.

Many friends of the bride and groom wish them every success.

OPERATION AVOIDED

EXPERIENCE OF MISS MERKLEY

She Was Told That an Operation Was Inevitable. How She Escaped It.

When a physician tells a woman suffering with serious feminine trouble that an operation is necessary, the very thought of the knife and the operating table strikes terror to her heart, and our hospitals are full of women coming for just such operations.

There are cases where an operation is the only resource, but when one considers the great number of cases of menacing female troubles cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after physicians have advised operations, no woman should submit to one without first trying the Vegetable Compound and writing Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice, which is free.

Miss Margret Merkley, of 275 Third Street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"Loss of strength, extreme nervousness, shooting pains through the pelvic organs, bearing-down pains and cramps compelled me to seek medical advice. The doctor, after making an examination said I had a female trouble and ulceration and advised an operation. To this I strongly objected and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The ulceration quickly healed, all the bad symptoms disappeared and I am once more strong, vigorous and well."

Female troubles are steadily on the increase among women. If the monthly periods are very painful, or too frequent and excessive—if you have pain or swelling low down in the left side, bearing-down pains, don't neglect yourself: try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

DISAGREEMENT OF LIBEL JURY

Result of Asselin Libel Case At Quebec.

JUDGE BOSSE THREATENED

Anonymous Writer Speaks of Citing Him Before Parliament—Journalist Fined Fifty Dollars and Costs for Contempt of Court—Jury Were Hopelessly Divided—Commission May Be Appointed.

Quebec, June 3.—The disagreement of the jury in the Asselin libel case Saturday and their immediate dismissal by the judge was no surprise, for as the judge himself declared in addressing the jury, the case had assumed quite a political character for some time past, or ever since the correspondence concerning subscriptions to an alleged electoral fund came out in evidence.

The Government and its friends claim that the jury stood nine for conviction and three for acquittal. Asselin's friends assume to know that the twelve jurymen were equally divided in opinion. The defence consider the disagreement to be a success, and Asselin's friends in court crowded around him after the jury had been dismissed to shake hands and congratulate him.

Sensational Incident.

The most sensational incident of the day was the court's statement that it had received threatening letters during the trial. Judge Bosse did not relate this fact to the jury, but only after the latter had retired to consider its verdict and when the judge proceeded to take up the rule against Le Soleil newspaper for contempt of court in intervening in the case and attacking lawyers and witnesses. For this offence Mr. Dhellencourt, the responsible editor, was fined $50, though his friends declared publicly, after the court adjourned, that Premier Gouin, Attorney-General, who was in court himself during the proceedings, had assured them that the fine would be immediately remitted by his department.

Everybody Attacked.

In dealing with this case Judge Bosse said that a regular tempest seemed to have blown over the city since the trial commenced. Everybody had been attacked, including lawyers and witnesses, and even the court itself. He had been threatened by an anonymous letter to be cited before Parliament and even to lose his pension if he did not change his method of conducting the case. It might seem incredible, but it was true.

The letter he received said:

"We are in power at Quebec and in Ottawa, and if you do not change your attitude we will cite you before Parliament and will make you lose both your salary and your pension."

He explained that he had not read this before the jury because he did not wish it to influence them.

No Chance For Agreement.

The court spoke for an hour and a half and the jury, which retired at 11.30, returned into court at 12.45 and declared they could not agree, even if locked up for a year. They were then discharged. The charge was a moderate one. The court expressed the belief that the case should never have come before it, but have gone to the civil courts. He had done his best to prevent it coming, but the crown had insisted.

He declared that the evidence proved neglect of the mining department by the Minister, though he was busy with colonization matters at the time and not perhaps personally to blame. Nevertheless the facts were proved. As for Mr. Turgeon his character was left intact, and there was no malversation against Mr. Prevost, either proven or charged. But there was no malice proved against Asselin by the prosecution.

LAD SHOOTS HIS FATHER.

Was Protecting His Mother Against the Man's Attack.

New York, June 3.—In protecting his mother, Anthony Fuscilo, a 19-year-old lad, shot and killed his father, John Fuscilo, a laborer. The boy was arrested and told the police that his father came home in an irresponsible condition yesterday and threatened the mother with a revolver.

He declared he grappled with the elder man, wrested the pistol away, and that his father then started for him with a knife. Then he pointed the loaded gun at his father's head and fired.

Woman's Body Found.

Selkirk, Man., June 3.—A search party found the body of Mrs. W. Chambers, who wandered away from her home at Oak Hammock, on Saturday. She has been missing for nearly a week. The body was found about a mile and a half from the house, and death was apparently due to exposure.

Accused of Grave Offence.

Belleville, June 3.—David N. Fife, who is charged with criminal assault, committed on little 5-year-old Bessie Collins of this city, was brought up in the police court Saturday and was fully identified by his childish victim.

Fife was then remanded till next week.

Young Boy Drowned.

Kincardine, June 3.—Thos. Leithead, a boy of some 12 years of age, son of Thomas Leithead, Sr., lost his life on Saturday by drowning. In company with some other boys he was on a raft when a gust of wind upset the raft, throwing the young fellow into the lake.

Boy Drowned.

St. Catharines, June 3.—Jack Murdoch, 5 years old, was drowned in the old Welland Canal yesterday afternoon shortly after 4 o'clock. With his brother, Stuart, aged 7 years, he was playing on the banks of the military canal and fell in.

The body has not yet been recovered.

REVOLT OF THE CHINESE GROWING

Six Hundred Rebels Are Slain By Imperial Troops.

WHITE FANS ARE LEADERS

Rebels Are Well Fed and Organized But Poorly Armed—Were Accused of Being Pirates— Outbreak Is Not Anti-Foreign But Against the Dynasty—Amoy Not In Danger—People Are Fleeing.

Amoy, China, June 3.—The centre of the present Chinese uprising is at Juan, 50 miles southwest of Amoy. The officials there arrested the leaders of an organization known as the White Fans, charging them falsely with being pirates. The prisoners escaped, collected their followers, killed the prefect and other officials and held the local magistrate as a hostage.

Emboldened by this success, 30 00 rebels gathered and threatened Chaochowfu. Troops were hurried from Canton and Fuchow, and engaged the rebels Saturday between Swatow and Amoy, with the result that 600 of the latter were killed. The Government loss is not known. The rebels withdrew, but were not dispersed, and are rapidly recruiting their forces.

The correspondent here of the Associated Press is in a position to confirm the statement that the outbreak is not anti-foreign, but anti-dynastic. The White Fans are a revolutionary organization, and are strong in Southern Foukien. The movement has been growing steadily for 18 months. The leader is Soon Wen, who was educated in Japan. The rebels are well-organized and well fed, but are badly armed, so the local troops refuse to attack them.

The United States gunboat Helena is here. The outcome is uncertain, but Amoy is in no danger. On the other hand, Changchow, of which Amoy is the port, is in imminent danger of being attacked by the rebels, and people are fleeing from there to Amoy.

Druggist Refused Drug.

Pense, Sask., June 3.—The four children of Mr. and Mrs. Bottram, who resides here, have died from diphtheria. An order was sent to a firm of druggists in Regina for antitoxin, but as the money did not accompany the order, the drug was not sent.

If the anti-toxin had been obtained it is believed that the lives could have been saved, and the incident has caused considerable severe comment.

No Instructions Yet.

London, June 3.—Although The Hague conference meets within a fortnight, the British delegates have not yet been instructed as to the attitude they shall maintain on the subjects included in the Russian program or on other questions to be introduced by the powers participating at the conference.

AERIAL FLIGHT WAS A FATAL ONE

Balloonist Meets Tragic Death At Royal Military Review.

WAS STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Drops From Height of Seven Hundred Feet—Gas Bag Collapses With Loud Report—Aeronaut Never Regained Consciousness Though Picked Up Alive—King Victor Enquires After Victim.

Rome, June 3.—A tragic incident took place during a review body yesterday of troops by Victor Emmanual and Queen Helena. As a part of the manoeuvres, a military balloon was sent up to a height of 700 feet, with Uilivelli in the car.

A storm which had been coming up burst suddenly, and the thousands of spectators were horrified to see a flash of lightning strike the gas bag. There was an enormous burst of flame and a terrific detonation and the collapsed balloon, with its dangling car, fell to the earth over a mile from the scene of the review.

Crowds of persons, afoot and in autos and other conveyances, rushed in the direction where the balloon had fallen. Uilivelli was found alive, but unconscious. He was paced in an auto and rushed to a hospital, where he died without regaining consciousness.

King Victor Emmanuel and the military authorities went to the hospital after the review to enquire concerning him.

AFFECTS MANY BRIDGES.

Judge McHugh Decides That County Must Pay All Costs.

Windsor, June 3.—County Judge, McHugh has decided in favor of Rochester township in its suit brought against Essex county over the construction and maintenance of the bridge over the Ruscombe river. The bridge proper is one hundred feet in length, with approaches on either side which add five hundred feet to the length.

Judge McHugh upholds the township's contention that these approaches are a part of the bridge. The statutes require the county to assume all expenses of bridges over three hundred feet long. There are about twenty-five such bridges in this county.

The decision, if it stands, will compel the county to take over all of them and assume a large and unexpected expense.

QUAKE AT QUAYAQUIL.

Three Shocks Felt In Ecuador—Citizens Panic-Stricken.

Quayaquil, Ecuador, June 3.—Three earthquake shocks on Saturday caused the inhabitants of this city to jump from their beds and run panic-stricken into the streets.

The first and last of the shocks were slight, but the second was heavy and lasted about 40 seconds, causing the bells in the churches to ring and stopping the clocks in the church towers.

No news has yet been received from the interior of the republic, but it is considered probable that damage was done by the earth shocks in the country.

North York Liberals.

Newmarket, June 3.—In a convention which Saturday packed the Town Hall to overflowing, Frederick Underhill of Aurora was nominated to contest the riding of North York in the Liberal interest in the Provincial Legislature in opposition to the sitting member, Herbert Lennox, M.P.P.

Fred Underhill, the candidate, is a native of Markham Township, and previous to moving to Aurora, where he has been for the past years, was engaged in the manufacturer of boots and shoes in Markham Village, and is senior member of the firm of Underhill & Sisman, and conducts a large factory employing about 100 men.

C. C. Malloch Drowned.

Ottawa, June 3.—Charles C. Malloch, C. E., of Ottawa, lost his life at Mills Isles Rapids, at the foot of Lake of Two Mountains, on Saturday, while with a party who were taking surveys for the Georgian Bay Canal. The party was in a launch, and the young man was fouled by a cable and thrown into the water.

Deceased was a nephew of Lieut.-Col. Coutlee and G. R. Coutlee of the Georgian Bay Survey, and a son of the late Dr. Malloch of Ottawa.

Insolvent Broker Suicides.

London, June 3.—Frank Boyd May, who was a member of the stock exchange, was declared insolvent on the exchange Saturday morning and in the evening committed suicide at his residence, near Marlow.

GRAND DUKE IN PERIL.

Workman Attempts to Wreck His Train for Revenge.

Orel, Russia, June 3.—A train from Sebastopol to this city on which the Grand Duke Constantinovitch was a passenger, had a narrow escape from being wrecked on Saturday.

Shortly before the time of its arrival here an unknown person started a locomotive at full speed down the track.

The Grand Duke's train fortunately was late and the runaway engine captured before a collision occurred.

The incident is mystifying as the grand duke is known to be one of the most liberal-minded members of the Imperial family.

Later, the culprit was arrested, and it was found that he was a discharged workman, who sent the engine down the track out of a spirit of revenge, and not from any political motives.

Friday Not a Barrier.

Quebec, June 3.—Lieutenant-Governor and Lady Jette have issued invitations to a dinner and reception to be given at Spencer Wood in honor of Prince Fushimi on Friday, June 7.

This dinner and reception, having necessarily to take place on Friday, a special dispensation from abstaining has been asked for and granted by the ordinary of the diocese.

Four Negroes Drowned.

Spartansburg, S. C., June 3.—Four negroes were drowned in the Tyger River, 15 miles south of here, Saturday, when a bridge gave way with a mule team drawing a wagon occupied by 14 negroes. Their bodies have not been recovered.

WEAK HEART
SYSTEM WAS RUN DOWN

When the heart is healthy and performing its functions naturally, it should beat regularly seventy-two times a minute without causing the owner the slightest inconvenience or distress.

When it begins to beat irregularly or intermittently, palpitate and throb, skip beats, beat fast for a time, then so slow as to seem almost to stop, it causes great anxiety and alarm.

The least excitement or exertion seems to affect it.

Many people are kept in a state of morbid fear of death, become weak, worn and miserable, and are unable to attend to either social or business duties, through unnatural action of their heart.

To all such sufferers

My feet were always cold and I felt almost dead. My heart was weak and I was so nervous I could hardly walk across the street. I started taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and after using three boxes I felt much better. I continued their use until I had taken twelve boxes and I am now well."

COLLIDES WITH STEEL BARGE.

Serious Accident in Detroit River—Selwyn Eddy Goes Down.

Detroit, Mich., June 3.—The steamer Selwyn Eddy, one of the Shaw-Eddy fleet of boats, was sunk in the Detroit River on Saturday, in a collision with the steel barge, Maida, owned by the United States Steel Corporation.

Immediately after the collision the captain of the Eddy headed for the Canadian shore, and his steamer sank about 50 feet from shore in 25 feet of water, with her main deck submerged but a short distance.

None of the crew was injured.

The collision occurred just off the Village of Ecorse. The Maida was down-bound in tow of the steamer Vathise, and was cast off opposite the plant of the Great Lakes Engineering Company, where she was to go for repairs.

The big barge became unmanageable in the current before her anchor caught and she sheered into the Eddy, which was upbound, from Sandusky to Milwaukee, with coal.

The Maida, it is reported, did not suffer much damage.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN'S HEALTH.

Veteran Tariff Reformer Still Unable to Resume Active Politics.

London, June 3.—After the recent re-assuring reports from St. Raphael, France, regarding the improvement in the health of Joseph Chamberlain, his arrival in England on Saturday night was somewhat of a shock to the friends and admirers who gathered to meet him both here and at Dover. Quite apart from the fatigue of the troublesome journey, which he bore well, it was evident that Mr. Chamberlain was still a long way from such recovery as to give hope of his resuming political life with any activity.

In response to enquiries, the family authorized the following statement:

"Mr. Chamberlain has returned much improved in health and none the worse for the long journey. He has not yet made any plans, but will certainly remain in London for a time."

Educational Conference.

London, June 3.—(C. A. P.)—An official report of the private meetings of the Federal conference on education shows that in reference to the interchange of teachers and inspectors that the conference resolved that it was desirable that financial and administrative arrangements should be made for such a purpose. The conference also expressed the opinion that quadrennial conferences were desirable, and that the first should be convened by the Imperial Government. This will be held probably in 1911.

Forged His Father's Name.

Windsor, June 3.—Russell Lonsbury, the 16-year-old boy, who is accused by his father of taking $130 from an Essex Centre bank, by signing the father's name to a cheque and disappeared, has been located by Detective Campeau. The boy will be sent back to his father's place at Kingsville.

Windfall for Treasury.

The British Treasury has had another great "windfall." It will draw nearly $1,500,000 in "death duty" (inheritance tax) from the estate of the late Lord Allendale, whose will has just been proved. He left an estate of $16,300,000, excusive of much real estate, with coal and lead mines, in the north of England, which is entailed.

His estate is the largest that has been proved in England for 20 years, and the new baron succeeds to $12,500,000, besides all the real estate. The late peer, who was the first baron of the title, was formerly a member of Parliament. He inherited his vast estates and fortune from his father at the age of nineteen.

JUST FIFTY YEARS AGO

PRESENT UNREST IN INDIA RECALLS TRAGEDY OF 1857.

Terrible Lucknow Tragedy Can Never Be Forgotten—Flames of Burning Bungalows Gave First Signal—Legacy of Grief and Hate—Cawnpore's Fateful Well—Memory of Heroic Defenders Can Never Fade.

The present unrest in India recalls the fact that it is just fifty years, since the momentous evening in May, 1857, when the famous mutiny broke out."

"The number of those who can recall the anguish and suspense of that terrible year at home is all too quickly growing smaller; still fewer are the survivors of the gallant troops who took part in the toils and trials of the Mutiny campaign in India. To all such, says Blackwood's Magazine, this fiftieth anniversary cannot but be full of memories—memories many of them of anxiety, of horror, and of terror, but others, too, of pride in deeds of heroism and endurance, of elation at success hardly won, at duty unflinchingly accomplished in the face of difficulty and danger. Nor will the anniversary be overlooked even by the younger generations whose recollections cannot carry them back to events of half a century ago; least of all will it be forgotten in India.

Legacy of Hate.

"As the sun sets in a haze of heat and dust on May 10, and the long-darkened rooms are thrown open to catch, if they may, some breath of cooler air, we may be sure that the thoughts of many will go back to that sultry Sunday evening at Meerut, when the flames of the burning bungalows in the cavalry lines gave the first signal for the general conflagration, which was to wreck so many homes and leave behind it such a legacy of grief and hate.

"As for the heroes—and the heroines too—of those dark days of 1857, the memory of them has never faded. At Delhi the lofty spire of the monument on the historic Ridge looks across the intervening space, over the boulder-strewn hillocks and the white-walled bungalows almost hidden amidst the thick-growing shrubs, to the red sandstone walls of the imperial city and the delicate minars and milk-white domes of its Jamma Masjid; whilst below, amidst the trees, the new bronze statue of John Nicholson keeps watch over the cannon-wrecked breach by the Kashmir Gate.

The Fateful Well.

"At Cawnpore the fierce sunlight streaming through the painted windows of the Memorial Church stains the white radiance of the chancel floor, whose walls record the names of the gallant defenders, men and women, of Wheler's intrenchment; and a mile away a peaceful garden, where the shadows are ever restful and calm even when all the land seems to be gasping for breath, surrounds with its fresh and fragrant virdure the fateful well, where that 'great company of Christian people, mostly women and children,' who near this spot came out of much tribulation, sleep on together undisturbed.

"At Lucknow the trim lawns and well-kept paths smile on the crumbling ruins of the Residency, where Henry Lawrence fell; and the dark cypress bushes grow green round the stone by the Martoniere, where lies all that could die of William Hodson. So long as British rule lasts in India these memorials will never be neglected, nor will the names of those whom they honor be forgotten."

In the King's Pockets.

Some curious hunter after strange trifles asserts that he is enabled to list the contents of King Edward's pockets—that is, the ordinary contents.

In his waistcoat pocket we are told the King carries a gold pencil case, a cigar-cutter, the key of a secret coffer, a watch kept regularly timed by Greenwich and a handful of gold pieces, among which there is sometimes silver. Edward VII. also carries about him a thin pocketbook, to contain notes or observations he wishes to remember.

In the winter he carries his gloves in his overcoat pocket; in summer he always carries them in his hand, never dropping them into his coat pocket, as is the habit of some careless men of fashion.

His Majesty also usually carries about with him a small box of saccharine tablets, though usually those who entertain the monarch know very well his habit in this respect, so that nearly everywhere he goes he finds this substitute for sugar, which, by his doctor's orders, he is not allowed to take.

The parents of Eton boys are mainly of easy fortune, and the education for those who will be financially independent, is probably the best given; for a youth so unfortunate as to have to secure immediate employment after it it may be the worst. To make it answer both purposes is to require it to fulfil some mutually exclusive conditions, and the moral seems to be that until it ceases to be a suitable place of education for the rich, the poor should avoid it. For just as an excellent duellist with the pistol does not find his skill available when he has suddenly to descend unarmed into a street brawl, so must Eton under present conditions inevitably be an unsuitable school for direct hand-to-hand competition in the making of money, a fact which parents and other critics will do well to realize.—Alfred Fellows in Macmillan's Magazine.

A DISAPPOINTED SHAH.

Queer Story of a Prizefight in an English Royal Garden.

In his book of memories Major General Sir Owen Tudor Burns tells a story of the first visit of a shah to Great Britain:

The shah wanted to see a prizefight, with blood. After much anxious thought and consultation with Lord Queensberry an innocent glove fight was arranged in the Buckingham palace stables, to take place quietly half an hour before the shah was to receive Lord Shaftesbury and the archbishops and bishops with a memorial asking him to protect the interests of the Christians in Persia.

But the shah slept late. The prizefighters overlapped the prelates. A footman made a mistake in opening the door. Archbishops and bishops following the shah in a moment found themselves more or less in a ring round the two prizefighters. The bishops hustled back to the reception room, the fight was stopped, the shah was angry and disappointed, and Lord Shaftesbury was heard shouting: "A prizefight in the garden of the queen's palace forsooth! I will denounce you all over the kingdom!" Mutual explanations followed, the matter was set right, we sent special messages to the reporters to keep it out of the press, and I was later on privileged to explain it all to the queen, who took the matter much more calmly than her lord chamberlain. Once back, however, inside Buckingham palace, we all smoothed our ruffled feathers and listened to a most gloomy oration from Lord Shaftesbury.

The shah, angry at the interruption of his prizefight, turned round to Sir Henry Rawlinson and growled in Persian: "Hang the Christians in Persia! Tell them they're all right!" Rawlinson translated that into a long, eloquent and beautiful reply to the deputation, while doubtless the disappointed boxers were having a consolation scrap in the stables. Lord Shaftesbury did not denounce them, though the shah's bear leaders lived in terror for some days.

The lord chamberlain blamed me, I blamed the shah, the shah blamed the equerry, the equerry blamed the footman, the footman blamed every one all round, and we gave the prizefighters £5 apiece, with a resolution written in blood that never would any of us again arrange a prizefight, even for a shah of shahs, in a royal palace garden.

BEYOND THE GRAVE.

Victor Hugo's Views on the Question of a Future Life.

Victor Hugo's opinion on the question of life beyond the grave was a remarkable one. The great Frenchman was firmly convinced that he would meet all his friends in a future world. He was equally sure that he had always existed from the antediluvian times, when the Creator placed him on earth. He believed that he would exist forever, inasmuch as he felt in his soul thousands of hymns, dramas and poems that had never found expression.

When the atheists would say to him, "The proof that you will not exist in the future is that you did not exist in the past," Hugo would answer:

"Who told you I did not exist in the past centuries? You will say that is the legend of the ages. The poet has written, 'Life is a fairy tale twice written.' He might have said a thousand times written. You do not believe in the doctrine of surviving personalities for the reason that you do not recollect your anterior existence. But how can the recollection of vanished ages remain imprinted on your memory when you do not remember a thousand and one scenes and events of your present life? Since 1802 there have been ten Victor Hugos in me. Do you think that I can recall all their actions and all their thoughts?

"The tomb is dark, and when I shall have passed the tomb to emerge into light once more all these Victor Hugos will be almost wholly strangers to me, but it will always be the same soul."—Scrap Book.

He Could Walk.

All are not soldiers who wear a uniform, as General Lew Wallace found out at Fort Donelson. He saw four soldiers carrying a fifth, who seemed to be wounded.

"Can't that man walk without assistance?" asked Wallace.

"Oh, no!" said the men. "He is dying."

Just then a shell exploded near by, and the four men dropped their burden and fled. The man who was supposed to be wounded leaped to his feet and ran even faster than the others.

He Liked the Family.

"Dick proposed to me last night."

"What did you tell him?"

"I said he had better ask mamma. And what do you think the wretch said?"

"Goodness knows."

"He said he had asked her already, and she wouldn't have him."

A Settler.

Killed by a Scratch!

SAD INCIDENT WHICH ZAM-BUK MIGHT HAVE AVERTED.

"John Coxe has died in the Saskatoon Hospital from blood poisoning which followed a scratch on the hand." Compare this sad result with the following experience told by Alf. Henry Orth, of Shipley, Ont.—"I had a rusty wire nail run under my thumb-nail, which caused a very bad wound, and the nail being rusty I feared serious consequences. I knew how good Zam-Buk is, and so melted a little and let it run into the wound under the thumb-nail. In quick time it relieved the acute pain, and after that I went on with my work just as usual. In a short time the injury was quite cured."

Now, why did this severe wound cause no trouble, and the trivial scratch end fatally? Nothing could more powerfully illustrate the virtue of Zam-Buk. Blood Poison, Smarting Pain, Festering, Ulceration—all these were never intended by Nature. Zam-Buk contains just those herbal saps, and extracts, and essences which Nature has provided for healing sores and wounds, and preventing evil consequences. Zam-Buk applied to a sore or wound, instantly kills all disease germs and cleanses the wound. The smarting and burning at once cease, and the process of healing is commenced. In a short time the surface anointed with Zam-Buk is as smooth and healthy as before injury. Just ask your friends who have proved Zam-Buk if this is not their experience.

ZAM-BUK CURES SUMMER ECZEMA, ITCH, ETC.

For Summer Eczema, Itch, Heat Spots and the many serious skin troubles common in hot weather, Zam-Buk is a sure cure.

Mrs. M. McCulloch, of Fall Brook (Ont.), says: "I had Eczema on my face and ears, and in hot weather the itching and pain were terrible. For two years everything I tried was unavailing. Zam-Buk was highly recommended to me and, to my great delight, it cured me completely."

Zam-Buk cures Heat Sores, Sunburn, Chafing Sores, Ulcers, Sore Feet, Blisters, Blood Poison, Insect Stings, Eruptions, Eczema, Itch, Piles, Fistula, Cuts, Bruises, Burns, Scalds and all skin injuries and diseases. ## SCORES SMOKY LONDON.

King's Physician Tells of Choked Lungs and Other Ills.

How those who live in English cities where soft coal is burned are poisoned by the air they breathe has been vividly described by Sir Frederick Treves, the King's surgeon, at a meeting of the Coal Smoke Abatement Society. The evil of smoke, with fog, the product of smoke, in London, is so real that a society has been formed to fight it. Sir Frederick stated that the London air in one of the cleanest parts contains six tons of smut to the square mile.

Describing how this affects the lungs of Londoners, the famous surgeon said: "The lung of a young child is a dainty pink. The lung of an adult, if he lives in a city, is inky-blue, thunder-cloud blue, marked by patches and stripes of black. This is due absolutely and entirely to dirt, and chiefly to soot.

"The soot blocks up the interstices of the lungs and chokes the bronchial glands, so that the bronchial gland of the dweller has a coal-black surface. I have seen lungs in London that have been absolutely black from the surface to the very depths.

"The London fog kills people by thousands. If no plant can live or flourish in a London back-garden, how can it be supposed that a human being can go through a London winter unharmed? The wretchedness of a London winter is that of being weeks and months without light."

King Edward has paid an unusual heraldic honor to Sir Francis Laking and Sir Frederick Treves, the royal physician and surgeon. Each of the doctors may now quarter the lion of the royal arms on his own shield of arms, as an "honorable augmentation."

This privilege has been granted in recognition of their great skill and unremitting attention during His Majesty's dangerous illness in 1902, which caused the postponement of the coronation. Their work in those critical days will thus be commemorated in the family arms which will go down to their descendants.

AEROPLANE FLIES 90 FEET.

Amusing Scenes at Competition of Models.

The conquest of the air has been brought one step nearer by the remarkable tests of model aeroplanes made at the Alexandra Palace, London.

The trials took place under the auspices of the Aero Club, and were organized by The Daily Mail in connection with their £10,000 prize for the first flight from London to Manchester. Of the three prizes offered of £150, £75 and £25 respectively, only the last two were awarded, the judges withholding the first prize. Mr. A. V. Roe secured the second prize and Mr. W. F. Howard the third.

There were inevitably some almost laughable failures. Certain models refused to rise. Others accomplished a perfect flight to the ground, drawn there by the forces of gravitation. Some went 12 feet before collapsing; some broke down at the moment of flight. One inventor, a Mr. F. W. Thomas, created a sensation by propelling his model by a rocket tied to its tail. This novel means of propulsion was not a success, for the aeroplane only dived and ploughed the grass a few feet away.

At the second attempt Mr. A. V. Roe's model accomplished a wonderful flight. Neither rising nor falling, it went full into the net at the end of the course—ninety feet away — a flight which was warmly cheered.

Three flights were made by Mr. Howard's delicately-constructed model. Twice he held it captive by a piece of tape, following its course on foot. Seventy-five feet it covered at the first attempt, and it would have gone further at the second, only Mr. Howard could not follow it fast enough. At the third trial he was induced to let it fly alone. After a beautiful flight, it unfortunately smashed itself into fragments in reaching the ground.

is usually the direct result of a clogged liver, and accompanying this is a disordered digestion, unstrung nerves and general lassitude. Eliminate the waste products of the body and enable the liver and kidneys to perform their proper functions and the entire system will resume its normal condition. King Palmetto Compound is the most perfect kidney and liver tonic, nerve builder and blood purifier ever prepared, and you are not asked to take it on faith. Its formula is not a secret, but is published plainly on the wrapper. If in doubt show it to your doctor. One dose a day is all that is required and the first dose will give you proof of its virtues; sick-headache, biliousness, and general nervous break-down respond immediately to its curative properties. Rheumatism and a host of disorders resulting from impure blood are relieved and eventually cured by its use. Neuralgia and all nervous disorders quickly disappear when their cause is removed. ## MARK TWAIN'S STOGIES.

The Effect They Produced on the After Dinner Festivities.

One night at the Hartford Monday Evening club meeting George, our colored butler, came to me when the supper was nearly over, and I noticed that he was pale. Normally his complexion was a clear black and very handsome, but now it had modified to old amber. He said:

"Mr. Clemens, what are we going to do? There is not a cigar in the house but those old Wheeling long nines. Can't nobody smoke them but you! They kill at thirty yards. It is too late to telephone—we couldn't get any cigars out from town—what can we do? Ain't it best to say nothing and let on that we didn't think?"

"No," I said, "that would not be honest. Fetch out the long nines," which he did.

I had just come across those "long nines" a few days or a week before. I hadn't seen a long nine for years. When I was a cub pilot on the Mississippi in the late fifties I had had a great affection for them, because they were not only—to my mind—perfect, but you could get a basketful of them for a cent—or a dime. They didn't use cents out there in those days. So when I saw them advertised in Hartford I sent for a thousand at once. They came out to me in badly battered and disreputable looking old square pasteboard boxes, 200 in a box. George brought a box, which was caved in on all sides, looking the worst it could, and began to pass them around. The conversation had been brilliantly animated up to that moment, but now a frost fell upon the company—that is to say, not all of a sudden, but the frost fell upon each man as he took up a cigar and held it poised in the air—and there, in the middle, his sentence broke off. That kind of thing went on all around the table until when George had completed his crime the whole place was full of a thick solemnity and silence.

Those men began to light the cigars. Rev. Dr. Parker was the first man to light. He took three or four heroic whiffs, then gave it up. He got up with the remark that he had to go to the bedside of a sick parishioner. He started out. Rev. Dr. Burton was the next man. He took only one whiff and followed Parker. He furnished a pretext, and you could see by the sound of his voice that he didn't think much of the pretext and was vexed with Parker for getting in ahead with a fictitious ailing client. Rev. Mr. Twichell followed and said he had to go now because he must take the midnight train for Boston. Boston was the first place that occurred to him, I suppose.

It was only a quarter to 11 when they began to distribute pretexts. At ten minutes to 11 all those people were out of the house. When nobody was left but George and me, I was cheerful. I had no compunctions of conscience, no griefs of any kind. But George was beyond speech because he held the honor and credit of the family above his own, and he was ashamed that this smirch had been put upon it. I told him to go to bed and try to sleep it off. I went to bed myself. At breakfast in the morning when George was passing a cup of coffee I saw it tremble in his hand. I knew by that sign that there was something on his mind. He brought the cup to me and asked impressively:

"Mr. Clemens, how far is it from the front door to the upper gate?"

I said, "It is a hundred and twenty-five steps."

He said, "Mr. Clemens, you can start at the front door, and you can go plumb to the upper gate and tread on one of them cigars every time."

It wasn't true in detail, but in essentials it was.—Mark Twain's Autobiography in North American Review.

A MANCHURIAN INN.

Chinese Food and Beds—High Walls to Protect Against Thieves.

The inn at Tieling, which was similar to the inns all over northern Manchuria, had a big compound surrounded by a high mud wall with gates. The long distance carts going down the country with beans and bringing back goods are driven inside these compounds for safety from robbers each night, says the South China Post, and during the great hauling season in winter these inns are crowded.

The walls of the inns are of mud plastered on a center wall made by weaving reeds together. The windows are mostly of oiled paper, with possibly one small pane of glass in the center. The rafters are rounded timbers on which are spread reeds, then a layer of coarse matting and then packed mud. In the cities the better inns have brick walls and tiled roofs, but are otherwise about the same.

It was necessary to sleep on the "k'ang" and eat Chinese food. In these inns the first place entered is the kitchen, a square space with mud floors and raised mud ovens with clay and iron pots. From this one passes through a cloth hung doorway into the inn proper. At Tieling this was twenty to sixty feet, down the middle of which was an eight foot aisle with packed mud floor.

On each side were ranged the "k'angs," raised mud embankments, brick faced, some thirty inches high and six feet wide. On these are spread mattings, and here all guests roll themselves in their own blankets and sleep side by side, with their feet to the wall and their heads to the center aisle. A fire underneath runs the length of each "range," and a fire at one end furnishes the hot air, which passes through and out at a mud chimney and warms the sleepers.

The meals are served on these "k'angs" on little tables about a foot high. At these inns a teapot is always kept warm over a fire in a raised mud embankment in the middle of the main aisle.

IN WRECKS AT SEA.

The Way Man Act When They Lose Their Heads and Nerve.

What has most struck me in my many experiences of shipwrecks has been the strangely diverse ways in which the passengers acquit themselves under intense excitement and panic, said a lifeboat man to the writer.

Women cry, faint and cling to each other, but are least trouble. Men often act very strangely. I remember one man throwing into the lifeboat a heavy trunk which he wanted to save, but which we promptly heaved overboard.

Some men become quite panic stricken. I've seen strong men, probably brave enough in other cases, fighting fiercely for the life buoys and thrusting the women and children aside in frantic endeavors to leap into the boat first; yet, strangely enough, one man who thus disgraced himself has since obtained the Royal Humane society's medal for saving life at sea, thrice volunteering with a scratch crew in aid of a distressed vessel.

I've known others who became so stupefied with fright as to resist all attempts at rescuing them, begging to be left to die and having to be forcibly thrown into the lifeboat. Some persons frequently become half demented, and I've known several cases where they have in a frenzy committed suicide by positively jumping headlong into the sea and drowning themselves, and one man to insure his sinking filled his pockets with coal.

Some years ago another passenger, hearing the ship had struck, went and drowned himself in the bathroom, anticipating his fate, as it were.

I remember another case where a passenger hanged himself in his cabin just as the lifeboat arrived.—London Tit-Bits.

Looked Into the Wall.

A rather peculiar case of absent-mindedness was that related of Peter Burrowes, an Irish lawyer. A friend who called on Burrowes at an early hour one morning found him shaving with his face held close to an empty wall. "What on earth are you assuming that attitude for?" he asked.

"To look in the glass," was the reply.

"But there's no glass there," laughed the acquaintance.

"Bless you! I didn't notice that before," said Burrowes, and then calling his servant he asked him what had become of the mirror.

"Why, sir," said the man, "it was broken six weeks ago."

A French Joke.

Here is a French joke that is rather English in character: The Marquis de Favieres, notorious for his impecuniosity, called on a man of means named Barnard and said:

"Monsieur, I am going to astonish you. I am the Marquis de Favieres. I do not know you, and I come to borrow 500 louis."

"Monsieur," Barnard replied, "I am going to astonish you much more. I know you, and I am going to lend them."

"Deduction is the thing," declared the law student. "For instance, yonder in our yard is a pile of ashes. That is evidence that we have had fires this winter."

"And, by the way, John," broke in his father, "you might go out and sift that evidence."

Just as Good.

Flasherly—Such a joke! Kit talked to a wax figure for half an hour thinking it was Cholly Saphead.

Dasherly—How on earth did she discover her mistake?

"Bless you, she didn't."

A friend may well be reckoned the masterpiece of nature.—Emerson.

CANADA MAY BURN PEAT.

Government Studies Problem of Producing Fuel.

The high prices of coal in the middle provinces of Canada, the depletion of forests, in older settled parts, together with increasing value of wood for fuel purposes, and the suffering caused by scarcity of fuel in recent years are causes which have led the Government to take active steps to ascertain the possibilities of peat production for fuel and other purposes in this country.

The estimated peat producing area so far reported distributed over the different provinces of the dominion is 37,008 square miles, with an average depth of from 8 to 10 feet. Further investigation will undoubtedly prove that this estimate represents but a fraction of the total area of available peat. The comparative fuel value of coal peat and wood shows that a ton of coal is equal to 1.8 tons of peat or 2.5 tons of wood.

Investigation Is Ordered.

With a view of gathering information as to the commercial value and the best methods of utilizing the peat bogs of Ontario and Quebec, Mr. Templeman, Minister of Mines, has appointed Erik Nystrom, an engineer on the staff, to investigate the peat industry of Europe. Mr. Nystrom has been instructed to proceed to Holland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Finland, and Germany to study the peat plants in operation and collect all available information in regard to the methods of working peat bogs, the machinery used, the cost of production and the subsequent conversion of the peat into briquettes for fuel. His report, it is expected, will be ready early next fall.

Recent improvements in gas producers and gas engines have opened a new field for the utilization of peat and lignite. A power plant located at the peat bog, using producer gas derived from peat, may furnish electric energy to be transmitted to the market in the same way as hydro-electric energy. Other industries in Europe using peat as a raw material are at present either developed or in progress of development—such as the manufacture of peat coke, wood alcohol, moss litter, etc.

Increase In Coal Output.

There has been a remarkable increase in the production and consumption of coal in Canada during the last few years, and consequently there has been a widespread interest in the labor troubles in the mines in the west.

The production of coal in 1877 was a little more than a million tons. In 1886 it crossed the two million mark, and in 1890 it was slightly more than 3,000,000. In 1902 the production was more than 7,000,000 tons, and last year it was a little short of 10,000,000.

SUNDAY OBSERVANCE.

Respect For Sabbath Not Increased By Strict Legislation.

The people of British Columbia object to the new Sunday laws made by the Dominion Parliament. They say that when they want to stop Sunday newspapers they will pass their own legislation. The Attorney-General of the province, according to the despatches, has announced that he will not be a party to any prosecutions. That makes it easy, because he must be a party to ensure success. There is the same situation practically in Quebec. All the other provinces regard the law as defective in details but desirable in principle.

Keeping Sunday was once a family and religious matter, and the Sabbath was fairly well kept. Since the morals and the religion of the people passed into the keeping of self-constituted bodies like the Lord's Day Alliance, ideas as to Sunday observance seem to have broadened. Any attempt to place morality and religion on a scientific or business basis is likely to end in disaster. It is undeniable that the growth of towns and cities seems inevitably to lead to more freedom of conduct, but it is questionable if the Canadian respect for Sunday will be strengthened or weakened by strict legislation.—Courier.

The Scot In Canada.

There has been and is an extraordinary rush towards Canada from Scotland. During the past year no fewer than 15,846 of her sons and daughters succumbed to the fascination of the once "wild and woolly" west. The Scotaman tabulates the figures of Scots arriving in Canada for the past few years:

|---|---|
| 1899 | 747 |
| 1900 | 983 |
| 1901 | 1,476 |
| 1902 | 2,857 |
| 1903 | 7,046 |
| 1904 | 10,552 |
| 1905 | 11,744 |
| 1906 | 15,846 |

making a grand total of no less than 50,933, or an average of over 6,000 for each of the eight years indicated. Already this year, up to within a fortnight or so, the number is said to be somewhere over 8,000. None, the commissioner of immigration at Winnipeg says, possesses the settler's spirit so manifestly, or does the settler's work so thoroughly, as the Scot.

Arrested on Libel Charge.

James H. Crockett, managing director of The Fredericton Gleaner, was arrested last week on a warrant issued by Police Magistrate Marsh at the instance of Henry R. Emmerson, ex-Minister of Railways and Canals, in the Canadian Cabinet, charging him with defamatory libel. The warrant was served in the police magistrate's office, and the accused was immediately admitted to bail in the sum of $800, being held in his own recognizance for $400 and land securities of $200 each. The bondsmen are Harry F. McLeod and Chas. A. Gurchill. The preliminary examination was fixed for Wednesday, 29th instant, at 11 o'clock a. m. The information sets forth that the defendant was responsible for the publication in The Gleaner newspaper on March 27 last, of an article seriously reflecting on the moral character of Henry R. Emmerson, thereby injuring his reputation and exposing him to hatred, contempt and ridicule.

MAKING THINGS DO.

Willing Sacrifices People Will Make In Time of War.

Not the only heroes of war were those who bore the musket and sword. The women and children who stayed at home and kept up heart in spite of the privations of siege are to be numbered among the valiant. A glimpse of some of the southern domestic economies during the civil war is given by Miss M. J. Walsh in her personal recollections printed by the Mississippi Historical society:

Among the glorious achievements of that time the makeshifts at home deserve recognition, for they represent ingenuity and willing sacrifice. As various articles gave out substitutes were found. If no substitute could be invented for an article we simply did without.

Coffee, the southerners' daily beverage, was manufactured from parched corn, burnt corn bread, even burnt molasses. Sweet potatoes cut into small squares, dried, parched and ground were also used. The stimulating effect was lacking, but it was all the better for our nerves. For tea, young raspberry leaves dried were used.

Sugar was a serious problem, and molasses was as precious as sugar.

"What shall we do when the present supply of Louisiana molasses gives out?" was a burning question, and the only answer was, "Do without."

Grits were eaten for rice. When we wanted soda we swept the fireplace clean and burned corncobs.

Mustard and pepper were made of home grown products. Salt was costly. Every bit was shaken off dry pork and used. All brine was boiled down and dried. Still the supply grew lower and lower. Some one discovered that the dirt floors of the old smokehouses were salt mines, so to speak. The dirt was put in hoppers and run down, the brine boiled and dried.

All new cloth had to be manufactured at home from raw material. The dyestuffs were made from roots, bark, walnuts and indigo.

Shoes were rough affairs made from the hides of beeves, cured by the negroes. Buttons were made of coarse thread or persimmon seeds. Caps were cut out of cloth and hats plaited from palmetto.

Letters were written on the blank leaves of books, the wrong side of wall scraps or old envelopes turned and pasted together.

Peculiar Vienna Custom.

The Viennese take their pleasures as regularly as they do their meals, but they do not neglect business or keep late hours. One thing perhaps which helps to keep the young Viennese of moderate means and economical mind regular in his evening hours is the fact that he must pay to get into his own rooms after 10 o'clock. Vienna is one vast system of apartment houses, and a house master is in charge of each one. At 10 o'clock he locks the front door, and any one desiring to get in after that hour must pay for admittance, and the old resident has no more right to a key than the ephemeral lodger.—London Graphic.

Birds' Wages.

In the garden there are a thousand small offenders that he who tills the soil for pleasure would willingly forgive. If it be granted that the thrush and the blackbird steal a certain amount of fruit, still their presence is so beautiful and their song so sweet that what they take may gladly be accorded as wages.

The girl who always ponders twice
Ere she speaks once, by gum,
Is either very, very nice
Or else she's deaf and dumb!

HELD UP BY ARMED ROBBERS.

Masked Highwaymen Stop Auto and Demand Valuables.

Toronto, June 4.—What looked like a well-planned hold-up took place just east of the Hunt Club premises on the Kingston road last night at 9.30 o'clock. John H. Richardson and his son, Fred, who is connected with Scarboro Beach Park, were going to their home at Highland Creek in an automobile, when they noticed two men with a lantern in the roadway.

The Richardsons stopped the auto to see what was the matter, when the men, who were masked, drew revolvers and demanded their money.

One of the men held them at the revolver point until his companion went through their pockets and searched the automobile.

Everything of value was taken, and the stripped autoiste proceeded to the Half-Way House, where they notified the city police by 'phone. These communicated with County Constable J. T. Brown, who hurried to the scene, arriving there three-quarters of an hour after the robbery. He believes that he knows the perpetrators of the deed. Constable Burns was also engaged on the case.

TRIED TO CLOSE CROSSING.

Police, C. P. R., and Town Officials Have a Lively Time.

Calgary, Alta., June 4.—A general mix-up between the Northwest Mounted Police, the authorities of the Town of Olds, and the C.P.R. officials, was yesterday the result of the railway officials trying to close up a crossing in the town, backed up by a posse of police.

The first conflict took place between the town officials and the police, who were guarding the men at work on the railway crossing. The C.P.R. had threatened to block up the crossing before, but had always met with severe opposition on the part of the citizens and the authorities at Olds.

This time, however, the company had determined to carry their decision to a successful issue, and obtained the assistance of a squad of Mounted Police to guard their workmen.

The precaution was not unwisely taken, for the men had done but little work when the trouble started. Both sides were determined to carry their point, the town to have the crossing left open, and the C.P.R. to close it, and the police had been detailed to protect the C.P.R. workmen, and were placed in the awkward position of taking the defence of a corporation against the authorities of a town.

There was a conflict, and the Riot Act was read. Arrests were made on both sides on warrants signed by the mayor of the town, and among those placed under arrest were several C.P.R. officials, and warrants were issued for Police Inspector Duffs and C.P.R. Superintendent Nihlock.

The Mounted Police patrolled the streets last night.

KILLED IN AUTO SMASH.

Car Dashes Into Butcher's Rig Causing Two Deaths.

Buffalo, June 4.—Harry Hamlin, one of Buffalo's best known and wealthiest citizens, was killed in an automobile accident on the Williamsville road, a mile north of the city line, late yesterday afternoon. Mr. Hamlin's automobile collided with a light wagon driven by Jacob Schaller, a retired butcher of Buffalo. Hamlin was hurled to the roadside and instantly killed. Schaller was badly hurt, but will recover. John Neckel, a 12-year-old boy, who was in Schaller's rig, was fatally injured. Both his legs were broken, and his skull fractured.

In the automobile with Mr. Hamlin were Anthony Gavin, a member of the Buffalo police force, and two of Hamlin's employes, one of them acting as chauffeur. Opposite the Country Club two automobiles going in the same direction passed the Hamlin party. The road was covered with a heavy coating of dust, and the two rapidly-moving machines left a dense cloud of dust in their trail.

Schaller and the boy were driving toward Buffalo, and the automobiles were going in the opposite direction toward Williamsville.

The first two machines passed them well to the right, and Schaller was peering ahead through the dust cloud when Hamlin's machine flashed directly in front of him. There was no time to turn out. The automobile struck the horse, tearing off its front legs and carrying the wreckage of the wagon 200 feet down the road. Schaller was tossed to one side, but the boy was jammed into the wreckage of the rig and the front of the automobile.

RECEIVED BY THE KING.

Sobs and Other Heroes of Indian Mutiny at the Levee.

London, June 4.—The third levee of the season was held by King Edward at St. James' Palace yesterday afternoon, and was more than usually interesting because of the presence of a large contingent of officers who served during the mutiny in India half a century ago.

Some 50 veteran officers, headed by Field Marshal Lord Roberts, about a dozen of whom wore the Victoria Cross, formed the most interesting group at the function, with them being a handful of civilians whose gallant deeds in 1857 led to the first bestowal of the Victoria Cross on non-military men.

The King drove to St. James' Pal-

PRAISED AND BLAMED.

Hamilton Methodist Conference on Government License Policy.

Berlin, June 4.—The committees of conference reported at yesterday afternoon's session. Among the most important was that of the temperance and moral reform committee.

Regret was expressed that local inspectors and commissions have shown much remissness in duty, and so far as they are concerned complaints of defective enforcement and improper administration are very general in conference territory. The action of the Government in not granting licenses in New Ontario was considered a great boon.

With painful regret the committee pronounced itself on refusal of the Whitney Government to withdraw the three-fifths clause of the Local Option Act.

Cobalt, June 4.—At the O'Brien mine yesterday afternoon, at the 150 foot level, David Blair, a Scotchman, recently arrived in Cobalt, was instantly killed and Harry Weldy of Orillia fatally injured. Both his eyes were blown out, both legs broken and he suffered other injuries.

The accident was caused by the explosion of an old charge.

Blair was a married man. Weldy has been mining for 15 years, and came to Cobalt from Copper Cliff. Both were 30 years of age.

A DISASTROUS FIRE ON OCEAN LINER

White Star Steamer Narrowly Escapes Destruction.

FIRE BUGS ARE SUSPECTED

Cargo of Glucose Burns Like Oil—Forbes Robertson Loses His Theatrical Scenery—Fierce Blaze Below Water Line Burned for Five Hours—Firemen Have Perilous Task—Loss Is Severe.

New York, June 4.—The White Star Line's giant steamer Oceanic had a narrow escape from destruction by fire yesterday while lying at her pier in the Hudson River. For five hours the flames raged unchecked in one of her big holds, and it was only with the combined efforts of the firemen and her crew of more than half a thousand men that the fire finally was extinguished. The damage will amount to several thousand dollars, but as the flames were confined to the hold in which they started, it is believed that repairs can be made in time for the Oceanic to sail on schedule time to-morrow.

The fire was one of the most stubborn the firemen have had to fight in many months, and a full score of them were overcome by smoke and noxious fumes before the blaze was checked. All of the men were quickly revived, however. The fire started just before two o'clock yesterday morning, and worked rapidly downward to the lower part of the hold, 30 feet below the lower deck, where 120 barrels of glucose had been stored. The burning glucose sent up a dense volume of thick, pungent smoke. In the hold the firemen were sent with the hose. They worked in short relays, but even then many of them were overcome and were carried out of the hold by their companions. After five hours of the most difficult work the flames were checked, and an hour later the work of repairing the damage was well under way. All the bedding and other perishable fittings of the steerage was destroyed, in addition to a quantity of freight. Among the cargo was some theatrical scenery belonging to Forbes Robertson, who recently left for England after a successful season in America, and this is said to have been burned or damaged.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but the suspicion was prevalent yesterday that it was the result of incendiarism. The loss will reach several thousand dollars. It was stated that the sailing of the steamer will not be delayed.

APPEALED TO ENGLISH TARS.

Striking French Sailors Seek to Prevent Passage of Emigrants.

Navre, June 4.—The striking seamen here have sent an urgent appeal to their English comrades at Southampton not to allow the emigrants from Havre to go on board British vessels at that port for transportation to the United States and assurances have been obtained that the strikers at Cherbourg will try to prevent their embarkation there.

There was a lively riot here yesterday between striking men and fisherwomen and non-striking fisher-women and fishermen. The latter were assailed by the former, who after the struggle emptied their fish baskets. A number of arrests were made.

TREATY WITH JAPAN ON INDIA

Agreement With Great Britain As to Protection of India.

IMPORTANT NEGOTIATIONS

Japan Will Support Britain's Control With Full Strength of Her Navy—Russia Is Aimed At — Britain's Obligation Not Yet Made Known—Will Probably Assist Her Eastern Ally Financially.

London, June 4.—(C.A.P.)—I am informed that very important negotiations have recently taken place in London between Prince Fushimi and Admiral Yamamoto, representing Japan, and Sir Edward Grey of the British Foreign Office. The purpose of the negotiations is to arrange an extension of the scope of the Anglo-Japanese agreement, so as to provide that Japan shall be bound to assist Great Britain in the event of British control of India being attacked by any other power.

Japan's Navy Will Act.

Japan, I am told, does not contemplate sending an army to India to support her ally in case the latter should be in trouble. Her undertaking would be to support Great Britain in India against any other power with the full strength of the Japanese navy. I am unable to state precisely to what stage the negotiations between Japan's representatives and the Foreign Office have been advanced, but my understanding is that a complete agreement has been drafted for submission to the Japanese Government.

What Japan would get in return for what she gave my informant was unable to state, but he suggested that for one thing it might be agreed that this country should do everything possible to help Japan to maintain her financial standing here and elsewhere.

Is Russia Aimed At?

Of course, the only power that is likely to interfere with British control of India is Russia, so the proposed agreement between Japan and Great Britain must be regarded as in the nature of an alliance against Russia. That being the case, it seems extraordinary that such an alliance is contemplated at a time when Japan is concluding a treaty with Russia in connection with the Portsmouth protocol and Great Britain to negotiating with Russia for an entente similar to that she has with France. When I suggested this to my informant his reply was that the intention of Japan and Great Britain was to keep the negotiations in which Prince Fushimi figured a secret; in fact to negotiate a secret treaty.

THE IRISH BILL DEAD.

British Government Decide to Withdraw the Measure.

London, June 4.—In the House of Commons yesterday Premier Campbell-Bannerman formally announced that the Government, in view of the action of the Irish Nationalist convention at Dublin in rejecting the Irish bill, had decided to drop the measure.

The Premier said the Irish people would have done well to give the details of the measure more attention than appeared to have been the case at the recent convention at Dublin, but in view of the unanimous decision to reject the bill, the Government could not go any further. He added that the decision of the representatives of the Irish people was a source of sincere regret and disappointment to the Ministers.

Now that the Irish bill was dropped, the Government intended to introduce an "evicted tenants' restoration bill" with powers of compulsory purchase. The licensing bill would be dropped, as also would be the case with the measure designed to relieve the "passive registers" from paying education rates for religious instruction, but the Government was determined to introduce next session a comprehensive education bill, putting the whole educational system of the country in order.

In regard to the proposed restriction of the powers of the House of Lords, the Premier said it was proposed later in the session to introduce a resolution on the subject, when the Government would fully set forth its views.

WOMEN ARE THE BEST FIGHTERS

Captain of Finnish Red Guard Praises His Women Soldiers.

FAST RUNNERS--BEST SHOTS

Kock, Leader of Revolution, Escapes to America—Heavy Price Set Upon His Head—Eludes Russian Secret Police—Women Often Braver Than Men—Greater and More Terrible Revolt Yet to Come.

New York, June 4.—Capt. J. Kock, leader of the famous Finnish Red Guard, the revolutionary militia of Finland, although searched for by the secret police of Russia over all Europe, has arrived safely and is staying with friends on the east side.

There is a price of many thousand rubles on his head, but Capt. Kock declares that he will continue his work for the liberation of Finland, and that uprisings greater and more terrible than those of the past will confront the Russian Government.

The Finnish Red Guard consists of 10,000 men and 5,000 women, all armed with the latest model Mauser rifles, well drilled and capable of being mobilized at a moment's notice.

In an interview Capt. Kock said: "The best soldiers in my army were the women. I had a division of women, led by women officers, and they did splendid service and were sometimes braver than the men. I rejoice to think of my women troops. They were the best shots and runners.

"The women soldiers in the Red Guard were the working women, domestic servants and peasant girls."

ESCAPED ON BRITISH SHIP.

U. S. Officer Wants Deserter Arrested and Captain Punished.

Washington, D. C., June 4.—Col. Henry A. Greene of the 10th United States Infantry, commanding at Fort William H. Seward, Alaska, has appealed to the War Department to cause the arrest and return of a deserter, and, incidentally, to punish the captain of a British ship, who perhaps has created an international issue.

According to Col. Greene, Sergeant Buell, a member of the post band, deserted from Fort Seward and made his way on board the British steamer Princess May. When the ship touched at Katchikan, Alaska, May 14, the city marshal, under instructions from the military authorities, sought to arrest Buell. The latter locked himself in his cabin, and the captain of the ship refused to allow him to be forcibly arrested, and sailed away to a Canadian port, where the deserter landed and disappeared.

Col. Greene asks the Department to have the State Department make a demand on the British Government for the return of the deserter to Fort Seward and for the punishment of the captain.

The acting judge advocate general, however, has taken the ground that the military has no such authority, and if the effort is made to punish the British captain, it must be through the civil authorities, who were derelict in the first place, in not arresting both the deserter and the captain, if he resisted process within territorial waters.

TRIAL OF ANARCHISTS.

Men Who Tried to Assassinate Alfonso and Victoria.

Madrid, June 4.—The trial of Senor Ferrer, director of the modern school of Barcelona, Don Jose Nakens, editor of El Motin, and others, charged with complicity in the attempt to assassinate King Alfonso and Queen Victoria, May 31, 1906, began yesterday.

The state demands that Ferrer be sentenced to 16 years' imprisonment, and the others to 10 years.

Ferrer declared he did not know Morales, the man who actually threw the bomb, was an anarchist, and said he himself was not an anarchist, his ideal being to perfect society by means of education.

The documentary evidence against Ferrer is said to be strong.

Robert Holmes Nominated.

Goderich, Ont., June 4.—The Liberals of West Huron yesterday nominated Robert Holmes, ex-M.P., editor of The Clinton New Era, for the federal House. No other name was mentioned. A resolution condemned electoral corruption and deprecated the Opposition attacks upon Hon. C. S. Hyman and Hon. H. R. Emmerson in their private capacities.

New Orleans, June 4.—The sentence of the Savannah court in the Gaynor and Greene case was affirmed in an opinion handed down by the United States circuit court of appeals yesterday.

SHOT BY BURGLARS.

Farmer Found With Bullet Through His Brain and House Robbed.

Cornwall, June 4.—The authorities here think they are on the track of a murder supposed to have been committed some time Saturday night or Sunday morning.

The victim is a man by the name of James Lashway, a well-to-do farmer of Mountain Township, who was found dead in his home Sunday night with a bullet wound in his brain.

It was at first thought that it was a case of suicide, but further investigation revealed a few details which set the authorities thinking.

Lashway was found in his house Sunday night by a woman who did housework for him since his separation from his wife. He was laying on the floor and had a revolver in his left hand, but from the fact that the deceased was right-handed it seems doubtful if he would have fired the fatal shot with his left hand. Furthermore the position of the wound does not seem to indicate that it was self-inflicted.

Work of Burglars.

The theory that it was the work of burglars has also certain ground for belief. The door of the house appears to have been forced open and the whole place ransacked. Trunks were broken into, and their contents scattered about in all directions, and Lashway's watch and money are missing.

There has of late been considerable work done through the country by desperadoes, and it is not thought improbable that one of the gangs is responsible for the death of Lashway.

Deceased had visited his brother on Saturday and told him that he would return on Sunday. He was 50 years of age.

An inquest has been opened by the coroner, and the investigation will be continued on Friday. County Attorney Dingwall of Cornwall has been requested to attend the inquest.

HAYWOOD JURY READY.

After Two Weeks Twelve Men Are Selected—The States' Charge.

Boise, Idaho, June 4.—Twelve men to try Wm. D. Haywood on the charge that he murdered ex-Governor Frank Steunenberg, have been chosen and sworn. Haywood yesterday heard the indictment accusing him of the crime, and to-day after the state has recited its case and made promise of proof, the first chapter of the legal account of the crime at Caldwell Dec. 30, 1906, will be told.

The state will charge that Haywood, conspiring with Moyer, Pettibone, Simpkins and others of the alleged "inner circle" of the Western Federation of Miners, plotted a campaign of terrorism which had the double purpose of the removal by assassination of those opposed to the organization and increase of power within the organization.

It will be charged that Haywood was the genius of, and the strength behind the great plot, and that Steunenberg was added to the list because of his part during the labor troubles in North Idaho.

It will be alleged that Haywood and his associates, standing and working in the background, planned the long list of crimes and sent Harry Orchard and Steve Adams forth as hired executioners.

In the work of procuring the jury, the court has been in session fifteen days, and 156 talesmen have been examined.

BAY OF QUINTE CONFERENCE OPENS IN BOWMANVILLE

Rev. J. G. Lewis, the Representative of Peterborough District on Stationing Committee—First Draft To-morrow.

THE PROBABLE CHANGES

Two New Ministers for This City — Several Moves to be Made in This District—A Good Attendance.

Examiner Special.

Bowmanville, June 4. — The Stationing Committee of the Bay of Quinte Methodist Conference held its opening meeting in the Methodist Church here. There was a full representation of members of the committee present, and considerable work has already been done. It is expected that to-morrow morning, when the ministerial session of the Conference opens, the first draft of stations will be ready for announcement.

So far as Peterborough city is concerned, the first draft will likely provide for two changes, Rev. E. A. Pearman, who is being transferred from the Toronto Conference to the Bay of Quinte Conference, will be down for the George Street Church, and Rev. C. H. Coon of Bobcaygeon will be on the first draft for Mark Street Church. These are the only changes anticipated in the city, though throughout the district a number of pastors will move this year.

Rev. J. G. Lewis, who was recently elected chairman of the district, is here representing the district on the Stationing Committee.

An unusually large attendance is anticipated at this session of Conference, and the Bowmanville Methodists have made their usual complete preparations for the entertainment of the ministerial and lay members who attend.

Rev. J. J. Rae, a former pastor of the Charlotte Street Church, Peterborough, is the president of the Conference this year.

A parcel, however, containing ten boxes with neckties in each box, the property of Mr. Torrance Jack, of the Canadian Cordage Company, tumbled out and has not since been recovered. The parcel was valued at about $5.00, which, if left at this office or the Snowden House will be handed to the owner.

The burial took place at 2.30 this afternoon to St. Mark's Cemetery, Warsaw.

WEDDING BELLS.

CARROL--HEFFERNAN

St. Peter's Cathedral was the scene of a very pretty but quiet wedding this morning, when Miss Annie Heffernan, eldest daughter of the late Patrick Heffernan, Hunter street, became the bride of Mr. John J. Carroll, one of Peterborough's prominent young business men. The interesting ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by Rev. Father McColl, in the presence of only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom.

The bride, who is known among her friends and acquaintances as one of the city's most estimable young ladies, was attired in a beautiful costume of white muslin de Soi with lace and satin trimmings. She was attended by Miss Adelaide Doris, who was similarly attired. The groomsman was Mr. Jas. O'Brien.

After the ceremony at the Cathedral the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's mother, where a sumptuous wedding repast was served. Many gifts were presented to the bride and groom, testifying to their popularity, a number of them coming from a distance. Telegrams of congratulations were also received from friends outside the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll left on the 11.45 G.T.R. train for a honeymoon trip embracing Toronto, Niagara Falls Buffalo and other western points.

The bride's going-away dress was of navy blue lady's cloth with hat to match. On their return to the city they will reside in their new residence at 57 Bolivar street.

PETERBOROUGH STREETS DO NO CREDIT TO A PROGRESSIVE CITY

Dr. R. W. Bell, Compares, Much to the Discredit of This City, Its Streets, With Those of Other Cities.

HIGHWAYS DISCREDITABLE

He Refers to Windsor, Where the Streets are Paved, and They Are Kept Much Cleaner Than Here.

"My duties take me to all parts of the province, and I see a good many towns and cities, but I have to confess that in none of them do I see such streets as in my native town of Peterborough; and I am sorry to have to make such a statement concerning a town for which I have such natural affection."

This is a statement made to the Examiner to-day by Dr. R. W. Bell, Provincial Health Inspector, who was in the city on a personal business matter.

The remark was inspired by his observation of the men at work laying concrete crossings on George street. He added that in his opinion the streets were in a condition which did not do credit to the progressiveness of the people of Peterborough generally, and they certainly suffered in comparison with the streets in cities much smaller than this place. One particular instance was noted. In Windsor, where he spent a Sunday a few weeks ago, he noticed on Saturday night about 10 o'clock, four watering carts making their rounds and flooding the streets —which, by the way, were paved— with water, and following the carts were two sweepers, and the dust and other matter collected on the streets, were swept into the surface drains. The result was that the streets on Sunday morning, were as clean as could be desired.

Windsor is not as large as Peterborough by any means, yet it would seem, according to Dr. Bell's statement that it is far ahead of Peterborough, so far as the streets are concerned.

THREE MEN NARROWLY ESCAPED SERIOUS INJURY

Dirt, Lumber and Humanity Fell on Them, and One Was Badly Shaken Up.

While working at the diversion of the creek yesterday afternoon in East City, three men narrowly escaped serious injury by having a large quantity of earth and timber fall on them, a distance of five feet. They were engaged in digging at the new cut and were throwing the earth up on to a scaffold where three or four other men were throwing it still higher, the scaffold gave way and precipitated the mass of humanity, lumber and dirt on top of the unfortunate men below.

One of the men was rather seriously injured and it was with considerable difficulty that all three were rescued from the mix up. It was a miracle that more serious results did not accompany the accident.

A Bicycle Thief In The City Is Under Suspicion

"Planet" Wheel Stolen and Attempts Made to Remove Name Plate and Otherwise Damage It.

POLICE ON THE LOOKOUT

The practice of stealing bicycles is apparently becoming quite common in the city. Recently the Examiner contained an advertisement for a new Planet bicycle which was taken from the Crown Inn. For some weeks it was missing, and a few days ago a clerk in the store in which it was bought happened to see it outside the postoffice, and, recognizing the wheel, took it to the store and notified the owner. The person who took it had evidently tried hard to deface it so that even the owner would not know it again. The name was scratched off the tubing, and the horn which was on it when it was stolen, was removed and a bell put on in its place. The saddle was mutilated so as to be hardly recognizable, while efforts had also been made to efface the number, stamped under the saddle. It was thus made evident that the one who took it intended to keep it if it was not discovered in the meantime.

It is understood that the police have suspicions against a certain person in the city whose connection with several wheels which have recently disappeared is suspected, and he will have to walk very circumspectly in future.

Eight Men Lost Nine Eyes In One Explosion At Kenora

Mr. A. Clarke Leslie, an Employee of Wm. Hamilton Company, Has Just Returned From That District—Tells of Wholesale Injuries to Men Working on the Railway Construction There.

INSTALLED WATER WHEELS

Mr. A. Clarke Leslie of the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company, has returned home after a five months absence in Kenora, where he was superintending the installation of water wheels there for the hydraulic equipment of the town of Kenora. An enormous electric plant has been installed there with a capacity of 4000 h. p., for the purpose of supplying electricity for lighting the town, and also for the operation of a large grist mill belonging to the Maple Leaf Flour Company.

Mr. Leslie superintended the work of placing 16 Sampson turbine water wheels in position, and before he left saw the plant in operation, and giving entire satisfaction. It is situated on one of the lakes connected with Lake Manitoba, about half a mile from Kenora. The town constructed the plant, and besides utilising about 800 h.p. for lighting purposes has sold 1600 to the Maple Leaf Flour Company for the operation of their mills, and will supply another mill in course of construction, with power also. While in that district Mr. Leslie went up to Keewattin, where he was installing some governors for the Lake of the Woods Company.

Labour Expensive

Mr. Leslie stated to the Examiner to-day that there was a great demand for labour in the Kenora district. He paid labouring men $2.50 and $3 per day, and then it was very difficult to get them. The construction of railways in the chief work going on there. The Grand Trunk Pacific rails are being laid within ten or twelve miles of Kenora, and this is diverting a good deal of labour. All nationalities were to be seen there, including Doukhobers, Finns and Galatians. The railway is being laid through a mass of rock in that section of New Ontario, and explosions are continuous and many of them dangerous.

Had Only Seven Eyes

So dangerous is the work on the railway construction that every day injured men arrive at the hospital in Kenora. One day, said Mr. Leslie, eight men were brought into Kenora, who had only seven eyes among them. All had been injured in one terrific explosion. He also stated that one day while walking along the track, a dynamite explosion ejected a massive piece of rock into the air several hundred feet, which fell through the roof of a house, went through every floor and lodged in the earth in the cellar.

The C. P. R. are double tracking their line from Winnipeg to Fort William and they, too, are employing many labourers. There is little farming done in the north-western section of the Rainy River district on account of the predominancy of rock. Lumbering and mining are the chief occupations of the people there.

A Mild Climate

In Kenora the climate is somewhat similar to our own just now, but some severe frosts were experienced last winter with the mercury down to between 35 and 53 degrees below zero.

Between Fort William and Chapleau Mr. Leslie noticed that many small lakes were yet frozen over, but the weather had now taken a turn for the better.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie left at noon for Port Hope, for a week's visit, and on his return he will again be employed at the William Hamilton Company's foundry.

HANDSOME BOAT BUILT BY MR. O'BETTE IS SOLD

Will Be Shipped to Muskoka To-morrow to Mr. Milburn

Mr. Baptiste O'Dette of the Peterborough Canoe Company will send the boat that he sold to Mr. Milburn to Muskoka, where the purchaser will receive it and it will be put into the water. It is a gasoline launch, 31x7 feet, is roomy and comfortable and, in its fittings, is palatial. There is a lavatory, a cupboard and a refrigerator built so as to occupy the least possible space, and in every detail the boat is perfect. It is lighted by electricity which is generated from a small dynamo. The motive power is a 4-cylinder 15-horse-power gasoline engine of the Buffalo type, which is easily placed in the rear of the boat, which is divided into two compartments. The fittings and trimmings are of the best material, and altogether the yacht is thoroughly equipped.

Now It's Tea Prices That Go Soaring; A Big Jump

Statement Made That Inside of a Month Tea Will be Selling for Fully Five Cents a Pound More.

REASON FOR THE INCREASE

Last week reports were received to the effect that the prices on several lines of groceries were to be increased very materially, and, following hard on the heels of that unwelcome statement comes another to the effect that the prices of tea are to take a big jump. Montreal despatches state that quotations on teas are higher, and the belief was expressed to-day by Mr. Stroud to the Examiner that inside of a month teas will be up in price fully five cents a pound. Last night's Montreal Star has the following:

Tea prices show an advance of 1-2 a cent from last week, with much of the first crop in the natives' hands. Messrs. W. D. Stroud & Sons report the following prices. Cable quotations to-day from Japan quote: Good medium, 16c; choicest, 27c; extra choicest, 33c.

Pinz Suez Gunpowders are showing an easier tone.

Low common Gunpowders could be bought last week for 10 1-2c; this week local holders are willing to quit at 1-2c less.

Imperial, 16c, c.i.f., Montreal.

Pea Leaf Gunpowder, 17 to 21c.

Pin Head Gunpowder, 24 to 32c, according to make.

The Montreal markets show an entire neglect for Fouchou blacks.

Ceylons are quoted from Colombo as follows:

Pekoe Souchong, 7d.

Pekoe, 7 1-2d to 8 1-2d, according to cup quality.

Orange Pekoe, 8d to 10 1-2d according to cup quality.

Broken Pekoe, 8d to 10 1-2d, according to cup quality.

Broken Orange Pekoe, 24d to 33d, according to cup quality.

Advices from India, Calcutta, state the weekly auctions will resume in about three weeks.

The prices to-day for Indians are about the same as Ceylons.

GAVE $500 TO WIDOW OF MAN FATALLY INJURED

The widow of the late John Irwin, whose death occurred as the result of an accident which he sustained while working at the foundry of the Peter Hamilton Company, Limited, after the recent fire, has received a cheque from the company for $500. The circumstances under which Mr. Irwin's death occurred were such that there was no responsibility for the accident attached to the company, the injuries being received through an accident, to prevent which the company had taken every reasonable precaution, and the gift of $500 was a purely voluntary one, and is an evidence of the sympathetic and practical interest taken in the personal affairs of the employees by this firm.

JACKSON PARK OPENING WITH MANY ATTRACTIONS

To-night the summer season, so far as the artificial attractions at Jackson Park are concerned, will open, with good prospects for a successful season's record. This year several changes will be made at the park, one of the most important of which will be the engagement of a large band for every night, instead of only two or three nights a week. The moving picture show will be given in the building in which the bowling alley was located last summer and a charge of five cents will be made for this entertainment.

A number of other attractions, however, will be inaugurated in the park this season, and those who visit this popular resort will be well repaid. The "Ocean Wave," which has proved so popular, especially among the juvenile portion of the community will be doing business at the park, and, in addition there will be several other attractions. A splendid car service will be given by the company, a number of extra cars will be put on during the evening hours.

COOPERATION APART

A situation exists in Quebec which indicates a recrudescens of denominational sanity, and furnishes grounds for regarding the possibility of church union with greater respect. At the Gananoque Conference of the Methodist Church, it was decided that that body should vacate Megantic, Que., and be absorbed as to church services by the Presbyterians on condition that the latter should surrender East Angus to the Methodists, who would, in turn, absorb the Presbyterian payment of the charge. The overture came from the Presbyterians. This arrangement is in sympathy with a similar action in regard to Northwest missions, advised by Mr. E. J. B. Pense of Kingston, at the inter-denominational gathering in St. John's Church in November of last year. There is no doubt that there is a great waste of religious energy in two or three denominations pouncing upon a sparse settlement and fighting for the possession, in a denominational sense, of a few souls, whose religious needs could be met by a missionary of any one denomination. By reaching an agreement to divide the territory and responsibility, there would be, collectively, in all our mission fields, a vast saving of money and missionaries, an intensified respect created for Christianity, and a demonstration of the fact that the safety of souls and the doing of good were placed on a higher plane of ambition than mere denominational aggrandizement, in this matter co-operation apart would be beneficial and promote healthy rivalry—not to see which will add the greatest number of members to the church roll in an over-manned field, but which, entering upon a new centre of religious effort, would radiate the greatest religious influence from such centre.

EDITORIAL NOTES

While comment upon the charge of criminal libel against Mr. J. H. Crocket, managing editor of the Fredericton Gleaner, newspaper, in respect of charges published in its columns reflecting upon the character and conduct of Hon. H. R. Emmerson, Minister of Railways and Canals, would be inopportune, it is not, perhaps, amiss to mention that a prima facie case has been made out, and that the editor has been committed for trial.

MUSICAL CONCERT AT ST. PAULS

Delightful Function Given by the Choir Last Evening, Assisted by Orchestra

SOME APPRECIATED SOLOS

An appreciative audience of about 50 persons attended the musical concert given by the choir of St. Paul's Church last evening in the Sunday School hall, which proved to be one of the most delightful functions of the present concert season, and which reflected the greatest credit on the teachings of those in charge. The various selections evidently gave much pleasure to the music lovers in attendance, judging from the enthusiastic applause which greeted them.

The choir was very capably assisted by St. Paul's Sunday School orchestra, which rendered with a refinement of interpretation some exceedingly well chosen numbers, including, "The Bridal Rose," the opening selection, and the overture "Maritana," besides playing the orchestral accompaniments for the choir and for the vocal solo, "Jerusalem," sung by Mr. W. McIlroy.

"The Lost Chord" was the second number on the programme by the choir, with orchestral accompaniment, and proved to be one much appreciated. A duet, "The Battle's Eve," was splendidly rendered by Messrs. Morphet and Crane, as was also a vocal solo by Miss Lilian Moore.

The anthem, "Jubilate," by the choir, with Miss Helen Davies taking the solo parts, was beautifully accomplished and enthusiastically received. Mr. Gill next favoured the assembly with a vocal solo, "The Curfew," in strong voice, giving such pleasure that he was recalled and gave as an encore "The Skipper." A piano duet by Misses Mattie Robertson and Gladys Crane was also a charming number of the excellent programme. Miss Helen Davies' clear and expressive soprano voice was heard to advantage in the solo, "The Angels' Song," with violin obligato by Mr. Howarth, and the solo, "Jerusalem," by Mr. McIlroy, who is favourably known in Peterborough as a splendid vocalist, was also a pleasing feature. The closing number by the choir was "By Babylon's Wave," after which the concert closed by the singing of "God Save the King." The piano accompaniments were played by Miss Gladys Crane and Mr. Jno. Crane in an efficient manner.

GARBAGE BY-LAW TO BE SUBMITTED TO PEOPLE

Council Wrestled With the Measure for Nearly Two Hours Last Night—By-law Was Approved Of.

The garbage by-law, over which the council has been wrestling for some time, is disposed of until the end of the year and possibly for good, if the people do not see fit to approve of the measure. The council discussed the by-law in Committee of the Whole for nearly two hours last night, with the result that they approved of the draft by-law and decided to submit it to the people the next time a vote is taken.

When the matter came up last night a number of clauses, which had been left over from last week, were disposed of. The most important of these provided for the sanitary inspector's entering into contracts with churches, schools and other places exempted from taxes for the removal of garbage, and for the making of extra charges in cases in which people had allowed ashes to accumulate so as to make more than half a cubic yard of a load.

There was a long discussion over the by-law. Ald. Morgan wanted the charges to be made on the basis of assessment. Ald. Johnston was of the opinion that the rates were not equitable. Ald. Bradburn and Morrow objected to the clauses which provided for a charge being made against the owner of a property in case the tenant moved out without paying for the removal of garbage, and other aldermen had other views on the matter. Finally it was decided to adopt the by-law as read and before giving it its third reading to submit it to a vote of the people.

Property Owners Objected

A petition signed by 123 property owners against the clause in the by-law which provided for the charging of the cost of the garbage against a landlord in case the tenant moves out without paying the same. The petition claimed that this clause was objectionable to the property owners.

Ald. Bradburn moved, seconded by Ald. Duncan, that the charges for the removal of garbage be collected half yearly, on the first of April and the first of October, and that the tenant must pay the tax, the property not being liable. The motion was carried.

Assessment Basis

Ald. Morgan moved that the tax be based on the assessed value of the land. He thought that the special rate was not fair to the poor taxpayer. There was no seconder to the motion.

Ald. Johnston thought that the rates in the mercantile section should be higher, while those in the outside portion might be lowered.

Ald. Morrow advanced the opinion that the whole matter might be dropped until the end of the year. He thought there was a great deal of uncertainty about the by-law. A sanitary inspector had been appointed and he was in favour of waiting to see what he would accomplish.

Ald. Phelan agreed with Ald. Morrow in the opinion that no action should be taken in the matter until the end of the year.

Ald. Wilson suggested that the by-law might be put in as good shape as possible and submitted to the people at the January election.

Ald. Morgan thought that the people might then be permitted to vote on the method of payment.

Ald. Johnston remarked that there was a lot of business on hand and moved, seconded by Ald. Morrow, that no action be taken last night and that a special meeting be called for the purpose of discussing the by-law on Monday night next. The motion was lost.

Ald. Morgan moved that the by-law be left over until it had been submitted to the people at the municipal elections, and that the people could decide as the method of payment.

Ald. Elliott seconded Ald. Morgan's motion, contending that the people had a right to say whether payment should be made on the assessed value of the property or by special rate.

Ald. Johnston was of the opinion that 15 cents for the outside residents was too high and that 10 cents was sufficient.

The mayor remarked that 15 cents had been taken as a basis of calculation and any change such as suggested would upset the calculations.

Ald. Wilson thought that the rates were all right. He moved that the by-law be approved as read and that a vote be taken by the people before being read for a third time. This was seconded by Ald. Duncan.

The mayor thought the council should settle the matter. He thought a better understanding of the matter would remove all objections against the by-law.

Ald. Wilson's motion was carried and Ald. Morgan's motion lost, so that the by-law stands over until a vote is taken.

MOTHER WHO ABANDONED CHILD CAUGHT AT LAST

Gave Infant to Neighbour to Mind Until She Returned From Alleged Work, Sept 17th, But Has Not Been Seen Since—In Court This Morning.

WILL APPEAR ON FRIDAY

Mrs. Ferguson, formerly Laura Gillis, appeared before Magistrate Dumble charged with having abandoned her child on Monday, September 17th, 1906. Miss Gillis, as she was then known, left her child one day with a neighbour, saying that she was going to work and would get it when she came back. She went away but she did not return and the child was cared for by its foster mother for a short time and was then given to the Children's Aid Society.

In the meantime Miss Gillis, as it is learned was living in Millbrook and on the 24th of May was married in Norwood to a Mr. J. Ferguson. The couple came to Peterborough May 18th and Mrs. Ferguson has not been seen around town. However, knowledge was gained of where she was living and P. C. Mahaffy at an early hour this morning went to the house and arrested her while she was yet in bed.

Mr. F. D. Kerr appeared for the defendant and did not elect for trial. The case was enlarged until Friday, June 7th. Bail was granted, one surety of $200 being demanded and furnished by Mr. Ed. Ferguson.

FRANK MOSLEY SERIOUSLY INJURED AT SHOVEL WORKS

Mr. Frank E. Mosley, residing at 78 Chamberlen street, met with a serious accident while at work in the Shovel Company's works, Perry street, yesterday afternoon at four o'clock and now lies in a precarious condition in the Nicholls Hospital. Mr. Mosley was standing on a light ladder making some repairs to a machine when the ladder broke and he was thrown down, and crushed between the moving arm of a powerful pick and another part of the machine.

Dr. Boucher was called to attend him and he was removed to the hospital in the Dan Spence ambulance. It was found that Mr. Mosley had suffered severe injuries. The flesh of the thigh was painfully lacerated, and one of the pelvic bones broken.

He was progressing favourably this morning and was doing as well as could be expected.

Post Card Column

Editor Post Card Column,—

Dear Sir, — Yesterday, for the first time since the new crossing was put down on Hunter street, where it joins Water street, on the north side, near the post office, I saw the new crossing, and it is a sight—for cross-eyes. The grooving in the pavement is as crooked as a ram's horn, and if the grooves were carried out on the curves they are now in, they would either cross the street, or run into the houses, according to the way they run. But it may be all right. I suppose the artist who made the skew-gee grooves in the crossing was loyal to the city engineer, and wanted to flatter him, by imitating the lob-sided lines of some of the pavement, in some parts of the city, that start off for the straight line at astonishing tangents. Why not have pavement lines straight, anyway?

Yours truly,

DIRECTUM.

Interesting Paper On Subject Of Earthquakes

Mr. S. W. Lowrey's Able Address Given at the Last Meeting of the Peterborough Astronomical Society---Cause of the Phenomenon

The following very interesting paper on "Earthquakes" was read at the last meeting of the Peterborough Astronomical Society and was listened to with so much interest that it is deemed advisable to publish it:

The subject with which I am to deal is one of which comparatively little is known. What information we have has all been obtained within the last sixty years, principally through the efforts of Mr. R. Mallet, who spent several months investigating on the site of the great Neapolitan earthquake of 1857.

There are few subjects less understood than earthquakes. Among the many theories advanced to explain them, there are none, to my mind, not open to serious objections. The theory here presented I believe to be, in the main, new.

The three recent seismic disturbances at San Francisco, Valparaiso and Kingston, following the eruptions of Mount Pelee and Vesuvius, forcibly remind us that there is a tremendous tensnean power of some kind underlying the deep foundations whereon we build our cities and our hope. The most common explanation is that the earth shrinkage from loss of heat sets up stress in the earth's crust, which becomes greater and greater until the crust yields along old faults or lines of weakness. Few people have any idea how enormous are deep earth pressures, or know that these pressures must be taken into serious account in the study of seismic phenomena.

It matters not whether the earth be considered as a solid all the way through, or as consisting of a great molten interior with a relatively thin crust upon it, for solid rock and molten lava behave the same at depths of a few miles. Granite flows like wax at a depth of fifty miles, and the earth is eight thousand miles in diameter. If the molten interior were to be removed and the space filled with air under a pressure sufficient to sustain the crust, this air, were it not to liquify, would immediately under the crust have a density greater than gold.

If two tempered solid steel balls, the size of the earth, hard as the harveyized face of armour-plate, were to be taken in two jovian hands and placed gently together in space, what would happen? They would behave exactly as if they were liquid, and would fall together and coalesce with each other like two drops of water, while the highest prominence or mountain on the new globe thus formed could not have a height of fifty miles, because it would flatten out under its own weight.

If we take a tank, say five hundred miles in height, made of material strong enough and refractory enough, provided with a faucet at the bottom, and should fill it to the brim with common balls, hard files, and steel rails, we could, without the application of any heat, draw the molten steel from this enormous tank, because, under its own weight, the steel would be forced to flow in a stream through the faucet.

There are two causes that work together to produce earthquakes; first, the escape of pent-up steam and molten matter, followed by the settling of the crusts to fill the voids; second, the tension in the earth's crust set up by contraction from loss of heat, (the shrinkage of the earth from loss of heat is so slow, however, that this factor is not so important; besides, the weight of the earth's crust is so great that the bedrock flows and adjusts itself to the stresses produced by mere shrinkage without producing earthquakes or volcanic eruptions. This shrinkage, however, holds the ledges under tension, and the tension aids in the earth movements produced by the disturbing elements of water. Water heated to incandescence in a space where it cannot expand exerts a pressure equal to that which would be produced by the most powerful dynamite exploded in the same space, the effect is the same as though many portions of the earth's crust were actually resting upon cases of exploded dynamite trying to escape.

The theory is frequently advanced that the planets, and even suns, sometimes explode, and that the earth may some day blow up like a bean-shell. No celestial body the size of the earth could possibly explode. If the entire molten interior of our globe could be replaced with nitro-glycerine and detonated, the explosion would not lift the earth's crust. In other words, if we assume that the crust of the earth is from fifty to one hundred miles in thickness, it would require something much more powerful than even nitro-glycerine to burst this shell. It is necessary only to do a little figuring to see that the pressure of the earth's crust at a depth of from fifty to one hundred miles far exceeds the pressure exerted by the most powerful high explosive.

If we assume that the thickness of the earth's crust is fifty miles, and that its average density is about five times that of water, then we may also assume that the pressure at a depth of fifty miles is somewhat in excess of half a million pounds to the square inch. It is a safe conclusion that within a large portion of the earth's crust there exists pent-up gases, particularly steam under a pressure, exerted by a most powerful high explosive. High explosives probably exert pressures ranging from 200,000 to 350,000 pounds to the square inch. When a high explosive is detonated, the amount of pressure depends on the volume of gases liberated and the temperature of the gases. Nitroglycerine exploded in a space where it could not expand would exert a pressure of from 300,000 to 350,000 pounds to the square inch. The pressure would certainly be less than half a million pounds to the square inch, although the temperature of the gases would the boiling point of steel. As the density of water is not quite so great as that of nitroglycerine, the pressure which incandescent water exerts is not so great as would be exerted by pure nitroglycerine, volume for volume. But weight for weight the energy would be virtually equal. In deep subterranean chambers there are necessarily large quantities of water heated to a temperature representing a pressure equal to that of exploded dynamite.

Through all geologic times, water, always water, has been both builder and destroyer. Water has piled the mountains up and ground them down again, with storm and glacier, pulverizing the debris, sifting and separating sand from pebble, stone from boulder, cutting deep canons in the rock, laying out the plain, throwing islands into the sea, and giving continents new coast lines. Water, too, was the original architect of the earth's crust. In Genesis the first chapter and the 6th and 7th verses, we read: "And God said, Let there be a firmament in the midst of the waters, and let it divide the water from the waters. And God made the firmament, and divided the waters which were under the firmament from the waters which were above the firmament. And it was so."

There was a time when the globe was too hot to allow water to remain on the surface in a liquid state. Then the ocean hung in the sky in the shape of steam, mixed with a vast amount of carbonic acid gas, for then the great beds of coal and peat had not been formed. From this great vaporous envelope the heat was quickly radiated into the cold of outer space, producing rapid condensation. Through long ages Niagaras of rain flowed from sky to earth in a continual downpour over the entire terrestial surface. The pressure of superincumbent atmosphere was then many thousands of pounds to the square inch, instead of but fifteen pounds to the square inch, as now. Under such enormous pressures, the boiling point of water was not as we know it, 212 degrees Fahrenheit, but was red heat. The first rivers that flowed upon the earth's surface were red hot. Granite dissolved in those rivers like sugar in a cup of tea. The granite bed rock was formed by the precipitation of mica, quarts and feldspar from aqueous solution. Deep down under the earth's crust today where water has entered through faults to be entrapped and highly treated, with no room for expansion it dissolves the rock, and as under the enormous pressures, it forces its way through narrow crevices to new positions, it cuts new channels in the granite floors, just as in glacial times sub-glacial streams cut passages through the ice. Consequently when the eruption of a volcano takes place, relieving the pressure in the deep passages under it, there is a rush towards the outlet of streams of incandescent waters, made syrupy with stone in solution. As these streams of silica-charged water, find vent at the volcano, the expansion of pent-up steam takes place with explosive violence, forming volcanic dust and unmelted stone, which are belched forth in tremendous quantities. Then portions of the earth's crust which have been resting upon a support of steam under dynamite pressures, naturally sag and shift when these pressures are removed or materially lessened.

It matters not, whether under deep subterranean pressures and temperatures, the incandescent water be actually liquid or gaseous; its density is the same. Under such conditions, there can be no finely drawn line between the liquid and the gas.

The pressure exerted by water under these conditions is sufficient to cause subterranean streams of lave and quartz-charged water, to flow long distances, even thousands of miles, leaving vast voids behind. The bedrock then settles and closes the passages, just as in glaciers the ice yields and closes the courses of subglacial streams. A granite glacier fifty miles high would flow exactly like a glacier of ice a mile thick. The bed-rock is a vast glacier threaded by numerous waterways, which erode and cut passages through it, and the waterways are again closed by yielding walls of granite under the awful pressure just as the glacial waterways are closed by the ice. The earth's surface thus assumes new levels, this adjustment resulting in earthquakes. The vast amount of matter at times ejected from volcanoes is difficult of comprehension. The great volcano Krakatoa, had been extinct for many ages, when, in 1883, its top blew off with a shock felt clear through the earth, and with a blast that sent a wave of air around the earth three times, while the fine volcanic dust did not entirely settle out of the atmosphere for more than two years, as was indicated by the unusually brilliant displays of red sunsets. It is estimated that more mud was ejected from the mountain on that occasion than the Mississippi River discharges in two hundred and fifty years. This was the greatest volcanic eruption of modern times. The distance is not too great, nor the time too remote, for the eruption of Mount Pelee to have caused the earthquakes of San Francisco, Valparaiso and Kingston, while probably Vesuvius may have played a material art.

For anything contained in this brief review of the subject, I am indebted to the writings of Mr. Robert Mallett, the Encyclopedia Britannica and Mr. Hudson Maxim.

And, now, Mr. President, you have listened patiently to what was intended to be the precursor of the stirring address which has just been delivered. It was meant to be like low rumblings before the shock, a premonition of the coming disturbance. But the order of things has been reversed, and you have been treated to the earthquake first, and the warning afterwards. The paper that is to follow, however, will come, no doubt, like the great tidal wave, sweeping everything before it.

A Message for Pile Sufferers

FROM TWO LADIES WHO HAVE BEEN CURED OF EXTREMELY TORTURING CASES OF PILES BY

Dr. Chase's Ointment

Mrs. Geo. H. Simser, Grant, Russell county, Ont., writes:—"Eleven years ago I began to suffer from piles, and as they caused keen distress, and became worse, I doctored for them, but with little or no avail. They were bleeding, itching and protruding, and oh! the torture suffered at times can never be described. It was with suffering that the bowels moved, and, as nothing brought relief, I could only endure the misery with an aching heart and without hope of cure.

"Finally a lady friend told me about Dr. Chase's Ointment curing piles, and to my surprise I felt relief at once on using this ointment; the little tumors soon disappeared, the ulcers healed, and the bowels became regular. This was five years ago, and I have never been troubled with this terrible ailment since, a thousand thanks to Dr. Chase's Ointment."

Mrs. Capt. Clinansmith, Salvation Army, Essex, Ont., writes: "It is with pleasure that I write to you in praise of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Two years ago I was taken with a severe attack of protruding piles, and became so bad that I had to keep my bed, and could lie in no position except on my Stomach. Doctors could give me no help, and the various oils and ointments used proved of no avail.

"One Saturday night, when I was suffering untold agony, my husband went to the drug store, for a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, which I had heard of as a cure for piles. Although I had almost given up hope, to the wonder of those around me, I was able to be up and on my feet by Monday, and have had no difficulty from piles since. As a treatment for all kinds of sores and burns, Dr. Chase's Ointment works like magic."

To persons who have given up looking for a cure of piles or hemorrhoids, this letter should bring new hope. There is, we believe, no more effective treatment for piles than Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60 cents a box at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Ald. Stevenson's Plan to Compel Persons to Get Permission for Excavation on Roads

TO BE LEFT IN GOOD ORDER

At the meeting of the city council last night, it was moved by Ald. Stevenson, seconded by Ald. Bradburn, that hereafter no person or persons, corporation or corporations, shall be permitted to make any excavation of any kind., in the streets of the city until they have first made application to, and received the consent, of the Board of Works of the city council, to such proposed excavation; and that a blank form of application shall be printed and supplied to the different corporations, which shall contain certain provisions for and consent by the applicant to replace the streets in as good a condition as they were in before the excavation, provision being made that when the road to be opened has been covered with broken stone and rolled, the applicant shall be allowed three months to permit the filling to settle, and that at the expiration of that time, he shall level the road and pay the corporation the cost of replacing the road metal and rolling the same.

Ald. Morrow moved, seconded by Ald. Johnston that Ald. Stevenson be instructed to prepare the blank forms mentioned in his resolution.—Carried.

"THE OLD SCRATCH"

How the Evil One Came to be Popularly Known as "The Old Scratch"

One of the many familiar names of his satanic majesty is "The Old Scratch." It is undoubtedly due to the fact that scratching is so disagreeable that people thought it no worse than the evil one. A scalp full of dandruff keeps one scratching all the time; not only disagreeable, but considered very inelegant in polite society—as it should be—because one ought to keep the scalp so clean that it would not itch. To cure the scalp of dandruff effectively, use Newbro's Herpicide. It kills the germ that creates the dandruff, which is preliminary to falling hair, and, finally, baldness. No other hair preparation kills the dandruff germ. Herpicide is also a very delightful and effective hair dressing. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes—50c and $1. McDermid & Jury, Special Agents.

ANOTHER AUTO CAR IN THE CITY

Mr. Neil Cameron, the Latest Owner of One of These Machines—A Ford Twelve Horse Power

Another automobile has been added to those now owned in the city. The new machine is the property of Mr. Neil Cameron, general agent for the Ontario Wind Engine and Pump Company, and it arrived in the city yesterday, Mr. Cameron bringing it down from Toronto, where he bought it. The new auto is a Ford, twelve horse-power, two-cylinder engine, and made the trip from Toronto yesterday over roads which were not the best, in excellent time.

Mr. Cameron will use it largely for pleasure excursions, though he may occasionally use it on some of his short business trips.

City Council Had Long Session Last Night

Transacted Considerable Business---Romaine Street Sewer Question Once More Brought Up---Reports Adopted and By-laws Passed

The City Council spent over four hours last night at their regular monthly meeting in dealing with the business on hand. The aldermen discussed the garbage bylaw for nearly two hours in the Committee of the Whole, after which meeting in the Council Chamber at 9.45 they heard several deputations, one from the Board of Health and another from the Colonial Weaving Company, and finally settled down to routine business at 10.30, and wound up by adjourning at 12.15. A considerable amount of routine business was taken up. A number of communications was received and referred to the various committees, reports were read and adopted from nearly all the Council committees, and a number of bylaws was passed.

Those present were the Mayor, Ald. Johnston, Tovey, Elliott, Bradburn, Stevenson, Morgan, Duncan, Wilson, McIntyre, Morrow and Phelan.

The report of the Fire, Water and Light Committee was adopted.

An Aerial Truck

Ald. Morrow moved, seconded by Ald. Tovey, that the Fire, Water and Light Committee be instructed to get information as to the cost of an aerial truck and of a water tower.—Carried.

Ald. Morrow expressed the opinion that such apparatus was needed in Peterborough, and remarked that if the brigade had had it at the recent fire at the Peter Hamilton Agricultural Works they could have extinguished it in one-quarter of the time.

Purchase Copying Machine

After the reading of the Board of Works report, objection was raised by Ald. Stevenson, Morrow, Bradburn, Elliott and Phelan to the fact that the reports of the Board of Works were so lengthy that they could not be readily grasped by the Council unless a copy was placed in their hands beforehand.

Ald. Bradburn moved, seconded by Ald. Stevenson, that the Finance Committee be instructed to purchase a duplicating machine for use in the City Clerk's office at a cost of from $25 to $50.—Carried.

This is intended to give the aldermen an opportunity to be familiar with the committee reports.

Finance Committee

The Finance Committee reported and recommended as follows:

That A. N. Farmer be given a refund of $5 of the amount he paid for a butcher's license.

That this committee be authorized to deal with cases of insane persons sent to an asylum, and to inquire as to the liability of the municipality and report to the Government.

That the Chairman and City Treasurer be authorized to purchase a typewriter and desk for the Treasurer's office.

That the following accounts be paid:

|---|---|
| J. J. Turner and Sons | $ 78 32 |
| Dr. J. H. Eastwood | 5 00 |

| A. Kingscote | 12 00 |

Ald. Morgan moved, seconded by Ald. Elliott, that the Board of Works be instructed to build a wooden sidewalk on the north side of Hunter street, from the bridge to Burnham street.—Carried.

Romaine Street Sewer

It was moved by Ald. Morrow, seconded by Ald. Phelan, that the Board of Works take steps at once put in order the sewer connection to the King Edward School.

Ald. Wilson moved in amendment, seconded by Ald. Bradburn, that the City Engineer be instructed to look into the matter and report at the meeting of the Committee of the Whole Council next Monday night.

Ald. Morrow withdrew his motion, and Ald. Wilson's motion carried.

There was some discussion over matter, Ald. Morrow wanted the matter attended to at once. He stated that the Board of Education would have to use the King Edward School after the first of September as their lease of the Menzies property would have expired by that time. He thought that if the city engineer found that it was impossible to put the present sewer in working order that another sewer would have to be built.

Bylaws Passed

The following bylaws were passed:

Bylaw No. 1215, a bylaw providing for a grant of $500 to the 57th Band and $150 to the Salvation Army Band.

Bylaw No. 1216, a bylaw to amend Bylaw No. 1281.

Bylaw No. 1217, a bylaw providing for construction of sewers on certain streets as local improvements.

Bylaw No. 1218, a bylaw providing for the construction of granolithic sidewalks as local improvements.

SPLENDID LECTURE AT ST. JOHN'S

Miss Askwith Spoke in St. John's Sunday School Room Last Night on Schools in India

IS A MOST DEVOTED LADY

A large and appreciative audience was present last night at St. John's school house, attending the lecture given by Miss Askwith, manager of the Blind Schools, in connection with the C. M. S. Sarah Tucker College, Palamcottah, South India. The W. A. of St. Luke's and All Saints' were largely represented, as was also Sunnyside Branch of St. Luke's W. A. Rev. W. Major acted as chairman, and Rev. E. A. Langfeldt illustrated the lecture with excellent lime light views.

After the devotional exercises the lecturer of the evening was introduced. Miss Askwith has spent 28 years of most devoted service in the interests of education in India. The Sarah Tucker Home, in which are educated about 250 boys and girls, is a noble monument, not only to her consecration to God's work, but also to her splendid abilities as teacher and executive officer.

At this school the pupils are advanced to the High Schools and University graduation. The teachers of the forty-two village schools connected with the Sarah Tucker College, are graduates of the College. Miss Askwith believes that the Gospel must be preached by the natives to the natives to have the best results. She spoke of wonderful results in her spiritual work among the girls, many conversions taking place and of the best and most sincere type. Confirmation classes of sixty girls at a time are received into the church every year. The pupils are most the children of devil-worshippers, and are taken into the college in their infancy. The sincerity of the conversion of the children has been frequently tested by persecution, and death.

The lecture was made very real by the views shown, which brought the great work clearly before the audience.

After celebrating her silver jubilee as head of the Sarah Tucker College, Miss Askwith has decided to retire to quieter and less fatiguing work and has assumed charge of the Blind Schools, to which she has dedicated the rest of her life. Blindness is a frequent malady in India, and in some cases the disease is so acute that the eyes have to be taken out entirely. The children at this school are taught exactly the same subjects as at the other schools, and at the examinations the blind students have on many occasions outdone the seeing pupils. To aid this noble work Miss Askwith has come to Canada, and is appealing for money to enlarge the school, because almost every day applications are made to admit more children, and to be enabled to print the word of God in embossed type for the blind. The care of one child for one year requires $15, and Miss Askwith would be glad if the people would be stirred up to see the great need, as she sees and knows it, and to aid substantially to bring light to these poor children, whose lives are doubly dark, because blind and without God.

The collection taken in aid of this work was generous. The local clergy and Mrs. Palmer will be glad to receive contributions at any time.

Miss Askwith goes to Kingston to day where she will speak at the annual meetig of the W. A., of the Diocese of Ontario.

Unfortunately, the rector of St. John's church could not be present on account of being absent from the city.

QUESTIONER WANTS GENERAL ALARM

Advocates That Bell Should Ring as Before—Alarm Now Cannot be Distinctly Heard, He States

WRITES TO THE EXAMINER

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I was just quietly thinking about our new "fire alarm system," and what started me to think was the fact that on walking up street, where I thought that everyone would hear Friday's alarm, but, strange to relate, not one of the three men questioned knew that the alarm had been sounded. Now, what I want to ask you, sir, is that if citizens walking or driving in the immediate vicinity of city, had no intimation that the fire alarm had sounded; how is it to be expected that our volunteer fireman following the daily vocations of which you are aware, covers a large territory, with a number of them, and be expected to respond to a fire alarm—as at present sounded. Of course you understand that I refer to a day or evening alarm.

Although their ears are tuned to the sound of the alarm and always on the alert, if a better noise is not made than at present, there doesn't seem to be much hope for their answering it. I claim that under the old system, when a general alarm was rung, no matter where the boys were within the city limits they were not slow to respond and I maintain that a general alarm should be sounded so as to draw attention to the fact that a fire is in progress. In the meantime the citizens can refer to their cards, which by the way, all should be provided with, indicating the number of the box and the locality. Then if not in their neighbourhood or near their place of business, they are at once satisfied and will not be bothering the telephone operators. Now, the second point I wish to emphasize is this, and our city fathers have not yet taken it into their consideration.

Suppose a fire should start in our business centre, where we are all vitally interested, and an alarm was turned in from the nearest box, how are our fire department, working on the outskirts of the city, to be aware of the fact that another fire was in progress? They might possibly be caught by 'phone, or some good natured person with a wheel or rig, but that would not be official, and you could not blame the brigade for stopping and finishing the job in hand. But if an alarm were sounded from the city hall that would reach the fire laddies' ears, they would not be slow in sending back a detachment to contend with the new fire foe.

This, to my mind, Mr. Editor, is a most important item to be considered in connection with our new fire alarm system.

Not having had any experience with the alarm systems as at present installed, I would venture to ask, if it would be possible to have ward bells connected with the present outfit and then the firemen and all citizens, no matter where they reside, would be at once aware of the vicinity of the fire.

Yours,
QUESTIONER.

MUST ANSWER BOX NO. 12

Fire Brigade Ordered to Respond to Calls From That Number—Asked for Instructions

IS IN NORTH MONAGHAN

At the meeting of the city council there was considerable discussion over the question of whether or not the fire brigade should answer calls from fire alarm box No. 12, which is in North Monaghan, outside the city limits. The discussion was brought about by the following letter from Chief Rutherford:

Gentlemen,—Now that we are perfecting the fire alarm system and apparatus we wish to bring in the question of attending fires outside the city limit, box 12 of the new system being in North Monaghan. Although we will be satisfied to assist our neighbours I believe it would place the city in a responsible position. For instance, if we had 1,200 or 1,500 feet of hose out, the hydrants being placed at a greater distance apart than in the centre of the city; a loss occurring inside the corporation might be charged to the city.

Another question I wish to put to your honourable body is the protection by police force at fires, especially in the day time; as crowds of people gather and are continually an annoyance and in the way. In all other cities the police rope off the streets and give the firemen a chance to work.

Hoping this will meet with your immediate consideration.

THOMAS RUTHERFORD,
Chief of the Fire Dept.

Some of the aldermen were of the opinion that it was not desirable to have the brigade answer calls from that box when the house of one of the residents of North Monaghan residing in the vicinity were on fire. The box was placed in the present position to give protection to the Brinton Carpet Company.

Ald. Wilson pointed out that with the exception of the carpet company's factory no building in that section could be protected as the only hydrant there is placed at the factory.

Ald. Morrow moved, seconded by Ald. Phelan, that the fire brigade be instructed to answer all calls from alarm box No. 12.

Ald. Morgan moved in amendment that the box be moved to the corner of Lock and Ware streets.

There was no seconder to the amendment and the motion carried.

RUBBISH MUST BE REMOVED

Underwriters' Complain to Council of Condition of Premises in the Business Section

BY-LAW TO BE ENFORCED

The Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association is complaining of the condition in which the premises in the rear of the business section of Peterborough are kept, and last night a letter of complaint was received from John A. Robertson, secretary of the association. As a result the Chief of Police has been instructed to see that the bylaw in regard to the accumulation of rubbish is enforced.

The letter, which was addressed to the City Clerk, was as follows:

Dear Sir,—Complaints at different times have been received by members of this Association of the condition in which the lanes in the rear of the main streets in the central business portions of your city are allowed to be kept. It has been stated that this condition, from the quantity of boxes, shavings, straw, etc., left lying about, is extremely dangerous, and in consequence of this report, one of our inspectors visited Peterborough and found the statements that we have received entirely confirmed. He states in his report that the conditions in the rear of business blocks are extremely bad—boxes, shavings, straw, old crates and waste paper have been allowed to accumulate during the winter months and form a serious menace to the blocks generally. He stated further that during the summer months it is customary to burn waste in the lanes or yards, which, it should be unnecessary to point out, is a very undesirable practice. In once instance he saw in an enclosed dwelling, with a wooden ceiling, a fire of straw and waste burning.

I understand that your (bylaws allow this accumulation of rubbish during the winter months and until the beginning of May, but if this be the case there is something radically wrong (with your municipal) system, and I shall, of course, have to bring this matter to the special attention of the committee dealing with [illegible]. In the meantime, however, I shall be very pleased to have your advices on the whole subject, and to know whether any improvement is to be looked for or is contemplated by your Council.

JOHN A. ROBERTSON,
Secretary.

It was moved by Ald. # A BIG EXCURSION IN THE CITY

Sons of England, of Uxbridge, Run First Railway Excursion of the Season

The first of what will, in all probability be a long string of excursions to Peterborough this summer, is in the city to-day from points along the G. T. R. between Blackwater and Markham. The excursion is being run by the Sons of England, of Uxbridge, the special train carrying 518 them arriving in the city about ten o'clock. About three hundred persons were on the train, and after their arrival here a special trip over the Lift Lock was made, the steamer Water Lily having been chartered for the occasion.

During the afternoon the Radial Railway Company had its special open cars out and a number of the visitors to the city took the round trip of the city.

Violent Form of Itching Piles

Rev. S. A. Dupraw, Methodist Minister at Belleville, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with itching and bleeding piles for years, and they ultimately attained a very violent form. Large lumps or abscesses gathered and I suffered great pain. A single box of Dr. Chase's Ointment cured me and saved me from a very dangerous and painful operation. The lumps and swellings disappeared and I am an entirely different man.

Urged The Erection Of An Isolation Hospital

Chairman of Board of Health Waited on Council---Will be Taken Up as Soon as Possible---Colonial Weaving Company's Request

"The matter will be taken up by the Committee of the Whole Council at the earliest possible time," was the familiar reply given by the Mayor to Mr. William Eyres, chairman of the Board of Health, after that gentleman had laid before the council at its meeting last night, reasons for erecting an Isolation Hospital. This old problem is given another hoist into the future, without being considered.

Mr. W. Eyres said that the city was in danger of an epidemic at any time. Peterborough was a railway centre with many visitors coming here, and there was a great risk of them carrying infectious diseases. There was no place in which to put patients suffering from contagious diseases. The Board of Health was unanimous in the belief that an Isolation Hospital was necessary. The necessity for such an institution was growing greater as the city grew. The Board thought that the council should should build the hospital at once. The Board had no power to erect permanent buildings, while they had authority to make temporary provision in case of epidemic. The Board proposed to erect a building of such a nature that it could easily be enlarged.

The Mayor promised that the matter would be taken up at the next meeting of the committee of the whole council.

A deputation consisting of Messrs. R. R. Hall and A. E. Coulthard, representing the Colonial Weaving Company, waited upon the council, to ask that they be given a fixed assessment of $3500 for ten years, and that they be given a site in consideration of their erecting a new and larger factory.

Mr. Hall referred to the fact that the company had secured an option on the property southwest of the carbon works, containing about one and a third acres, to purchase it at $3500. The works at present were very unsuitable for the operations of the company, the building on Water street being not large enough for their purposes. The company proposed to erect new and suitable buildings. It was intended to erect a building 200 feet by 60 feet, along with offices, etc. The company was putting in from $25,000 to $30,000 in the enterprise, and it was of importance that the plant should be enlarged. The business done by the company was not a small one. Some manufacturers used as high as $6,000 worth of woven labels in a year. There was a large market for their products.

The company would employ 60 hands, working practically every day in the year. At present they employ in the neighbourhood of 40. The company asked for a free site which would cost $3500, and a fixed assessment of $3500 for ten years.

Mr. Coulthard remarked that the company had recently received an order for 500,000 shirt labels, and had been compelled to refuse it, owing to the fact that their present plant was not large enough.

It was moved by Ald. Morrow, seconded by Ald. Phelan, that the matter be referred to the Manufacturers' Committee.

SEVERAL BOYS ROUNDED UP BY TRUANT OFFICER

Mr. Geo. Cochrane, Truant Officer, reports the rounding up of seven boys during the last two days who were engaged in the great game of playing truant. One of them, who claimed his feet were too sore to attend school, was discovered climbing a tree in search of birds' eggs in place of getting an education while the opportunity lasted.

Agonies of Learning Golf.

"The man who has achieved success in other forms of activity, such as trade, politics, painting, literature, or football, finds, to his horror, when he faces the tee-box that all his knowledge is a vain thing," writes James Douglas in M.A.P.

"He who would conquer the imp of golf must become a little child. He must abase his pride in the dust. He must expose his folly to the world. He must make a public laughing-stock of his grey hairs.

"The eminent man who condemns himself to golf cannot hope to learn the dreadful sport in secret. He must perform his grotesque contortions in public. He must endure the furtive grin of the caddie, and the simulated gravity of the club verandah. He must not only make an ass of himself, but he must also feel an ass and be an ass for months, and even years. Indeed, the worse you play the game, the more you enjoy it."

TWO GAMES OF FAST BASEBALL

Stratheonas and West Ends Have Substantial Leads Over Their Opponents

Two Intermediate League ball games were played last night, in which the Stratheonas and the West Ends came out with the larger ends of the scores.

The former nine defeated the Lilies on the Patterson street field, by the score of ten to seven, while the West Enders tallied four to their opponents two.

In each case only half a game was played, the remaining innings to be pulled off on Wednesday evening. Both games were hotly contested, and there was great excitement while they lasted. The feature of the game on Patterson street was a home run hit, made by Foley, which was perhaps the longest drive made in that field. Both pitchers were touched up freely and it was by no means a pitchers' battle. The Lilies are determined to even up the score at the next meeting. T. Carson gave satisfaction as umpire.

The teams lined up as follows:

Stratheonas — Weatherstone ss; Allison 1b; Wilson c; Delaney cf; Dormer 2b; Heard rf; Regan lf; Curtis 3b; Parnell p.

Lilies — Hilker, Graham Foley, Price, Ryan, Shephard, Pilling, Bartley Connors.

The Excelsiors held the fast West Enders down to four runs while they secured two for themselves. It was a good game from reports, and neither team had much on the other. Both pitchers dished up a good article, and Staunton's team believe that they can more than turn the tables on Max Cameron's pets on Wednesday night. Mr. Stacey was an impartial referee.

The teams lined up as follows:

West Ends — Butcher p; McNern c; King 1b; Halpin 2b; Rose ss; Cameron 3b; Dobson rf; Moore cf; Grange lf.

Excelsiors — Belleghem, p; Billington c; Coughlin 1b; Heaslip 2b; Clancy ss; Guerin 3b Tobin rf; O'Shea cf; Russell lf.

ST. ANDREWS' TEAM HERE ON SATURDAY

Local Fans Will See a Good Game of Ball This Week

The local fans will be given an opportunity to see a great ball game on Saturday, when the St. Andrews, champions of the Toronto Junction League, will meet Manager Johnston's aggregation. The game will be played at the exhibition grounds and will be called at 3 o'clock sharp.

The St. Andrew's have one of the strongest amateur teams in the neighbourhood of Toronto, and will have their best line up on. They expect to trim Peterborough, but the locals have been practicing almost every night and will be in much better shape than they they were against the Arlies.

BASEBALL

Quinlan, one of the pitchers of the Peterborough Baseball Club, was in Brantford on Saturday and pitched for the Dufferins in their City League game with the Veritys. The local twirler lost his game, although he blanked his opponents for six innings. The Courier says:—"Quinlan, the new pitcher for the Duffs., made a good impression and will make good on a dry day."

ROWDYISM MUST BE ELIMINATED BY BOYS

Police Determined to Keep the Lid on as Much as Possible

Roy Scriver and two boys named Wright and Ahern appeared at the police court this morning charged wth having acted in a boisterous and ruffianly manner on George street, on Sunday night last. They were seen by Police Officer McDonald, who kept his eye on them for a while until he was satisfied that they were acting unruly. He stopped them after several rounds at Simcoe street and brought them to the police station. It was brought out in court that these lads with others have been complained of many times, as making nuisances of themselves wherever they go. They were fined two dollars each or ten days in gaol.

The chief wishes it understood that signs of lawlessness, bumping into ladies, using profane language, etc., will be punished.

Andy Fawcett came around again this morning for another term on the hill. He was anxious to be sent to the House of Refuge but Mr. Dumble could not see it that way. He was given six months in gaol, and as the Magistrate says, may hear the trumpet ball before that time has elapsed.

The deceased was highly respected by her many friends, who extend their sincerest sympathy to the bereaved husband and family. In religion the late Mrs. Brickley was a Roman Catholic, and took an active part in the principal organizations of the church.

The funeral took place on Monday morning at 9 o'clock from the family residence, and proceeded to the Roman Catholic Church, where Requiem High Mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Bretterton, and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery, Hastings, for burial. The funeral was largely attended by friends of the deceased from all parts of the county. ## CARDS BEFORE DEATH

CREW OF SINKING SHIP PLAYED ON UPPER DECK.

Thrilling Experiences and Heroic Rescues—Had Suffered Severe Privations—Sprung Bad Leak — Vessel Rendered Helpless In Boisterous Seas—Went Back for Cats— Rescued by the Lucifer.

After drifting about in mid-Atlantic for a week with her deck awash and her crew suffering severe privations, the oil tank steamer Lucifer, 2,473 tons, belonging to the Bear Creek Oil and Shipping Company, Liverpool, sank. Her crew of thirty-three all told, and three cats, were saved, and have been landed at Falmouth. The Lucifer left New York for Dublin on April 5, and four days afterwards it was discovered that there was a leak under the stokehold. Steam pumps were set to work, and coped with the inflow, and Captain Wilson was confident that his men could discover the leak and stop it. On April 12 an American liner was sighted, and Captain Wilson signalled asking his condition to be reported, but declining assistance. That night he had reason to lament his independence, for a heavy gale came on, the leak increased, filling stokehold and engine-room, putting out fires, and rendering his vessel helpless. Fortunately the steam pumps were kept going by means of a donkey boiler on deck, but the water gained so rapidly that the crew had to assist by baling out with buckets. Over eight hundred tons of oil were pumped into the sea, and by this means the Lucifer was lightened, though seas swept her deck and the plight of the crew was pitiable in the extreme. Signals of distress were flown by day, and flares burnt by night, and two vessels passed without apparently noticing the signals.

Boats Were Got Out.

All the boats were made ready for launching and provisioned for twelve days, but as the mountainous seas continued Captain Wilson realised that it would be imprudent to launch the boats except at the last extremity. While the vessel was being buffeted about two steamers hove in sight. Rockets were fired, but both steamed away without attempting to offer assistance. On the night of April 16, seven days after the Lucifer had sprung a leak, the steamer Sagami made her welcome appearance. The seas were still too boisterous to attempt a rescue that night, and Capt. Wilson signalled that he thought he could keep his vessel afloat till daybreak if the Sagami would stand by. This the captain of the Sagami consented to do, and at daybreak called for volunteers to go to the rescue of the distressed crew. Third officer Wallace and five seamen responded. That a boat would live in such a sea was doubted, but the gallant fellows never hesitated, and those on board the Lucifer, anxiously watching their would-be rescuers, were momentarily dismayed as they lost sight of the boat.

But it came up again on the crest of a wave. The work of getting alongside was hazardous, for it was feared that the little craft would be smashed against the partly-sunken steamer, over whose decks waves were sweeping. A boatload of the Lucifer's crew was safely transferred to the Sagami, and a second trip was made, again successfully, amid the cheers of their shipmates. One of the Lucifer's lifeboats took off the remainder of the crew, the captain being the last to leave. Though the men lost all their belongings, they remembered the dumb creatures and brought off three of the ship's cats. Before leaving steps were taken to ensure the sinking of the Lucifer, and the vessel was seen to go down stern first. With his normal crew of 42 increased to 75, the captain of the Sagami found his stores seriously taxed, and short rations were ordered. In this predicament he signalled to the captain of the passing Holland-American liner Potsdam, asking him to take off the Lucifer's crew. He declined, stating that he already had a full complement of passengers. The Sagami proceeded, and off the Cornish coast transferred the rescued crew to a pilot cutter, which landed them at Falmouth, where they were hospitably provided for at the Royal Cornwall Sailors' Home.

Told Romantic Story.

A "Daily Chronicle" representative found among the survivors a Cornishman, who told a romantic story. "I am a native of Helston," he said, "and my people live there now, but I shall never go back there again." There was a sigh and a moment's silence. "You see," he went on, "I ran away twenty-two years ago, and I have never been home since, and never shall. I go by the name of Smith, but my proper name is ——," and he mentioned that of a well-to-do Helston family. "I took my first ship at Falmouth, and this is the first time I have been back in the port all that time. I have been shipwrecked three times, and have been in some tight corners, but I have never had braver mates than those of the Lucifer. We never had our clothes off or a wink of sleep for a whole week, and when we had a bit of leisure time we played cards on deck to keep up our spirits, though it was a hard job to shuffle and deal cards as thy were wet. One of the bravest was a youth who had never been to sea before, and he played cards though we all believed the ship was sinking beneath us at the same time. We all looked upon Mr. Wallace, of the Sagami, as a hero, for only those who saw the seas running can realize what risk he ran in launching a boat."—"Won't you go to Helston and see your people? They are certain to welcome you home again after twenty-two years."—"No: I shall never go there again. But—but when you go to Helston next time, you might call and tell mother you have seen Will, and that he is all right." Then this wandering Cornishman turned away with tears in his eyes.

Tears.

"On the right," said a Killarney guide to a party of tourists, "ye'll see a cascade called the Malden's Tears and on the left a cascade called the Widow's Tears, 'cause it dries up the quickest."

HOME OF "ROBINSON CRUSOE."

Defoe's House In London About to Be Demolished.

One of the most interesting literary shrines in England, the house in which Daniel Defoe penned the greater part of "Robinson Crusoe," is about to be torn down to make way for modern dwellings. This little, old fashioned house, set back from the Finborough road, Tooting, and in striking contrast with the modern shops which flank it on either side, is now practically just as it was 219 years ago, when Defoe came to it with his family to begin a strange life of isolation. He lived at Tooting for 18 months, and during this time and for 20 years thereafter is said rarely —by some, never—to have spoken to his wife or children.

The sole change that has been made in the house since Defoe's time was the substitution of a new front in the year 1785. Over the scullery on the second floor is the little room where Defoe worked over the literary masterpiece which has secured his reputation for all time. This, the smallest room of the twelve which comprise the house, was his sanctuary, and only he passed its portals. Here for whole days he would shut himself from his family, receiving his meals, the meager repasts of an impecunious genius.

During the time Defoe lived in this house he was hard beset by creditors. Indeed, four years later, he was declared a bankrupt and was compelled to secrete himself to escape a term in a debtor's prison.

The 18 months spent here, if we are to believe those who find an allegory of Defoe's own life in "Robinson Crusoe," correspond to that part of the book which tells of the shipwreck on a lonely island, the voyage to and from the wreck, the earthquake, Crusoe's serious illness, the first reading of the Bible, and his visit to the other side of his island.

Here, in the town of Tooting, then a small settlement, but now a thriving part of London, Defoe formed a congregation of dissenters. They first met in a private house (probably the one now to be demolished). Here Defoe is said to have preached to them occasionally. Subsequently the growth of the congregation compelled their removal to a temporary wooden building of greater size. From there they removed to the Defoe Presbyterian Chapel and quite recently a Defoe memorial church with a statue of the author became the home of the descendants of the original body.

The old house is at present occupied by an aged woman and her equally aged husband. For a small fee they show visitors the room where Defoe wrote "Robinson Crusoe." In recent years the American pilgrims to this literary shrine have far outnumbered English callers.

Europe spent in round numbers £200,000,000 on its army and £80,000,000 on its navy in 1906, as against £146,000,000 and £60,000,000 respectively in 1898. That is to say, Europe spends to-day £280,000,000 on its army and navy as against £206,000,000 in 1898, a total increase of £74,000,000, or, say 26 per cent. Seventy-four millions a year is equivalent to 4 per cent. interest upon a capital sum of £1,850,000,000.

SKIN DISEASES

Salt Rheum, Pimples, Erysipelas, Ringworm, Shingles, Scald Head, Itching Sores.

All diseases of the skin are more or less directly caused by a bad state of the blood, which produces acrid humors and corrupts the secretions.

No one can expect to have a clear, bright skin when the blood is in a disordered condition, and the stomach, liver and bowels acting feebly in consequence.

All the above skin diseases, in fact, any disease arising from a bad condition of the blood, are curable by through its wonderful cleansing, purifying powers on the blood, and its renovating action on the system.

Mr A. Squire, Dominion, N.S., tells how he was cured of Salt Rheum. He writes: "For years I suffered with Salt Rheum, and was unable to find a curable remedy out of all the medicines I took, and Physicians consulted. Finally I was urged by a friend to try Burdock Blood Bitters, and after a very short space of time I was completely cured. I shall always recommend B.B.B. for such cases, as I consider it an indispensable remedy."

Price $1.00 per bottle or 6 bottles for $5.00.

REJECTED ROYAL BUST

ALL LONDON LAUGHS AT ACADEMY HANGING COMMITTEE.

Portrait of Queen Victoria of Spain Turned Down — Refused Place at Royal Academy Exhibition — Was Wedding Present From Women of England—King Edward Intervenes to Secure Its Admission.

All London is amused at the regular annual "mistake" of the Royal academy.

Mr. Conrad Dressler is the sculptor of the bust of Queen Victoria of Spain which was rejected and then demanded by the Royal academy hanging committee.

The bust, at the express wish of the King, is to be accorded a prominent place in this year's exhibition.

It is clear that the bust was not rejected on account of any supposed imperfection, but owing to the ignorance of the committee as to the circumstances under which it was executed, combined with enormous pressure of their work through which every year splendid works of art are sent back while inferior ones are accepted.

BUST OF QUEEN VICTORIA.

Mr. Conrad Dressler cited another reason. "It is largely," he said, "because all the members of the hanging committee are painters and not sculptors, and are therefore unable properly to appreciate sculpture."

The bust is a wedding present to the Queen of Spain from the women of England. A clay model of it was exhibited with the other wedding presents in London last summer.

All the critics have pronounced it a fine work, deserving to rank with Mr. Dressler's many celebrated sculptures.

The Marchioness of Granby, who is herself an able sculptor, first thought of the idea of giving something to the young queen from "The ladies of England." The Duchess of Norfolk, the Duchess of Beaufort, the Duchess of Sutherland, and the Duchess of Marlborough also were actively concerned in the arrangements.

When the bust was sent back by the Royal academy the directors of the New gallery secured it. But in the meantime the Royal academy had received a letter from the King in which His Majesty expressed the wish that the bust should be exhibited in this year's academy.

The King, as usual, has accurately gauged popular feeling, for every one desires to see this work which is afterwards to be placed in the Camena gallery in the palace at Madrid.

LIVE TO GET DRUNK.

Queer Tribe of Savages Recently Discovered In Africa.

Some explorers, who have just returned from Africa, report the discovery of a curious tribe, the chief object of whose existence seems to be to get gloriously drunk.

They have mastered the art without any assistance from the white man. From millet they brew great quantities of a peculiarly potent beer. Not being subject to any tax, it is so cheap that the poorest native can afford to get drunk on it. It is fully equal to whiskey in promoting that bellicose condition, which in America is known as "spoiling for a fight."

In the report made to the Government, Lieut. George relates how, with an escort, he arrived at one of the native villages during a particularly happy period of general inebriety. He had much trouble in securing huts for himself and his men, because it was considered contrary to native etiquette to interrupt a spree in order to attend to anything in the nature of business.

Later in the day the chief called upon the lieutenant, and proposed, by way of appropriately winding up the festivities and amusing his guests, that his men should fight the soldiers. The lieutenant explained to him they did not regard fighting as fun. That seemed to astonish the chief. However, he hospitably deferred to his guest's feelings in the matter. But a fight he was bound to have, and promptly made arrangements for one among his own people. The liveliest kind of a shindy followed. In less than a quarter of an hour a score of the dusky combatants were killed. The chief himself was among the first to fall.

The bishop of London, who is to visit Canada during the coming summer, is on the border land of the fifties and still a bachelor, says the London P. T. O. He has proved himself an ideal ruler of the see, for which his thirteen years' acquaintance and sympathy with the life of the people of London and particularly of the East End admirably fitted him. He won the real affection of the people "down east" by his free and easy manners with them and by acting up to his motto, "Don't be afraid to be human" He would often salute an irreclaimable ruffian with a genial, "Hello, old boy!" On one occasion he loaned a seedy individual his great coat, and it never returned. He has been censured by a parochial relief committee for indiscriminately giving half crowns away. One lad, who played football with him, says, "Ingram a pretty firm on his pins."

GERMANY'S PIPE DREAM

KAISER'S OFFICERS DISCUSS HOW TO INVADE ENGLAND.

Operations Would Be Opened By Dash At Unguarded Point On British Coast—Thirty-Six Hours Only Needed—Army Might Be Landed—French Expert Scouts the Idea...

Is a German invasion of England possible? This is the question that some of the French newspapers are discussing. The discussion was started by the recent publication in Germany over the signature of officers of rank and credit of a statement that thirty-six hours after the Kaiser expressed his desire to settle with England London would fall into the hands of an Imperial army.

The affirmative case is based on the assumption that Germany would not wait for a declaration of war, but would take England by surprise, making a dash at some unguarded spot on the English coast somewhat as Admiral Togo began his operations at Port Arthur. The dash would be made from Wilhelmshafen or the mouth of the Ems. A few hours sail at a time judiciously chosen would suffice to land an army before the British ships could rally to stop it.

Paul Fontin, formerly secretary to Admiral Aube and an expert writer on strategic questions, is one of those who, in the abstract, consider an invasion of England possible. The defective English army system, he thinks, subjects the country to constant danger of invasion. There is nothing, he believes, to prevent the landing of hostile troops at several points on the English coast simultaneously.

France Could Do It.

But M. Fontin thinks that at present France is the only power that could carry out this enterprise with any prospect of success. Germany is for the present totally debarred from undertaking it alone by the "absolute and irremediable impotency" of her fleet. She has gone altogether on a wrong tack, he thinks, in building battleships and cruisers, in which she cannot hope to rival England in years, if ever.

"If, however, Germany had a hundred submarines," he says, "and she could secure them at the cost of two battleships. England would be on the verge of ruin. The submarine will make the blockade of the future effective, and England cannot possibly stand a three months' blockade."

M. Laubeuf, Engineer-in-Chief of the French navy, who is credited with the creation of the efficient submarine service of France, said in answer to a question:—

"If you had asked me five years ago whether England could be successfully invaded by Germany I would have said 'Yes.' But now that England has submarines I do not hesitate to declare that it is impossible. German threats are absolutely vain. England is well guarded to-day."

A Wild Dream.

Edouard Lockroy, who was formerly Minister of Marine, considers the German proposition a wild dream.

"Invade England!" said he. "Easy to say, but hard to do. The German navy is certainly not of the build to do it. As for surprise, the distance between the German ports and the English coast is too great to make such a thing possible. Long before the invading ships could arrive the Channel fleet would be after them.

"The invasion of England, it will be admitted, could not be undertaken with less than 100,000 men. It would take 150 ships to transport them, along with the munitions of war. Where would Germany get the ships—of a sudden, to take England by surprise?

"And what would 100,000 men be doing on English soil without a regular system of supplies? Modern war is a war of provisions. The surprise over, the English fleet could certainly cut off all aid from the Continent.

"The army of invasion would be an army of prisoners. As for the rising of 150,000 German waiters in London to assist their compatriots—well, if Germany counts on the mobilization of the cafe help to conquer England she is certainly trading in chimeras."

Admiral Bienaime adds just a word to the controversy.

"To invade England," said he, "the invader should be sure of the command of the sea. I don't see how, in view of the present naval strength of England, Germany could figure on such command, even in a fog."

Weights and Measures.

The Hebrew tradition ascribed the invention of weights and measures to Cain, those of Egypt to Theuth, those of Greece to Hermes.

BATTLE OF SAN JACINTO.

The Desperate Fight That Heralded the Dawn of Texan Freedom.

On the morning of the 21st of April, 1836, the day chosen for the battle which was to decide the fate of Texas, Houston's first words had been, "The sun of Austerlitz has risen again." He had then called a council of war and asked the opinion of his six field officers as to whether they should attack the enemy or wait for the attack to come from them.

The four senior officers strangely counseled delay, but their arguments did not convince Houston, who declared that the hour for action had arrived and plainly announced the intention on his own responsibility to risk a general engagement. He then dispatched Deaf Smith, his most trusty scout, to cut down the bridge which offered the only means of escape to either army.

"Make the best of your way," he had said in his habitual tone of kindly friendship, "to Vince's bridge, cut it down and burn it up and come back like eagles or you will be too late for the day." And just as the first charge was starting a horseman flecked with foam from his panting charger had dashed along the lines of the patriot army, as Houston had arranged that he should do, calling out clearly that all might hear, this deathknell to all hopes of possible escape: "I have cut down Vince's bridge! Now, fight for your lives and remember the Alamo!"

The Texan army, with Houston riding at the front of the center column, had then dashed forward against the Mexican breastworks, behind which stood the army of Santa Anna, drawn up in perfect order and calmly reserving its fire for short range. Their first volley, however, by the grace of a divine Providence, as the Texans declared, went too high. Houston's leg was shattered at the ankle and his horse severely wounded, but his columns still advanced uninjured.

Then came the answering volley, "poured into the very bosoms" of the astonished Mexicans—unable to reload and without bayonets for the charge. The Texans had "clubbed their muskets" and dealt desperate blows, and finally, when they had thus battered their way into the very center of the Mexican army, they had drawn their murderous bowie knives and "literally cut their way through dense masses of living flesh."

The battle had lasted only twenty minutes, but in that time a new nation had been born into the world. "From the battle of San Jacinto," said Webster in 1842, "the war was at an end."

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Too many of us consider an excuse a reason.

Everything sounds like an encore to some men.

The philosophical person is apt not to be when considering troubles of his own.

Many a man who thinks he is getting into a peach orchard really finds his way into a lemon grove.

There are lots of answers to the question, "What's the use?" but the man who asks it never wants one.

When an acquaintance says to you, "I am going to be honest with you," brace yourself to hear something disagreeable.

Most of us when we ride a free horse start out on a walk, quicken into a brisk trot, then break into a wild gallop and are thrown.

Gent and Gemman.

This slang word seems to have come in at first as a mere written contraction. I have found the word laygents in law reports of the seventeenth century, particularly those of Popham and of Davis. In Sir John Northcote's "Note Book," Dec. 2, 1640, Lord Gray is described as saying of one Halliford or Holford "that he is no gent; that is memory of divers he kept hogs." The cognate word gemman can be traced about a century earlier.—London Notes and Queries.

Man and the Earth.

Nobody knows the age of man on earth. The tendency of opinion among scholars is to the effect that the human advent upon this planet took place many tens of thousands of years ago. John Fiske, backed by other high authorities, claims that man lived on the earth as long ago as half a million years.

A WOMAN'S BACK WAS NOT MADE TO ACHE

Thousands of Women suffer Untold Misery Every Day with Aching Backs That Really have no Business to Ache.

Under ordinary conditions it ought to be strong and ready to bear the burdens of life.

It is hard to do housework with an aching back. Backache comes from sick kidneys, and what a lot of trouble sick kidneys cause.

But they can't help it. If more work is put on them than they can stand it is not to be wondered that they get out of order.

Backache is simply a warning from the kidneys and should be attended to immediately so as to avoid years of terrible suffering from Kidney trouble.

BECOMES NAVAL CADET

PRINCE EDWARD OF WALES JOINS TRAINING COLLEGE.

England's Future King Makes His First Official Acquaintance With British Navy—Will Serve Four Years and Then Join the Army—Spartan Life At Osborne—"Eddy" to Go Through Full Course.

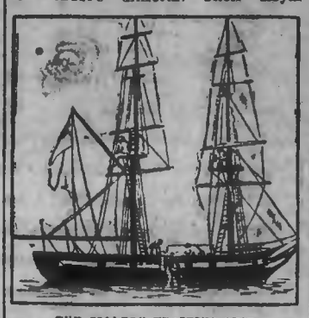
Prince Edward of Wales has commenced his preparation for the serious business of life, having just been admitted a cadet into the Royal Naval College of Osborne. Accompanied by his father, the young Prince left London for the Isle of Wight. His Royal Highness was in multi, while young Prince Edward looked very smart in his cadet's uniform. Their Royal



THE COLLEGE TRAINING SHIP.

Highnesses, on arriving at Portsmouth, went on board the Alberta, where, from the bridge, the young Prince closely examined the Dreadnought along with his father. On landing at Cowes the Prince and his son drove to the residence of the Duke and Duchess of Argyle, where H.R.H. is spending a few days while his son shakes down as one of 400 cadets at the college. Although for four years Prince Edward's name will figure as a future officer of the fleet, he will, in 1911, move from the sea service into the Army, in accordance with the precedent set in the case of the late Duke of Clarence. The cadets at Osborne are given the general education essential to an officer, in which history and mathematics have foremost places. Prince Edward will go through the composite course, spending a good deal of time in the drawing office, the foundry, the smithy, and the carpentering shop, besides learning, by instruction ashore and afloat, all the rudiments of machinery. By the time he leaves the Navy he will be able to repair with his own hands an automobile or a motor-boat, and use saw, chisel, and hammer in a practical manner. The life at Osborne is somewhat Spartan, though the cadets are very young when they enter. The daily routine of the college begins at an early hour. The food is simple and good. Study and workshop training are carefully adjusted, so as to have plenty of time for games, and the cadets go afloat for short cruises. Prince Edward will be treated very much as are the other cadets, sleeping in one of the detached dormitories, with his sea-chest marked merely with "E. of W." at the foot of his bed, taking his meals with his companions like an ordinary boy, and sharing in all their sports.

CALL OF NEW ZEALAND.

Attractions That Allure the Immigrant to That Far-Off Land.

Quite apart from the prospects held out to the emigrant so far as monetary advantages are concerned, the character of New Zealand's Government, its broad-minded and liberal social enactments, says a writer in T. P.'s Weekly, has won the admiration and envy of thousands of thinking young Englishmen in the old country. There is some chance for a fellow with brains and enthusiasm to make a mark in a rising country with something under 1,000,000 inhabitants; where adult suffrage, male and female, is the rule; where locally-elected licensing benches deal with the liquor traffic; where members of the House of Representatives are paid for their services, and where old age pensions have become an established fact. These are some of the attractive features of New Zealand life to the up-to-date young man who desires to emigrate. The knowledge that the state recognizes its duty to the citizen from his early days to hoary old age, offers him advice as to the choice of a career, sends consulting scientists to deal with problems in his crops, supplies a state veterinary surgeon to keep his flocks in good health, and owns and controls the railways by which he travels and over which he sends his produce to market or to ports of embarkation—all this helps him to come to a decision, and exercises a magnetic influence towards the New Zealand islands.

The Moorhen.

What could be more perfect defense than the device of the moorhen? She sinks herself in the water beneath an overhanging root or bank, leaving only her bill in sight. And that looks like a fallen leaf. You may stand within six feet of her, and she will not move, so sure is she that her ruse will succeed.—London Standard.

Fair and Square.

City Boarder—When you exchanged cattle with Farmer Smith, did you get a quid pro quo? Farmer Jones—No. Neighbor Smith didn't try no sich mean tricks on me. We swapped fair and even.—Baltimore American.

AUSTRALIA AND EMPIRE.

Some Criticisms On Antipodean Society and Influences.

Mr. J. Ramsay Macdonald, M.P., whip of the British Labor party, writing from Australia to The London Chronicle, says:

Here one discovers a serious weakness in Australian labor experiments. There is practically no economic teaching and no economic literature in Australia. What has been written about her industrial legislation is either indiscriminating panegyrics or equally indiscriminating jeremiads. She is prosperous, her workers have shared in her prosperity; she has almost succeeded in weeding from her garden the ugly and tainted plants of sweating. Why? Naturally she thinks it has been owing to the industrial legislation and the protection with which she has been experimenting. These have had their due effects, but their influence has by no means been on one side, and other potent influences have also been at work. I could discover no attempt that had been made to analyze these causes and assign to each its proper place.

In Australia classes and masses are growing up. The classes copy London. The capital of their thoughts is on the Thames. Their sentiments are most easily tapped by the stranger from home because they are the hosts, and belong to the same class as those whose business or pleasure takes them to Australia.

Then there is a genuine Imperialist section prepared to take part in the responsibilities and the privileges of Empire. It is small numerically, but it is wealthy, it is in politics, and it feels the magic sentiment of the Home Land. Neither of these sections represents Young Australia.

Finally, there is the great mass of the common people, typified by the readers of The Bulletin, who regard the Mother Country as a kind of money-lender, or as a snob, or as a stepmother, or who are growing indifferent to her existence, and yet who, when they think of it, retain a good deal of affection for us. This is the Radical Australian Nationalist section—Young Australia. It clamors for an Australian policy; it buys Australian goods only; it is against borrowing in London; it wants to work up its own raw material; it despises the classes; when it wants to be severe upon you it reports you with a drawl; it never goes to Government Houses; it belongs to the Labor party and to trade unions, and meets in trades hall. It is to wield the greatest influence of the future.

Is it compatible with Empire? I think it is, but not with an Empire controlled by conservative forces, and nothing has impressed me more during my journeyings than the failure of Imperialist writers and speakers at home—with perhaps one exception—to recognize its existence.

AMUSEMENT OF BISHOPS.

How the Heads of English Church Find Their Recreation.

What are the recreations of the bishops? A correspondent of The Record discovers that the Bishops of London, Bath and Wells, Ely, and Exeter are all cyclists. Golf also claims the first three. The Bishops of Carlisle, Manchester, and St. Asaph are anglers; the Bishop of Southwark makes travel his recreation; the Bishops of Manchester and Newcastle are amateur gardeners; and the Bishops of London and Exeter play fives. The Archbishop of York enjoys riding and walking; the Bishop of Bath and Wells reads for recreation; the Bishop of Durham uses the telescope; the Bishop of Exeter is a botanist; while the Bishop of Worcester devotes his leisure to horticulture, history, archaeology, and art.

No dean confesses to golf. Only one—the Dean of Ripon—trusts himself upon a bicycle, and he also plays lawn tennis and is fond of travel. The Dean of Manchester rides on horseback, the Dean of Rochester fishes, and the Dean of Norwich indulges in mountaineering and is a lover of music. The Dean of Chester amuses himself with the microscope and the telescope, the Dean of Peterborough travels for recreation, and the Dean of Gloucester works at medieval ecclesiastical architecture in his leisure moments. The Dean of Bristol studies science, especially the microscope; the Dean of Worcester indulges in music and English literature, and the Dean of York finds recreation in archaeology, history, and music.

The Cocos Island Treasure.

The death in Chichester, Eng., recently of Admiral H. St. L. Palliser, removes one of the holders of the "secret" of the buried treasure on Cocos Island, to recover which pretty nearly its full alleged value has been spent. When he was on Her Majesty's ship Imperieuse he made the first of a long series of ineffectual efforts to recover the treasure, the last of which was made by Earl Fitzwilliam a year and a half ago. Some of the members of this expedition were injured by a blast, it was said, but there were apparently well based stories afloat that Earl Fitzwilliam's party had come into armed conflict with a rival searching party. The only man to discover any of the buried treasure of Cocos was a man named Keaton, who found jewels worth about $30,000. He gave his secret to a Captain Hackett, who, in turn, bequeathed it to Admiral Palliser.

THE GREAT IRISH FAIR

LARGE CROWDS ARE NOW ATTENDING THE EXHIBITION.

Dublin Fair Proves Irish Possess Modern Spirit of Commercial Activity and Enterprise—Public Are Delighted—Buildings Are Splendid —Many Side Shows—Kerry Dance a Feature—Model Villages.

Like the Jamestown Exposition, the great Dublin Fair, the first of its kind in the history of Ireland, is not entirely completed, but already, since the recent opening, it promises to be even more of a success than its most sanguine promoters anticipated.

Every day since the opening great crowds have passed through the turnstiles, including hundreds of Americans, and everybody seems delighted with the unique show.

The exhibition is the answer of the people of Ireland to those of their detractors who deny them the modern spirit of commercial activity and enterprise. Four years ago an industrial conference was held in the Irish capital, at which men of all classes and creeds, and from the four provinces of the land, assembled to take counsel together as to the best manner in which the industrial welfare of their native land could be furthered. The chair was taken by Lord Pirrie, of the great Belfast shipbuilding firm, and among the speakers were the Lord Mayors of Dublin and Cork, the Earl of Mayo, the Earl of Belmore, Lord Castledown, and Count Moore. It was unanimously decided to hold an interr ational exhibition as the best means of acquainting the world, in the first place, with the extent and variety of Ireland's industrial, commercial, and artistic output, and with the extent and promise of her partially developed resources; and, in the second place, of stimulating commercial development and promoting industrial education, by inviting all nations to exhibit their products, both raw and finished. Its dual object was to be, in short, to show the world what Ireland can do, and to show Ireland what its competitors have done and are doing.

The buildings are of great extent and exceptionally beautiful design. Their architectural features are in the main Florentine, but many deviations have been made to harmonize as far as possible with the natural features of the site. The principal building is a huge octagonal court, from which four wing buildings radiate, and this court is surmounted by an octagonal dome 150 feet high. In these wing buildings are housed all sorts of British and foreign industrial exhibits, the last word in commercial progress, and a speaking contrast with the exhibits in the entrance hall, which are devoted to collections of Irish historical objects and curios. Beyond the central building there is, to the left, a palace of art, in which are shown collections of the fine arts of Ireland and other nations.

It is, perhaps, the Irish village section that will be most interesting to visitors from over-seas. There are shown Irish cottages, some of them models of what Irish cottages ought to be, a model of a village hall, a thing badly needed in most Irish villages, and there is also shown a typical western village street and a village green, where light-footed colleens will recall the zest of the "Kerry dancin'."

Magdalen College.

In all Oxford there is no more interesting structure than Magdalen College, whose graceful tower is the first object to salute the eyes of the traveler as he draws into the railway station. Apparently steeped in the atmosphere of the Middle Ages, Magdalen in point of date is really only just mediæval, holding an almost absolutely central place among the colleges of Oxford. At the same time the idea that it is much older than this is a natural and not entirely groundless one. For it was established on a site already occupied, and its establishment absorbed into itself not only the property but some of the material remains of a much earlier foundation. The founder of the present college was William Wainfleet, who in 1457 obtained a patent from King Henry VI. to erect a hall for the study of theology and philosophy in the University of Oxford, and chose for its site a piece of ground on which stood the decaying hospital of St. John. The college as we know it was not fully completed until the first quarter of the nineteenth century, by the addition of the Grammar Hall.

Nerves Gave Out, Almost in Despair

TWO SEVERE CASES OF NERVOUS PROSTRATION WITH WHICH DOCTORS COULD DO NOTHING CURED BY

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

Mr. Wm. Graham, Atwood, Ont., writes: "My wife had been ill for some time with nervous prostration, and we had two of the best doctors we could get, but neither of them did her any good. She gradually became worse and worse, could not sleep, and lost energy and interest in life. She was almost giving up in despair, when a friend advised a trial of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

"From the first box of this preparation my wife used we noticed an improvement, and after using six boxes she is completely cured, and as well as ever she was—eats well and sleeps well, and feels fully restored. I cannot say too much in praise of this valuable medicine, and am satisfied that my wife owes her life to the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food." This cure is certified to by Mr. C. H. McFarlane, druggist, Atwood, Ont.

Mrs. Ald. Stevens, Burgessville, Oxford County, writes: "Two years ago last November I was run down, and did not know what was wrong. I could not sleep nor eat, and at last my nervous system gave way entirely, and I had to go to bed. The doctor told me I had nervous prostration, and, though he doctored me for some weeks, I did not get any better.

"I then began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and by the time I had used six boxes I was entirely cured. People remarked how well I looked, and I said, 'Yes, and I feel well, that is the best of it, and Dr. Chase's Nerve Food did it.'"

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cures diseases of the nerves in the only natural and effective way—by enriching the blood and creating new nerve force; 50c a box, six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Game Shooters' Trophies.

The many big game shooters among wealthy Britons who go to far distant and wild countries where the lion, the tiger and so on are to be found are always particularly anxious to preserve and to have set up for home display the skins of the animals that have fallen a prey to their prowess.

Unfortunately, the skins thus obtained have often to be treated in a very primitive style, in the first instance, from the taxidermist and fur dresser's point of view, says London Tit-Bits, and though the influence of tropical climates and imperfect preparation they arrive in England as stiff as boards. So stiff and brittle are they, indeed, that unless they were gently handled they would break up into fragments.

Some of the rarest and most beautiful skins in the world are treated at a unique establishment in the east end of London, prior to being handed over to the regular fur dresser. At the place in question the pelts or skins are gently deposited. Then they are put into a huge shallow tank and covered over with a liquid containing certain chemical ingredients. After being in steep for some time, parties of men, bare-footed and bare-legged to the knee, tread about, backward and forward, day after day, for a certain period upon each particular skin, and it is this application of the human foot that brings the skins back to a perfect state of pliability.

Nearly all the men employed in this treading process, for hours at a stretch, are aliens and unskilled workers, so far as other trades are concerned; but those among them who can bring about with their feet an equal degree of pliability in all parts of a skin can earn good wages.

Fast Trains In England.

To take only one or two from dozens of examples, the number of daily trains between London and Birmingham (113 miles) over the London and Northwestern, making over 56 miles an hour, is seven; between London and Exeter, over the Great Western (194 miles), the number running at a rate over 55 miles is four. One of these later trains makes the 118 miles between London and Bristol in 120 minutes in each direction every day and does this with remarkable regularity and punctuality.—Scribner's.

Largest English Fortunes.

Just at the present moment, when the value of the property left by James Henry Smith, who died in Japan last month, is exciting a good deal of attention, it may be worth while recalling the fact that Chicago Smith, his eccentric cousin from whom he inherited most of his wealth, figures in the records of the English court of probate as having left a fortune of $25,000,000. The late Baron Hirsch is set down in these same official records as having left a fortune of identically the same figure, namely $25,000,000; while J. Pierpont Morgan's father figures for a trifle over $10,000,000. The late Lord Bute, the late Lord Wolverton, W. H. Smith, the publisher, the father of the present Earl of Derby, and Lord Grimthorpe, all range in the neighborhood of $10,000,000; while Alfred Beit, the diamond king; Sir Charles Tennant, father of Dodo Asquith; the late Lord Allendale, better known as Wentworth Beaumont; Hugh McCalmont, William Winans, the contractor, and Sam Lewis, the London money lender, each of them left about $15,000,000.

There is no record in the annals of the English court of probate of any fortune exceeding $25,000,000. Of course, these figures do not fully represent the value of the property left by the people whom I have just enumerated. For, in the first place, they do not include the entailed property, which, in the case of Lord Derby, is very large indeed. Then, too, they do not take into consideration the property which the testator may have held abroad, and disposed of by other wills probated by the courts of those countries.

PETER M'ARTHUR, POET.

Talented Canadian Bard and His New Book, "The Prodigal."

"Where are your poets?" asked Ambassador James Bryce at a dinner in New York recently, and ever since the now historic question was put efforts at answering it have been in evidence. Many writers of verse, young and old, have been pointed to as proof that America has at the present time real bona fide possessors of poetic genius. Naturally opinions differ as to the rank the respective versifiers should take. The question is especially difficult when applied to the younger writers. Among the latter is Peter McArthur, a Canadian of Scotch descent, now a New Yorker, who has made a selection from his privately printed sonnets and from his contributions to The Century, Atlantic Monthly and other magazines and embodied them in a volume entitled "The Prodigal and Other Poems." It is published by Mitchell Kennerley. Mr. McArthur is about forty years of age, talks Scotch Gaelic fluently and was at one time editor of New York Truth. Later he was associated with W. T. Stead in London journalism. His poems have been widely published. The title poem of his new book, "The Prodigal," which originally appeared in The Youth's Companion, is as follows:

THE PRODIGAL.

Last night the boy came back to me again,
The laughing boy, all credulous of good.
Long lost, far wandered in the ways of men,
He came and roused me with an olden mood.
He came the lover and enthusiast,
Shook off my years and with enlightened eyes
Smiled at the shadow that the world had cast
And looked at life with all the old surprise,
And I, the slave of patience, took him in,
Gave him my heart and bade him welcome home,
Thrilled with his dreams of all I yet may win—
Allured again in golden paths to roam,
And now I know life has no greater joy
Than, having lived, to be once more a boy.

Montreal Strike Over.

The Montreal longshoremen's strike died peacefully. Dissolution had been imminent all day, and at the hour for the night shift to go to the wharves there was a stream of men to be seen making their way to the various sheds, ready to take work if it was offered. At that moment the strike of 1907, which had a short life of eight days, passed into history. The longshoremen now want what they turned down so unanimously at their mass meeting, viz., the appointment of a board of conciliation. The end was hastened by the wholesale return to their old jobs of both union and non-union men. A vote was taken among those who were still out, as to whether the men should accept the increase of 2 1-2 cents, and agree to arbitration for the other 2 1-2. The result was declared to be in favor of arbitration. In the meantime the strikers go back unconditionally on the scale of wages offered by the Shipping Federation to anyone who will work on the wharves. This means they will have to take their chance with the rest.

To Clear Off Squatters.

Arrangements are being made to clear all squatters off the Dominion forest reserves in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and the railway belt of British Columbia.

There are twenty-two of these reserves, covering a total area of 3,300 square miles. There can be no security from fire as long as people are living in the timber.

Notice will be served on all parties who have no titles to leave and go to lands which are open for settlement. There are several hundred of these squatters.

A beginning is being made toward the organization of a permanent staff of rangers for all the reserves to prevent fires and timber poaching. A survey of the timber is being carried out, and as soon as it is completed a plan will be devised by which the annual growth may be taken off and marketed.

Seeding In Alberta.

In township eight, range 26, west 4S, last year there were seeded 1,400 acres to Spring wheat, and 240 acres to Fall wheat. Both averaged about 25 bushels to the acre, the Fall drought being mainly responsible for the small yield of the after grain. It is thought that this year in the same township the acreage plant to Spring wheat will be reduced 20 per cent. over last year, but the acreage taken as a whole will be about the same as last year, being made up in coarse grains.

Farmers are still seeding, but another week will see this work about finished. Although the spring has been unusually cold and backward, there has still been considerable growth, early spring wheat being in most cases two inches above the ground, but some fields have made doubtful growth.

Needs of Crown Colonies.

The whole system of administration of our Crown Colonies and Protectorates requires to be overhauled and brought up to date. The Colonial Office is greatly overworked, and it is impossible with the machinery at command to adequately supervise the vast areas under its control. It is asserted by those who know the administrative system from the inside that by far too large a share of the responsibility at headquarters is left to men who are practically nothing more nor less than junior clerks.—Diamond Fields Advertiser, Kimberley.

General Oliphant has recently arrived from Buenos Ayres, where he had been on a curious mission, none other than to visit the King's old horse, Diamond Jubilee. His Majesty has not forgotten the good animal that brought him fame on the turf when Prince of Wales.

Signor Ignacio Correas, the present owner, was proud to show the horse in his Argentine home. The animal is now said to have "lost his violent temper and to have become a pattern of high bred, courteous manners."

OLD SAYINGS.

Dean Swift is credited with "Bread is the staff of life."

It was Keats who said, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever."

Franklin is authority for "God helps those who help themselves."

"Man proposes, but God disposes," remarked Thomas a Kempis.

"All cry and no wool" is an expression found in Butler's "Hudibras."

It was an observation of Thomas Southerne that "Pity's akin to love."

Edward Coke, the English jurist, was of the opinion that "A man's house is his castle."

"When Greeks joined Greeks, then was the tug of war," was written by Nathaniel Lee.

We are indebted to Colley Cibber, not to Shakespeare, for "Richard is himself again."

To Milton we owe "The paradise of fools," "A wilderness of sweets" and "Moping melancholy and moonstruck madness."

The poet Campbell found that "Coming events cast their shadows before" and "'Tis distance lends enchantment to the view."

His Last Retort.

The story is told of a well known Chicago criminal lawyer whose valuable services were retained by the wealthy relatives of a man accused of murder in a southwestern state.

The case was a bad one, for the evidence was overwhelmingly against the accused. Despite this fact the lawyer contrived by the skillful exercise of every trick and maneuver known to the profession to secure the disagreement of juries, delays, appeals, etc., till at last the case was brought before the supreme court of the United States.

One day in an interview between the prisoner and his counsel the former asked, "In case the supreme court should decide against me, what will be my next move?"

"To heaven, I hope," was the candid response of the lawyer.

The King Held Up.

King Edward early one morning recently surprised the royal household by ordering one of his mail phaetons to be harnessed and setting off for a drive around the west end, accompanied by only a couple of grooms. The King, who is a very fine whip, though not perhaps as good as the Duke of Connaught, handled his rather skittish pair in thoroughly workmanlike fashion.

Throughout the drive, which lasted about an hour, the King was quite unrecognized even by a police constable, who calmly and somewhat summarily held him up just as he was about to enter Hyde Park at the Marble Arch. The King smiled pleasantly as he obeyed the constable's signal. Indeed, he seemed to, as no doubt he did, enjoy the novel experience of being treated like one of his own subjects, and waited patiently behind the outstretched hand of the law until several omnibuses had passed in front of him on their way along Oxford street.

TWO LADS DROWNED.

One Body Recovered But No Trace of His Companion.

St. John, N.B., June 5.—After a search of hours the body of John Lobb, aged 13, was found in the upper end of the harbor Monday night, but no trace was found of Harry Ougler, aged 15, his companion, who was with him. Lobb was playing on logs in a small cove, when it is supposed he fell off in deep water. His hat was found floating near by, and a search begun, with the result that the body was recovered in a short time. Ougler was seen with Lobb during the afternoon, and has not yet returned to his home. It is thought that the boy fell into the water, possibly while trying to get Lobb out. Searchers are still at work.

Two Youths Drown.

New Liskeard, June 5.—Orpin Orr and Jeff Thompson, of Toronto, were drowned at Temiskaming Falls, near New Liskeard, yesterday morning.

Several weeks ago Orr had obtained leave of absence from work for six months. With his brother-in-law, Frank Orr, and his companion, Jeff Thompson, he went to Cobalt district for his vacation.

The Temiskaming Falls are situated between Outlet Bay and Cross Lake, bodies of water directly south of the Islands in the Temagami Lake.

Two Men Drowned.

Widler, Vt., June 5.—Jeremiah O'Meara and Stephen Hall were drowned in the Connecticut River here yesterday, while the men were towing a cable. The boat capsized near a dam, and both men were swept over the falls. Hall was 28 years of age and married. O'Meara was 35. He came from Boston.

TO INSTRUCT INSPECTORS.

Changes In Education of Teachers At Toronto University.

Toronto, June 5.—A course for school inspectors will be a feature in the program for the faculty of education of the university. The study for this course will include modern systems and tendencies in education, school economy, history of public education in Ontario, school administration and law, and school inspection and supervision, including supervision of all subjects in the public school course.

Another change is that it will be possible for those in attendance to get certificates for teaching only in high schools. Another certificate will be valid in both high and public schools, with special attention to public school work. For the teachers now employed the senior teaching examination is to be divided into four parts, or the subjects may be taken in two parts, one in May and one in September, or both in September.

The requirements on the departmental examinations will still be 40 per cent. on each subject, and 60 per cent on the total.

CLOSE DOWN LOGGING CAMPS.

Two Thousand Men Affected With Big Loss of Salaries.

Vancouver, B.C., June 5.—At a largely-attended meeting of the British Columbia Loggers' Association Monday, it was decided to close down the logging camps, the shut-down to take effect June 20 and last indefinitely.

It will affect sixty-nine camps, having a total output of 34,250,000 feet per month. The action was taken on account of the small demand, high wages and the increased cost of supplies. It will throw out of employment 2,000 men, $125,000 to $175,000 per month. The camps will start again whenever the market warrants it.

EDNA MAY'S WEDDING.

Becomes Bride of Oscar Lewisohn of New York.

London, June 5.—Edna May, the American actress, was married yesterday morning at the Registry Office at Windsor to Oscar Lewisohn, son of Adolph Lewisohn, of New York, in the presence of a few relatives and intimate friends. The honeymoon will be spent in a motoring tour on the continent.

Presbyterians to Meet.

Montreal, June 5.—To-morrow evening, in Erskine Church, this city, the supreme court of Canadian Presbyterianism begins its annual session. The first sederunt will be devoted to public worship, conducted by the moderator, Dr. Alexander Falconer of Pictou, N.S.

The assembly is then formally constituted, and a new presiding officer elected. For ten days the well-organized body will grapple with the business of a great Canadian church.

Farmers' Convention.

Ottawa, June 5.—A farmers' convention is to be held here on June 12, for the purpose of gathering the ideas of Eastern Ontario farmers on the Assessment Act.

The farmers allege that improvements of property mean increased taxes and that only land should be taxed, not farm buildings and lands, as well as assessing them in summer alone.

These are points that will be discussed.

Erie, Pa., June 5.—A freight train on the Nickel Plate Railroad was wrecked at Harbor Creek, six miles east of here, shortly after midnight. The wreck took fire, and three cars of naphtha are reported to have exploded. Details are meagre.

Boy's Awful Condition.

Montreal, June 5.—The police yesterday arrested a 15-year-old French-Canadian boy named Henri Tremblay, on a charge of stealing stamps and money. He was found to be literally rotting away from disease and vermin, his extremities and body were in an unprecedented state of filth.

Driven from a motherless home by the alleged cruelty of his father, the boy took refuge in a stable, where he spent last winter suffering incredible hardships.

IMPORTANT BLUE BOOK OUT

Report of Recent Colonial Conference Forms Bulky Volume.

ALL-RED SUBSIDY QUESTION

No Ground for Sensational Report of Bond's Speech—Some Neat Home Thrusts—Sir Wilfrid Urges Lloyd-George to Fight Against Cattle Embargo—Attitude on Publicity Question—All-Red Line.

London, June 5.—(C. A. P.)—The blue book containing the report of the imperial conference is a bulky volume of 500 pages. It was issued late last night.

It is noticeable that, according to the report, there is no ground for sensational description of the scene in which Premier Bond, after making his speech on the Newfoundland fisheries question, is reported to have declared that the treatment of Newfoundland had been a gross humiliation.

Occasionally one or other delegates made a neat home thrust at one another. Thus Laurier had been speaking eloquently against the restrictions on the importation of Canadian cattle when Lloyd-George remarked: "We fought it very hard when we were in opposition," and Laurier retorted: "Fight it hard then now you are in the Government."

It appears Laurier was the mouthpiece of the opposition to Deakin's proposal for full publicity, Sir Wilfrid Laurier stating that "if everything is recorded here and at the end the conference is published with resolutions, I think the object desired will be satisfactorily served."

Laurier also emphasized the right of minister other than Premiers to participate in the proceedings.

Deakin's speech takes up a huge proportion of the debate on the preferential question.

With reference to the all-red route Laurier spoke of the necessity of a liberal subsidy, adding: "I am prepared to say that the Government of Canada would have to contribute liberally, perhaps more liberally than others, because it would have to contribute both to the Atlantic and the Pacific routes."

CRUELTY TURNED DOWN.

Two of Premier Stolypin's Temporary Laws Rejected By Douma.

St. Petersburg, June 5.—The Lower House of Parliament yesterday rejected two more of Premier Stolypin's temporary laws, one providing for increased punishment and trial exclusively before military and naval courts martial of persons charged with conducting a revolutionary propanganda among the troops or sailors, and the other authorizing the police to fetter political prisoners.

M.M. Dzhaparikze, Dshugholi and Kandeliaki, Social Democratic members of Parliament who participated in the London Congress, reappeared in the Lower House yesterday. They have constantly been shadowed by detectives since landing at Helsingfors, Finland, and were searched on arrival in St. Petersburg, despite their strong protests, the officers informing them that they acted under the personal order of the prefect of police.

"BLACK HAND" OUTRAGE.

Put Dynamite In Man's Stove Who Refused Blackmail.

Mount Vernon, N.Y., June 5.—Because he refused to respond to two letters demanding $500, a Black Hand agent yesterday went into the apartment of Joseph Marroney, over his hotel, and put a stick of dynamite in the stove, which exploded with terrific effect, terribly mangling Marroney's aged mother and injuring his wife and ten-year-old daughter.

The explosion was heard for several blocks, and the force was so great that nearby windows were shattered.

London, June 5.—King Oscar and Queen Sophia of Sweden will celebrate their golden wedding to-morrow. The gift of Sweden will be a collection to enable poor patients to gain admission to the sanitarium for consumption, founded on the 25th anniversary of King Oscar's reign. Many persons of royal rank will journey to Stockholm to offer their congratulations.

Madrid, June 5.—The Queen is doing well.

The baby's name has been entered on the roll of a regiment, and he wears the number of it, in gold, pinned upon his bib.

A bed in the barracks is reserved for him, as the latest recruit.

SEALING VESSEL WAS CAPTURED

British Vessel Caught Sealing In Forbidden Grounds.

HAD MANY SKINS ON BOARD

Schooner Cox Taking Seals During Close Season—Was Violating Treaty—Captain Ainsworth to Hand the Vessel Over to Authorities at Nearest Port—Japs Doing Same Thing But Cannot be Seized.

Washington, June 5.—The Secretary of the Treasury has received a telegram from Capt. Ainsworth of the revenue cutter Rush, stating that he had seized the British sealing schooner Charlotta G. Cox, which was found illegally catching seals in Fairweather grounds off Alaska.

The Cox, it is said, evidently was taking seals during the closed season within the area of the award in violation of the articles of the tribunal of arbitration agreed to by the Governments of Great Britain and the United States. She had seventy-seven fur seal skins on board.

The Department has directed the commander of the Rush to deliver the Cox to the British authorities at the nearest port in British Columbia in accordance with the joint recommendation of the two Governments in case of seizure.

The Rush also reported the presence of Japanese sealers in the same vicinity with a large number of sealskins on board. The Japanese sealers, however, are not subject to seizure outside of territorial waters.

TO BOOM FISH TRADE.

Maritime Provinces Should Secure Ontario Trade.

Ottawa, June 5.—The Department of Railways and Canals is convinced that if some system of co-operation can be devised between the fishermen and the consumers of fish, there is no reason why a very remunerative trade should not be built up between the Maritime Provinces and Ontario. The Department of Marine and Fisheries has been asked to send an expert to the fish consuming sections of western Ontario, with a view of ascertaining how much fish the market can take care of and what the prospects are for the development of the trade.

In view of the fact that New York State has within a few years built up a trade in fish by means of cold storage on the railways, which totals six millions dollars a year, it is felt that there is no reason why the Maritime Provinces of Canada, which produce a much better article, should not be able to secure a very valuable market in Ontario, and eventually as far as Manitoba.

SEAMEN TO RESUME WORK.

Strike Is Now Practically Over—Only Discord at Bordeaux.

Paris, June 5.—The seamen's strike is regarded as being virtually ended, and the men are expected to resume work within 24 hours. The navigation companies have accepted the Government's recommendations and will restore the officers and crews without insisting on any penalties. The French transatlantic line hopes to enable La Provence to sail from Havre to-day.

The only discord appears to be at Bordeaux, where some of the delegates, notably a man named Buscaillet, finding that the local organization is discontented with the proposed compromise arrangement, are attempting to secure a reversal of the decision to resume work, but apparently without any chance of success.

LONGSHOREMEN RETURN.

Halifax Strike Settled—Board of Labor Will Enquire.

Ottawa, June 5.—The Department of Labor has been advised by Victor Dubreuil that the strike of longshoremen at Halifax has been settled, the demands of the men having been granted.

Philip Ring, secretary of the Trades and Labor Council of Halifax, has been nominated by the men as their representative upon the board of conciliation, which will enquire into the whole dispute, with a view to reaching a settlement to extend over a term of years.

Old Man Hangs Himself.

Elmira, June 5.—Conrad Oppertshauser of Elmira committed suicide at his home about 8.30 Monday evening.

He was found in his barn hanging from a rafter, with the doors bolted inside. He was 83 years of age.

HAYWOOD NOW ON TRIAL FOR LIFE

Counsel For Prosecution Opens Case Against Accused Miners.

VIOLENCE AND TERRORISM

Stern Indictment of Defendants—Charges Conspiracy Against Western Federation of Miners—Murdered Man's Son Gives Evidence—Haywood is Somewhat Nervous — Defence Objects.

Boise, June 5.—Boise turned out a crowd for the real opening of the Haywood trial. At 9.45 Hawley began without flourish.

"It is now my duty," he said, "to state the theory on which this case rests. I shall not go into details, because we believe that the jury should weigh the evidence as it is presented."

After reciting the crime committed at Caldwell, Hawley began dealing with the persons involved.

"Frank Steunenberg was the best known man in the State of Idaho," said Hawley. "He had been Governor of this state."

W. D. Haywood, C. H. Moyer, Geo. A. Pettibone and Harry Orchard were members of the western faction of miners.

"I wish to call attention to the charge. The indictment charges that the defendant, Haywood, exploded the bomb that killed Frank Steunenberg. But we do not expect to prove that he or his associates were present in Caldwell or that he actually threw that bomb."

Accessory Is a Principal.

The chief prosecutor explained the law of Idaho which makes an accessory a principal, and said that the law compelled the direct charge. As Hawley was reaching the substance of his case, Haywood gave strict attention to his remarks and never removed his eyes from the lawyer.

"We expect to prove," continued Hawley, "that this crime was the result of a conspiracy in the Western Federation of Miners and that the leaders of the Western Federation of Miners are responsible to the law.

"We will show that the Western Federation of Miners, as an organization, became a fact in 1893. Prior to that time throughout the west there were various labor organizations in the mining camps. In that year these unions we reconsolidated. The headquarters of this federation is in Denver. Ostensibly the organization is governed by a convention which meets only once a year. The absolute control of the entire body is placed in the hands of a few men and the chief officers are the president and secretary-treasurer."

Witnesses Examined.

Eight witnesses were examined before adjournment.

C. F. Wayne, who passed outward through the gate 20 minutes before Steunenburg was blown up, told of the explosion and the shocking condition of the victim when he, responding to Mrs. Steunenberg's calls, had ran to him.

John C. Rice, N. S. Ellis and A. Ballentine, residents of Caldwell, traced Orchard about the town at various times before and after the crime.

Julian Steunenberg, son of the dead governor, told of meeting Orchard, then known as Richard, at the railroad station at Caldwell, three days before the crime, and telling him in answer to his enqiry, that his father would be home on the following Friday. He said that he was on his way home with his uncle, and was two blocks behind his father when the explosion occurred.

The defence objected to practically all the day's testimony except that relating to the death of Steunenberg, on the ground that it was immaterial and in no way connected with the defendant.

It is expected that Orchard will be brought from the penitentiary to take the stand to-day.

HELD FOR TRAIN WRECK.

Crew Arrested, to Answer for Death of Alex. Roche.

Ottawa, June 5.—In connection with the freight train wreck at Beatty's station, wherein Alex. Roche of Hull was killed, the whole train crew of No. 1363, G. T. R., are under arrest excepting Engineer Champness, who cannot be located.

Local detectives took Conductor Fred Granana, Brakemen A. Looker, J. L. Lightal and Fireman Henry Bendreau.

After examination by the Railway Commission, the men will be taken to Depot Harbor, when a prosecution will begin.

Court Stenographer Reprimanded.

Fredericton, N. B., June 5.—For the second time during the last few months Seth Barry, court stenographer, came in for severe criticism from Supreme Court judges. Yesterday afternoon the Trinity term Supreme Court opened and when an important case was called it was found that Barry failed to make a return of the record in the case. Mr. Phinney, K. C., moved to make absolute rule of attachment against Barry, and after caustic remarks by the judges the rule was made absolute.

Jumped Just In Time.

Ingersoll, June 5.—Near the C.P.R. depot yesterday three sectionmen jumped from their handcar just in the nick of time to save themselves from being struck by a freight train. The train crashed into the handcar, which was carried on the pilot of the engine for some distance.

Syracuse, N. Y., June 5.—A man, identified by papers in his pocket as H. S. Hurd of Burlington, Vt., a commercial traveler, employed by a North Tonawanda house, was crushed to death by a hoist bridge over the Erie Canal.

To Go Home In Battleship.

Victoria, B.C., June 5.—The British admiralty have ordered the battleship Monmouth for Prince Fushimi.

SMART CAPTURE AT COBALT.

Detectives Round Up Gang of Eleven Silver Thieves.

Cobalt, June 5.—Detectives Kirkwood and McDonald of the Canadian Detective Bureau of Toronto rounded up, in arrests made Monday night and yesterday morning, what is supposed to be a gang of thieves who, since Cobalt has been known as a mining centre, have committed thefts aggregating to about $100,000.

Each theft was what might be called a petty one, but before their operations were stopped mine owners lost large sums.

Wild Cat Promoters.

Men have been known to remain in town without any visible means of support who were suspected of living on the sales of stolen silver. Wild-cat promoters have been known to pay as much as $100 for an extra fine sample. Certain resorts in Cobalt have long been watched, and an occasional example has been made. Frequently samples are openly sold on the streets of Cobalt, and the purchasers must be well aware they were buying stolen samples.

The Capture.

Monday night, however, Detective Kirkwood and McDonald, disguising themselves as workmen, made the acquaintance and got the confidence of suspected parties, and as a result three men were arrested during the night, and eight in the morning. Two of the men taken had twenty-seven pounds of leaf silver, and the third one had about one hundred pounds of rock and ore.

Four houses were raided, including a boarding-house kept by one Phillips, where ore and rock were found to the extent of about four hundred pounds hidden in sacks and boxes under a stairway.

The Nipissing bunkhouses were raided at 5 o'clock yesterday morning. Every bunk and every trunk was searched, and over one hundred and fifty pounds were found stowed away in trunks, mattresses and old socks. Eight men were arrested at the Nipissing mines.

Eleven men appeared yesterday afternoon for trial before Magistrate Brown, John A. Walsh got one year in Central Prison; Walter Pindley got six months in jail, and Alexander MacRae a similar dose. Two more were remanded until to-day, and six were discharged. Barrister Howand acted for the prosecution.

CRUSHED BENEATH MOTOR.

With Fractured Skull, Man Directs Doctor How to Extricate Him.

New York, June 5.—Terribly crushed under a car and his body tied up in the motor underneath, Timothy Walsh of Boston road and 180th street yesterday afternoon directed the efforts of Dr. Bickelhaupt of Fordham Hospital to extricate him.

His skull was fractured, both legs severed and one eye burned out, and he gave directions to the surgeon who crept in under the car after it had been jacked up, as to the easiest way to dislodge his maimed body.

Walsh had dumped a load of cement at Bryant street and West Farms road, and was directly in the path of a southbound West Farms car. Before it could be stopped, Walsh was knocked under the wheels and wedged in about the motor box. He will likely die.

FIVE PERSONS KILLED.

Carload of Matches Caught Fire and Explodes Powder.

Kankakee, Ill., June 5.—At least five persons are dead as the result of an explosion of a carload of giant powder on the Chicago, Indiana & Southern Railroad at Reddick, Ill., 20 miles west of here, yesterday.

The car, loaded with matches, caught fire, and a crowd gathered.

It is supposed that the burning matches set off the powder in the adjoining car.

The bodies of the dead were torn to fragments.

The explosion was felt for twenty miles, and many windows were broken.

Rochester, N. Y., June 5.—The 3-year-old daughter of John F. Kannagh was struck by a street car and instantly killed. The mother made a desperate effort to save her child, and was dragged some distance.

IN POURING RAIN FREE METHODISTS OPEN CAMP MEETING

Some Interesting Features of the First of a Series of Meetings Which Will Continue a Week, Near Jackson Park

TWENTY TENTS PITCHED

Nearly One Hundred Persons Camped in Pine Grove—Origin and Growth of the Free Methodist Denomination

With the patter of the rain falling on the tent roof as an accompaniment the opening hymn of the Free Methodist Camp Meeting, "There Shall be Showers of Blessing," was sung last night by a good, first-night audience, numbering more than fifty persons, the majority of whom have come to the city from different portions of the Toronto District to attend the first Free Methodist Camp meeting in the history of modern Peterborough.

The meetings are being held in a pine grove, about three minutes' walk west of Jackson Park, and it is predicted that during the next week the novelty of the gathering will have attracted a good proportion of the city's population.

Object of Meeting

To the active participants, however, there is nothing novel in the fact of eighty or a hundred persons gathering to spend a week in an endeavour to deepen the spirituality of their members, and they look upon it as a matter of course; meetings of this nature are held every year by those who follow this primitive method of worship and to them it is a serious business.

The camp meeting is an established funtion of the Free Methodist Church, as important to them as the General Assembly is to the Presbyterian church or the Synod to the Church of England. To the majority of adults who have been raised in a rural community the memory of the camp meeting, held in their early days by the Methodists, Hornerites, Mennonites, German Methodists and other branches of the Christian church who were believers in this method of increasing the membership of their particular cult, is still fresh, and there is no disputing their charm.

A Penitent Bench

A platform, extending across the front of the tent, with a pulpit, formed by driving two willow sticks in the ground and nailing a board across the top; a penitent bench in front of the pulpit and hemlock seats with accommodation for about two hundred persons, represents the equipment of the large tent in which the meetings will be held during the week of the Camp. Last night it was not filled, the weather doubtless interfering to a considerable extent with the attendance of the city residents, while all of those expected from a distance have not yet arrived, though there were about 20 tents, all with occupants, many of them bringing their whole families to spend the week. Cooking utensils and bedding are brought with them from home, and the simple life is lived for a week.

Meetings Free and Easy

Last night, prior to the opening of the meeting, the occupants of some of the tents could be heard audibly imploring Divine blessing upon the series of meetings about to be held, and a feature of the meetings is the fact that the greatest possible liberty of expression is given, the members frequent ejaculations of "Amen" and "praise the Lord" being accepted as a matter of course, and no one is shocked, as they would be were such expressions to be heard in the modern church.

Primitive Methods

The Free Methodists claim — and there seems to be some ground for their claim — that they are carrying on more closely than any other branch of the Methodists church, the methods employed by John Wesley, the great founder of the Methodist denomination, with such success. The so-called reforms which have been introduced into the Methodist church, they will have none of —the original plan suits them, as it suited the needs of their fathers before them.

Represented in the meeting being held here now, are the churches in the Toronto District, which extends from Toronto on the west to Peterborough, which, however, is looked upon yet as simply a mission, no regularly established church having yet been inaugurated here. There are nine churches on five circuits in this district, with a combined membership, according to the statements of Rev. R. Burnham, of Uxbridge, who is the presiding elder.

The Speakers

These churches are situated at Toronto, Armadale, Scarboro Junc-

A SUDDEN DEATH IN MILLBROOK

David Fisher Passed Away Three Minutes After Having Spoken to His Wife

HEART DISEASE WAS CAUSE

Death's call came very suddenly yesterday morning to David Fisher, a labourer living near the G.T.R. station at Millbrook. Three minutes after he had answered a question from his wife he was found dead in bed by the latter.

The deceased was working for a farmer residing about a mile and a half from Millbrook, and was wakened early yesterday morning by his wife, who notified him that his breakfast was ready. He answered something about getting up, and the wife left the room, returning a few minutes after to find him dead.

Dr. Gray, the local coroner, was communicated with, but after hearing the circumstances, decided that an inquest was not necessary. Heart failure is thought to have been the cause of death.

Miss Clara Fisher, Hunter street, city, is a sister of the deceased.

GOING TO EUROPE FOR TWO MONTHS

Mr. Robt. Fair Will Leave To-night and Will Sail on the "Virginian" on Friday for England

IS ON A PURCHASING TRIP

To-night, on the midnight C.P.R. train, Mr. Robert Fair, President of the Robert Fair Company, Limited, will leave, in company with Mr. J. C. Kells, of Kells, Fowler & Co., of Millbrook, on a two months' tour of Europe, in which business and pleasure will be happily combined. On this trip Mr. Fair will personally select his fall importations, and, with his long knowledge of the trade in Peterborough, he is as well, if not better, fitted to choose a stock of dry goods that will meet with popular favour, than any merchant in the city. Mr. Fair has been importing goods for a quarter of a century, and is therefore familiar with the European markets.

During their absence, Messrs. Fair and Kells will visit England, Scotland, and, of course, the Emerald Isle, where Mr. Fair expects to visit the haunts of his forebears in County Cavan. Going over to the continent, they will spend some time in France, Belgium, Switzerland and Germany. They expect to meet Mr. Harry Rush during their absence, and will take some side trips with him.

Mr. Fair will be home about the middle of August.

Nurse Tells Of Eczema Cure

Mrs. C. Stanley Jones, professional nurse, 283, Simcoe street, Toronto, writes: "In my occupation as nurse I have come across many cases in which Dr. Chase's Ointment has been used with extraordinary results. One case is that of a sixteen months old child who was cured of scald head and another that of a woman cured of eczema on the face after the doctors had given her up."

Peterborough Takes Important Place Among the Manufacturing Cities of the Dominion.

Examiner Special.

Ottawa, June 5. — Peterborough has made a wonderful record in the matter of the value of goods manufactured there, and now is seventh in the list of Canadian cities, Montreal, Hamilton, Toronto, Ottawa, Winnipeg and London alone leading it, according to the census report issued to-day. In 1901 Peterborough's manufactures totalled a value of $3,789,164. Last year the total was $11,566,805. For the whole of Canada the value rose from $481,053,375 to $712,664,835, and for Ontario from $241,533,486 to $365,492,144.

POLICE COURT ON EASY STREET THIS MORNING

No Live Business Occupied Minds of the Local Force

Mr. S. R. Armstrong, city clerk, occupied the Magistrate's chair at the police court this morning, in the absence of Mr. Dumble.

The first case was that of Mr. Frank McDowell, who was charged with being drunk in a public place yesterday. He said he was in this country a fortnight yesterday. He was admonished to "Let it alone," if he wished to succeed in this country. He was allowed to go without any sentence, and promised not to get in that state again.

A young man named Newman appeared before His Worship after a week's remand and he certainly looka a new man compared with his appearance a week ago. He was remanded for another week, when he will face the charge of being a "vag."

Harry Raymond also put in an appearance, but his case cannot be heard until young Stevens has recovered. It will be remembered that Raymond broke the boy's leg in a scuffle a few weeks ago.

OPERETTA REPEATED AT ST. PETER'S SCHOOL

Again Attended by a Fairly Large Number—Well Rendered

The operetta that was given on Friday night in the music hall at St. Peter's School, under the direction of the Sisters of St. Joseph, was repeated last night to a fairly large audience, in spite of the downpour of rain. The programme was about the same as that presented at the initial performance and was a credit to the children, also a mark of the nuns' musical ability and the care and attention they gave the little folks. Not only is it good practice for those taking part, but also gives the parents an idea of the capabilities of their children, which may lead to the culture of their natural talents. More concerts at the hall will be looked forward to with pleasure by those who had the opportunity of hearing this last concert.

CORROBORATIVE PROOF OF CAPTAIN MAY'S DEATH

Examiner Special

Manistee, Mich., June 5. — About dusk last evening a bottle was picked up on the shore of Lake Michigan, near Cedar Btook, this county, containing a message from the master of the ill-fated steamer, "Arcadia," which sailed from here on April 12th, and was lost with all on board. The message reads:

"Steamer going down; have not much time to write. We are going down about 20 miles out; stearing gear out of order. Captain May."

The handwriting of the captain was verified at the local custom house.

The above despatch refers to Captain May, to whose death reference was made in these columns before and who was related in this county. He was a brother-in-law of Mrs. H. Castle, East City, and Mrs. May, who went down with her husband, was a daughter of Mr. John Middleton, of Dummer.

COFFIN PLATE UNEARTHED BEARING LEGIBLE INSCRIPTION

Among the discoveries made yesterday on the site of the new armouries, which bear silent testimony to the graves of the dead, was a coffin plate, untarnished and unsoiled, that was placed in the earth in the year 1844. It bore the inscription:

"Cornelius Crowley,
Died Sept, 7, 1844,
Aged 74 years."

The words were as plainly read as when they were inscribed on the plate. It was ploughed up about four feet from the surface together with the skeleton remains of the man, upon whose coffin it was nailed, and who was born 137 years ago.

Mr. James Crowley of Water street, heard of the discovery, and claimed the silver plate, which has been given him.

During the last few days several skulls have been unearthed there and are awaiting conveyance by Mr. McFadden to the Roman Catholic cemetery.

Cheese Sold To-day At Advance Of 1-8 Of A Cent

Prevailing Price Was 11 5-8c. Although First Sold at 1-16 Lower —2,987 Boxes Were Boarded— Bidding Was Brisk.

BOARD TO MEET AT 10 A. M.

The prevailing price of cheese at this morning's meeting was 11 5-8c, although the first choice was given at 11 9-16c. Altogether there were 2987 cheese boarded which sold briskly, there being apparently a good demand.

In future the board will meet at 10 o'clock, when the cheese will be boarded so that the sale will begin at 10.15 sharp.

Mr. Kerr, of Belleville, got the bulk of the cheese, securing altogether fourteen factories. The buyers present were Messrs. Kerr, G. Gillespie, Cook, Whitton, Squires, B. Gillespie, Wrighton, Norton and Branton.

The president, Mr. Biddell, occupied the chair and in a brief opening address emphasized the necessity of conveying the intelligence to the British companies consuming Canadian cheese that the product of the Peterborough district is well cured before shipment. He believed that if this were done a better price might be obtained here.

On motion it was decided in future to board the cheese at 10 o'clock and that the sale begin at 10.15 sharp to enable some of the buyers to get away from the city on the noon trains.

The following cheese were then boarded:

| Warminster | 100 |

The Bidding

The bidding was brisk, Mr. Squires leading off with 11c, which was rapidly followed by Mr. Kerr with 11 1-6c. The remainder of the bidding was: G. Gillespie, 11 1-8c; Norton, 11 3-16; B.Gillespie, 11 1-4; G. Gillespie, 11 5-16c; Squires, 11 3-8; G. Gillespie, 11 7-16; B. Gillespie, 11 1-2; Squires, 11 9-16.

Mr. Squires got the first choice at 11 9-16c and called the following, which accepted: Norwood, Ormonde, Brickley, Oakdale, Killarney and Warminster.

Mr. Norton raised to 11 5-8c and secured at this price Killarney, Shearer, Indian River, Warnaw, Pine Grove, Fleetwood and Keene.

Also at 11 5-8c Mr. Kerr called and obtained Bamfort, Maple Leaf, Lakefield, Young's Point, Trawern, Cedardale, East Emily, Crown, Cavanville, Myrtle, Fraserville, Mount Pleasant, Otonabee Union, Central Smith.

Mr. Geo. Gillespie at 11 5-8c obbidge street; estimated cost, $210. Selwyn.

Mr. Brenton secured North Dummer at 11 9-16c. without inspection.

The board then adjourned to meet again in two weeks.

Insure Against Serious Colds

Of the many forms of insurance probably that which protects you against the serious results of colds is the most valuable at this time of the year when so many are becoming victims of la grippe and pneumonia. By the prompt use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine you can keep the cough loose, prevent further development of the cold and cure it in a few days.

A MENDACIOUS JOURNAL AND ONE NOT WORTH POWDER AND SHOT

Sir, I should have thought you would have answered my note, although writing to the Examiner could not have been better to prove my statements. The Examiner is the most mendacious of the journals of its class and character, but as it is not worth the powder and shot I shall not bother; although I must draw your attention to the fact — there is no Belfast exhibition.

Yours truly,
W. A. BAILEY.

The above communication was forwarded to the Examiner by Mr. H. Neville, of Cavan, to whom it was addressed. It is an interesting piece of literature, showing how, at least, one important individual in this city regards the Examiner.

A special despatch to Messrs. J. R. Woolwinder was second, and Slievegallion, the favourite in the betting, could only finish third.

TWO CHANGES IN THE PASTORATE OF THE LOCAL CHURCHES

Rev. E. A. Pearson, New Pastor of George Street Methodist Church and Rev. C. H. Coon Goes to Mark Street.

CONFERENCE IS NOW OPEN

Examiner Special.

Bowmanville, June 5. — This morning the opening session of the Bay of Quinte Conference was held, and the report of the Stationing Committee presented. It is expected that the number of ministerial and lay delegates attending this meeting of conference will be the largest in a number of years. It is not anticipated that at this session any particularly important business matters, outside of the routine will be brought up.

An interesting feature of the session will be an address by Mr. N. W. Rowell, K.C., of Toronto, who will speak on the question of the laymen's part in the missionary enterprises of the church.

The first draft of stations for the Peterborough district is as follows: Peterborough, George Street, E. A. Pearson; Peterborough, Charlotte Street, H. M. Manning; Peterborough, Mark Street, C. H. Coon; Millbrook, G. R. Clare; Cavan, M. E. Sexsmith; South Monaghan, W. J. Wetherell; Lakefield, John Bedford; Bridgenorth, G. F. Metzler; Warsaw, Geo. Nickle; Bethany, G. McKee; Pontypool, J. F. Chapman; Westey, C. E. Mark; Apsley, H. C. Garbutt.

Meat Prices Are Now Taking A Jump; The Butchers Are Hit

Householders Will Have to Pay More for Their Meat Supply in Future, According to Report.

ONLY BEEF GOES UP

When is this story of increased cost of provisions going to stop? This is the question a good many are asking. A few days ago it was groceries, yesterday it was tea, and to-day it's meat. A local butcher called the attention of the Examiner to the fact that the prices of meat had increased considerably in the last few days, and that at the present time and at the prices prevailing there was no money for the butcher. In reference to this question the Toronto Star last night had the following:

"Yes," said the butcher, as he lifted a hindquarter of beef from the hook, slammed it down on the block and prepared to cut it, "you may well say its a terror the way beef prices are going up. You customers can buy it or leave it, as you like; but what do you suppose the butcher's going to do? There's many a one in a small business that might just as well shut up for the summer, and for the rest of us, the less we sell the better off we'll be; and that's the truth." But the customer, all the same, felt much sorrier for herself than for the butcher, when she found she had to pay 20 cents a pound for sirloin instead of 18, as she had been doing lately, though she had hardly got used to that after getting it at 15 and 16 cents for years. But that wasn't the worst. The poor cuts have gone up even more in proportion, and the chuck and shoulder roasts, which she used to get for 9 and 10 cents a pound, were now 11 and 12 cents.

The loss of so much cattle and the late spring and consequent poor pasturage were the causes given for this condition of affairs.

"Beef is costing us a cent and a half to two cents more a pound now than this time last year," went on the butcher, "and pretty soon it'll be a cent higher. The only cheap thing now-a-days is veal."

Round is selling now at 14 to 15 cents a pound, rib roast 14 to 15 cents, sirloin 18 to 20 cents, porterhouse 22 to 24 cents, beef heart 20 cents, chuck and shoulder 10 to 12 cents.

Spring lamb is $1.25 to $2 a front quarter, $2.25 to $3 for hind. Last year's lamb is 18 cents a pound for frontquarter and 25 cents for hind.

Veal is 12 1-2 cents a pound for shoulder, 16 cents for loin chops, and 20 cents for cutlets. Fillet is 16 cents a pound, tenderloin 16 cents, and loin 14 to 15 cents.

Peterborough people will not suffer as much as those in Toronto, because the prices here will not, in all probability be increased to the point of those in Toronto. Generally speaking the following prices will prevail here:

Best cuts beef 17c.
Best cuts veal 15c.
Best cuts yearling lamb 18c.
Spring lamb, front quarters, $1.25 to $1.50; hind quarters, $1.75 to $2. per pound 25c.

It will be seen that these prices are from twenty-five to forty per cent. under those in Toronto. The prospects, so far as the local situation is concerned, are for higher prices for beef only, as small meats will soon be cheaper, on account of increased supply.

PENALTY OF CARELESSNESS

The King Edward school building seems to be and has been a troublesome matter from the beginning. In the first place the site selected was one-sided and with a subsoil that invited the disaster which has ensued. The Scriptures emphasize the folly of building on sand; but building onquicksand is the height or, rather, depth of folly. There are several things in connection with the building not to be proud of. Planted in the middle of a field, gaunt and plain in the extreme, in outline, flat-roofed like a factory, unrelieved by any ornament like a tower or turret, it is no wonder that a gentleman visiting in the city recently inquired what "that new factory building out in a field in the south part of the town was for?"

But that is not the worst. While there is no tower on top there's a tank at the bottom. The celebrated Romaine street sewer does not work and consequently there is water beneath the school building. In nearly every room in the fine basement, well built and substantial, there is an oozing of water through the concrete floors or dark stains that from the outside look like water. It probably is water, for at the manhole at the new street in front of the building, the water is about five feet from the surface and consequently two or three feet higher than the basement floor of the school building. Under this condition it is not surprising that there is an oozing of water which if not removed will create a perpetual dampness, injurious to the occupants of the building, teachers and pupils, alike. This condition of things shows that "somebody blundered." No doubt the foundations of the building are solidly constructed, but not with a view of resisting altogether extreme water pressure, but the sewer is not doing its work and unless repair is done promptly the building will not be in a condition fit for use in September.

Whether the sewer fault is due to improper levels or improper joining of pipes permitting the inflow of quicksand, a remedy must be applied and without much delay. If the joints had been properly made no quicksand or water could come into the sewer pipes from the outside. It appears that there is reason to believe that very many of the joints on sewers laid in other parts of the city are not good. On a certain street the other day the Water Commissioners were putting in a sewer. In so doing the sewer pipe had to be crossed and the water pipe carried under the sewer. This happened to be at a joint and when an opening was made under the joint by clearing away the earth, there was a steady drip of sewage from the inside of the sewer pipe. This indicated an opening which, when the soil is at a high point of saturation, will admit water from the outside into the pipe. A reliable employee of the Commissioners stated that similar conditions were frequently found when sewer openings were laid bare. If at these points, then presumably at others. This indicates that the Romaine street sewer is not the only one where faulty joints, if they are faulty, have been made. This might be expected under contract work where there would be profit in evading the vigilance of the inspector and doing the work the easiest and the cheapest way. But it should not be allowed on sewers laid by the city. Anxiety to demonstrate that work can be done more cheaply by the city than by contract should not lead to scamping work, especially on sewers, which should be perfect and permanent. Peterborough will never be ripe for municipal operation of public utilities till it learns how to lay a few yards of sewer well enough to keep out a sand pit. Careless and indifferent work is and has cost the city thousands of dollars in patch work—in trying to undo and do right what has been done wrong in the first place.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Take heart, girls! The Government has made May and June a close season for the protection of frogs in Victoria county, but in no corner of this fair Dominion is there any close season for bachelors. June, the Hamilton Times remarks, is a great month for stalking them.

That review of 25,000 German soldiers at Potsdam in honour of the Japanese delegates to The Hague Peace Conference was probably intended by Emperor William to strike terror to the hearts of the Japs. But 25,000 wont much disturb the equanimity of a plucky little nation which mopped Manchuria with the legions of an Empire of one hundred and forty-one millions of population.

GENERAL PROGRESS

The growing term is not confined to Western or Northern Canada. Montreal, next to Quebec, the oldest city in the Dominion, is sharing in the boom, or, rather, steady expansion of the country at large. A record of building permits of two millions for the month of May is something to be proud of for a city over three hundred years old. Every Canadian is, or should be, gratified with the growth and prosperity of every part of the Dominion. While each is proud of, and directly interested in, the prosperity of his home province, or town, or city, he rejoices in the prosperity of his neighbour. Peterborough has long been enjoying prosperity, perhaps somewhat at the expense of, but, at any rate, in contrast with, surrounding population centres. We are glad, however, to see Belleville, Port Hope and Lindsay picking up and forging ahead. General prosperity and advancement develop general prosperity and advancement. It is a pleasure to note that prosperous conditions prevail throughout Canada, with a prospect of continuance for some years, at least. The building of the Transcontinental Railway will put much money in circulation, give employment and create demands upon many kinds of industrial activity. The large area to be opened up by this and auxiliary railway lines will promote settlement, and this will in turn create commercial and industrial demands upon the older parts of the country.

RELIGIOUS COMMON SENSE

Divine Providence sometimes furnishes priests and ministers with common sense, as important an equipment, in one way, as religious zeal. Rev. Father Doherty of Arthur, Ont., has, for twenty-five years, wisely administered his parish, teaching broadly that a man to love God must also love his neighbour. With the harmlessness of the dove he has conjoined the prudence of the serpent and so sapiently has he discharged his trust that friction between sections of the country on account of religious differences has disappeared. It is therefore not surprising that there should develop the extraordinary circumstance of the Protestant citizens of a community led by a Presbyterian, uniting to present a congratulatory address to a Roman Catholic priest on the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary, accompanied with a gold headed cane. That Rev. Father Doherty is earning the friendship and respect of Protestants sacrificed in no way his apostolic zeal or religious convictions, is shown by the fact that at the same time his parishioners honoured the occasion by the presentation to their pastor of a jewelled chalice and purse of gold. He simply followed the example of his Master, who sent to minister especially to the chosen people, did not neglect to send his gospel to the gentiles.

That tired, tired feeling will soon change by the use of Miller's Compound Iron Pills; 50 doses for 25 cents. Sold by W. Madill.

IN POURING RAIN FREE METHODISTS OPEN CAMP MEETING

tion, Baldwin, Bellhaven, Ravenshoe, two in Uxbridge, and Peterborough. It is expected however, that in addition to the members of these nine churches, there will be a number present from the Havelock district, a flourishing church being in operation at Victoria and another at Marmora, in that district. Among the speakers who will be present, and take part in the meetings, are Rev. Chas. Goodrich, Bellhaven; Rev. Emerson Snyder, Uxbridge; Rev. Wilmott P. Harnden, Armadale; Rev. A. Sims of Toronto, editor of the "Lamp of Life," and, of course, the presiding elder, Mr. Burnham.

Some History

Free Methodism was established in 1860, the originator on this continent being Benjamin Titus Roberts, and the scene of his first work was Pekin, Niagara county, N. Y. It was introduced into Canada 27 years ago, and at the present time there are thirty conferences, twenty six of these being in the United States, three in Canada and one in South Africa.

Rev. Mr. Burnham, the presiding elder for this district, was converted in a Free Methodist camp meeting twenty-seven years ago, and was therefore one of the first adherents to the new church in Canada. He has been a preacher in the denomination for nineteen years, and is, therefore, as a consequence, one of the best informed men on the church, in Canada. He is a delegate from this conference to the General Conference, which meets on June 12th, this year at Greenville, Ill., where also one of the colleges of the church is located.

Many Meetings

There will be no sleeping in in the morning for those who camp in the grove where these meetings are being held for the first service is held at six o'clock in the morning, and at intervals during the day, meetings are being held, concluding with a preaching service at eight o'clock. The public is invited to attend these meetings, and they are assured that there will be no charge made—free will offerings, however, will be taken, for the Free Methodists believe that the Lord consecrates their money as well as their time to His service.

In dress the members of the church are very conservative, the ladies foregoing the pleasures, which to the majority of the members of the female sex, is considered a necessity in these days of prosperity, of wearing feathers or flowers in their headwear, their hats being for the most part narrow rimmed sailors, while jewelry is also tabooed.

PREMIERS SEE THE NAVY

PORTSMOUTH DISPLAYS HER FLEET TO COLONIAL VISITORS.

Destroyers and Submarines Make Mimic Attack On the Leviathan—Dreadnought Makes a Deep Impression—Her Record Unrivalled—16,000 Mile Voyage, and Fierce Tests—Is Complete Success.

The Colonial Premiers were recently taken to Portsmouth as guests of the Admiralty, to get a glimpse of the Empire's navy. Ten battleships, including the Dreadnought, a score of cruisers and 37 torpedo boat destroyers, all belonging to the Home Fleet, assembled in these waters, were reviewed by the visiting statesmen, who were especially interested in the newest battleship. In describing the Dreadnought, the officials program of the day's proceedings says:

Success of Dreadnought.

"She has satisfied her creators and fulfilled all anticipations. When 80 per cent. of her guns were first fired together, with a total energy of 345,792 foot tons, some cups and saucers were broken. All else withstood the immediate concussion, and the difficult problem of preventing the blast of one gun from interfering with that of another was found to have been satisfactorily solved. She has completed a voyage of 10,000 miles and without using all her boiler power, maintained a speed of over seventeen knots for 3,400 miles and could have done another thousand at the same speed."

A mimic attack was also prepared for the entertainment of the visitors. On a signal being made twelve destroyers in three divisions dashed into the harbor at high speed, the boats being in one long single line with but two hundred feet separating each pair of boats as they passed the Dreadnought.

H. M. S. THE DREADNOUGHT.

Keeping a magnificent station, every alternate destroyer discharged a torpedo into the Dreadnought's net. The contrast between each of these little vessels, snake-like in their movements, and the huge mass of the Dreadnought was most striking, and equally significant was the accuracy with which each of the missiles found its mark. The flotilla was followed by a group of submarines, some in diving trim. The difference in various types was very apparent. The earliest boats were only sixty-three feet long, with a displacement of 100 tons, whereas the latest boats are 135 feet long and have a displacement of more than 300 tons. These boats, driven by gasolene engines, have a speed, on the surface, of about twelve knots, and when submerged, using their electric motors, move through the water at a rate of about nine knots. The exhibition was simple, pretty, and impressive. The nerve, good judgment and skill shown by those in charge was highly appreciated by the spectators.

More African Wonders.

More of Africa's hidden wonders are explained to the outside world by Mr. H. Vischer, one of the Protectorate residents in Bornu, who has just journeyed across the Sahara desert from Tripoli to Lake Chad.

In the mountains of Gharian, he told a Reuter's correspondent, he found people living in subterranean dwellings. Through entrances 10 yards long and one yard broad he came upon a square courtyard, which was in reality a great hole open to the sky. Upon all this the rooms and stables converged. The rooms were very dark and there were no windows, but the most absolute cleanliness prevailed. Round the courtyard was a wall protecting the dwelling underneath.

Describing part of his journey across the waterless desert Mr. Vischer says:

"We had a five days' march across the desert without water. At the commencement of the desert all caravans waited for one another, until our combined party numbered over 500 camels. No caravan dares to go through the desert alone. Everywhere the ground is covered with wind-polished stones, which are gradually themselves becoming sand. Everywhere is an endless horison. Often apparently we see lakes and palm groves, but on all sides are nothing but stones, stones, until the sun disappears and the sky becomes filled with colors which would have given joy to a Titian or a Turner. All our marching is done at night."

"Homeless Persons."

One in every two thousand people in London is homeless. That is the result of a census carried out by the County Council concerning "homeless persons." By homeless is meant not the outcasts who wander about the streets, but those who spend the night in common lodging-houses, and shelters, and other institutions, including casual wards. Besides these homeless of the poorest classes there are vagrants who seek no temporary home, or are unable to pay for it. They wander about the streets all night, and sleep on park benches during the day. The supply of free food at shelters assists these outcasts to remain in the streets. The Public Health Committee of the County Council consider that they are sometimes a danger to the community as they may spread disease, and are always a nuisance. It is proposed to obtain powers to compel these wanderers to use the casual ward, where they will be fed and washed.

East City Resident Sends Complaint To School Board

Claims That Students Climb Fence in Search of Base Balls---Board Meeting Followed Committee of the Whole---Much Routine Business Rapidly Dealt With---Two Members Get Leave of Absence

The regular meeting of the Board of Education was held last night, when a number of important matters were considered, in addition to the regular business of the meeting. Among other questions, that of a difference in grade between the new Armoury site and that of the Collegiate Institute arose, but was referred to the Property Committee. Leave of absence was given Chairman R. Fair and Mr. B. F. Ackerman, who will be out of the city for a couple of months this summer.

Those present were Chairman Fair, and Messrs. Hill, Pringle, Morrison, Burnham, Robinson, Ackerman, and Secretary Morrow.

Mr. Williams, who is employed by the Board to clear the garbage from around the schools, waited on the Board, complaining that Mr. Ackerman, as chairman of the Property Committee, had refused to pay his account when presented without having first to find out whether the work was properly done or not. Mr. Williams considered that his honesty was being questioned too much when his word would not be taken before the janitors of the various schools.

The chairman informed Mr. Williams that no work was ever paid for by the Board until it was found to be properly done.

Dr. Morrison moved, seconded by Mr. Hill, that the work of reavanging around the schools be done satisfactory to the janitors. This motion was carried, and Mr. Williams left the board room disgusted, and emphatically exclaiming that "he was done with the Board.

Teachers Re-appointed

The trustees of the Barnardo avenue, West Ward and George Street Schools were, upon application, re-appointed.

Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons wrote the Board, making an offer in connection with placing a flag pole on the new King Edward School.

City Clerk Armstrong wrote, notifying the Board that the superintendent had been instructed by the Water Commissioners to lay a water main on Barnardo avenue, from George street to Conger street, which will serve the Barnardo Avenue School.

East Ward Complaint

Mr. Jas. Drain, in a communication to the Board, stated that the boys attending the East Ward School, while playing ball in the school grounds, frequently knocked the ball over the fence into his garden at his house on Robinson street, at present occupied by Mr. E. J. Fredenberg. He also complained that the boys removed boards from the fence between the school grounds and the garden, causing other injury. Mr. Drain wanted to know if the Board would make good the damage that has been done.

Mr. Robinson believed that the students should not be compared in their play, and suggested a netting across the top of the fence to stop the ball. It was moved by Messrs. Hill and Pringle, that the matter be referred to the inspector and Property Committee.—Carried.

Miss G. Florence Bell of Peterborough wrote the Board, applying for a position as kindergarten teacher in the city. This was referred to the Committee on Appointments.

Armoury Grade

Mr. Robinson brought up the question of the difference in grade between the new Collegiate Institute and the new armoury grounds, and pointed out that some thing should be done to make the two symmetrical. He considered that the Government should be approached and have the grade of the armoury raised to conform with that of the school.

It was moved by Dr. Burnham that the question of grade be left in the hands of the Property Committee. This was seconded, and carried.

Violent Form of Itching Piles

Rev. S. A. Dupraw, Methodist Minister at Belleville, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with itching and bleeding piles for years, and they ultimately attained a very violent form. Large lumps or abscesses gathered and I suffered great pain. A single box of Dr. Chase's Ointment cured me and saved me from a very dangerous and painful operation. The lumps and swellings disappeared and I am an entirely different man.

He was in need of a nail-maker and cabled to London, England, for a man, and yesterday Charles Whyberd, an expert nail-maker, arrived, and is at work this morning in the local factory.

NO DRINKING CUP AT THE SPRING

Complaint Made That Spring at Jackson Park Cannot Be Used on This Account

Will it work this time? A gentleman who, about two years ago, went to British Columbia, just before his departure wrote a letter to the Examiner pointing out that there was no drinking cup at the spring alongside the drive. In a day or two cups were provided. This gentleman is home on a visit, and, after doing the park, noticed that at present there are no cups at the spring. Will the mention of the lack at this time work as prompt a compliance? This spring seems to be the only available spot in the park to get a drink of cool, sparkling water.

FOUND RELIEF BY TAKING PE-RU-NA

MRS. ANNA MUNDEN

There can be no doubt about it that the tendency to resort to surgical operations has been too great in the past and that this harmful tendency is growing less every day.

Experience has demonstrated that many ailments which seemed to require surgical operations in the past are now being cured by the use of harmless remedies. Peruna has done as much as any other remedy to establish this very important fact.

SURGICAL OPERATIONS AVOIDED.

Thousands of people have been condemned to undergo surgical operations. Their physicians have told them that they must either submit to such operations or lose their lives.

After this they have resorted to Peruna and found relief.

Other good remedies have accomplished the same result, but it is safe to assume that no other remedy has equaled Peruna in its beneficent work.

Many of the alleged incurable derangements of the pelvis are dependent upon catarrh.

There is no cure for these except the removal of the catarrh.

Peruna seemingly works miracles in some of these cases. The explanation, however, is very simple. Peruna removes the catarrh and Nature does the rest.

Pe-ru-na, Taken as a Last Resort, Brings Health and Strength.

ANNA MUNDEN, Brinkley, Ark., writes:

"I suffered with female troubles for thirteen years, and tried the best doctors in Louisville, Ky., without relief.

"I spent thousands of dollars at the Springs.

"The doctors desired that I have an operation performed to remove my ovaries, which I would not consent to.

"I saw an advertisement of your Peruna and bought one bottle and before I had taken it all I could get out of bed and walk about.

"After taking three bottles I was as well and hearty as ever.

"I gained in flesh. From 116 I increased to 126 pounds.

"If it had not been for your great and wonderful medicine, I would now be in my grave.

"I would advise all women sufferers to try it.

"I would not be without it for the world."

A WOMAN'S LETTER TO WOMEN.

Mrs. Caroline Kramer, Fort Collins, Col., writes:

"The majority of women who are suffering from disordered periods and other troubles, have such strong faith in doctors that they allow them to experiment on them for kidney, liver, or stomach troubles, until they become discouraged and their money is gone.

"This was my unfortunate experience for nearly two years, when my attention was called to Peruna.

"I hardly dared believe that at last I had found the right medicine, but as I kept on using it and was finally cured I could only thank God and take courage.

"I have had most satisfying results from the use of your medicine and have advised dozens of women who were suffering with womap's ills to use Peruna and let the doctors alone, and those who have followed my advice are better to-day and many are fully restored to health."

SATISFACTORY RESULTS FROM PE-RU-NA.

A Trip Through Ceylon And India With Rev. H. J. Keith

The Land of Buddha, With Its Temples and Idols, Lofty Mountains and Parks of Fairy Beauty Portrayed to the Traveller.

REV. MR. KEITH, CONDUCTOR

In spite of the disagreeable weather conditions last night there was a fairly large attendance at the Knox Church to listen to Rev. H. J. Keith lecture on a trip to Ceylon and India. The speaker is not long returned from the Far East, and therefore is thoroughly conversant with the customs of the natives, having gained a varied experience in his two years' sojourn in the land of the Hindu and Brahmin. He carried his audience, in imagination, through a most enjoyable trip in which there were no tedious moments, but was rather instructive and entertaining in all its variations. A short musical programme, consisting of vocal solos by Messrs. McMurray and D. Campbell, was provided, and served the purpose of relieving the speaker, and formed a good intermission. Sheriff Hall, as chairman, filled that position in a capable manner.

The Journey East

Travellers leaving England seldom commence their journey by boat, as crossing the Bay of Biscay is particularly disagreeable, seasickness being almost inevitable. The general route is across the channel to France and by rail to Genoa, the Italian port, where a steamer is boarded for a long journey. Port Said is the last place on the Mediterranean Sea under British protection that is touched before the vessel enters the Suez Canal. The lantern pictures with which the references of the speaker were illustrated were very realistic and showed up well on the canvas. The water in the canal is of the same level as that in the Red Sea and in the Mediterranean Sea, and, as a result, locks are not required. Two large vessels can easily pass in the canal, which is one of the most important cuts that was ever made.

Colombo, on the island of Ceylon, is a rather fine place. It possesses an excellent safe harbour and is much used by foreign vessels. Rev. Mr. Keith said that he had to ride 180 miles in a bullock-drawn mail coach that bumped along at a slow pace, without even the comfort of springs.

Buddhism

Buddhism was the great religion of India, Burma, Siam and those countries until the Dutch settled there. They made the church a state institution, and thus almost overthrew the old religion, but when the English gained the upper hand and did not force a religion upon the people, a reaction set in, and the natives returned to their former rites and restored the altars of their forefathers. Buddha was a great religious leader, so it is supposed, as his prestige even to-day is unshaken and his followers are very numerous. Throughout India many temples erected in his honour are found and idols are everywhere. One temple portrayed last night was an immense stone building, with four huge towers, carved on the interior and exterior, and richly adorned and furnished in every detail. It was formerly occupied by Buddhist priests, and through time fell into ruin, being restored by Col. Olcott.

Begging a Business

Rev. Mr. Keith then sailed through the Bay of Bengal and landed on the shores of India, after a sea voyage in the bay, which but few passengers experience without an attack of seasickness, owing to the choppy waves.

In India, the speaker continued, there is an army of beggars in every city. This practice is looked upon by the natives as a regular profession, and it is therefore no disgrace to ask alms. At every station, young and old gather to worry the traveller for money, and they generally succeed in obtaining what they want. The railway stations throughout India are scenes of business and bustle, for the native is a great traveller and likes to move around from city to city for pleasure and the novelty of the journey. The speaker pointed out places of historical interest, such as the Black Hole of Calcutta and the tablet that marks its former location, and others. He showed the conditions of the rivers in the dry season, and the great necessity of the rains coming at the proper season. Rev. Mr. Keith related his experiences in an interesting and bright manner, dealt with topics that everyone likes to hear about, and altogether delighted his hearers with the story of his travels.

Caste

Caste is the curse of India. There are four distinct classes throughout the land. And tradition has so strongly entwined them that it is impossible for one of the lower classes to enter those higher. The Brahmins are first, then the soldier-merchant class, next the Agriculturalists, and, lastly, the coolies. The latter do all the labour and toil, are kicked about like dogs, act in the capacity of horses, and have no hope for any higher life.

During the lecture the speaker dwelt on the missionary work that is being done among the natives, and the importance of the Y.M.C.A. in assisting in it. Although the speaker said he had but touched upon the subject of India, his address was all that could be desired, and would be well worth repetition as everyone was delighted and the weather did not permit of a large attendance.

Mr. Williamson of the Y.M.C.A. had charge of the lantern work and did it in a most efficient manner. His work greatly enhanced the enjoyment of the evening.

A BEAUTIFUL BEVY — OF JUNE BRIDES

HEIDERMAN-MAGRAW

An event of unusual interest to a very large number of friends, both in the city and in other places, took place this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. W. F. Boswell, 575 Aylmer street, when Miss Emily Wilson Hopkins Magraw became the bride of Mr. Robert C. Heiderman.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. A. Lungfeldt, rector of St. Luke's Church, at 3.30 o'clock in the drawing-room. The bride, who was very becomingly gowned in a travelling suit of blue, was attended by Miss Helen Hay and Miss Fannie Boswell, while Mr. W. Maurice Van der Water supported the groom.

The house was very prettily decorated with apple blossoms, ferns and trilliums. The wedding was of a very quiet nature, there being no invited guests, and after the ceremony the little party partook of a dainty luncheon, which was served in the dining-room, and Mr. and Mrs. Heiderman left on the 4.48 C.P.R. train for a week's visit in Western Ontario. They were joined at the station by a large number of friends, who extended hearty wishes for a long, happy life.

The bride and groom are both young people, well known and very highly thought of in the city, as was evidenced by the large number of very handsome gifts received. Among the presents was a beautiful clock from the 57th Regiment Band, of which Mr. Heiderman has long been a member. When the newly-married couple return they will take up residence at 575 Aylmer street.

PRATT-POLLOCK

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mr. Robert Pollock, 166 Dufferin street, East City, last evening, when his daughter, Miss Jeanette, was united in marriage to Mr. Robert Austin Pratt of Toronto. The ceremony was performed at 6 o'clock by Rev. Dr. Torrance in the presence of about 30 guests.

Miss Christina Pollock, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, while Mr. Harold Graham of Peterborough was best man.

The bride was prettily attired in a gown of cream voile with silk and lace trimmings and carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid wore a charming gown of cream voile trimmed with point d'esprit and carried pink roses. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Miss Elsie Pollock, sister of the bride. The parlour in which the ceremony took place was tastefully decorated with palms and apple blossoms.

At the conclusion of the ceremony a recherche wedding dejeuner was enjoyed.

Many beautiful presents were received, among them a dinner and tea set from the dressing room staff of the Auburn Woollen Mills.

Among the out-of-town guests present were Mrs. Horsburgh and Miss Anna Horsburgh, Cleveland, O.; Mrs. Jas. Swan, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Havery, Janeton Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Johnston, the latter the bride's sister, of Harwood; Mrs. Adam Havery, Keene, Mrs. Helen Pratt and Miss Lillian Pratt, the groom's mother and sister, of Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Pratt left on the 9 o'clock G.T.R. train on a wedding trip to Port Hope and other points. They will take up residence in Toronto.

KENNEDY-JUBY

A very pretty June wedding was solemnized at the Baptist parsonage, Park street, this morning, by the Rev. A. H. Brace, when Miss Julia Juby was united in marriage to Mr. E. John Kennedy. The bride looked charming in a blue gray, tailor-made suit, over white silk blouse, with hat to match. Mrs. J. J. Pollock, the bride's sister, acted as bridesmaid, and Mr. Pollock attended the groom.

The happy couple left on the morning train for Belleville, and will visit Kingston and Watertown.

Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy will reside in Peterborough.

SOMETHING WRONG WITH THE ROMAINE STREET SEWER

So Think Some of the Members of School Board—Will Urge Council to Attend to Matter Before Opening of King Edward School.

QUICKSAND TROUBLESOME

Evidently there is something radically wrong with the construction, or the conditions surrounding the construction of the sewer connected with the new King Edward school. Some members of the Board of Education, at least, are confident that things are not as they should be, and are urging the council to take immediate action to better the conditions existing, which, they claim, are very unsatisfactory.

If the sewer is not in a proper condition by September 1st, the new school cannot be utilised, and the proposed adjustment of the public school system of the city, will remain unaccomplished.

Mr. Pringle introduced the subject last night at the board meeting, stating that the sewer was not working properly, and he considered that the council should be urged to reconstruct it satisfactorily.

Mr. Robinson stated that it was a well known fact that the sewer was not properly laid through the quick sand on Romaine street. The joints of the pie were open, and when it rained the sand would enter, and as soon as it is used for sewerage purposes the whole pipe would be blocked. He deemed it advisable to have the rebuilding of the sewer done immediately, and urged the board to take action.

It was moved by Mr. Pringle and seconded by Mr. Robinson:

"That the King Edward school will be completed and ready for occupation after the midsummer vacation but by reason of the want of a suitable sewer it will be impossible to use it. This Board respectfully, but urgently submits the position of affairs and asks that immediate action be taken to provide adequate sewers.

"The adjustment of the whole public school system is dependent upon the opening of this school, and any delay in opening it will be fraught with serious consequences. This board therefore urges immediate action."—Carried.

ROMANCES OF SUCCESS

First Time the Story of Slater's Success Has Been Told

The Canadian Magazine this month celebrates the postal rout of all the American magazines coming into Canada by a timely article on a great Canadian commercial achievement. The June number of the magazine is very interesting. Under the heading of "A Romance of Success in the Shoe Trade" a writer tells briefly the story of the birth and growth of the Slater shoe idea. The pages contain photographs of the directors of the Slater Company, and relate in most interesting fashion how Charles E. Slater conceived the idea on which the business attained such astonishing success.

The man with the idea can always claim to possess greater and surer riches than he who discovers a gold or silver mine.

STRANGER CLAIMED HE WAS WORKING FOR CITY POLICE

Norwood, June 5th — Norwood was visited on Saturday by a man who said he was a member of the Peterborough police force, and had been sent to this town to inspect the houses, which work he said, had been improperly done. Judging from appearances, he was sadly in need of inspection himself, and his remuneration on the police force could not have been very great, as he seemed to consider it necessary to ask for something to eat at nearly every house at which he called—there was no need of asking for a drink, having had his share before starting on his mission.

Needless to say, the police department of this city did not send any inspector to Norwood on the errand stated in the above despatch. The person referred to was evidently trying to play on the gullibility of the people of Norwood.

THE MINSTREL CLUB'S REHEARSALS

Two More Practices Before the Lacrosse Entertainment

The lacrosse club minstrells had a splendid rehearsal last night, under the direction of Mr. John Crane, when much progress was made. The chorus work and singing will be the feature of the entertainment which promises to be the musical event of the season. The chorus is composed of the best available male talent in the city and Mr. Crane's skilful and careful training are having a marked effect. There are only two more rehearsals before the entertainment is put on and every member is asked to be on hand for these, which will be held on Friday and Monday night. The importance of having a full turnout for the last rehearsals should be apparent to everyone and it is hoped that everyone connected with the first part will be present on both nights of rehearsal.

ANOTHER INFANT PRODIGY.

Wonderful Dexterity of a Girl Pianist.

Yet another infant prodigy, in the person of little Ruby Taylor, of Bristol, has appeared upon the horizon of the musical world.

Though barely nine years old, Ruby is really a marvelous pianist. Seated at the piano, she looks by far the tiniest of all the musical mites; her little feet can hardly reach the pedals and her fingers are far too small to stretch the octave. Yet she manages to play the works of a composer like Chopin with remarkable dexterity and effect, artfully thinning down the octave passages to the compass of her tiny hands.

Her extraordinary musical memory and her command of the piano is evidenced by a strange feat she is able to perform. Blindfolded, with the keyboard covered with a cloth, she can render with absolute accuracy pieces requiring the most perfect execution.

At a recent test of these extraordinary powers, she played one of Chopin's most difficult waltzes, following it up with a really brilliant rendering of Benjamin Godard's "Valse Chromatique."

Only Practices When in the Mood.

"This, of course, is only trickwork," explained her father, Mr. Taylor, "but it helps to show that the little one has a good memory, and has command of the keyboard."

Ruby is not forced to play. She has two lessons a week from Miss Ethel Tammadge, a Bristol pianist, and she only practises when she is in the mood.

Perhaps the most amazing infant prodigy of whom there is any record was a mysterious child named Filippa, aged three. The performance that this marvellous infant gave in Paris in 1838 is spoken of with enthusiasm. Moreover, Filippa was referred to in the chronicles of the time as "the distinguished solo violinist."

A considerable number of famous musicians and composers were prodigies in their childhood. Mozart was dubbed the "Kleiner Hexenmeister," or "little magician," by his Emperor when he was only six. At seven Joachim, the great violinist, had already achieved fame. Alfredo Piatti was offered the choice of becoming a violoncellist or a cobbler when he was five. He chose the former, and two years later had created his reputation. Mark Hambourg was also an infant prodigy sixteen years ago.

WILLIAM OF ORANGE.

The Statue of Him Presented to King Edward by Kaiser Wilhelm.

Much attention has been directed to the gift from the German Emperor to the King of England of a statue of William of Orange. It is a bronze figure nine feet high and the work of the German sculptor Heinrich Baucke, who was assisted in the modelling of the details of the costume, so as to make them historically correct, by the Kaiser himself. A duplicate is to be erected on the terrace of the royal palace in Berlin. The site chosen for the statue presented to King Edward is in front of Kensington Palace, and one of the buildings of this palace is the historic structure known as the Orangery. Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the British Premier, could not refrain from a little pun when in informing the House of Commons of the German Emperor's gift he alluded to the fact that most appropriately the statue of William of Orange would stand "in the neighborhood of the Orangery."

STATUE OF WILLIAM OF ORANGE.

England's Population.

Under the authority of the registrar-general there will be shortly published (says The Pall Mall Gazette), the general abstract of marriages, births and deaths registered in England and Wales in the year 1906. From this abstract it appears that the registered population enumerated on April 1, 1901, in England and Wales, was 32,-527,843. This total had increased in the middle of 1906 to 34,547,016. Last year the number of marriages taking place in England and Wales was 269,-734, while the number of births was 934,391, this total being made up of 476,747 males and 457,644 females. As against this number of births there were 503,715 deaths—273,972 males and 256,743 females. Taking London by itself we find that the enumerated population, which was 4,536,429 in April, 1901, had increased to 4,731,217 in the middle of 1906. There were in London last year 40,412 marriages, 125,652 births, and 71,912 deaths.

Poultry Notes.

Duck eggs lose their fertility very rapidly, hence should be comparatively fresh when placed in an incubator or under a hen.

Cleanliness in the poultry yard is worth a whole medicine chest full of remedies in preventing disease.

Whenever young chickens are taken from the nest while the hatch is in progress care must be taken that they do not become chilled, night or day.

The busy hen is the one that lays the eggs.

Hazarding a Guess.

"The song says that John Brown's soul goes marching on, doesn't it?"

"Yes."

"Well, I'll bet it weighs more than an ounce."

LAURIER PRAISES BOTHA.

Says the Late Boer General Well Deserves His Triumph.

The following extracts are taken from a letter from Sir Wilfrid Laurier, written to a friend in Montreal:

"Amongst all the Colonial Prime Ministers, General Botha attracted more attention than the rest. There is indeed no getting over the fact that the English are a people of generous instincts. Justin McCarthy, in his book, entitled "History of Our Times," notes the fact that at the coronation of Queen Victoria the popular hero was Marshal Soult, the special Ambassador sent by the French Government, and the cause of this universal sympathy was in the fact that he had so valiantly fought the English army in Spain. It is the same with Botha. The English give him credit for the courage and success which characterised his action against their armies in the Transvaal.

"In fact, we must all recognize that Botha well deserves the triumph which he has scored on a far different field. His language is frank, loyal and unassuming. He belonged to the Liberal party in the Transvaal, commanded by Joubert, and opposed to Kruger. If the advice of this party had been followed there would have been no war. War, however, having been decided upon, he threw himself into the fight with all possible valor, and became not only the moving spirit of the conflict, but the most successful general, and was the last to lay down his arms. As a matter of fact, he only consented to sign a treaty of peace when he had obtained conditions that assured to his fellow-countrymen the full enjoyment of British institutions.

"We have, in fact, become very friendly, and during the progress of the conference, I have had his cordial support on all points."

WIFE MUST YIELD.

London Magistrate's View of Domestic Felicity.

A remark by Magistrate Fordham during the hearing of a case in the North London Police Court, to the effect that a woman ought to allow her husband to revise her visiting list, has led to a burning controversy, rushing into which another magistrate, endorsing Mr. Fordham, says: "In almost every case of domestic trouble in my court the cause may be found in the husband's submission to his wife. This is a perversion of the natural order of things. Many years' experience has taught me that the Old Testament order is the safest for human happiness. The wife must be subject to her husband, even where the husband is unworthy of respect and veneration. She must yield to him on all points. Otherwise there will be trouble sooner or later. It is the fashion to talk about mutual regard and absolute equality, but it rarely works in practice. If the woman was not prepared to honor and obey her husband she ought not to have married him."

A prominent London clergyman concurs mainly in this view, but advocates a mutual understanding concerning men whom the wife is entitled to receive.

A lady in charge of the headquarters of the suffragettes emphatically dissented from the magistrate's opinion. She upheld absolute equality between wife and husband. She said: "The only arrangement is a mutual one. The marriage service, with its love, honor and obey, is an anachronism. The wife is entitled to as much liberty as the husband."

It is noteworthy that the expressers of opinion on the subject are reluctant to divulge their names.

King's Plate on a Journey.

The King's gold plate, which is worth intrinsically more than $5,000,-000, will make several journeys between Windsor and London this summer, when there will be an exceptional number of state banquets to visiting royalties at Buckingham Palace.

The royal treasure is kept in strong rooms at Windsor Castle behind locks that are regarded as absolutely burglar proof. When the plate is removed to London, it is packed in express wagons, bearing the royal cipher, and guarded by a number of detectives.

These walk unobtrusively on each side of the wagons, and to the casual observer the wagons are in charge of the drivers only. But they are accompanied every yard of the way between the two palaces by a strong corps of detectives and a responsible household official, who never lets the precious freight out of his sight during the transit.

Lady Godiva to Ride.

The idea of clothing Lady Godiva in the forthcoming Coventry pageant has been abandoned. The advocates of the traditional Lady Godiva have won, and apart from some slight concessions to the proprieties her ladyship will ride the streets in the altogether.

The concessions will take the form of flesh tights and some apparently incidental draperies. The role is likely to be filled by La Mile, a statuary poser who has expressed her willingness to undertake it on assurance that her appearance will be purely for a charitable object.

The Mayor of Coventry, who opposed the decision, is now described as the saddest man in the city. He is rather scared by the turn events have taken. He has long been ruffled by the daily arrival of applications from lovely ladies, who have sent their photographs and measurements, recommending themselves, and he now has a fine collection of beauties.

Colds and Bald Heads.

A baldheaded physician said: "I used to be dreadfully subject to colds even in the summer. I had to wear a black skullcap all the time. The minute I took it off I began to sneeze and wheeze. But now for a year I have not once worn a skullcap, and I have not once had a cold. Why, I could go and stand bareheaded in a snowstorm without any ill effect. My immunity to colds comes from this: Every morning I put my head under the cold water spigot and let the cold water run for a minute on my bald crown. This is a refreshing thing, and since I began to do it I have never had a cold."—

CITY'S POOR WILL BE CARED FOR

County Council to Make Arrangements to Keep Them in House of Refuge

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Having visited the House of Refuge, I beg to state to the public what fell beneath my observation while there. In the first place, the inmates are apparently contented and seem willing to do any small amount of work that is allotted to them. The superintendent is very considerate of their several abilities to perform certain kinds of work, and uses good judgment not only in his treatment of the old men, but has his work on the farm space with the weather, and all stock in good condition. He is now undertaking, at the instance of the Board of Management, the levelling of grounds, which, if he can carry out as he hopes to, will mean a saving of many dollars to the county. On the other hand, the female inmates are not, as a body, able to perform as much work as the male inmates, which, of course, necessitates more attention of the matron, but I must say this, and am pleased to state to the public, as I have on all former occasions, that no greater care and tenderness could be administered by the nearest relative. I might say further, that the Council in June, intend to make provision for the poor and old of the city that are not placed in such comfortable surroundings and suited to their case.

Thanking you for space in your columns, I remain,

Yours, etc
ED. M. ELLIOTT.

Editor Post Card Column, —

Dear Sir, — The city fathers have at last found out that the Romaine street sewer won't work. With a great parade of zeal they declared at the last meeting that it must be put right, or a new sewer built. That's all very well; but who is to pay for it? The people pay officials big salaries — lately increased—to do work for the city. The taxpayers have paid for one Romaine street sewer. Suppose we make the officials, to whose carelessness, neglect, ignorance or wilfulness, which ever fits the case, is to blame, pay for putting the sewer in working order, or building a new one. I have paid my share, or will pay without a chance of escape, of building the first sewer, and don't want to pay for a new one.

Yours, etc.,
SOUTH-WARD.

TERRORISTS THREW BOMB.

Two Detectives Killed and Two Soldiers Wounded.

Lods, Russian Poland, June 5.—Two detectives were killed and two soldiers and three other persons were wounded in a street here yesterday by a bomb thrown at the police officials by terrorists.

A patrol of infantry, attracted by the explosion, appeared on the scene soon afterwards, and opened fire on the crowd, wounding 13 persons.

Thirty arrests were made in connection with the affair.

Insurgent Chinese Forces.

Amoy, China, June 5.—The leaders of the insurgent Chinese forces have issued an address exhorting the people to support the movement and to confine themselves for the present to guerilla tactics. It appears that the attack on the officials at Juan precipitated the outbreak against the Government, the date fixed for the uprising being June 24.

Shanghai, June 5.—The Viceroy of Canton has reported to the Government at Pekin that the disorders at Lienchow and Pakhoi have been suppressed, and that all the missionaries are safe.

Attacked by Chinese.

London, June 6.—A special despatch received here from Hong Kong says that Mr. Pollard, a Methodist missionary at Chaotungfu, has been mercilessly beaten by the Chinese. His lungs were pierced by a weapon. The missionaries are flocking into Hong Kong from the Swatow and Pakhoi districts.

Biscuit Factory Burns.

St. Anne La Parade, Que., June 5.—The Royal Biscuit Company's manufacturing establishment and the residence of the proprietors, Messrs. Boulanger, were destroyed by fire last evening. Loss $20,000; insurance $6,000.

Croker Not In Politics.

Dublin, June 5.—Interviewed concerning the newspaper reports that he cherished ambitions to enter the British Parliament as a Nationalist member, Richard Croker said: "I have no intention of entering politics again."

Gets Life Sentence.

Calgary, June 5.—Thomas Rife, the negro cowboy, who brutally assaulted a little Galician girl, after decoying her out into the hills, yesterday received a fitting punishment for the crime. He was sentenced to a life term in the Edmonton Penitentiary.

Exchange of Isands.

Paris, June 5.—A report has been in circulation on the continent, that negotiations were in progress between France and Great Britain for the exchange of the New Hebrides in the Pacific Ocean for Sierra Leona, on the west coast of Afries.

Morena Captain Exonerated.

Halifax, June 5.—Capt. McKinnon of the wrecked steamer Morena, which struck on Brandy Rocks May 18, while on the way with a cargo to Toronto, has been completely exonerated from all blame by the court of enquiry.

The wrecking of the steamer was simply the result of the steering-gear becoming suddenly deranged.

Will Entertain Mark Twain.

London, June 5.—Mark Twain has accepted the invitation of the Pilgrims' Society to entertain him at lunch June 25.

Mr. Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland, will preside, and many notable persons will be present.

Sunday Recreation.

"Don't let us turn Sunday into a day of misery; it's a bad advertisement for Christianity," declared Father Vaughan at a public meeting held in the Dome, Brighton, on the question of Sunday observance.

"When I built a club in the north of England, and let men play at billiards between the services, I was pelted in the streets. What an asinine thing," declared the preacher, "to tell a boy, 'God wants you to sit on that chair like an ornament on a mantelpiece.' He wants a boy to be a boy and a good boy, and when he has looked after his soul the best thing for him and his soul is to let him go to cricket or football, or something of that."

The masses, Father Vaughan went on to explain, wanted rest and recreation on the Sabbath day. And those who wanted recreation should have it. "Who, for instance, could object to professional men taking their week-ends in the country?"

He would not stop trains or trams or omnibuses on Sundays, but would give them who worked them every other Sunday off, pay them extra when they were on, and give them time to have rest during the week.

African King's Joke.

Sir John Kirk, who possesses three distinct knighthoods, is one of Britain's retired consular rulers. His chief service was in Zanzibar. On one occasion the Sultan of that country, having a very savage chained lion, thought to get rid of it by offering it to Sir John. Struck by a happy thought, he reminded the British Consul that the lion formed one of the supporters of the Royal Arms above the gate of the Consulate, and that the presence of the real brute would therefore be highly appropriate! Sir John got out of the difficulty neatly. "I am sure that your highness would never make an incomplete present," said he, "and when you are able to accompany the lion with a unicorn, I shall be delighted to receive your magnificent offer."

A Great Future In Store For Ontario's Twin Cities

An interesting letter has been written to Mr. Wm. Pringle by Mr. Burton Earle, who has reached Fort William on his way to the Coast. In the letter some decidedly interesting information is given concerning the Twin Cities, as Fort William and Port Arthur are known, his letter being in part as follows:

You, no doubt, are acquainted with most of the facts concerning these twin cities, for they are cities now, I understand; but it may be of some interest to know how they strike one, after an acquaintance of nearly a week. In the first place, then, the two, notwithstanding their petty jealousies, will be one, and one that will rival not only Winnipeg, but Chicago. Port Arthur, with its beautiful situation, will be largely residential, while the great bulk of the business will be done in Fort William. This place is the gateway of the West, and in the not distant future vessels will load here for all parts of the world. Here are the largest elevators, and you see them on almost every side—along the bay, the Kaministiquia, and the railways. I walked along the dock on the Kaministiquia to-day and was amazed at the, what appeared to me, thousands of cars, and the huge freighters, waiting to be loaded.

And, then, to think that it was only yesterday we first heard of Fort William, except as a Hudson Bay Company trading post. What will the place be when the development of the Great West will require two or three, or perhaps a dozen more lines of railway to be built? It surprised me to meet so few Peterborough people there; but those that are here, as the McFarlane boys, Wells and Emmerson, Strachan, Fred Scollie and a few others, are doing well. Indeed, it would surprise you to learn that, though there are none here who are very rich, that a very large number are worth from $20,000 to $100,000 or more. Even a school teacher here is in very moderate circumstances with $30,000.

I had rather an interesting time coming from the Soo. You read of the great storm at the Soo a week ago. The Manitoba faced that storm for about 200 miles. The wind was so high that the water at times dashed over the hurricane deck. When I came out of my stateroom on Monday morning the ship was sheathed with ice. Not more than half a dozen came to breakfast, and about a dozen to dinner. I was not sick, but dreadfully tired. In fact, I am not thoroughly rested yet.

KODAKS AND FILMS WERE STOLEN

Bold Robbery on Charlotte Street Last Night—Mr. Lendrum the Loser of About $75 Worth of Goods

DOOR FOUND UNLOCKED

By unlocking the street door of Mr. W. G. Lendrum's photo studio on Charlotte street last night, a midnight robber was able to gain an entrance and to-day the proprietor finds missing about $75 worth of goods. Three valuable Kodaks were taken from the window, which Mr. Lendrum had just concluded dressing a few days ago and besides this indication of the presence of the robber, $25 worth of films have also disappeared. The three Kodaks were valued at about $50.

Mr. Lendrum left his store about 10.30 o'clock for home and distinctly remembers having locked the front door. This morning, however, he found the door unlocked, the store ransacked and the above-mentioned articles gone.

The light-fingered operator of the deed was evidently not very well acquainted with the photography business considering his inappropriate selections. One of the cameras was a 4x5 and the other two 3 1-4 x 4 1-2, all of them being the Ansco make. The boxes of films secured consisted of No. 2 Brownie, 3 1-4 x 4 1-4, 3 1-2 x 3 1-2 and 4 x 5. so that some of them will be of little use to the robber for photographing purposes.

The films were piled in the show case and evidently those taken were gathered up in a hurry. Mr. Lendrum considers his loss to be between $75 and $100, but has no idea who the guilty person or persons can be. He believes the perpetrator of the robbery has a key for his door as the lock was not broken.

The cameras were numbered by the manufacturers and the numbers registered so that this may aid in gaining a clew.

The Chief of Police was informed of the affair this morning and an inspection made of the scene of the burglary.

SOME DISTINGUISHED VISITORS

Representatives of German Government Inspect Machine Telephone Company's System

FAVOURABLY IMPRESSED

Peterborough had three more than usually distinguished visitors yesterday afternoon, when three representatives of the German Government were in the city on business connected with their department. They were Messrs. F. Schwensky and Franz Gutzmann, connected with the telephone bureau of the German Government, and C. Feyerabend, a noted German telephone expert of Hamburg. The three gentlemen are making a tour of America, studying the different telephone systems in use in order that their Government may benefit by their observations and keep the telephone service of Germany, which is under State control, as modern as possible. The fame being achieved by the Canadian Machine Telephone Company's system is shown by the fact that these delegates from the Kaiser's kingdom came to Peterborough to examine the plant, about which they had heard a great deal since landing in Canada. The local officials explained the working of the system to the German visitors and showed everything of interest connected with its operations. All three expressed themselves as most favourably impressed by the system and the ease and accuracy with which it works.

The three visitors, who were guests at the Oriental while here, left the city this morning.

A GROUP PICTURE TOOL MAKERS C. G. E.

Another Much Admired Work of Photography From the Roy Studio

Photography answers better than any other medium of pictoral expression, and has a greater mission than narrowing it down to a graphic art or making it a medium of individual expression. The splendid pictorial arrangement and grouping effects which can be evolved by photography has, perhaps, never been better demonstrated than it is in a fellow group picture just issued from the Roy Studio, Hunter street. The group represents the employes of the Tool Department of the Canadian General Electric Company, and the execution is deserving of high praise. It is an impressive specimen of artistic as well as accurate photography, skillfully carried out and admirably executed in every detail. Just think of forty-six different individual photographs being taken and judiciously assembled on a large mat—three feet by four feet—and each carefully set into separate hand-drawn panels, finely etched and embellished, and accurately spaced out in circles and rows, with a proper regard to the status of each employee, and you have some idea of the work involved.

The central figure of the group is a life-like photograph of the foreman of the Tool Department, Mr. J. E. Beckman. Above him is a well-executed reproduction of the Canadian General Electric Company's Works, and below is a photograph of the three important tools used by the tool-makers. The whole is set into a suitable frame of weathered oak moulding. The harmony of the background, the skill in assembling the photos of the men, and the well delineated ornamental formations and letterings combine to make a picture that all concerned may be proud of. It is on view in the show window of Messrs. Lisidlaw & Olea, Fashion Craft Store, Hunter street.

TIMBER VALUES AND FORESTRY

The increasing scarcity of wood and timber, suggests the adoption of means of preservation and reproduction, the former to a large degree, involving the latter. The farmer who encloses and cares for his wood lot, especially if it contains trees suitable for timber, stands to get a larger revenue for it, than it would produce if sold or used for mere firewood. We all know, some of us from dear experience, that the prices of timber are growing higher day by day. A table recently compiled, showing the average values of the various kinds of raw materials entering into the manufacture of agricultural implements, shows an increase in the price of pole stock of nearly 82 per cent., from 1896 to 1907. The figures by years are; 1896, $22 per M.; 1897, $23; 1898, $23; 1904, $31.50; 1905, $35; 1906, $37.50; 1907, $40. The National Hardwood Timber Association of the United States, at their recent session in Memphis, Tenn., adopted a report on the best available data, that there are now standing in the United States approximately 1,475,000,000,000 feet of lumber, but 45,000,000,000 are being cut every year, "at which rate the forests would last about 33 years." Including the consumption of wood for all purposes, and that destroyed by forest fires, it was estimated that over 75,000,000,000 feet of timber are consumed yearly, and that in reality, there are but supplies standing of commercial timber for about 20 years. Forestry is the remedy, and we in Canada, and, especially, this province, should set about the matter seriously. Canada has now large timber resources, and these can be made much larger by careful cutting and strict preservative measures. The Whitney Government has a great opportunity to develop statesmanship, by taking some large measures of forestry encouragement. That they will not do it, will not be the fault of Mr. George P. Graham, who has declared for an aggressive provincial forestry policy, and he is not a man who stands still. The increase of timber values, while beneficial to holders, in another way operates to the prevention of progress. Many a man would improve his now vacant property, were it not for the prohibitive prices for lumber, etc. Timber, while it is an important asset, would be of greater value employed in industrial and building operations. Let us appreciate the value of our timber, and take rational steps for its preservation and reproduction.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Uncle Sam furnishes Great Britain with her raw cotton supplies, yet for the year 1906 Great Britain sold abroad $56,812,000 worth of cotton yarns while Uncle Sam sold $394,-131. John Bull thus sold nearly one hundred and fifty times more manufactured cotton than Uncle Sam.

Sir Campbell-Bannerman has been bitten by the matrimonial June-bug. His wife died last August, and, to add to the interest romance of a love affair, the lady who nursed the late wife of the British Premier will wed the Minister, who has certainly arrived at years of discretion, having reached the age of 71 years—one year old in his new lease of life, according to the Psalmist's reckoning.

How very particular our new communities in the West are growing! Saskatoon, which three years ago was a jumping-off place for infinity, is a city now, and the Saskatoon Phoenix, the Montreal Herald points out, which spells it with a diphthong, is observing that it has advanced "sufficiently far beyond the Wild West stage as to render undesirable the use of the main streets in the business centre as an arena for broncho busting."

In the suggestion that Mr. Richard Croker will presently supplant Mr. Redmond as leader of the Irish party, journalism of the imagination attains its highest flight of recent times. Mr. Croker made what reputation he has as an organizer and distributor of patronage, whereas the Irish party is the sole organization that has existed for fifty years, not only without patronage, but actually refusing it. Its leaders have been men of quite another order from Mr. Croker, and they have done pretty well according to their lights.

SUCCESSION DUTIES

The death duties in Ontario for the first five months of the year were close on half a million dollars this year, and a great deal more than double what they were in the same period of the year preceding. The action of stocks plays so large a part in the operations of these duties that it is risky to draw conclusions except from very big periods; but from general knowledge of the growth of large fortunes in Canada, it seems safe enough to assume that this increase really represents a permanent growth in the volume of property liable to the tax. There are plenty of millionaires in Canada now, compared with the very restricted list of a few years ago. Moreover, all forms of wealth in this country are more visible now, more readily expressed in dollars and cents and more easily spotted by the tax collector, than they used to be, and the increase in quotable value is probably greater even than the increase in real values. Many people who could have died and left their property to their heirs without coming under the death duties three years or so ago, would have to pay a fat sum for the privilege now; but it is quite possible that they are not really much better off. However, the death tax, wherever it has long tried in Canada, has been a great success, and there is no longer any opposition to it. It is not generally known that Lord Milner, in one of the earlier phases of his career when he was in the British Inland Revenue Office, was the chief author of the succession duties scheme which became the father of all legislation of that character throughout the world. — Montreal Herald.

Massanogo

A lake, shaped something like a pair of spectacles—rather a pair of lakes joined by a passage some few feet wide—a lake immensely deep in parts, with sunny bathing beaches, perfectly safe along its shores. Beautiful woods all around, full of native life, unspoilt and largely untrodden; and, beetling over the water, just at the bridge of the spectacles, is the grand old rock, the crowning glory of Lake Massanoga. "The Gibraltar of Canada," it has been called, and fitly enough. A mile and more long, hundreds of feet high, rising sheer out of the calm waters of the lake, impressively beautiful by day, positively awe-inspiring in the moonlight, is this great stone mountain. In its shadow nestles Bon Echo Inn, as nearly perfect a summer hotel as one could wish to see. Hotel seems scarcely the word for Bon Echo, so homelike is it — the hotel feeling lasts no longer than it takes our genial host to express his welcome. Canoeing, sailing, rowing, swimming, all may be enjoyed at Massanoga; and down in the depths lurk gamey salmon trout. Massanoga is a resort recently discovered and known to comparatively few Canadians. But for people who want to get near to nature, and yet not get out of touch with civilization, who want to enjoy glorious air, brilliant sunshine, cool waters, and all the fascinations of a primitive region, combined with the comforts of a modern summer resort, Massanoga is the place. The nearest railway station is Kaladar, 150 miles east of Toronto, on the C. P. R. Illustrated folder and full particulars will be gladly mailed upon request by C. B. Foster, district passenger agent, C. P. R., Toronto. 3d

The second day there will be three races, two trotting and one running, and also a league football match.

MIND THEIR OWN BUSINESS

Business and Manufacturing Concerns Are Too Ready to Quarrel

(Needlework Magazine.)

Hitting out at the other fellow is not good business. The man who attends faithfully to his own affairs is he who is successful. "If that Semi-ready Company would just leave the tailors alone they would do better," said a city merchant.

The Semi-ready Company say they are being privately attacked by custom tailors who say they can make clothing just as good as any of the "Semi-ready" designs; and the ready-made clothiers claim that they can pretty nearly imitate the much-vaunted Semi-ready garments finished-to-order in two hours.

YOUNG MAN IN COURT ON SERIOUS CHARGE

Breach of the Spirit of Charlton Act—Was Refused Bail by the Magistrate

A young man appeared before Magistrate Dumble this morning, on a charge of violating the spirit of the Charlton Act, in respect of a girl of 17 or 18 years. The date involved was Friday, May 31st. The Crown was not prepared to proceed with the prosecution, and the case was enlarged until Monday, June 10, at 9 a.m.

Mr. F. D. Kerr who appeared for the accused, asked for bail, but the Magistrate refused to grant it.

IMMIGRANTS DO NOT WANT WORK

So States Immigration Official at Toronto —Found Nothing To Do Here

Apparently there is no work in Peterborough for immigrants who do not want to work, at least none, according to the stories which a number of them carried back from here to Toronto yesterday morning.

A Toronto despatch says: A number of English immigrants who, yesterday, were sent to Peterborough to go to work, returned this morning, declaring there was none to be found. There had been a mistake, they declared. Consequently they did not jump at an opportunity offered them by one of the immigration officials this morning to go to Brampton to work in the nurseries there.

"Don't these men take advantage of the opportunities you offer them?" was asked.

"Many of them do not want work," answered the official.

WEDDING BELLS.

PAMMETT-HUSTON

Rev. Dr. Torrance officiated at a quiet but pretty wedding last evening at seven o'clock at his residence, when Miss Jennie Huston, only daughter of Mr. Thomas Huston, of Otonabee, became the bride of Mr. I. Pammett, also of Otonabee.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of only a few friends of the bride and groom, the wedding supper taking place at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride, who was unattended, wore a cream coloured dress, and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. A number of beautiful presents were received by the bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. Pammett will reside in Otonabee.

Uric Acid Stones In the Kidneys

CAUSED EXCRUCIATING PAIN— CURE EFFECTED SIX YEARS AGO BY

The passing of stones or gravel, as the uric acid formation is called, from the kidneys through the ureters to the bladder probably produces the most terrible pain that human being was ever called upon to bear.

Mrs. Walter Hornbrook, Coddy's, Queen's county, N.B., writes:—

"I was a great sufferer from kidney disease, which the doctor described as the uric acid stones passing from the kidneys to the bladder, I heard of similar cases being cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and sent for some. Altogether I used seven boxes and was completely cured. That was six years ago, and I have never had a pain in my kidneys since. We are never without Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in the house."

Mr. Daniel Brown, English River, Ont., writes:—"For three years I suffered with urinary troubles, partaking of the nature of stones in the bladder or gravel, and the pain which I endured can scarcely be described. I was unable to do any work, and frequently discharged blood. Though I spent hundreds of dollars in doctors' bills I received no relief, and at last decided that I would never be able to work again.

"While in this condition I was advised to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and though I had no faith in them or in anything else, I decided to give them a fair trial. After using one box I felt a decided change for the better, and after taking five boxes I feel like a new man. I am entirely out of pain, and have no more discharges of blood. I can honestly recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to any fellow-sufferer, and will cheerfully verify this statement to anyone writing me."

There could scarcely be a more severe test of any treatment for the Kidneys and when Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills prove successful in such cases as this they can surely be depended upon in less severe kidney ailments. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Presented Canadian Maps To County's Public Schools

Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., Gives Copies of Latest Maps to All Schools in West Peterborough.

NEW BOUNDARIES SHOWN

Through the generosity of Mr. R. R. Hall, M. P., every public school in the city, and in the riding of West Peterborough, has been supplied with the new six foot maps, issued by the Department of the Interior, at Ottawa. These maps will be very useful in the schools, and by their use the pupils will be taught the new divisions of the country.

The new provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan, are shown, as well as the new Alaska boundary, as determined by the commission; the projected line of the Grand Trunk Pacific; the present and projected lines of the Canadian Northern; the projected railway from Winnipeg to Fort Churchill, on Hudson Bay; the boundaries of Ungava and Labrador; and the islands of the Artic — all features which are more or less vague in the maps used prior to this in the schools here.

In these days when the progress of Canada from ocean to ocean, is causing the whole world to sit up, and wonder, it is most important that the children being taught in the schools should form correct ideas of the geographical divisions of the country, and, in view of this fact, Mr. Hall's action in sending these maps to the different schools, will be fully appreciated, both by the teachers and by the pupils.

Struck On The Eye With A Stone; Boy May Lose Its Sight

Jas. Miloy, Returning From School Yesterday, Was Accidentally Hit by a Companion—Left Eye May be Ruined.

THE DOCTOR HAS HOPES

James, the second son of Mr. Peter Miloy, Parnell street, was accidentally struck on the left eye last evening after 4 o'clock by one of his school chums, and it was feared that the sight of that member was destroyed. He was returning from St. Peter's School with a number of boys, and, as all youths delight in, they were throwing stones. Among them was a boy named Ryan, who lives on Reid street. Just as he threw a stone, young Miloy, who was in front of him, turned suddenly, and received the force of the missile on his left eye.

Medical aid was summoned and it was thought that his eye had been blinded. The sight is at present impaired as the eye is suffused with blood, and it will be several days before the true condition can be learned.

This is another case of the danger that boys incur when they throw stones. There is generally some damage done, either to property or themselves, and it seems that exemplary cases do not affect them, as they still continue in the practice.

One Pavement Gang Will Be Dismissed

Board of Works Decides to Dispense With the Services of Men Who Constructed Pavement at Post Office
---Contract for Handling Dredging

Considerable business was transacted at the weekly meeting of the Board of Works last night. Among other things, the contract for handling dredging was given to Daniel Mahoney at 8 1-2 cents per cubic yard. It was decided to dispense with one of the gangs now doing concrete crossing work. There were present Ald. Dunoon, chairman; the Mayor, Ald. Johnston, McIntyre and Wilson.

W. G. Green asked for a crossing from his office to the works.

The proposed concrete crossing on McDonnell street, at the easterly side of Gilchrist street, will be located at the spot requisitioned for by Mr. Green.

Tenders for handling the dredging from the river were received as follows: Daniel Mahoney, per cubic yard, 8 1-2c; John McDonald, per cub. yard, 10c.; F. J. Conroy, per cub. yard, 19c; Martin Kylie, per cub. yard, 12c.

The person undertaking this work will have to take the dirt from the scow as filled by the Government dredge at work above Hunter street, and use the same for filling in the waterfront south of the bridge, as directed by the City Engineer. Each scowload of dredging will be dropped down within convenient reach of the spot being filled in.

Ald. Johnston moved, seconded by Ald. Wilson, that the contract be awarded to Daniel Mahoney at 8 1-2c per cubic yard.

Mr. Rehill asked if the city would allow him 13c a cubic yard for earth from a cellar he is having excavated, he to dump the material along the waterfront, where wanted for filling in purposes.

On motion of Ald. Johnston, Mr. Rehill's offer was accepted, to dump the earth at the foot of Charlotte street, the city to pay him 13c a cubic yard for earth and 25c for gravel, providing he gave the city all the material excavated from the cellar, and that satisfactory arrangements for measuring the material can be made.—Carried.

The Mayor moved, seconded by Ald. Johnston, that the hydrant on Water street, opposite the Colonial Weaving Co.'s premises be moved to the westerly side of the new line of Water street.—Carried.

On advice of Chairman Duncan, but one gang will be employed on concrete crossing work in future. Foreman Hodgin's gang will be disbanded.

The Street Commissioner has never been satisfied with the work under Hodgin's supervision, and the disgraceful crossing on Water street, from the postoffice to the Crown Hotel, was, to the committee's mind, the last straw.

The Board are anxious to oust the concrete crossing work, but are of the opinion that by adding a few men to Kennedy's gang, this season's work arranged for can be accomplished.

Mr. Angus McIntosh complained that the Cedar street sewer enters his premises four inches above his cellar floor, which he wished to lower. He asked that the connection be changed to enter below the cellar at a proper grade, for which there is plenty of fall.

Mr. McIntosh explained to the Board that he had told Mr. O'Brien that he wished to lower his cellar floor, and asked for a satisfactory connection, but he apparently ignored his request.

Ald. Johnston pointed out that the connection is even four inches above the present cellar floor.

The Engineer was instructed to have this connection lowered to the proper level, and report if the contractor is responsible for the expense of same.

A petition for a sewer on George street, from Argyle street to Hiller street, was not sufficiently signed.

The Board will not take up the matter of street signs until the end of the year.

Ald. Johnston moved, seconded by Ald. Wilson,—That the Board of Works, next Wednesday, drive over the streets on which excavations have been made for sewers and gas mains, and examine into the condition into which they have been left. This is with a view to having such streets put into satisfactory condition.

A. E. Fitzgerald asked for a plank crossing to his coal and wood office. A plank crossing will be laid across to Fitzgerald's office.

A permanent crossing will be laid east of Bethune, across Brock, when new pavement is being constructed.

Regarding the Harvey street sewer the Board of Works are willing to construct the same when sufficiently signed for. Council had given notice of their intention to lay a sewer on Harvey street, but the property owners petitioned against it. They were influenced in so doing by misunderstanding the engineer's remarks as to fall and possible depth of connections, the figures for which they in some manner transposed. Such misunderstanding led the property owners concluding that the sewer would be unworkable. The engineer assured the board that the fall of said sewer would be 15 inches, and would be perfectly practicable.

Ald. Johnston moved, seconded by the mayor,—That the sewer on Harvey street be laid, when properly petitioned for.—Carried.

The engineer was instructed to report on the advisability and cost of laying a wooden walk from Hunter street east, north side, from end of present pavement to the bridge.

A plank crossing will be laid from Lake to Wescott street, west side.

A fence will be built on west side of Aylmer street, bounding the property purchased from Mr. LaPlante by the city for extension purposes.

The mayor advised that in order to keep up local improvement work it is necessary that the city engineer should have the assistance of a man who can do both outside and inside work. There are at present over a hundred men in the city's employ, distributed over eight pay lists.

The board agreed with this and an effort will be made to secure competent assistance for the summer.

On motion of Ald. Johnston, seconded by Ald. Wilson, this matter was left in the hands of the mayor and city engineer.

Music and Drama

The presentation of Charles Klein's famous play, "The Lion and the Mouse," at the Grand Opera House last night, was undoubtedly the dramatic event of the season, and it is doubtful if any superior production of its kind has ever been seen in this city. The renown achieved by this play, which has seen such phenomenal runs in the large American cities, was indicated by the largeness of the audience, the company playing to a capacity house that gave the play undivided attention, punctuated by tumultuous applause.

There is an indefinable something about the play that grips and holds one's attention and stirs one's feelings such as they are rarely stirred by stage effects. It may be because the characters are drawn, or at least, seem to be drawn from American life of the present day, but no matter what may be the cause, the play certainly wins its audience, and its unprecedented success wherever it has been offered can be easily understood.

The plot is not complicated, and yet now. The central figure is John Burket (Ready Money) Ryder, a leader in American finance, a man with a resolution as firm as Gibraltar, and a conscience which does not cause him any scruples as to the manner in which his will is carried out. James Rossmore, a judge of the United States Supreme Court, has given a decision against the trusts, of which Ryder is the head, and the latter plans to ruin him by causing him to enter upon a wild-cat investment and making it appear that he has accepted bribes. He would have succeeded had it not been for the mouse. In other words, Judge Rossmore's daughter, Shirley.

While on a trip to Europe she meets Ryder's son, Jefferson, and the young people fall in love with each other.

Shirley returns from Europe to find her father ruined, financially, and his good name impugned. She rallies bravely from the blow, and determines to fight for her father. By means of information gained from his son, she writes a novel in which Ryder, although disguised under another name, is the predominant character. So truly has she painted the millionaire, that he recognizes himself at once and sends for the author. Shirley meets Ryder, and, under the name of Miss Greene, makes such an impression on him that he invites her to remain in his house and write his biography. She soon gains the affection of the household, especially of Ryder. Meanwhile she is working desperately to save her father. She is forced to bear herself and her father spoken harshly of by Ryder, but she, by wonderful control, restrains herself.

The climax comes in the third act when Shirley announces herself as Miss Rossmore, and, after pleading in vain to Ryder to save her father's honour and prevent him from being impeached by the Senate and removed from the bench, she suddenly turns upon the millionaire and, in biting, vehement language, she shows him to himself as he appears to others, an octopus, whose sole object is to gain money and power. "You fancy that if you lived in the olden days you'd be a Caesar, an Alexander," she turns at him. "Yo wouldn't; you'd be a Nero."

The denunciation has its effect. Ryder spends a sleepless night in his library, smoking cigar after cigar. In the morning he acknowledges himself beaten. "You are the first one that has ever beaten John Ryder," he says, and departs for Washington to save Shirley's father, at the same time giving his consent to her marriage with the son, and thus the play has the usual happy ending.

The honours of the evening were shared by Miss Flora Juliet Bowley as Shirley Rossmore and Walter Edwards as John Burkett Ryder. Both gave forcible realistic representations of their roles. Miss Bowley, by her beauty, wonderful voice and splendid histrionic ability, won her audience from her first appearance on the stage, while the force and realism that Mr. Edwards threw into his part of Ready Money Ryder, took the house by storm. The supporting company was excellent, every role being in the hands of an artist. Some of the striking sentences in Ryder's lines may be of interest. "Don't talk like Tolstoi for he is a great thinker and you are not." "Don't talk like Bernard Shaw for he is funny and you are not." "I work harder in one day than a tunnel digger does in a lifetime. Thinking is a harder game than any of you must think or won't know." "Good sentiment is bad business and good business is bad sentiment. That's why a rich man is generally supposed to have such a hard time getting into the kingdom of heaven."

THE MINSTREL SHOW A TREAT

One of the Brightest and Most Novel Entertainments Ever Given in Peterborough

BENEFIT OF LACROSSE TEAM

The minstrel show to be given under the auspices of the Peterborough lacrosse club, in the Grand Opera House, on Tuesday and Wednesday nights of next week, in point, of brightness, novelty and merit, promises to be the greatest event of this kind given in Peterborough for many moons. The programme is one that cannot fail to please every person. The first part contains a score of musical hits, new and catchy numbers, that will meet with instantaneous favour. The vocalists are the best in their line in the city, and they are supported by an exceptionally strong chorus that has been carefully trained by Mr. John Crane. The music will be a feature of the entertainment and those who appreciate popular music, well rendered, will make no mistake, in patronizing the entertainment.

The olio will contain many new features of decided interest, including a rope-walking number, a selection by the Mandolin Club, buck and wing dancing, a snort farce, and other numbers equally pleasing.

The entertainment will be crowded full of local hits, funny jokes about well known local people and things, that will make you forget that there is such a thing as care in the world. For an attack of the blues, the Examiner can give no better prescription than to spend two hours and a half with the Peterborough minstrels. If you want to laugh, and have the world laugh with you, there will be two opportunities given you next week. Do not forget the dates, Tuesday and Wednesday, June 11 and 12.

CANADIAN GIRLS AND ZAM-BUK

Girls who are fond of canoeing, tennis, rowing, golf, and other outdoor sports find Zam-Buk invaluable, as well as do their male friends, who are engaged in the same sports, and baseball, etc. A smarting, blistered hand from a rough paddle is at once relieved by a little Zam-Buk. A bruise, a "sunburn patch," the pain from insect stings, a sore foot caused by a chafing shoe, a burn at a picnic fire —for all these Zam-Buk is a quick cure.

Don't think because Zam-Buk is prescribed by doctors and used for the most serious skin diseases and injuries, that it is only useful for serious cases. What cures a serious skin injury can soon end a less serious one.

Mothers will find Zam-Buk useful for the heat rashes and skin troubles to which young children are subject in the hot weather. Remember always that Zam-Buk is made from pure herbal essences, contains no mineral colouring matter, and is thus best for the tender skins of infants.

All stores and druggists sell at 50c. a box, or post-free from the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price, 6 boxes for $2.50.

THE WEATHER

That the weather still remains unseasonably cool and backward, is now an old story, but still continues true. Although this is the 6th of June, the maple trees have just completed their summer attire, and are at least three weeks behind the usual date for leafing. The rainfall of yesterday, cold and drizzling, totalled 60-100 of an inch, while last night 5-100 of an inch came down. At noon to-day the thermometer marked 49 degrees. By way of contrast, this date last year, we had it 81 degrees in the shade, on the 7th, 73 degrees, and on the 8th, (Circus day, and one of the warmest days of the summer) 93 degrees in the shade. Warm showers were almost daily occurrences, while a severe storm occurred on the night of Circus day, as some no doubt, will remember.

AN IMPORTANT NEW GRAND TRUNK SERVICE

Grand Trunk Passenger Train Service—Peterborough and Port Hope

An official announcement, appearing in another column, makes certain the establishment, by the Grand Trunk Railway, of a new train service which will add very greatly to the convenience of the travelling public. A new train, beginning Monday, June, 17, will leave Peterborough for Port Hope at 8.35 a.m., connecting at that town at 9.40 with trains for points east. This train, returning, will, on the arrival of the limited from Toronto and intervening points, bring passengers to Peterborough, Lakefield and all points on the Kawartha Lakes. This means that tourists can be taken directly to the lakes, thus avoiding a wait of two or three hours in Peterborough. This will tend to popularize the lakes with tourists, though it will tend to lessen the liveliness about the Grand Trunk station here in the mornings during the season.

INTEND TO HOLD A RUMMAGE SALE

Boys of Y. M. C. A. Have Scheme to Pay for the Camp Lot

For some days the committee of the boys' department have been gathering in rummage for the Rummage Sale, the proceeds of which will go towards the Boy's Camp Fund. The idea is to have the friends of the work send in to the building any articles of furniture, clothing, etc., that may not be in use in the home and which may be converted into cash.

A number of persons have contributed, their names having been mentioned in the papers last week. It will be some days yet before the sale takes place and anyother contributions will be gratefully received and acknowledged by the committee.

Any contributions will be received at the building or sent for if requested by 'phone, Machine or Bell No. 246. This is a good practical way of helping the boys.

NEW WAY TO GET SOMETHING FOR NOTHING

Mr. W. Rundle is Victim of a Dishonest Scheme

There are a good many dishonest people in this world, and Peterborough is evidently cursed with its share of those who fail to appreciate the difference between meum and teum.

As an illustration of this statement mention might be made of the experience of Mr. W. Rundle, the George street barber. He has an automatic gum box at his door, which operates when a cent is dropped in. Last week some one made a discovery that got him lots of gum and that will get him lots of trouble if he is found out. The ingenious operator found that by dropping dies made by a punching machine in some iron working factory, into the box, he would be rewarded with a cent's worth of gum. The result is that within the last week, Mr. Rundle has found at least 50 dies in the box. There is trouble brewing for some one.

IMPORTANT NEW TRAIN SERVICE

Commencing Monday, June 17th, continuing thereafter, daily, except Sunday, the Grand Trunk will inaugurate a new passenger service between Peterborough and Port Hope, which will afford a service not heretofore enjoyed, giving passengers from Toronto, Oshawa and Bowmanville direct connection with Peterborough and Lakefield, and Stony Lake points; also affording direct connection from Peterborough and Port Hope for all points east. A new train will leave Peterborough at 8.35 a.m., arriving Port Hope, 9.40 a.m., making connection with local train for all stations east, and with fast day train for Kingston, Montreal, etc. Returning train will leave Port Hope 10.40 a.m., making direct connection with Limited from Toronto, Oshawa, Bowmanville, for Peterborough, Lakefield, and all points on the Kawartha Lakes. With this new service passengers can leave Toronto 9 a.m., arriving Peterborough via Port Hope, at 11.30 a.m.

AN AGE OF REASON.

The days of mystery have passed. There must be a reason for everything, and we demand to be shown the whys and the wherefores. Secret or patent medicines must go with the other mysteries. King Palmetto Compound is not a secret remedy,—the formula is printed on the label, and you can get expert advice from your physician, who will tell you that it is the most useful prescription ever prepared. Saw Palmetto for the kidneys, Cascara Sagrada for the bowels, Couch Grass, Corn Silk, for the bladder, Golden Seal and Compound Kerunfel,—a perfect combination. The cause of ill-health is not a mystery either, and we know we should apply our reason to our daily habits, but we do not do so. The modern struggle is too much for us. The result is a clogged liver, and a generally disordered condition of the stomach, liver, nerves, and kidneys. These things lead to very serious results, and render the body an easy prey to germ diseases, such as Typhus, Typhoid, and Consumption. The reasonable solution is to begin taking King Palmetto Compound to-day. One dose a day, and the cure begins with the first dose. It will renovate your entire system, cure constipation and indigestion, and purify the blood. Give it a trial. Write for a free sample bottle to the King Palmetto Company, Bridgeburg, Ontario.

WEDDING BELLS

STABLER-DUNLOP

A June wedding under delightful auspices took place last night, in North Monaghan, when Sadie, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D'Arcy Duplop, was united in marriage to Mr. Nathan E. Stabler, in the presence of one hundred interested guests, by Rev. A. H. Brace, of the Park street Baptist church. The drawing room was tastefully decorated for the occasion.

Precisely at eight o'clock, the bride appeared, leaning upon the arm of her father, to the strains of the wedding march. She was a typical bride, and looked beautiful, gowned in white dotted tulle over white silk drop skirt, and bridal veil, with orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and carnations. The bride was attended by her sister, Emma, who wore a white Panama suit, and carried pink roses and carnations.

The groom was supported by his cousin, Roland S. Garbutt.

The picture was complete when the fairy-like flower girls, appeared, dressed in silk. They were Marie Stabler and Eva Payne, and each carried baskets of gorgeous white roses.

The groom's present to the bride was a gold watch and chain, and to the bridesmaid a gold chain, to the groomsman a gold locket, and to the flower girls a gold diamond ring set in pearls and diamonds.

The bride's presents were very numerous and costly, that from Mr. W. A. Stabler, father of the groom, a horse and harness, with a rubber-tired runabout, and a piano from Mrs. W. A. Stabler.

The guests from a distance were William Dunlop, Bruce Co.; Andrew and Mrs. Dunlop, Fenelon Falls; Mrs Robert Graham, Fenelon Falls.

The bride's travelling dress was of navy blue cloth, tailor made, with a picture hat to match.

Mr. and Mrs. Stabler will live in Peterborough, having purchased the pretty home, 546 Stewart street, for their future residence.

McCALL-DICKSON

A very quiet wedding was celebrated this morning at the residence of the late John Robertson, 307 Reid street, when Miss Kate Dickson, became the wife of Mr. Thos. Edward McCall of Bridgenorth. There were no invited guests present, the affair being marked by reserve owing to the death of Mr. Robertson in January last.

Rev. Dr. Torrance officiated in weaving the marriage bonds at 5.30 a.m.

The bride was given away by Mr. J. Hutchinson, East City, and little Miss Ethel Fowler made a pretty flower girl. The ceremony was performed in the spacious drawing room, which was tastefully decorated with ferns and the season's blooming flowers.

The bride was attired in grey Venetian poplin, with hand embroidered trimmings. She carried a large bouquet of carnations and lilies of the valley. Little Miss Fowler wore a dress of straw-coloured silk, trimmed with Valenciennes, and carried a bouquet of roses. The bride looked charming in her travelling dress of blue chiffon broadcloth, and cream hat.

Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Mrs. Dr. Archer, of Port Perry.

After the wedding a dainty luncheon was served in the dining room. Mrs. McCall has lived with the family for a considerable number of years and it was the wish of the deceased, Mr. Robertson, who had almost a parent's love for her, that she be married from the home. She was a favourite with the ladies of the Y.W.C.A., where she lived for several years. Her quiet disposition, her generous, loving manner, made friends for her wherever she went, and the large number of presents received testified to the esteem in which she was generally held.

Mr. McCall was formerly a resident of Mount Forest, a son of Mr. George McCall. He now lives in Bridgenorth, and has made a success of his work, being a carpenter by trade.

The happy couple will live in Bridgenorth, in a fine home that the husband has built.

Occurred Sixteen Years Ago To-day—A Distinguished Canadian

Sixteen years ago to-day, on June 6, 1891, one of Canada's great men, Sir John A. Macdonald, the leader of the Conservative party and founder of the so-called National Policy, passed away. His characteristics are still familiar to Canadians, and his memory revered by everyone, irrespective of party politics. Since his death the Conservative party has never had the same power as during the nineteen years of his regime.

TELLS HIS STORY OF CRIME

Orchard Gives Evidence In Haywood's Great Trial.

ONTARIO HIS BIRTH PLACE

Real Name Is Alfred Hansley—Sleuths Guard Him Jealously—Revolting Story of Crime and Conspiracy—How the Murders Were Planned—His Career of Crime —The Defence Objects.

Boise, Idaho, June 6.—The trial of Wm. D. Haywood, charged with the murder of former Governor Steunenberg was resumed yesterday at 10 a. m.

K. M. Brunzell of Nampa, a hotelkeeper, was the first witness. He testified as to the presence of Orchard and Simpkins in Nampa in 1905.

A. Minkey, another hotel keeper of Silver City, Idaho, identified a register to show the presence of Simpkins at Silver City on November 8, 1905.

C. H. Wentz, bookkeeper for a mining company at Wardner, Idaho, identified a photograph of Simpkins and his handwriting on the register.

Guy Wright, of Nampa, testified that he met Orchard and Simpkins at Caldwell in the fall of 1905.

Orchard Takes Stand.

Orchard was called to the stand at 9.42 o'clock. Mr. Hawley at once began his direct examination. Orchard said that he had been held on a charge of murder since January 1, 1906. He said he was born in Ontario and had been known as Orchard for 11 years. His real name was Alfred Hansley.

He became a member of the Western Federation of Miners in 1899 while at work as a mucker at a mine in Burke.

Mr. Hawley took Orchard through a close examination, taking up the Coeur d'Alene mining troubles in 1899. It was at Wardner the first trouble occurred.

Two of the Murders.

The defence objected to the introduction of this evidence, as having no bearing on the case against Haywood.

Judge Wood admitted the testimony, saying: "The court could easily see it might be important."

Orchard proceeded in narrative form to tell how he lighted one of the fuses that blew up the concentrator at Wardner in April, 1899, when two men were killed. The defence objected continually. Orchard evidently avoided Haywood's glances as he testified.

Born In Northumberland.

"I was born in Northumberland County, Canada, in 1866," said Orchard, "and am therefore 41 years old. Harry Orchard is not my true name. I have gone by that name for about eleven years. My true name is Alfred Horsley. I came to the United States in 1896, first to Spokane, where I remained a week. I went to Wallace, Idaho, in March or April, 1896. I first worked for Markel Brothers, driving a milk wagon, and remained there until about Christmas, 1896. I then went to a wood and coal yard in Burke, Idaho, and was engaged in that business until the spring of 1899, and on my own account for two years. In 1898 I sold a half interest in the business to Mr. McAlpine. My business in Canada was making cheese."

Union to Hang Superintendent.

"On the morning of April 29, 1899, when I got through breakfast, I was told there was a special meeting of the Miners' Union and everybody was expected to be present. I went to the meeting."

Mr. Richardson objected again and was overruled.

"The meeting was called to order," continued Orchard, "by the secretary, who said it had been decided that day to go to Wardner to bow up the mill at the Sullivan and Bunker Hill mines, and to hang the superintendent."

Orchard Leaves the Pen.

Boise, Idaho, June 6.—Harry Orchard, the self-confessed murderer of former Governor Steunenberg, and who was on the stand yesterday to give testimony in the case against William D. Haywood, was brought into Boise Monday evening from the Idaho Penitentiary. For some hours he was closeted with the attorneys for the prosecution. This is the first time that Orchard has been out of the penitentiary since he was brought from Caldwell immediately after the assassination of the former Governor.

Notwithstanding the report of possible violence to Orchard on the part of friends of Haywood, he was surrounded with but little precaution on the drive into the city. Orchard is looking well and shows little apprehension of the ordeal he will be called upon to face while he is on the stand.

Sawmill Burned.

Wooler, Ont., June 6.—H. C. McCall's saw and planing mill was destroyed by fire here Tuesday. Several surrounding buildings were threatened, and had it not been for the good work of the volunteer fire brigade, a more disastrous conflagration would no doubt have resulted. Mr. McCall carried no insurance, and his loss will be great.

Newspaper Publishers Arrested.

Chicago, June 6.—Eight representatives of four of the Chicago papers have been arrested on charges of conspiracy. It is alleged that in an effort to raise the price of Sunday editions from 5 cents to 7 cents, they threatened to cut off supplies to newsdealers who handled another journal that didn't agree to the increase.

Encounters With Rebels.

Guayaquil, Ecuador, June 6.—It was officially announced yesterday that the Government troops had two encounters Tuesday with the main body of rebels, who fled to the heights betwen Ambato and La Tacunga.

It is generally believed here that the revolutionary movement will soon be crushed.

WANTS MORE MONEY.

Lady Bagot Suing For Restitution of Conjugal Rights.

London, June 6.—Lady Bagot's suit against her husband, Lord Bagot of Rugeley, for restitution of her conjugal rights, will be heard in the divorce court at the end of this week.

Lady Bagot, who was Miss Lillian May, a great belle of Baltimore, was married less than four years ago.

A daughter was born to them in London on New Year's Day, 1905. Father Bernard Vaughan christened the little one Barbara.

Soon after the christening Lord Bagot, who had been ill for some time, separated himself entirely from his wife. He has allowed her an income of about $4,000 a year. Lady Bagot, claiming the amount is not sufficient to support herself and her daughter, brought the present suit, which society regards as of the highest importance.

TO PEN FOR TWO YEARS.

Bigamist Sentenced Who Was Also Convicted for Perjury.

Toronto, June 6.—Franklin J. Harrison, found guilty of bigamy and perjury, was sentenced by Judge Winchester yesterday to two years in Kingston Penitentiary. He is in poor health and his counsel, Mr. Robinette, pleaded for a mitigation of the sentence.

Harrison is 52 years of age, and his home is in Buffalo. He had been married two or three times, but as a bachelor wedded Annie Ballantyne in Toronto. The first time he crossed the line into Canada she had him arrested. He was acquitted, both by Col. Denison in the police court, and by Judge Winchester of charges of bigamy. His swearing that he was unmarried when he got his last license in Toronto caused him to be convicted of perjury.

QUAKERS AND OMEMEE AGAIN TIED

Each Scored One Goal on Lindsay Grounds Last Night

The Omemee- Peterborough Quaker football group is still undecided. Last night the two teams met on neutral grounds in Lindsay and played a the game, each putting the ball between the stakes once. This is the fourth game these two teams have played, three of which were league games, in whisti the total score was three all.

The matoti was played in a gentle downpour of rain, but this did not prevent the sporting people of Lindsay from taking in the game. A large crowd witnessed the play considering the character of the weather and the fact that two outside teams were matched together.

Omemee, as usual, took the lead in the scoring, notching their only goal a few minutes after the ball was sent a-rolling. The Quakers evened up in about ten minutes afterwards, ending the scoring for the evening.

The matoti was characterized by the long kicking of both teams, as no combination work could be done with the heavy, waterlogged ball and on the wet grounds.

At the conclusion of the allotted time for the matoti the score stood one all, and an extra five minutes was played, making no change in the result. Following this, a ten, and another five-minute game took place, making no difference, and as the darkness was beginning to fall the match was brought to a close.

The players of both teams put up a good article of ball under the circumstances existing. The teams will play off the latest tie on Lindsay grounds on Saturday afternoon.

The line-up of the Quaker team was: Laing, Sullivan, Scrimshaw, Hamilton, Dingman, C. Fitzgerald, Yates, Hutchings, Crought, Caniff, E. Best.

ST. ANDREW'S HAVE A STRONG TEAM

Expect to Trim Locals in the Game Here on Saturday

The St. Andrews' ball team which meets Peterborough here on Saturday afternoon at the exhibition grounds, is one of the strongest amateur teams in Toronto and of this no stronger proof can be offered than the fact that they are now leading the West End Senior League, about the best of the amateur circuits in the Queen City. Local fans may depend upon seeing one of the best games of the season. The Peterborough team is now in good shape and are confident of giving their strong opponents the game of their lives. Burns and Flaherty will do the twirling for Peterborough, each pitching half the game. A special street car service has been arranged for so that the fans need have no hesitation in going to the exhibition grounds to see the contest. The grounds are in good shape for fast baseball and every arrangement will be made for the comfort of those patronizing the game.

Violent Form of Itching Piles

Rev. S. A. Dupraw, Methodist Minister at Belleville, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with itching and bleeding piles for years, and they ultimately attained a very violent form. Large lumps or abscesses gathered and I suffered great pain. A single box of Dr. Chase's Ointment cured me and saved me from a very dangerous and painful operation. The lumps and swellings disappeared and I am an entirely different man.

WEST ENDERS ARE TIED WITH KARNOTS

Race for the Cup Becoming Gradually Hotter—Last Night's Game

The Excelsiors and the West Ends met in an Intermediate League Ball Game on the Oval last night and the result was a win for the westerners by 4 runs to 1. This was the second half of the game. The score in the first half was 4 to 2 in favour of the West Ends, and the total result 8 runs to 3. This leaves the West Ends and Karnots tied for the first honours.

The Lilies and Strathconas did not play last night.

Czar's Guards Mutiny Because of Excessive Discipline.

NEW COMMANDER THE CAUSE

Mutinous Troops Surrounded and Disarmed by Other Soldiers — Done Quietly and Without Bloodshed— Outbreak Was Not Political— Ringleaders Brought Before a Court-Martialed.

St. Petersburg, June 6.—The Fourth Squadron of the Hussars of the Guard, stationed at Tsarskoe-Selo to which the imperial family had removed, revolted yesterday against the strict discipline which recently had been instituted by a new commander.

The trouble for a time threatened to spread through the entire regiment, but the mutinous troops were promptly surrounded and disarmed by other troops and order was restored without bloodshed. The ringleaders have already been turned over to a court-martial.

The news of the mutiny at Tsarskoe-Selo was received during Foreign Minister Iswolsky's weekly reception of the diplomats and caused considerable apprehension, the first news reporting the affair to be far more serious than the revolt of the soldiers of the Preobrajensky Regiment, in June, 1906.

The officers of the Hussar Regiment say that the outbreak was not political.

EARTHQUAKE IN 'FRISCO.

Shocks Also Felt In Ecuador and the Pyrenees.

San Francisco, June 6.—An earthquake shock lasting about 10 seconds was felt here at 12.27 yesterday morning. The oscillation was from the north to south.

No damage has been reported.

In Ecuador.

Guayaquil, Ecuador, June 6.—Two earthquakes were felt here at about 10 o'clock Tuesday night.

The first was slight, and the second, which last 25 seconds, was violent and made many families abandon their houses and remain in the streets for several hours.

In Pyrenees.

Pau, France, June 6.—A slight earthquake was felt in the Oloron region of the lower Pyrenees yesterday. No damage was done.

JAPS WILL SUE CITY.

Suit To Be Entered Against 'Frisco as a Result of Outrages.

Washington, June 6.—The Japanese trouble in San Francisco probably will be settled by a recourse to the law.

Information has been received here to the effect that the Japanese consul-general there is contemplating bringing suit against the city for damages incurred by the owners of the Horseshoe Restaurant and the Folsom Bathhouse, from the attack by a mob on May 29 last.

The action, if brought, will be under the state law and in the name of the owners of the places wrecked

DROWNING FATALITY.

Boy Falls Into Pond While Playing With His Sister.

Port Hope, June 6.—Herbert H. Taylor, the two-year-old son of Hirst Taylor, proprietor of the Hope Woollen Mills at Garden Hill, 10 miles north of here, was drowned yesterday afternoon in the stream near the mills. The little fellow was playing around the bank with his sister, when he missed his footing and fell into the pond. The body was promptly recovered, but all efforts to resuscitate it were without avail.

This is the first drowning accident at Garden Hill since it was settled about eighty years ago.

Can't Get Presents Back.

Windsor, June 6.—Judge Clement has decided that George Murray, a young man of this city, had no cause of action against a young woman against whom Murray brought suit to recover $44 worth of presents given her during their courtship, which ended in a quarrel.

The judge held that the girl is under age, and the fact that she wrote a letter, offering a reconciliation at the time of the quarrel was sufficient to show that she was willing to carry out her promise to marry Murray.

Adriatic Given Send-Off.

Southampton, June 6.—The White Star line steamer Adriatic, which sailed from here at about one o'clock yesterday afternoon for New York, on her first western trip from Southampton, was given an enthusiastic send-off.

She took 750 emigrants, who were stranded at French ports, owing to the strike of seamen in France.

OFFENSIVE BONES AND RAGS ARE REMOVED

Mr. Ball, Sanitary Inspector, Paid Mandall Bros. a Visit

Mr. Geo. Ball, Sanitary Inspector, called at this office to-day in reference to a letter written by a Charlotte street resident, as published in Tuesday evening's issue. He stated that before Tuesday he had visited the premises of Mandall Bros., junk dealers, and had instructed them to remove the bones and old rags at once, and they had complied with his wishes. The proprietor said that there would be no repetition of the condition complained of. It is the expressed opinion of the official that old bones and refuse, rags and iron should not be allowed to be collected and deposited within the city's limits.

TEDIOUS JOURNEY OVER-LAND

Traction Engine, With a Freight Train Behind, En Route From Pontypool to Bobcaygeon

This morning at the early hour, of 8 o'clock, a traction engine from Pontypool was an attraction on the market square, and the procession was an unique one.It was headed by the traction engine—with an engineer in charge—coughing and clawing its way through the streets, Next to it was the tender and following this en train was an immense wagon bearing an immense load of household furniture and supplies, and having in tow a cow, whose tail formed the tail of this unusual procession. The bovine conspicuous from its inconspicuous position was the wonderment to the beholders. This outfit, from smokestack to cow's tail, was owned by Mr. Geo. Moffat, of Pontypool. It left Pontypool yesterday and as stated arrived in the city this morning at 8 o'clock—good time for a freight train—and will proceed via Lakefield to Buckhorn, in the vicinity of which Mr. Moffat has acquired timber limits. The traction engine will be used for power to operate the saw-mill outfit in converting the timber into lumber.

This is because they are made from alum or other cheap and inferior ingredients.

MRS. RICHARDS AGAIN PLACED UNDER ARREST

This Time Was Found Drunk in a Public Place—Is Lodged in the Cells

Mrs. Richards, of police court fame, was nabbed by Police Officer Meharry, at the corner of Simcoe and Bethune streets this afternoon. She was in a very drunken condition and looked the worse for a fight or some sort of a mixup as her head was bandaged with a wide white linen cloth. The officer had some fun getting her safely to the police station and she is now resting peacefully on the little wooden bench in one of the cells. She will probably appear in the court to-morrow morning.

When Your Health Fails, What Then

Good health is the capital of persons who earn their livelihood with brain and muscle. Success is for the strong and alert — for those whose blood is rich and whose nerve cells are filled with vigour and energy. It is not pleasant to contemplate what might happen with failing health and for this reason it is well to heed the first symptoms of nervous exhaustion and to keep health at high water mark by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

MINSTREL PRACTICE FOR TO-NIGHT

Everything is in Readiness for the Big Show Next Week

The Minstrel Club will hold another practice to-night and with another rehearsal on Monday will be ready for the big show on Tuesday and Wednesday night of next week. The plan will open on Monday morning and it is certain that the seats will go with a rush. It will be well for those desiring to see the entertainment on the opening night to secure their tickets as early as possible on Monday, as the plan promises to clear quickly.

The entertainment from every standpoint promises to be the best of its kind ever given in Peterborough. With a chorus of thirty-five, the best male vocalists in the city; six funny end men, witty local hits of the 60 laughs a minute variety, new ends songs, beautiful ballads and topical numbers and clever vaudeville turns, the programme will be one of the most entertaining of the season.

For an attack of that tired feeling, try an evening with the Peterborough Minstrels. You will not only be benefitting yourself, but also helping the lacrosse club. The prices are only 25, 35, and 50c., cheaper than staying at home, and quarelling with your wife.

MUST PAY $1000 TO PLAINTIFF

Decision of Trial Judge Was Sustained in Court of Appeal

In Osgoode Hall, yesterday, an important legal decision was given, concerning a case which was tried at the last non-jury sittings of the High Court. Mr. Richmond appealed from a decision given by the trial judge, and upon the appeal being heard it was dismissed, and the decision of the trial judge sustained. The Toronto Globe referring to it, says:

Kendry vs. Richmond. — A. P. Poussette, K.C., for defendant, appealed from judgment of Riddell, J., dated 8th April, 1907. The plaintiff, a factory superintendent, and the defendant a photographer, both resided in Peterborough. In August, 1900, the plaintiff entered into an agreement to sell to the defendant, certain property that plaintiff had been using as a chicken farm. Defendant at once entered into possession, and shortly afterwards found that instead of eight hundred chickens on the farm as represented there were less than five hundred. Defendant thereupon refused to carry out the provisions of the agreement, and went out of possession in the following month. The plaintiff brought this action to recover $1000 damages. At the trial at Peterborough on the 8th of April last judgment was given for the plaintiff for the full amount of claim and costs. D. O'Connell, Peterborough, for plaintiff, opposed appeal. Appeal dismissed with costs.

MR. MENDEL'S WORK IS ADMIRED

Attention is being attracted by the splendid display window of Mr. Louis Mendel, the progressive young George street photographer, who is making himself very prominent by the high grade class of work which he is producing. The showcase contains some excellently produced pictures on beautiful mounts, both of which are being widely admired.

Mr. Mendel's work is such appreciated and certainly merits the favourable criticism being passed upon it.

Cold Weather Seriously Affects Summer Trade

Unless it Becomes Warm Soon, the Result Will, it is Feared, be Disastrous to Many Persons.

LITTLE ACTIVITY AT LAKES

The cold weather if it continues much longer, will prove disastrous to the summer resort business of the Kawartha Lakes region.

When June opened cold, it was hoped that it would only be for a day or two, and that the hot weather would soon be experienced, but as the days passed and the temperature still hovered around the freezing point, anxiety began to be felt, and one of the oldest steamboat men on the lakes, stated to the Examiner yesterday that unless there was a change soon, the summer resorts would feel it seriously; and last year, which was the best in many seasons, would be followed by one as unsatisfactory as that was good.

If June is cold during the whole month the business at the lakes will be very small this year, because, even if July comes in warm, those who have spent that much of the summer in comfort, will not feel inclined to go to much trouble to escape the heat for the remainder of the then short season.

If this expected result is experienced, it will likely prove disastrous for many summer hotel men, who, encouraged by the splendid season in 1906, have spent considerable money enlarging and improving their hotels in the expectation that the profits on this season's business would help to meet the extra expense.

So far as Stony Lake is concerned, there is very little activity being experienced so far; a few of the more courageous cottagers have already arrived, and are making arrangements to spend at least a portion of the summer at the lake, but there are not many, and unless the weather becomes much warmer during the next few weeks there will be many empty cottages at Stony Lake this summer.

An Old Resident Of The City Has Passed Away

After a Short Illness Mr. P. Simons Died This Morning From Pneumonia — Deceased Was Life Resident of Peterborough.

MANY YEARS IN BUSINESS

One of the oldest, most respected and most capable in his business of the citizens of Peterborough, passed away early this morning in the person of Mr. Peter Simons Sr., who, after a very short illness, from pneumonia, died at his residence, 331 Rubidge street. To the majority of the city's residents the news of the death of Mr. Simons will come with a shock of surprise, because few knew that he was so seriously ill, and, in fact it was only yesterday morning that the members of his family and the attending physician considered his condition alarming. He was at work on Monday, though he was suffering from what he thought to be a slight cold. He went home during the day, and took to his bed, and never recovered.

In Peterborough there were few better known men than the late Mr. Simons; he was born here 63 years ago, and lived in Peterborough as a town and a city ever since. Not only was he well known, but he was universally respected. He had been associated with the business interests of Peterborough for a period approaching half a century, having been cutter for Mr. Fairweather and Mr. Dolan for a number of years prior to going into business for himself, which he did fourteen years ago. The late Mr. Simons was one of the best workmen in his particular trade in Peterborough, and his success is attributable to his skill and industry, and to his good business judgment, and invariable geniality and courtesy.

The deceased was a son of the late Peter Simons, and, as has been stated, was born here, and has lived here ever since. He was married to Miss Boyle, of Ennismore, a daughter of the late Daniel Boyle, and to them were born nine children, eight of whom are still living, four sons and four daughters. The sons are, Peter, of this city, who has been in business with his father; Daniel, of Boston; Richard, of Altoona, Pa.; and James, at home, and the daughters, Mrs. Fred Shannon, Annie and Nellie, at home and Lily, a trained nurse in Cananjiagua, N.Y. The late Mrs. Elric White was also a daughter.

He had one brother, John, of Toronto, foreman painter in the Queen street Asylum, and two sisters, Mrs. Justus B. Dunn and Mrs. Thos. Kelly, both of this city.

The deceased was a member of the C.M.B.A., and under the auspices of this society the funeral will be held on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, from his late residence, 331 Rubidge street, to St. Peter's Cathedral, and to the Roman Catholic Cemetery, where interment will take place.

Objection Taken To The Appointment Of Assistant

Important Matter to be Discussed at Next Meeting of the Synod in Toronto of Anglican Church.

A CO-ADJUTOR WANTED

The Synod of Toronto of the Anglican Church will meet next Tuesday in Toronto. The question of assistance to His Grace the Archbishop will occupy a prominent part in the business of the Synod, and every indication points to the election of a co-adjutor. The report of appointing Bishop Reeves of Athabaska as assistant to the archbishop, is meeting with strong opposition from clergy and laity, who believe that such an important matter should be decided by a proper vote of Synod.

The suggestion to appoint Bishop Reeves as the bishop's assistant is not the action of the Synod, but is simply a recommendation sent in by the Executive Committee.

Parents Should Keep Girls Off The Streets

Shocking State of Affairs Said to be Existing in Peterborough—Remedy Rests With the Mothers

THE PULPIT SHOULD ACT

Complaints are reaching the Children's Aid Society, the Police Magistrate and the Chief of Police, that there exists in this city a shocking state of depravity on the part of little girls, especially. They are met on the streets in company with boys, and the language, in many cases, of the girls, and their conduct, is such to leave but little doubt that they are utterly degraded.

Stronger proof than this is not wanting. It has become an evil of such magnitude that it is under serious consideration, but the difficulty is to provide a remedy. It has been suggested that there should be more policemen on the streets, and the places where the boys and girls congregate, but the difficulty is that it would take too many policemen, and in this case an officer in buttons is all but useless.

The facts are there; and to reach the cause, and abate it, is the matter to be dealt with. The criminal law hardly meets the case. The curfew law was intended to meet just such conditions. It is in force in Peterborough, but it is not enforced. The bell does not ring, and it is not acted on, because it would take scores of policemen to arrest the children found on the streets and bring them to their homes, etc.

The conclusion arrived at, is that the responsibility for this condition of things is with the parents. Any mother who will allow her girl out on the streets at night cannot but realize that she is endangering the moral life of her child. The remedy is with the mothers. There are some homes in the city that are disreputable and parents oblivious to their duty, nevertheless there is rarely a case of a mother that wants to see her child go to destruction; and it cannot be too much enjoined upon them that they must keep their girls in at night, or else reap the sorrow, the result of their indifference.

The legal authorities in Toronto, are being consulted, and serious consideration is being given to this matter, and it is decided that as strong action as it is possible to take will be taken to stop the evil, which is presenting itself to respectable citizens in such coarseness of conduct as to be shocking.

The pulpit is called upon to enjoin upon the parents their duty, to insist that their children, especially girls, shall not be allowed on the streets at night.

WEDDING BELLS.

BELL-ROBINSON

The Toronto Star of last night had the following report of the wedding of Mr. Garnet Bell, formerly of this city, and still well-known here:

At eight o'clock last night at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Robinson, the marriage was solemnized of their daughter, Miss Alice Maud Robinson, to Mr. Garnet Summer Bell, of the Bank of Montreal, son of Dr. R. W. Bell and Mrs. Bell, of Toronto.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Broughall of St. Stephen's church, in the bow window of the drawing room, which was banked with palms and flowers. The bride, who was brought in and given away by her father, wore a gown of ivory Liberty satin, seeded with pearls and berthe of handmade lace, the gift of the groom's mother. Her tulle veil was arranged over a wreath of orange blossoms, and she carried a bridal bouquet of white roses. She was attended by Miss Florence Bell, the sister of the groom, carrying a shower of lilies of the valley. Mr. Norman Bell, brother of the groom, was best man. Miss Marjorie Fitzgibbon played the wedding march, and during the service, Miss Gertrude Morrow sang "For all Eternity."

Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Bell left to spend their honeymoon in Montreal and Quebec, the bride travelling in golden brown voile, with hands of brown velvet, brown hat, adorned with lace and roses. The groom's gift to the bride was a triple diamond ring, to the bridesmaid pearl necklet, and to the best man gold cuff links.

CAUSE AND EFFECT

A gentleman connected with street crossing work called at the Examiner office to demand the name of the writer of a post card communication which appeared in a recent issue. This communication referred to the wretched work done on the crossing on Water street from the post office to the Crown Hotel building. He considered that the statements made injured his reputation as a workman, ignoring the fact that the work itself is stronger than any letter statement, as shown by the fact that the Board of Works dispensed with the services of the street crossing gang of which he was in charge. But there is something more serious in this matter, which throws a flood of light on the causes that contribute to the unsatisfactory state of our streets and the work in connection with them. It is understood that the City Engineer resents the references in the post card letter to himself in connection with the crossing. It is stated that he is not responsible, that the workmen who did the crooked mechanical work on the Water street crossing was retained, by some influence higher up, a week after the Engineer reported that his work was not satisfactory. The Examiner is informed that the City Engineer claims that he is not responsible for the wonderful pavement grades to be found throughout the city; that the chairman or members of the Board of Works and others interfere, change the grades, levels and lines he has adopted. In this event it comes about that too many cooks spoil the broth, and that nobody is responsible for undesirable work.

This intolerable condition of affairs, naturally accounts for conditions which we all deplore, and besides emphasizes the evil consequences arising from the utter lack of system which obtains in the management of our street work. If the Engineer is interfered with and overborne by others, he cannot be held responsible for bad or ineffective work, except to the extent that he is at fault in not asserting his position and in accepting changes which are contrary to his judgment, as an expert. What is the use of employing an engineer, if aldermen, who have no knowledge—from training or experience—of what they meddle with, take it upon themselves to know more than he does? What is the use of employing an engineer, if he is set aside and aldermanic amateurs do his work and he gets the blame from the public and taxpayers who certainly have a right to protest when their money is wasted? Plainly there is fault in both cases. The aldermen are at fault in overbearing the engineer and he is to blame for allowing himself to be over-borne. He should stand upon his rights and assert his position.

In default of this we have an untenable state of things. Nobody is responsible. The Engineer can fall back on the Board of Works or others, and the responsibility is so divided in the latter case, so easy to be shifted from one to another, that, in the end, no single individual or authority can be found to be brought to account.

It does not need much wisdom to see that a state of things like this forbids any hope that our street work will be satisfactorily performed. What is wanted is some system, and until a system is adopted we shall continue to have hap-hazard work and such results as we see around us every day. Some thoughtful ratepayers say that a system could not be applied to our streets with a Board of Works changing every year, and they, in their despair of better results, and disgust with existing conditions, propose putting the streets of the city and all connected with them under a Commission similar to that in charge of the Waterworks.

There can be no evading the conviction that something must be done. We are going from bad to worse in the matter of streets. A former resident, who returned to the city after several years' absence, says that the streets of the city are worse than they were ten years ago. Peterborough is worthy of better streets. We are ahead of every other minor city in all other respects. We lead the Dominion in growth of production of manufactured products, our increase being from three millions odd in 1901 to eleven millions odd in 1906. Outsiders look to a city that can make a record like that to even up the record in other respects. But our streets! We have the most desirable natural site, and are surrounded with the finest water scenery of any place in Ontario. We have the best-treed streets in the country; we have, generally, the best class of shops and the best class of residence buildings. But our streets! We are something like Daniel's image—a body of gold and silver and brass and iron, but feet of clay—streets of mud. We spend enough money upon them, or bury enough money in them, to have them good, but, from lack of system, the money spent is largely wasted.

A CORRECTION

A prominent legal gentleman entered the Examiner office this morning and entered an appeal against a decision contained in an Ottawa despatch to the Examiner, which claimed that Peterborough was seventh in the list of Canadian cities in the matter of value volume of manufactured products. The legal gentleman asserted that the despatch was in error, that Peterborough stands sixth. A reference to a more detailed statement, which is reproduced on this page, shows that the learned counsel's point is well taken. On the Examiner undertaking to correct the mistake, the legal gentleman graciously agreed to enter a nolle prosequi on a charge of libelling the city. Reference to the tables elsewhere will show that Peterborough is not only sixth in the matter of volume of industrial products, but her rate of increase has not been equalled in one case. In the five years from 1901 to 1906, the industrial products of Peterborough increased from $3,789,164 to $11,388,045, an increase of $7,698,881, or an average of $1,539,776.22 per year. It is also to be noted that Peterborough leads considerably more [illegible] cities — Ottawa, Brantford, Halifax, St. John, Kingston, etc. The proud position thus achieved by Peterborough, which indicates the magnitude and importance of our industries, is an incentive to greater effort to increase our manufacturing establishments.

A STORY OF PROGRESS

The bulletin recently issued by the Census Department, Ottawa, deals with the statistics relating to the output of the manufacturing industries of the Dominion, as shown by the census of 1906, and as compared with the values of 1901. During the five years, the value of manufactured products in Canada has almost doubled. From $481,055,375 19011, the value is $712,664,835 in 1906, or an increase of $231,611,460. The details by provinces for works employing five persons and over, are:

| | 1901. | 1906. |
|---|---|---|
| *Canada | $481,055,75 | $712,664,985 |
| Brit. Columbia | 19,447,778 | 38,018,515 |

| Guelph | 3,498,183 | 4,814,925 |
| Kingston | 2,405,173 | 4,329,607 |

It will be noted that of all the cities of the Dominion, in the older and longer-settled portions of the country, Peterborough has made the greatest jump in the value of manufactured products, from three million-odd, to eleven million odd, except Sydney, Nova Scotia, which has increased its output from $600,000 to $4,000,000, a more than five fold increase. This was of course due to the development of the steel and coal industry. The steel industry also largely accounted for the great boom the "Soo" has enjoyed, it having enjoyed an increase in five years from two and a quarter millions to five and a quarter millions. The wonderful increase in the manufactured products of Vancouver, B. C. — from $499,000 to ten millions, nearly two millions a year — is a subject for congratulation, for it demonstrates the tremendous potentialities of the western end of the Dominion. This gratifying increase in the manufactured products of the country, has been achieved in the face of the forebodings uttered by prominent Conservatives, when the Liberals entered power ten years ago — "the country would speedily be ruined." The strong arm of the National Policy, invented by the Conservatives for the very benefit of the manufacturing industries would, they said, under the administration of the "Grits," be paralysed. Every one rejoices that the political raven croaked crookedly; that the very reverse has happened. The Liberal Government substituted a National Policy for the "National Policy," with magnificently fruitful results. In the past ten years Canada has leaped from leading strings into nationhood. History affords no parallel, in any country, or at any period, to the successful administration of public affairs, by the Liberal Government of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Zutoo

Some people think that all headache cures are alike—that they all undermine the health, even if not perceived at the time of taking them.

Well, we'll admit that the drug cures do this, but that is no reason why you should not take Zutoo.

Zutoo is a harmless vegetable remedy. One ingredient is soda—just old-fashioned soda that our grandmothers used to take to settle the stomach, when they had sick headache. And there is nothing better.

The principal ingredient—the one that stops the headache, is a vegetable ingredient, imported for us from Japan. It wont hurt you any more than will the soda.

There is absolutely no reason why you should not use Zutoo.

If you suffer from headache there is every reason why you should.

Taken in time, two tablets will ward off a headache. Taken later, they will stop it in twenty minutes, and leave you feeling good every time.

If you are using a drug remedy, why not discard it?

Zutoo will cure just as quickly and will save you the penalty, that all must sometime pay, who take the drugs which these cures contain.

If you will give Zutoo one trial, you will never take any other headache remedy ago n.

Eighteenth Outing Of The Olympic Club Was Enjoyed

A Delightful Trip Around the Kawartha Lakes, from Lakefield to Lindsay, Taken Yesterday.

A BUSINESS MEN'S TRIP

"In all the world no trip like this," applies in a double sense to the Olympic Excursion. In the first place it is a gathering of congenial spirits which takes place but once a year, and, in respect to the trip this year, it is particularly applicable because of the route taken. It is doubtful if in Ontario, beautiful as is the scenery in many parts, there is a stretch of water so picturesquely situated as that upon which the annual excursion of the Olympic excursion was taken yesterday. The route chosen was a complete tour of the Kawartha Lakes, starting at Lakefield and finishing the water end of the trip at Lindsay, a delightful sail of sixty-five miles through, without a doubt, the most picturesque scenery in Ontario, if not in the Dominion.

To many of the seventy-five men who took the trip yesterday the route was entirely new—indeed there are very few persons in the city who have taken the round trip of the lakes, but it is predicted that after the delights of the outing yesterday have been described with varying eloquence by those who participated in it, it will become very popular with Peterborough citizens.

The attendance at the eighteenth annual outing of the Olympic Club, the only organization of its kind in existence, was not quite as large as it would have been doubtless, had the weather been more agreeable, many of the faces which had grown familiar on these trips being missing yesterday. There were, however, about seventy on board the steamer Stoney Lake, when she left her moorings at the Lakefield wharf, and there was no doubt as to the enjoyment of the members of the party; from the moment the trip commenced until the finish at Lindsay, there was always something doing, and no dull moments were allowed on this outing.

It is doubtful, if in Canada it is possible to sail, in sixty-five miles, through a greater numbe of lakes and rivers than were traversed yesterday by the Olympics. Commencing at Lakefield, the beautiful Lake Katchewanoonka is entered, and, after making the ascent of the locks at Young's Point, the steamer sails for more than half an hour through Clear Lake, before entering the famed Stony Lake. Only one call was made in Stony Lake yesterday, at Mr. A. L. Davis' new cottage, where Mr. R. G. Sturgeon was taken aboard. Cutting across Stony Lake the double locks at Burleigh Falls were negotiated, and during the time occupied in locking through the passengers paid their respects to the proprietor of the new Burleigh Hotel, one of the most popular summer resorts on the lakes. After a short but pleasant sail through Lovesick Lake and passing through the lock at Lovesick, Deer Bay is entered and Big Buckhorn Lake, the party remaining at Buckhorn for dinner. Mr. Eastwood had made ample preparations for the reception of his guests, and a dinner which would have done credit to much more pretentious hostelories, was served. After remaining at Buckhorn about an hour the steamer was again boarded and the journey continued through Little Buckhorn Lake, past Gannon's Narrows, and into Pigeon Lake, to Bobcaygeon, where, while lockage was being made, the passengers again disembarked, and spent a few minutes, the citizens, many of whom were acquainted with members of the party, holding an impromptu reception. The sail was continued down Sturgeon Lake and through the Scugog River, to Lindsay, which was reached about seven-thirty, and here the boat trip ended. Supper in the Simpson and Benson House was provided, and the party reached home on the Flyer, after having voted the day a most delightful one, in spite of the depressing external circumstances.

Captain Scollard of the steamer Stoney Lake is the same genial friend of the Olympics, and during the trip the majority of the passengers paid their respects to him in the wheelhouse. The purser, Mr. Frank Young, is the same jovial "Jerry," and his efforts to do everything which would conduce to the comfort and pleasure of his passengers, was cheerfully done.

It was expected that a party of railway men, who usually take this trip, and enjoy it, they state, more than any other trip of the year, would have been participants in the outing, as well as some of the officials of the Bell Telephone Company, who were expected in the city in time to take the trip.

Mr. A. C. Turpin, of Buffalo, travelling freight and passenger agent for the Rock Island System, was one of the outsiders on the trip, but though so far as residence is concerned he may have been an outsider, he was no outsider when it came to joining in the pleasures of the outing, which was made doubly enjoyable by the geniality which pervaded the whole company.

Mr. Lech, who for eighteen years has guided the destinies of the Olympic Club, was a busy man yesterday, and his efforts to give everybody a good time was crowned with success, for, in spite of the weather conditions, which were not of the most pleasant, the day was thoroughly enjoyed the excursion of 1907 passes into history as one of the most thoroughly enjoyable days in the memory of those who participated in it.

During the day Mr Robert Chambers was in charge of a large phonograph on board the steamer, and musical numbers were dispensed.

Mr. and Mrs. Webster Presented With Morris Chairs Before Leaving For Norwood

Examiner Special.

Norwood, June 6.—On Tuesday evening, June 4, about fifty of the friends and neighbours of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Webster, of the township of Asphodel, met at their home to spend a social evening with them before taking up residence in Norwood. During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Webster were presented with two Morris chairs, accompanied by the following address:

To Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Webster,

Dear Friends and Neighbours—It is with feelings akin to sadness that your friends of this neighbourhood have assembled to-night to say goodbye as you remove from our midst and the farm, which has been your home for so many years, and around which have gathered associations most tender and abiding. Our sadness is, in a measure, brightened by the knowledge that your removal to the village of Norwood will still give us opportunity of meeting and greeting you. The parting with those who have lived long in a community and have touched its life at many points cannot but be felt, and felt keenly. Kindly and obliging in all your dealings with us, you have won that most worthy title, "good neighbours"; industrious, public-spirited, ever seeking the highest good of this neighbourhood, you have been ever respected as good citizens; exemplary in your daily life and walk, supporting those great moral and spiritual interests which lie at the basis of good society, you have been helpful to us all and loyal to that Master Whom we love and serve.

We ask your acceptance of these Morris chairs as a small reminder in the days to come, of the large place you hold in our confidence, as well as the high degree of respect with which we regard you. Be assured that our very best wishes will follow you to your new home, where all the solid comfort which these chairs may afford may be fully enjoyed by you along with every comfort and blessing which our Heavenly Father may grant you.

Signed, on behalf of your friends and neighbours,

WM. SANDERSON,
DAVID BROOKS.

Asphodel, June 4, 1907.

Mr. and Mrs. Webster, who were completely taken by surprise, thanked their neighbours one and all for the kindness shown them.

TO COMMENCE WORK ON THE BRIDGE

Messrs. Conroy and Sons to Start on New Buckhorn Dam and Bridge on Monday

Work will, it is expected, be commenced next week on the construction of the new bridge and dam at Buckhorn, by Messrs. Conroy & Sons, who have secured the contract for the work. The new bridge and dam will be built just below the present structure, and, according to the plans, the concrete piers will project somewhat into the bridge at present there.

To those who have to use this bridge, it will be very welcome news that work on the construction of the new structue will be commenced soon. For some time it has been recognized that the present bridge and dam could not be expected to do service much longer, and the action of the Government in deciding to build a concrete dam is being very warmly commended.

It is expected that work will be pushed as rapidly as possible on the construction, and that by fall good progress towards its completion will have been made.

Thirty-Five Cigarettes Was This Boy's Daily Smoke

Herbert Secrest Started to Smoke When Nine Years of Age—Died as a Result in His Sixteenth Year —A Pathetic Story of a Boy's Ruined Life.

THE DEADLY NICOTINE

A gentleman interested in the welfare of the youg, and conscious of the disastrous effects of cigarette smoking, has received the following clipping from a recent issue of the Detroit Free Press from a friend in Lindsay, who was acquainted with the parents of the boy whose life family is a respectable one and well-known to this gentleman. The article is as follows:

Pitiful beyond the power of words to express in the short, but remarkable life story of 16-year-old Herbert Secrest, who will be buried this afternoon at 2 o'clock in Woodmere Cemetery, a victim according to his own death-bed statement, of over indulgence in the deathly cigarette.

Brighter by far than the average boy of his age, Herbert progressed rapidly in his studies at the Cheney school until he was 14 years old, skipping whole semesters of work until he had passed his sister, Nellie, who was two years his senior and who started to school nearly two years ahead of him.

His physical growth was normal, and his health seemed excellent, but suddenly his growth stopped, and though he studied hard he became unable to master his lessons. His sister Nellie overtook and passed him. The lad became listless and dull, and finally developed a real dislike for school, though he had previously put his whole heart into his books.

Father Was Puzzled

His father, Austin Secrest, who manages Hammond, Standish & Co's ice plant, and resides at 146 Artillery avenue, was at a loss to explain the sudden change in his boy. Occasionally he heard neighbourhood rumours to the effect that the boy was a cigarette fiend, but on each of these occasions the father's accusations would be met by a direct denial from Herbert.

But last Saturday morning, Herbert's steady decline resolved itself into a critical illness, and he was unable to rise from his bed. To Dr. A. B. Wickham, of 151 Dragoon avenue, who attended him, the little sufferer whispered, "It's cigarettes, doctor. I've been smoking them for seven years; since I was 9 years old. The folks never knew, but everyone will know now. Sometimes I smoked thirty or thirty-five a day for days at a time. The highest number I ever remember smoking was forty-three in one day."

The lad grew steadily worse, and shortly before his death, which occurred Sunday afternoon, he said to the doctor and to the heart-broken members of his family who stood at his bedside, "Oh, I wish that God would let me live just long enough to save a hundred cigarette fiends. I would like to save more, but I know that I haven't long to live."

Wanted to Save Others

To his father, he remarked, pathetically, "I'm just like an elevator whose cable has been carelessly cut, letting it down, down until it falls with a crash at the bottom of the shaft. I know that I've had the chances to rise, and now I want to live, only to show the other boys the way they are dropping, dropping, if they smoke those cigarettes."

Herbert was the oldest of four sons, but last summer, when his illness first became apparent, he weighed only about 73 pounds, and his father recalled that he had not grown any for some time. The sister, Nellie, who had been shorter than he, went past him in stature, exceeding his height by several inches.

Last November, after trying in vain to get Herbert to attend school, and failing in that, to induce him to apply himself to some work, Mr. Secrest sent him out to the big farm of his uncle in Canada. Mr. Secrest believes that Herbert took cigarettes with him but ran out of his supply and was unable to obtain more. The boy showed no change the first month, but in December he commenced to grow, adding six inches to his height between December and February, says his father. When he returned to his Detroit home he surprised the family by his improved looks and actions.

Went Back to the Habit

But he went right back to the habit, and when Mr. Secrest noticed the old apathy seizing the boy, he sent him back to the farm. Herbert with the desire for cigarettes, refused to stay on the farm. He returned a month ago, and had since showed but little interest in anything. He admitted on his death bed, that he had done little but smoke.

Just before he died, he called his younger brother, Frank, who will be 13 years old this month.

"Frank, I want you to promise to stop smoking them, and to try and get the other boys to stop."

Little Frank sobbing, gave his promise.

This was the first knowledge that Mr. Secrest had that Frank was also smoking.

Mr. Secrest is a vestryman of the Fort Wayne Presbyterian church, where the funeral will be held. Chaplain George Jones, who always showed a marked fondness for Herbert, will officiate in the absence of the regular pastor.

Gives Information Gladly

"All of this publicity is distasteful to me," said Mr. Secrest, but if it will be the means of saving some other boys from a fate like Herbert's, would gladly give all of the information I have."

Dr. Wickman, assisted by Dr. Jas. E. Davis and Dr. H. Wellington Yates, made a post mortem examination of the body shortly after death. They found one side of the heart practically gone, and the organ was twice its normal size, with the muscles badly degenerated.

All day Tuesday throngs of young boy and girl playmates of the Secrest lad filled the house, and many a silent pledge was taken over the little fellow's casket.

"Herbert wanted to live to save a hundred boys from the habit," said a grief-stricken relative. "I hope that his death will save a hundred times that many."

RECEPTION A GREAT SUCCESS

Those Taking Part in Queen Zephra Were Entertained Last Night

A VERY ENJOYABLE DANCE

The reception and dance given by Mr. H. J. Booth and the members of the 57th Band to the young people of this city who took part in the recent production of Queen Zephra, in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, last night, was a most enjoyable and successful affair. The majority of those appearing in Zephra were present, with a number of other invited guests, and the evening was most pleasantly spent. Mr. Booth was unable to be present owing to illness in his family, and his absence was regretted by everyone, but Mr. Gilddon and the members of the band exerted every effort to make the occasion an enjoyable one for those present, and they succeeded admirably.

A brief but enjoyable programme was rendered before dancing commenced. It consisted of a piano solo by Miss Kate Graham, rendered in her usual faultless manner; a vocal solo in good voice by Mr. J. Watt, a solo dance by Miss Jessie Spence, in which that talented little lady achieved the same success as in the presentation of Zephra, and a dance by the Blackbirds, one of the prettiest features of the spectacle. The young people are to be congratulated upon the manner in which they performed the latter without having practised the steps for weeks.

At the conclusion of the programme dancing commenced, and was brought to a close at 12 o'clock. Following is the dance order, the dances being named after some of the features of Zephra:

Grand March—White Hussars.
Waltz—The Graces.
Two Step—Rose Buds.
Lancers—Maje Chorus.
Waltz—Castanets.
Three Step—Miss Commodore.
Intermission.
Paul Jones—Normandy Peasants.
Two Step—Blackbirds.
Waltz—Karama.
Three Step—Our Chaperones.
Two Step—Our Cast.
Waltz—Good Night Dance.

At 11 o'clock delightful refreshments were served, Mr. Hooper catering for the occasion.

In the afternoon the little folks were pleasantly entertained in games, etc., and afterwards at supper. It was a very busy two hours for the little ones.

Editor Post-Card Column.

Dear Sir,—I notice that the 57th Regiment will hold a church parade on Sunday afternoon, but failing to see any mention of the battary forces. I decided to write and ask you the reason. In Toronto the militia forces unite in the church parade. Is it possible that the battery has not been given an invitation to participate with the infantry?

Yours truly,
LANYARD.

Mrs. Ed. Ferguson Found "Not Guilty" Of Child Abandonment

Woman Left Her Child With Neighbours, Ran Away and the Crown Decided That She Had Not Broke Any Civil Law---Mr. Dumble Not of That Opinion Mr. F. D. Kerr Appeared for Defence

A loophole in the law allowed Mrs. Ed. Ferguson (nee Laura Gillespie), who was charged with having wilfully abandoned her child on September 17, 1906, to leave the court a free woman this morning. The particular clause is about as follows: "Anyone is guilty of an indictable offence, and liable to three years' imprisonment, who wilfully abandons a child whereby its life is endangered or its health permanently injured." Mr. F. D. Kerr, who appeared for the accused, stated that his client had not violated this law; in fact, the child was placed in a better home where it received the best of treatment.

Mr. Dumble remarked: "Then it is no longer an offence to drop a child at a door step or on the street, and run away. Any woman can leave it at a front door, ring the bell, and go unpunished."

The Evidence

Mr. Kerr, counsel for defence, elected to be tried by a jury, and the preliminary hearing was proceeded with.

Mrs. Annie Loucks was sworn and stated that she was not acquainted with Mrs. Ferguson and did not know her. On the 17th of September she returned home about 6 o'clock and found her daughter in care of the same baby of the accused. Witness kept it for two weeks, when Mr. Cochrane called and the baby was adopted by Mrs. Cook of Harwood. Before that, witness went to Mrs. Levis' home, where prisoner was staying, and asked her to take the baby back. She declined, and Mrs. Levis said she would rave her put away from the door if she would not go.

Miss Annie Loucks, daughter of the former witness, said that she called at a friend's house and Mrs. Ferguson came along with her baby, which was in a poor condition, poorly dressed and neglected looking. She said she wanted someone to adopt it. She said she had no means of supporting it and her husband had left her. She pretended that she was married. Witness said she felt sorry for the poor child and promised to care for it for three days while the mother worked. She said she could not get work while having to care for the baby. The mother then washed the boy, brought several dresses and left, but when the three days were up she did not return.

Arguments

This concluded the evidence, and Mr. Kerr interpreted the law, saying that it did not cover the case just presented.

His Worship was not of that opinion and held that the woman did not know what was to become of the child.

Mr. R. E. Wood, representative of the Crown, said that he agreed with the counsel for the defence in the interpretation of the clause that covered the case.

Mr. Dumble replied that the responsibility fell upon the Crown and his word was final.

The charge was then dismissed and James Ferguson had his money returned to him. He had given $200 bail for his brother's wife.

Lack Of Interest Among Young People Deplored

Bay of Quinte Methodist Conference Reports That Number of Young People is Decreasing.

A LAMENTED CONDITION

Examiner Special.

Bowmanville, June 7.—In the Bay of Quinte Conference yesterday some disconcerting figures were given, relating to the decrease in the number of young people associated with the work of the church.

A surprise was given by the reading of the report of the Statistical Committee, which shows the results of the Church and the Sunday school work during the past year. According to its figures, there has been an exceptionally large decrease in the membership of churches, Sunday schools and Young People's Societies. When these facts were announced, Rev. S. Bartlett took the floor, and said that the report was a matter of deep regret to the Church. He could not believe that there had been such a falling off in the number of Sunday school attendants within twelve months, and moved that the report be sent to the Sunday School Committee to investigate and bring in some explanation.

This motion prompted several to speak, and for some time the different decreases were discussed. The principal figures given by the Statistical Committee show the following for the Conference:—Number of members in Church, 39,701, a decrease of 652; total Sunday School force, 37,612, a decrease of 1,295; membership of Young People's Societies, 8,346, a decrease of 453.

HORSE AND MILK WAGON UPTURNED

And Many Citizens Were Minus Their Daily Supply

Milk flowed freely into the ditch on Rink street this morning just at the point where it intersects the G. T.R. tracks, and for a few minutes the driver of a milk wagon was in quite a quandary to know just the best thing to do. His horse soared at the incoming 8.30 train from Port Hope, and the driver, in an effort to prevent it from crossing the track, the wagon was overturned, spilling the precious white fluid, which soon found its way into the ditch by the roadside.

To prevent the horse from getting away, the driver caught it by the head and overturned it also. The singular accident attracted a long phalanx of youths to the scene, who rather complicated matters. There were many citizens who were forced to go without the delicioy to-day.

KIDNEY DISEASE
COMES ON QUIETLY

Perhaps no other organs work harder than the kidneys to preserve the general health of the body and most people are troubled with some form of Kidney Complaint, but do not suspect it. It may have been in the system for some time. There may have been backaches, swelling of the feet and ankles, disturbances of the urinary organs, such as, brick dust deposit in the urine, highly colored scanty or cloudy urine, bladder pains, frequent or supressed urination, burning sensation when urinating, etc.

Do not neglect any of these symptoms, for, if neglected they will eventually lead to Bright's Disease, Dropsy and Diabetes.

On the first sign of anything wrong
Doan's Kidney Pills
SHOULD BE TAKEN.

They go to the seat of trouble, strengthen the kidneys and help them to filter the blood properly and flush off all the impurities which cause kidney trouble. Mr. Thomas Petty, Massey, Ont., writes: "After I arrived in Canada from New Zealand, a couple of years ago, I suffered very much from kidney trouble. I tried several remedies, but they did me no good. Finally my back became so lame I could scarcely work. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills and after taking them I felt like a new man.

Price 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

Small Catch This Year.

Halifax, June 7.—A wireless telegram from Prospect, near the mouth of Halifax harbor, last night, says: It begins to look now as if the American mackerel fleet would have a very small catch this year. So far, no fish has been taken and the season is two weeks behind. A southwest storm has driven 30 fishing vessels in here for shelter, and many others are in different harbors along the coast.

The cruiser Canada, which has been watching Americans, to prevent them trespassing within territorial waters, is also lying here.

No Trading on Bourse.

Genoa, Italy, June 7.—Trading on the local Bourse was suspended yesterday, owing to the heavy losses involved in the monthly settlement, amounting to about $2,400,000. The suspension of operations on the Bourse was followed by the announcement that the brokers declined to transact any further business, thus creating an exceptional position.

The newspapers are asking the Government to intervene.

Massanogo

A lake, shaped something like a pair of spectacles—rather a pair of lakes joined by a passage some few feet wide—a lake immensely deep in parts, with sunny bathing beaches, perfectly safe along its shores. Beautiful woods all around, full of native life, unspoilt and largely untrodden; and, beetling over the water, just at the bridge of the spectacles, is the grand old rock, the crowning glory of Lake Massanoga. "The Gibraltar of Canada," it has been called, and fitly enough. A mile and more long, hundreds of feet high, rising sheer out of the calm waters of the lake, impressively beautiful by day, positively awe-inspiring in the moonlight, is this great stone mountain. In its shadow nestles Bon Echo Inn, as nearly perfect a summer hotel as one could wish to see. Hotel seems scarcely the word for Bon Echo, so homelike is it—the hotel feeling lasts so longer than it takes our genial host to express his welcome. Canoeing, sailing, rowing, swimming, all may be enjoyed at Massanoga; and down in the depths lurk gamey salmon trout. Massanoga is a resort recently discovered and known to comparatively few Canadians. But for people who want to get near to nature, and yet not get out of touch with civilization, who want to enjoy glorious air, brilliant sunshine, cool waters, and all the fascinations of a primitive region, combined with the comforts of a modern summer resort, Massanoga is the place. The nearest railway station is Kaladar, 150 miles east of Toronto, on the C. P. R. Illustrated folder and full particulars will be gladly mailed upon request by C. B. Foster, district passenger agent, C. P. R., Toronto. 3d

A DISASTROUS HEAD-ON COLLISION

Fatal Accident On the Great Northern At Shawinigan.

TWO RAILWAYMEN KILLED

Special Ran Into Shunting Engine—Both Engines Smashed Up and Cars Badly Damaged—Traffic Blocked for Many Hours — Brakeman Killed Instantaneously—Cause of Accident Is Unknown.

Montreal, June 7.—Further details of the train accident at Shawinigan Junction Wednesday night show that the special train in charge of Conductor Dicare ran into an engine engaged in shunting at Shawinigan Junction yard. Brakeman A. Desjardines was killed instantaneously, and Fireman A. Doyer was so seriously injured that he died shortly after the accident. No details as to the cause of the accident, which will form the subject of an official investigation and a coroner's inquest, have yet come to hand. Engineers of the train, locomotive and shunting engine escaped without hurt. Both engines were smashed up, and several cars were badly damaged. The line was blocked for many hours with the wreckage, but was cleared for traffic this morning. The two men who lost their lives were residents of Montreal.

THREE FIRES AT ONCE.

Incendiaries Try to Destroy the City of Allentown.

Allentown, Pa., June 7.—What was apparently an effort of incendiaries to destroy the City of Allentown occurred here early yesterday when firemen were called almost simultaneously to fight three fires in the business section of the city.

The first fire occurred in the stockhouse of Bitner, Hunsicker and Company, one of the largest dry goods houses in the Lehigh Valley, the second in the Prince Furniture Company building, and the third at the furniture factory of Helfrich, Bohner and Co. An effort was made to draw the firemen from the business section by turning in false alarms from remote residential sections of the city. Total loss was $125,000.

Three arrests on suspicion were made.

Quakers Won First Game In The Lake Shore Town

Cobourg Met Defeat by Score of 2 to 1---Teams Were Evenly Matched but Visitors Were the Better Scorers ---Initial Match in Senior Series of Midland League

The Peterborough senior Quaker football team, proved themselves to be masters of the crack Cobourg eleven last night, on the latter's ground, when they defeated them by the close score of 2 goals to 1. The match was played just as the evened just as the evening twilight was gathering over the lake port town, and was witnessed by over 300 enthusiastic admirers, who claimed the match to be the best exhibition of the soccer game ever seen in Cobourg.

Victoria Park was the scene of the struggle which, from the time the ball was set a-rolling by the first whistle of the referee, was about as exciting as the fans could stand. The grounds are situated on the edge of Lake Ontario, so the game was played to the tune of the breakers on the shore, one of which, unfortunately, bore the rubber aloft on its crest a few hundred yards out into the lake.

The game started off at a pretty fast clip, the first half ending with the Quakers in the lead by one goal. After the turn of the game the Quakers tallied another, and were leading by two up to a few minutes before the final whistle. Cobourg tallied the third and last goal ten minutes before the finish, and the crowd went wild. They were pressing the visitors stakes after that on a number of occasions, but the vigilance of the winners' defence prevented the ball going through to even up the score.

The game was the first in the senior series of the Midland League for the Stratton trophy, which this year lies between the Quakers and Cobourg. The return match will be contested on the Riverside Park, the date of which has not yet been definitely decided.

The Cobourg team is composed of a great bunch of players, who play the senior calibre of football. Every man knows his position well. The defence was especially strong, the two backs, French and Anderson, being six footers, and powerful punters. Notwithstanding this, the Quaker forwards reatedly got behind them for shots on goal. The half backs of the home team were excellent checkers, Barrett being particularly effective. The outside wing men, Payton and Butters, were the pick of the forward line, both of whom placed some pretty kicks in front of goal. Meakins in goal was kept busy warding off shots from not only the forwards but the half back men. The only goal for Cobourg was gotten by Anderson, their lanky back, who made a rush down the field and tallied with a long shot which fooled McFadden. Anderson also booted the pigskin out into Lake Ontario, delaying the game about ten minutes until three men in a boat rowed out a distance of several hundred yards and recaptured the floating leather.

The whole Quaker team put up a fine article of football, but were kept going at a good pace to win by the narrow margin of one goal. McFadden had several shots to stop, but these were easily taken in hand except the one that evaded him. Evans and Doris played in their old time form and were always in the right spot at the proper time. Their punting was a puzzle to the attacking forwards and a feature of the game. With Deforge, Fitzgerald and Ray Best playing half, the Quaker defence could not be improved on. Archibald and Baker held down right wing with ease by playing great combination and by several spectacular plays made some pretty runs down the wing. Hagley and Crough were equally as effective on the opposite wing. Crough scored the second goal for the Quakers on a sensational rush, by which he beat out "General" French, the big captain of the Cobourg team. Huston played centre, and together with Fitzgerald, was responsible for the first goal.

Mr. M. Sherin of Omemee refereed satisfactorily to both teams. The chief offence was tripping, and several free kicks were allowed, with the Quakers suffering the most in this respect.

The Quakers left Peterborough yesterday on the noon train amid a heavy shower of rain and returned home this morning. The weather brightened up afterwards, however, and the evening twilight was rather ideal weather for the game.

The teams lined up as follows:—

| Cobourg— | Quakers. |
|---|---|
| Goal. | |
| Meakins | McFadden |
| Backs. | |
| French (Capt.) | Evans |
| Anderson | Doris |
| Half-Backs. | |

| Robinson | Deforge |
| Forwards. | |
| Butters | Baker |
| Van Someren | Archibald |
| Bently | Huston |
| Carey | Crough (Capt.) |
| Payton | Hagley |

Referee—M. Sherin, Omemee.
Umpires—Corkery, Hutchins.

HAD THIRTY-TWO BOILS AT ONE TIME

Two Bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters Cured Him.

Imperfect organic action makes bad blood, so, too, bad blood, in turn, makes imperfect action of every bodily organ. If the blood becomes impure, poisoned or contaminated in any way from constipation, biliousness or any other cause, some especially weak organ must soon become diseased thereby, or the whole system may suffer in consequence.

Pimples, boils, blotches, ulcers, festering sores, abscesses, tumors, rashes or some serious and perhaps incurable blood disease may result. There is no medicine on the market to-day to equal the old and well-known remedy, for all cases of bad blood.

Mr. Ernest B. Tupper, Round Hill, N.S., says: "I think Burdock Blood Bitters a great medicine for boils. I had them so bad I could not work. I had thirty-two on my back at one time. I used only two bottles of B.B.B. and they completely cured me. I cannot recommend it too highly." Price $1.00 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $5.00.

MEETING OF INTERMEDIATE LEAGUE MONDAY NIGHT

Manager Campbell Has Entered a Protest on Last Night's Game

President Lang of the Intermediate Baseball League has received a protest from Manager Campbell of the Lilies claiming that the run scored by Hillier last night should count. A meeting of the League is called for at eight p.m., on Monday at the Y.M.C.A. to deal with the matter.

To-morrow the Karnots and Excelsiors will meet on the oval in the afternoon. A win for the Excelsiors will mean considerable for the other teams and if the Karnots come out first they will again lead.

CRICKET CLUB GOES TO PORT HOPE TO-NIGHT

Play the T. C. S. There To-morrow—Lakefield Plays Junior Team

The Peterborough Senior Cricket Club will send a team to Port Hope to-night to play the first team of the T. C. S. to-morrow, morning and afternoon. The following players are requested to meet at the G.T.R. station to-night at 9 o'clock: Messrs. Hill, Clarkson, Hall, Wood, Moore, Cameron, Roe, Clarke, Brittain, Jones and Dela Fosse.

The junior cricket team of the Peterborough Club will play the Lakefield Preparatory School on the oval to-morrow morning and afternoon. Lunch will be served on the grounds.

FOOTBALL

The following Quaker players will meet at the G.T.R. station to-morrow evening at 5.30 sharp to go to Lindsay for the game against Omemee:—Lang, Sullivan, Scrimshaw, Deforge, Dingman, Hamilton, Archibald, Yates, Canniff, Brodie and Crough.

LACROSSE

Every member of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club is asked to be out for practice to-morrow afternoon, at Riverside Park. The first C. L. A. game will be played a week from to-morrow with the Young Torontos in Toronto, which leaves but a week to get into shape.

BASEBALL

The Young Lilies and All Saints' Brigade played a fast and exciting game of ball last night, when All Saints' were the winners by a score of 18-16. The feature of the game was Tovey's pitching for the winners, while for the losers Bucknell's batting was the feature. The batteries were—Tovey and Moore for the winners, and Taylor and Bucknell for the losers.

THE TRIGGER

The members of the 57th Regiment who have been trying their target shooting examinations with the Morris Tubes, have been meeting with good success. Already over 200 men have succeeded in taking over the 50 per cent. necessary to qualify for the efficiency pay, their average being over 60 per cent.

There are about 90 of the men who have yet to qualify.

FLAHERTY TO PITCH FOR LOCALS

In Big Ball Game Against St. Andrew's To-morrow

Great interest is being taken in the ball game to-morrow between the St. Andrew's of Toronto and Manager Johnston's aggregation. The game will be played at the Driving Park, where arrangements are being made to have everything as comfortable as possible for spectators. There will be a special street car service to the grounds. The St. Andrew's team will arrive on the noon C.P.R. train to-morrow and will have their strongest team with them. The Saints are the leaders of the West End Senior League of Toronto and are playing great ball this season. However, they will have to travel pretty fast if they expect to take Manager Johnston's bunch into camp, as the locals have improved greatly in the practices they have had since the Aretas played here, and local enthusiasts will be surprised by their showing to-morrow.

Yebbo Flaherty (will pitch for Peterborough and should take the measure of the visitors without trouble.

The locals will line up as follows: Burns, 2b; Callaghan, lf; Burridge, c; Connors, cf; Sheridan, rf; Quinlan, 3b; Johnston, ss; Graham, 1b; Flaherty, p.

The game will be called at three o'clock.

EXCITING FINISH TO A LOOSE GAME

Strathconas and Lilies Are Tied for This Week's Game

In one of the most exciting games that have been played in the Intermediate Baseball League so far, the Lilies overcame a lead of three runs that the Strathconas had gained in the three innings played on Monday night and had them beaten at one stage of last night's game. The score on Monday night was 10—7 in favour of the Strathconas and last night the score was 8—5 in favour of the Lilies, the final score being 15—15. The grounds are abominably bad for baseball, and the infield could do nothing with the grounders; both outfields played good ball, Simmons for the Lilies drawing in several corking flies. The Lilies showed a marked improvement and Ryan's pitching and fielding were features of the game. Manager Campbell's nine had the Strathconas beaten until the ninth innings when the Lilies blew up and four runs were notched. Weatherstone and Wilson played well, the former in the field, the latter with the bat, notching two runs. Foley, for the Lilies, made another long hit last night, but only got to second bag on it. Both teams had their disastrous inning, the Strathconas being away off in the first when the Lilies scored six men. Parnell was hit freely but Ryan had good control and with proper support should have won the game.

The runs were scored as follows:

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Lilies | 6 | 2 | 9 | 0 | — | 8 |
| Strathconas | 0 | 1 | 0 | 4 | — | 5 |

T. Carson umpired the game and gave general satisfaction but his last decision caused some trouble. Graham was on third base and Price was at bat. Two men were out. Price hit to right field, ran over first and tried for second, but was tagged. Graham ran home and crossed the palte before Price was called out. Carson discounted Graham's run, thus leaving the game a tie, otherwise the Lilies would have won the game. The teams lined up as follows:—

Lilies—Hillier c, Graham 2b, Foley ss, Price 1b, Ryan p, Simmons lf, Pilling, rf, Bartley, cf, Connors 3b.

Strathconas—Weatherstone ss, Allison 1b, Wilson c, Delaney cf, Dormer 2b, Heard lf, Regan rf, Curtis 3b, Parnell p.

A PRESENTATION TO MRS. BOSWELL

Ladies of St. Luke's Woman's Auxiliary Gave Member Who is Leaving City a Purse of Gold

AN INTERESTING PICNIC

This afternoon the annual picnic of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. Luke's church, which was to have taken place yesterday, but which was postponed on account of the disagreeable weather, is being held. An interesting feature of the meeting this afternoon was the presentation to Mrs. Boswell, who is leaving the city in a short time for the West, of a purse of gold, in recognition of her untiring efforts expended in the interests of St. Luke's church in general and of the W. A., in particular.

The following address, accompanied the presentation of the purse:—

Ashburnham, June 7, 1907.

Dear Mrs. Boswell,—Before you leave for the West, the members of St. Luke's W. A. desire to express to you in some measure how much they regret your leaving. Your enthusiastic assistance in the Missionary work of the Church has been an inspiration to your fellow-members, and, especially in your office as President, which you have held for two years, you were able to impart much interest and zeal to us. Your friendly and kind manner of dealing with your co-workers has endeared you very much to us.

To give some tangible expression of our feelings, we ask you to accept the accompanying purse, with the wish that you will ever cherish, as we shall do, the pleasant associations which have aided you and us in our work.

We sincerely hope that your absence will only be temporary, and that in the near future we shall see you again in our midst. In the meanwhile we commend you to God's loving care. May He watch between you and us while we are absent one from another, and bring you safely back again.

We remain on behalf of the members of St. Luke's Woman's Auxiliary,

Your friends in Christ,
EMMA TURNER,
Secretary.
E. GASKINS,
President.

In acknowledging the gift and the expressions of appreciation embodied in the address, Mrs. Boswell briefly thanked the ladies for their kindness, and assured them that she would never forget the pleasant hours she had spent with the ladies of the Auxiliary, which organization she wished every success.

MRS. RICHARDS TO SPEND A FORTNIGHT IN GAOL

A Public Nuisance so the Chief Says—Was Drunk Yesterday

Dressed in a red waist, blue skirt, and a skate strap for a belt, Susan Richards took her place in the prisoner's dock at the police court this morning. She was charged with having been drunk in a public place yesterday, and her appearance certainly gave evidence of a "toot." She had a blue eye with black trimmings, her hair was tossed, and she looked prepared for a fight. Her little dog, that was the cause of a police court case, on acount of the lack of the necessary tag, was frisking around delighted to see her. The Magistrate said she should get out of town. He imposed a fine of $5 to be paid forthwith, or fifteen days in gaol. Needless to say, it was gaol for hers.

Mrs. Richards was the plaintiff in a charge against her son for assaulting her. Evidence was heard on both sides and the case dismissed.

FISH AT ONE DOLLAR A POUND AS A GIFT

Local Man Fined for a Breach of the Fishery Act

A well known hotelkeeper appeared in court this morning and was found guilty of a breach of the fishery act. He was fined $23.10 for whatever share he may have had in the handling of the fish. Mr. Watt, the Inspector called at the G.T.R. station on Wednesday and saw a box marked fowl. It was about to be weighed by the Canadian Express Company's man and was addressed to W. T. Stewart, Riverdale Station, Toronto. The man who appeared on the charge said he did not know what was in it as it was under the direction of another man that they were expressed, although they were from his hotel.

There were three fine lunge in the box and totalled 25 lbs. Mr. Watt sent the confiscated fish to the Protestant Home and his gift has been thankfully acknowledged.

Rev. S. A. Dupraw, Methodist Minister at Belleville, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with itching and bleeding piles for years, and they ultimately attained a very violent form. The lumps and swellings disappeared and I am an entirely different man.

PETERBORO.

Practically during my whole life (prior to June 1905) I was troubled with terrible pains in my head which I attributed to violent attacks of neuralgia. I tried innumerable headache and neuralgic preparations, but without obtaining the slightest relief. The suffering I endured for a year or more previous to the time I consulted you is indescribable. At times I became delirious through the intense pain, and was obliged to call in a local Physician. Many times morphine was administered to allay the terrible suffering I was undergoing, but this did not give me the slightest relief. A friend advised me to consult your Mr. Babcock, I did so and found out from you that I was suffering from muscular nervous asthenopia, caused by astigmatism. It was remarkable the relief I obtained after the treatment I received, and the wearing of the glasses you prescribed and made for me, since that time I have experienced no difficulty with my eyes, nor have I suffered the slightest return of the old trouble. I cannot help but attribute the ill-health and suffering I experienced as being due to the trouble in my eyes before consulting you. I feel very grateful indeed for the interest taken in my case, as I had almost despaired of ever getting any relief. I might also say I consulted opticians in Lindsay and Toronto in reference to my trouble, but obtained no relief. I desire to again express my sincere gratitude to you for the trouble taken in my case, as well as the wonderful cure effected. Yours sincerely

TOWN COUNCIL MEETING.

Havelock, June 6. — J. B. Carnegie's moving picture and illustrated story entertainment will be given in the town hall on Wednesday night of next week, June 12th, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid. Mr. Carnegie comes highly recommended, having visited large cities, and always been greeted with a crowded house.

Mr. Angus Carmichael lost a very valuable cow on Sunday morning last. The animal had been purchased on Saturday and was tied in the back yard, but in some way broke loose during the night and made her way to the west end of the town, crossing over on to the track just as the midnight express was coming in.

"The Hottest Coon in Dixie," in the opera house on Tuesday night, was greeted by a crowded house, although the night was very wet and disagreeable. Everyone was delighted with the bill presented, as it was a first class musical comedy.

The many friends of Rev. R. J. Elliott and Mrs. Elliott, (nee Miss Wealthy Johnson, and sister of Mrs. M. H. Swain, of town,) will be pleased to hear that Mr. Elliott has passed with honours his S.T.B. degree, at the Boston University, Mass. Commencing on Sunday, important changes were made in the time table of the C. P. R. The noon and afternoon trains are in Havelock now 25 minutes earlier than before. The local comes in at 8.32, instead of 8.25.

Mr. Cecil Starke spent Sunday at his home in Peterborough.

The regular June meeting of the town council was held in the town hall on Monday night, when a deputation from the school board waited on the council and asked them to raise the sum of $2500 by debentures for the purpose of providing funds with which to build an addition to the public school, without submitting the bylaw to the ratepayers for their consent.

On motion of Messrs. Knox and Young the council was instructed to procure legal advice as to whether the municipal council could accede to such a request, and to hold a special meeting to consider the advice when received.

A LADY'S WISH

She Thinks Men Do Not as Quickly Appreciate New and Better Ideas.

Women are not as conservative as men. They are more quickly ready to throw away a worn-out custom or creed in favour of something better.

A man clings to his customs and his prejudices. It has taken ten years for him to learn that "semi-ready" clothes are made in a better way than formerly.

A lady recently remarked that if she and other ladies could buy their costumes as men can buy Semi-ready tailored business or dress suits it would only take about two weeks for all the world to know it.

PUTTING NEW LIFE INTO OLD PICTURES

Copies of Old Daguerreotypes and Autotypes Can Now be Produced at the Roy Studio, Hunter Street

The idea that some people hav that talent and skill in artistic lines is far removed from anything that smacks of business, is rapidly getting a black eye.

As a matter of fact, later day developments show that the artist in whom the spirit of ardent enthusiasm for his work predominates, produces better work and brighter ideas, and never stands still in developing his latent talent, ensures business success.

It is to spirits like these that the world is largely indebted for faith in the greater probabilities in photography. In the researches of photographers assurances of this are being constantly furnished from the hands of zealous men who seek for the betterment of the art, in using the lens and the plate for what there is in it. These inveterate workers are being rewarded by the discovery of newer possibilities from the camera, and are thus unconsciously adding fame to their good name, and to the multitude of the followers of Daguerre.

The Roy Studio has just placed on view in their Hunter street show cases an unique and interesting exhibit of old fashioned portraits which have been copied from the original daguerreotypes, ambrotypes, miniatures, etc. These are finished in modern up-to-date processes, and demonstrate the true artistic merit of advanced study.

To the majority of people, this exhibit has proved a revelation—inasmuch as it has always been an exceedingly difficult problem to know how to reproduce these pictures with any degree of faithfulness. The old daguerreotype artist, whose pictures are unsurpassed for excellence and true art instinct, would be surprised to-day if he could have a look at this exhibit in Roy's show cases, of accurate reproductions from the old masters' work.

Heretofore, these precious heirlooms have remained hidden away in the sole possession of favoured members of families to the exclusion of others who may be quite as much interested, and who valued them equally as highly. Treating the plates in the ordinary way all the exquisite detail and expression of these old time gems has been lost; and, as a consequence, the public have been content to believe that to copy them successfully was an impossibility.

It will, therefore, be pleasant news for many who possess old ambrotypes, or daguerreotypes to learn that they may now be able to gratify the wishes of friends by furnishing copies to all who desire them. The Roy Studio has lately devoted a great deal of time experimenting on these pictures, with the result that Mr. Roy has perfected a process by which they can be reproduced with all the old-fashioned beauty and quaintness of the original. In some cases where they have become yellow with age, broken or scratched, a marked improvement is noticeable in the copy.

Mr. Roy invites all interested to inspect his exhibit of these old pictures into which he has put new life.

AXLE GREASE IS A BIG ITEM

Some Figures Which Show the Immensity of the Big Forepaugh and Sells Bros' Shows

Six men are required by the Forepaugh and Sells Bros. circus to keep the wheels of their many chariots, vans, dens and other vehicles greased.

This fact gives some idea of the size of this big show. The organization also maintains its own postoffice, a hotel where 3,000 meals are served every day, a laundry, general store, blacksmith shop, paint shop, barber shops, gas plant, hospital, harness shop and carpenter shop and carries a doctor, a lawyer, a tailor, a dentist, a shoemaker and three detectives.

The trains which are the home of 1,200 people, 500 horses and a half a thousand other animals, have a combined length of more than a mile. These are figures that prove the Forepaugh and Sells Bros. circus the largest on earth. Not by any means the least important feature are the painstaking efforts of the management to provide every convenience to patrons. There is absolutely nothing about the big enterprise that can give the slightest offense, and the same cleanliness and conveniences found in the best managed theatre in the country prevail throughout.

The menagerie tent is wide and roomy so that crowding is impossible, and in the main tent a new system of seating people adds greatly to the comfort of visitors. As soon as the doors are open an excellent military band plays the best of the popular music until the regular performance begins. Uniformed and polite attendants are always at hand to answer questions and direct patrons to the various sights of interest. The greatest comfort and good nature prevail throughout the entire day.

The down-town ticket sale is a feature of convenience that all will appreciate who do not wish to wait with the crowds at the ticket wagon. At this branch office all reserved seats and admissions are sold at the same price charged at the regular wagon. In Peterborough this branch sale will be located at Madill's drug store, on show day, which is June 25th.

Another Adventure of Sherlock Holmes.

BY A. CONAN DOYLE.

Author of "The Green Flag" and "The Great Boer War"

Copyright (1902) by A. Conan Doyle.

"It seems to leave the darkness rather blacker than before."

"So I think. But if we can only trace L. L. it should clear up the whole business. We know that there is someone who has the facts if we can only find her. What do you think we should do?"

"Let Holmes know all about it at once. It will give him the clue for which he has been seeking. I am much mistaken if it does not bring him down."

I went at once to my room and drew up my report of the morning's conversation for Holmes. It was evident to me that he had been very busy of late, for the notes which I had from Baker Street were few and short, with no comments upon the information which I had supplied, and hardly any reference to my mission. No doubt his blackmailing case is absorbing all his faculties. And yet this new factor must surely arrest his attention and renew his interest. I wish that he were here.

October 17th.—All day to-day the rain poured down, rustling on the ivy and dripping from the eaves. I thought of the convict out upon the bleak, cold, shelterless moor. Poor devil! Whatever his crimes, he has suffered something to atone for them. And then I thought of that other one—the face in the cab, the figure against the moon. Was he also out in that deluge—the unseen watcher, the man of darkness? In the evening I put on my waterproof and I walked far upon the sodden moor, full of dark imaginings, the rain beating upon my face and the wind whistling about my ears. God help those who wander into the great mire now, for even the firm uplands are becoming a morass. I found the black tor upon which I had seen the solitary watcher, and from its craggy summit I looked out myself across the melancholy downs. Rain squalls drifted across their russet face, and the heavy, slate-colored clouds hung low over the landscape, trailing in grey wreaths down the sides of the fantastic hills. In the distant hollow on the left, half hidden by the mist, the two thin towers of Baskerville Hall rose above the trees. They were the only signs of human life which I could see, save only those prehistoric huts which lay thickly upon the slopes of the hills. Nowhere was there any trace of that lonely man whom I had seen on the same spot two night before.

As I walked back I was overtaken by Dr. Mortimer driving in his dog-cart over a rough moorland track, which led from the outlying farmhouse of Foulmire. He has been very attentive to us, and hardly a day has passed that he has not called at the Hall to see how we were getting on. He insisted upon my climbing into his dog-cart and he gave me a lift homewards. I found him much troubled over the disappearance of his little spaniel. It had wandered on to the moor and had never come back. I gave him such consolation as I might, but I thought of the pony on the Grimpen Mire, and I do not fancy that he will see his little dog again.

"By the way, Mortimer," said I, as we jolted along the rough road, "I suppose there are few people living within driving distance of this whom you do not know?"

"Hardly any, I think."

"Can you, then, tell me the name of any woman whose initials are L. L.?"

He thought for a few minutes.

"No," said he. "There are a few gipsies and laboring folk for whom I can't answer, but among the farmers or gentry there is no one whose initials are those. Wait a bit though," he added, after a pause. "There is Laura Lyons—her initials are L. L.—but she lives in Coombe Tracey."

"Who is she?" I asked.

"She is Frankland's daughter."

"What! Old Frankland the crank?"

"Exactly. She married an artist named Lyons, who came sketching on the moor. He proved to be a blackguard and deserted her. The fault from what I hear may not have been entirely on one side. Her father refused to have anything to do with her, because she had married without his consent, and perhaps for one or two other reasons as well. So, between the old sinner and the young one the girl has had a pretty bad time."

"How does she live?"

"I fancy old Frankland allows her a pittance, but it cannot be more, for his own affairs are considerably involved. Whatever she may have deserved one could not allow her to go hopelessly to the bad. Her story got about, and several of the people here did something to enable her to earn an honest living. Stapleton did for one, and Sir Charles for another. I gave a trifle myself. It was to set her up in a typewriting business."

He wanted to know the object of my inquiries, but I managed to satisfy his curiosity without telling him too much, for there is no reason why we should take anyone into our confidence. To-morrow morning I shall find my way to Coombe Tracey, and if I can see this Mrs. Laura Lyons, of equivocal reputation, a long step will have been made towards clearing one incident in this chain of mysteries. I am certainly developing the wisdom of the serpent, for when Mortimer pressed his questions to an inconvenient extent I asked him casually to what type Frankland's skull belonged, and so heard nothing but craniology for the rest of our drive. I have not lived for years with Sherlock Holmes for nothing.

I have only one other incident to record upon this tempestuous and melancholy day. This was my conversation with Barrymore just now, which gives me one more strong card which I can play in due time.

Mortimer had stayed to dinner, and he and the baronet played ecarte afterwards. The butler brought me my coffee into the library, and I took the chance to ask him a few questions.

"Well," said I, "has this precious relation of yours departed, or is he still lurking out yonder?"

"I don't know, sir. I hope to Heaven that he has gone, for he has brought nothing but trouble here! I've not heard of him since I left out food for him last, and that was three days ago."

"Did you see him then?"

"No, sir, but the food was gone when next I went that way."

"Then he was certainly there?"

"So you would think, sir, unless it was the other man who took it."

I sat with my coffee-cup half way to my lips and stared at Barrymore.

"You know that there is another man then?"

"Yes, sir; there is another man upon the moor."

"Have you seen him?"

"No, sir."

"How do you know of him then?"

"Selden told me of him, sir, a week ago or more. He's in hiding, too, but he's not a convict as far as I can make out. I don't like it, Dr. Watson—I tell you straight, sir, that I don't like it." He spoke with a sudden passion of earnestness.

"Now, listen to me, Barrymore! I have no interest in this matter but that of your master. I have come here with no object except to help him. Tell me, frankly, what it is that you don't like."

Barrymore hesitated for a moment, as if he regretted his outburst, or found it difficult to express his own feelings in words.

"It's all these goings-on, sir," he cried at last, waving his hand towards the rain-lashed window which faced the moor. "There's foul play somewhere, and there's black villainy brewing, to that I'll swear! Very glad I should be, sir, to see Sir Henry on his way back to London again!"

"But what is it that alarms you?"

"Look at Sir Charles's death! That was bad enough, for all that the coroner said. Look at the noises on the moor at night. There's not a man would cross it after sundown if he was paid for it. Look at this stranger hiding out yonder, and watching and waiting! What's he waiting for? What does it mean? It means no good to anyone of the name of Baskerville, and very glad I shall be to be quit of it all on the day that Sir Henry's new servants are ready to take over the Hall."

"But about this stranger," said I. "Can you tell me anything about him? What did Selden say? Did he find out where he hid, or what he was doing?"

"He saw him once or twice, but he is a deep one, and gives nothing away. At first he thought that he was the police, but soon he found that he had some lay of his own. A kind of gentleman he was, as far as he could see, but what he was doing he could not make out."

"And where did he say that he lived?"

"Among the old houses on the hillside—the stone huts where the old folk used to live."

"But how about his food?"

"Selden found out that he has got a lad who works for him and brings him all he needs. I daresay he goes to Coombe Tracey for what he wants."

"Very good, Barrymore. We may talk further of this some other time." When the butler had gone I walked over to the black window, and I looked through a blurred pane at the driving clouds and at the tossing outline of the wind-swept trees. It is a wild night indoors, and what must it be in a stone hut upon the moor. What passion of hatred can it be which leads a man to lurk in such a place at such a time! And what deep and earnest purpose can he have which calls for such a trial! There, in that hut upon the moor, seems to lie the very centre of that problem which has vexed me so sorely. I swear that another day shall not have passed before I have done all that man can do to reach the heart of the mystery.

CHAPTER XI.

The extract from my private diary which forms the last chapter has brought my narrative up to the 18th of October, a time when these strange events began to move swiftly towards their terrible conclusion. The incidents of the next few days are indelibly graven upon my recollection, and I can tell them without reference to the notes made at the time. I start then from the day which succeeded that upon which I had established two facts of great importance, the one that Mrs. Laura Lyons of Coombe Tracey had written to Sir Charles Baskerville and made an appointment with him at the very place and hour that he met his death, the other that the lurking man upon the moor was to be found among the stone huts upon the hill-side. With these two facts in my possession I felt that either my intelligence or my courage must be deficient if I could not throw some further light upon these dark places.

I had no opportunity to tell the baronet what I had learned about Mrs. Lyons upon the evening before, for Dr. Mortimer remained with him at cards until it was very late. At breakfast, however, I informed him about my discovery, and asked him whether he would care to accompany me to Coombe Tracey. At first he was very eager to come, but on second thoughts it seemed to both of us that if I went alone the results might be better. The more formal we made the visit the less information we might obtain. I left Sir Henry behind, therefore, not without some prickings of conscience, and drove off upon my new quest.

When I reached Coombe Tracey I told Perkins to put up the horses, and I made inquiries for the lady whom I had come to interrogate. I had no difficulty in finding her rooms, which were central and well appointed. A maid showed me in without ceremony, and as I entered the sitting-room a lady, who was sitting before a Remington typewriter, sprang up with a pleasant smile of welcome. Her face fell, however, when she saw that I was a stranger, and she sat down again and asked me the object of my visit.

The first impression left by Mrs. Lyons was one of extreme beauty. Her eyes and hair were of the same rich hazel color, and her cheeks, though considerably freckled, were flushed with the exquisite bloom of the brunette, the dainty pink which lurks at the heart of the sulphur rose. Admiration was, I repeat, the first impression. But the second was criticism. There was something subtly wrong with the face, some coarseness of expression, some hardness, perhaps, of eye, some looseness of lip which marred its perfect beauty. But these, of course, are after-thoughts. At the moment I was simply conscious that I was in the presence of a very handsome woman, and that she was asking me questions for my visit. I had not quite understood until that instant how delicate my mission was.

"I have the pleasure," said I, "of knowing your father."

It was a clumsy introduction, and the lady made me feel it.

"There is nothing in common between my father and me," she said. "I owe him nothing, and his friends are not mine. If it were not for the late Sir Charles Baskerville and some other kind hearts I might have starved for all that my father cared."

"It was about the late Sir Charles Baskerville that I have come here to see you."

The freckles started out on the lady's face.

"What can I tell you about him?" she asked, and her fingers played nervously over the stops of her typewriter.

"You knew him, did you not?"

"I have already said that I owe a great deal to his kindness. If I am able to support myself it is largely due to the interest which he took in my unhappy situation."

"Did you correspond with him?".

The lady looked quickly up with an angry gleam in her hazel eyes.

"What is the object of these questions?" she asked, sharply.

"The object is to avoid a public scandal. It is better that I should ask them here than that the matter should pass outside our control."

She was silent and her face was still very pale. At last she looked up with something reckless and defiant in her manner.

"Well I'll answer," she said. "What are your questions?"

"Did you correspond with Sir Charles?"

"I certainly wrote to him once or twice to acknowledge his delicacy and his generosity."

"Have you the dates of those letters?"

"No."

"Have you ever met him?"

"It is a great day for me, sir."

"Yes, once or twice, when he came into Coombe Tracey. He was a very retiring man, and he preferred to do good by stealth."

"But if you saw him so seldom and wrote so seldom, how did he know enough about your affairs to be able to help you, as you say that he has done?"

She met my difficulty with the utmost readiness.

"There were several gentlemen who knew my sad history and united to help me. One was Mr. Stapleton, a neighbor and intimate friend of Sir Charles's. He was exceedingly kind, and it was through him that Sir Charles learned about my affairs."

I knew that Sir Charles Baskerville had made Stapleton his almoner upon several occasions, so the lady's statement bore the impress of truth upon it.

"Did you ever write to Sir Charles asking him to meet you?" I continued.

Mrs. Lyons flushed with anger again.

"Really, sir, this is a very extraordinary question."

"I am sorry, Madame, but I must repeat it."

"Then I answer, certainly not."

"Not on the very day of Sir Charles's death?"

The flush had faded in an instant, and a deathly face was before me. Her dry lips could not speak the "No" which I saw rather than heard.

"Surely your memory deceives you," said I. "I could even quote a passage of your letter. If ran 'Please, please, as you are a gentleman, burn this letter, and be at the gate by ten o'clock.'"

I thought that she had fainted, but she recovered herself by a supreme effort.

"Is there no such thing as a gentleman?" she cried.

"You do Sir Charles an injustice. He did burn the letter. But sometimes a letter may be legible even when burned. You acknowledge now that you wrote it."

"Yes, I did write it," she cried, pouring out her soul in a torrent of words. "I did write it. Why should I deny it? I have no reason to be ashamed of it. I wished him to help me. I believed that if I had an interview I could gain his help, so I asked him to meet me."

"But why at such an hour?"

"Because I had only just learned that he was going to London next day and might be away for months. There were reasons why I could not get there earlier."

"But why a rendezvous in the garden instead of a visit to the house?"

"Do you think a woman could go alone at that hour to a bachelor's house?"

"Well, what happened when you did get there?"

"I never went."

"Mrs. Lyons!"

"No, I swear it to you on all I hold sacred. I never went. Something intervened to prevent my going."

"What was that?"

"That is a private matter. I cannot tell it."

"You acknowledge then that you made an appointment with Sir Charles at the very hour and place at which he met his death, but you deny that you kept the appointment."

"That is the truth."

Again and again I cross-questioned her, but I could never get past that point.

"Mrs. Lyons," said I, as I rose from this long and inconclusive interview, "you are taking a very great responsibility and putting yourself in a very false position by not making an absolutely clean breast of all that you know. If I have to call in the aid of the police you will find how seriously you are compromised. If your position is innocent, why did you lie in the first instance deny having written to Sir Charles upon that date?"

"Because I feared that some false conclusion might be drawn from it, and that I might find myself involved in a scandal."

"And why were you so pressing that Sir Charles should destroy your letter?"

"If you have read the letter you will know."

"I did not say that I had read all the letter."

"You quoted some of it."

"I quoted the postscript. The letter had, as I said, been burned and it was not all legible. I ask you once again why it was that you were so pressing that Sir Charles should destroy this letter which he received on the day of his death."

"The matter is a very private one."

"The more reason why you avoid a public investigation."

"I will tell you, then. If you have heard anything of my unhappy history you will know that I made a rash marriage and had reason to regret it."

"I have heard so much."

"My life has been one incessant persecution from a husband whom I abhor. The law is upon his side, and every day I am faced by the possibility that he may force me to live with him. At the time that I wrote this letter to Sir Charles I had learned that there was a prospect of my regaining my freedom if certain expenses could be met. It meant everything to me—peace of mind, happiness, self-respect—everything. I knew Sir Charles's generosity, and I thought that if he heard the story from my own lips he would help me."

"Then how is it that you did not go?"

"Because I received help in the interval from another source."

"Why, then, did you not write to Sir Charles and explain this?"

"So I should have done had I not seen his death in the paper next morning."

The woman's story hung coherently together, and all my questions were unable to shake it. I could only check it by finding if she had, indeed, instituted divorce proceedings against her husband at or about the time of the tragedy.

It was unlikely that she would dare to say that she had not been to Baskerville Hall if she really had been, for a trap would be necessary to take her there, and could not have returned to Coombe Tracey until the early hours of the morning. Such an excursion could not be kept secret. The probability was, therefore, that she was telling the truth, or, at least, a part of the truth. I came away baffled and disheartened. Once again I had reached that dead wall which seemed to be built across every path by which I tried to get at the object of my mission. And yet the more I thought of the lady's face and of her manner the more I felt that something was being held back from me. Why should she turn so pale? Why should she fight against every admission until it was forced from her? Why should she have

SYSTEM WAS RUN DOWN

When the heart is healthy and performing its functions naturally, it should beat regularly seventy-two times a minute without causing its owner the slightest inconvenience or distress.

When it begins to beat irregularly or intermittently, palpitate and throb, skip beats, beat fast for a time, then so slowly as to seem almost to stop, it causes great anxiety and alarm.

The least excitement or exertion causes to affect it.

Many people are kept in a state of morbid fear of death, because weak, worn and miserable, and are unable to attend to either social or business duties, through unnatural action of their heart.

To all such sufferers
MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS
can give prompt and permanent relief. Mrs. F. Fletcher, South Ste. Marie, West, Ont., says: "I have been troubled for four or five years with weakness, and run down system. My feet were always cold and I felt almost dead. My heart was weak and I was so nervous I could hardly walk across the street. I started taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and after using three boxes I felt much better. I continued their use until I had taken twelve boxes and I am now well."

Price 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

MANY PEOPLE HAVE CATARRH OF KIDNEYS AND DON'T KNOW IT

Backache, a Warning Symptom of Kidney Trouble.

Pe-ru-na Is Invaluable in Such Cases.

Prominent Persons Who Have Been Cured.

Mr. J. Blyler, 1525 Ohio street, Des Moines, Ia., writes:

"I wish to state my appreciation of your excellent remedy.

"I have always enjoyed excellent health, except frequent and painful attacks of bladder trouble, which doctors failed to relieve or cure.

"Upon recommendation I used Peruna to my utter satisfaction, not having had an attack now for four or five years."—J. Blyler.

Catarrh of Kidneys Caused Much Suffering.

Mr. Leopold Brandl, 246 Bleecker street, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"I was sick three months with catarrh of the kidneys and lungs. I was treated by my home physician and relieved to some extent, but after I had worked again for two weeks, my old suffering—backache and pains in the right lung—returned. The dreadful cough which bothered me day and night lasted six months and no one could help me.

"I tried three different patent medicines, without avail. I could scarcely eat anything and slept only a few hours each night.

"A friend told me to take Peruna. I did so and the second day my appetite had improved. I took a teaspoonful of Peruna every hour, day and night, for three weeks. Now I have taken five bottles. I can eat enough for two people and am able to sleep well.

"Whenever I meet a sick person, I advise him to take Peruna. I thank you a thousand times for your medicine, as it was the only remedy that saved me. We continue to keep it in our family."—Leopold Brandl.

Dangerous Kidney Diseases Cured.

WHEN the kidneys become affected by catarrh, either from colds, overwork, or an extension of catarrh from some other organ, they fail to perform their normal functions.

It is the work of the kidneys to excrete from the blood many of the poisons which accumulate in the body.

If the kidneys fail in their work, the poisons accumulate to such an extent as to cause convulsions, which often prove fatal.

Peruna, by relieving the kidneys of their congested and catarrhal conditions, leaves them free to act in a normal manner.

It also strengthens the action of the heart, equalizing the circulation of the blood in all parts of the system.

A remedy that relieves catarrhal derangements of the kidneys should certainly be considered a household remedy. Peruna is such a remedy.

High Commendation For Pe-ru-na.

Mr. C. B. Fiser, Mt. Sterling, Ky., writes:

"I have suffered with kidney and bladder trouble for ten years past.

"Last March I commenced using your Peruna and continued for three months.

"I have not used it since, nor have I felt a pain.

"I believe that I am well and therefore give my highest commendation to the curative qualities of Peruna."

Neglected catarrh of the kidneys is apt to develop into Bright's Disease or diabetes, when a cure is almost an impossibility.

We have on file many testimonials like the ones given here.

We can give our readers only a slight glimpse of the vast array of unsolicited endorsements we are receiving every month.

INTERESTING ITEMS FROM ACROSS THE SEA.

ENGLAND

After twenty-six years' exciting service at Scotland Yard, Detective-Sergeant Thomas Gregory, known as "Gentleman Tom," has just retired on a full pension. In his time, Gregory arrested many notorious criminals. He captured a gang known as the "Cabinet of Crime," and under whose guidance all big robberies were carried out. Gregory was gifted with a facility for disguising, and he appeared in many strange characters. In order to enter and raid a club in Soho, he was given the task of gaining admittance to the premises. At an appointed time, dressed as a poor old man, he was lurching up against the door, laden with a basket of groundsel. The doorkeeper, a pugilist, knocked him over into the road, but this gave the waiting officers an opportunity of getting inside and effecting their mission. In order to keep observation on certain houses, Gregory often adopted the role of a pavement artist. One summer, for weeks he might have been seen daily outside the General Post-office as a boot-cleaner, and eventually he brought off the arrest of a gang. Obtaining the position of valet to a wealthy colonel, who kept a mansion in Westminster, Gregory, with other officers, contrived a big coup, four confederates being sent to penal servitude. Yet Gregory himself did not escape arrest. Once, while lounging about Portland place dressed in rags, he was arrested and taken to Marylebone Police Station as a vagrant. A Bond street capture is quite a dramatic little story. One morning Gregory noticed in Bond street a landau stop outside a jeweller's shop. A woman dressed in the height of fashion alighted and looked into the window. She somehow attracted the detective's attention, and was seen to drop her parasol through the grating under the window. The shop assistants noticed her trouble and came out to help her recover the article. No sooner had they left the shop than two "swells" entered and proceeded to fill their pockets with jewellery. The detective got assistance and arrested all three, who turned out to be old convicts.

A particularly daring jewel robbery was perpetrated in London recently. A well-known diamond merchant living defrauded to the extent of £1,450. A few months ago Mr. Alois Riele, a diamond merchant, of East street, City road, who was travelling in a suburban train from Fenchurch street, got into conversation with a stranger, and mentioned that he dealt in precious stones. The stranger, who gave his name as Mr. Finch, the proprietor of Perle's Hotel, Fleet street, said he was glad to meet Mr. Riele, as his wife had recently lost a valuable pearl earring, and he was anxious to have it replaced. Cards were interchanged, and a few days later, Mr. "Finch," who had said that his private residence was at Scotland, met Mr. Riele at Fenchurch street station by appointment. The two men then walked together towards Perle's Hotel. In Fleet street Mr. "Finch" met a friend, whom he introduced as "Mr. Head, a buyer of diamonds," and the three men entered the hotel together. When in the saloon bar Mr. Riele produced a case containing 49 diamond, pearl and gold rings. "Head" picked up one of the diamond rings and examined the stones, but on the pretext that the light was bad he walked to the door with it. Mr. Riele, who left the case with the other rings on a round table in the custody of Mr. "Finch," in a corner of the bar, followed. "These are good stones," observed "Head," and the two men, Mr. Riele leading, walked back towards the bar. Mr. Riele then found that the case of rings and Mr. "Finch" had disappeared, and on turning round he saw that Mr. "Head," who had the ring, had also gone. Rushing to the bar, Mr. Riele asked where Mr. "Finch," the proprietor, had gone. He was told that the hotel was owned by a proprietress, and that no such person as Mr. Finch was known there.

An extraordinary story reminiscent of the adventures of the Swiss Family Robinson was told to the Highgate Bench recently. Five boys of Upper Holloway were charged with having food, books, a live dove, and other articles in their possession, supposed to have been stolen. The police found the boys on a desert-looking spot between Crouch End and Highgate Stations. Their whereabouts was traced by a small stream of smoke issuing from the top of a small stack of bricks. Great difficulty was experienced in finding the inmates, the stack being carefully bricked up to make it indistinguishable from the rest of the structure. A large cave was hollowed out in the centre, and the boys were trapped inside. They were well provisioned, their supplies including golden syrup, rump steak, kippers, bacon, lard, a box of cheese, loaves, bloater paste and butter. On a shelf they had a salt box, saucepan, matches, candles, a carving knife, pocket handkerchief, a brush, cigarettes, and classical and text books.

Two little girls, who were found recently by Monmouthshire collier on the road near Tredegar in a distressed condition, told a remarkable story to the police. Their names are Elizabeth and Elsie Taylor, aged 11 and 9 years, respectively, and they said they had tramped from Bromyard in Herefordshire, a distance of about 70 miles. According to their statement, their mother being dead, and their father having deserted them, they set out eight days ago with their brother, aged 15, with the intention of going to Rhymney, where they believed they had an aunt living, and with the further idea of being forwarded to another aunt in Canada. They had lost the company of their brother at Rhymney Bridge, and then, it seemed, got off their course on a road which would have taken them to Newport. Their brother appeared to have foraged for them on the way, and their pilgrimage had not occasioned inquiry till cold, hungry, and travel-stained, they were found crying by the roadside.

"Ichabod," which is Hebrew for "Thy glory has departed," has been written in letters of chalk over the porch of the City Temple, London. Five years ago Dr. Parker uttered the following warning at the City Temple: "Should it ever come to pass that the great truths of Christ's death and resurrection be denied by any future occupier of this pulpit; should the fact of His gracious Godhead and Divinity be questioned, may the word "Ichabod" be written over the doors of the City Temple." Two young men evidently thought the time had come for the fateful word to be written. They arrived at the City Temple early in the morning, pushing a truck on which were two long ladders. In full view of passers-by, they propped the ladder against the building, the one man mounted and chalked the word "Ichabod" in large letters over the portico.

SCOTLAND

Early one morning recently two men returning from work, while passing a grating in Canal street, Saltcoats, smelt the fumes of liquor arising from a drain. Further on at a public house, they heard some one singing. Going to the rear of the premises and looking over a wall they saw a man lying there. The police were communicated with and an inspection of the public house disclosed a spectacle of wilful destruction. All taps were turned on and whisky, rum and wine had been run from the barrels, flooding the shop, and getting into the street. The depredator, who evidently sampled the liquors too well, was found lying in the court outside, in a state of intoxication. While trying to get away his trousers had caught on the top of a railing, and being unable to extricate himself he had fallen to the ground, minus a trouser leg. When arrested, although too drunk to stand, he kicked and assaulted the police. He was tied to a barrow and conveyed to the station.

For about a week the Fife police were investigating the alleged desertion and ill-usage of a boy by his father on the Burntisland Road, opposite the golf course at Kinghorn. The boy on being taken to the police office, stated that he came from Galsgow, with his father on a holiday to Kirkcaldy, and that his father had been drinking in different public houses in Kirkcaldy and Kinghorn on that day, and was on his way to Burntisland, when the alleged assault took place. Since then the boy has been looked after in Kinghorn poorhouse, when, owing to the reports of the occurrence which appeared in some newspapers, the father discovered the whereabouts of the boy, when the whole story was found to be a fabrication of the boy. He was sent to school one morning and had not been seen since, although search had been made for him. His father is a respectable householder in Kirkcaldy.

A moving story of persecution was recently related to the Glasgow Immigration Board, by two Jews, Moses Segalow and Aaron Segalow, who wished to join a brother-in-law in Whitechapel, London. Twelve months ago, while at Czerkas, near Kieff, a pogrom occurred, both men had their entire property destroyed by the Black Hundred. They had to hide in a cellar several days, while many of their fellows were butchered. They finally appealed to the police for protection, but were laughed at, and later on the Cossacks assisted the Black Hundred in the work of plunder. A fortnight since, when there were signs of renewed disturbances, both men made up their minds to escape, and did so during the night.

Exciting scenes were witnessed in an Edinburgh street the other day, when a horse which had been yoked to a lorry bolted. It had been standing in South Andrew street, when it took fright at a passing motor car and bolted. The animal careered wildly down the street, when it collided with a horse and van. The van horse was struck by one of the shafts of the lorry and dropped dead almost immediately. In the meantime the runaway continued it wild course until it collided with another van, which was near the foot of the hill, causing a good deal of damage. The impact swung the runaway out of its course and swerving to the curb, the animal knocked down a lamp-post and came to a standstill.

Glasgow circuit court was engaged all the other day trying Chas. Kennedy, an iron worker, on a charge of attempting to murder his wife by setting her on fire in Winshaw, the Scotch steel centre. The evidence showed fiendish cruelty. Six months ago the prisoner threw a pail of oil over his wife and then threatened to set her on fire. He repeated the act in March, and when the woman enveloped in flames, tried to rush from the house he drew her back. He stood back while the neighbours were endeavouring to extinguish the flames. The judge sentenced Kennedy to 15 years' penal servitude.

George Reid, a wood forester, engaged on the estate of Captain Walker of Crawfordton, died in the Dumfries Infirmary recently as the result of an accident of a peculiarly painful nature. He had been assisting in tanking wood at a sawmill at Old Crawfordton, Glencairn. Stobs and planks are in course of the process placed in a large boiler, sunk in the ground and filled with boiling tar in order that they may become thoroughly saturated with the liquid. While removing wood from the boiler Reid lost his footing and fell into the boiling pitch. He lived only a short time.

IRELAND

An outrage of a malicious type was recently when Messrs. Patterson & Co.'s match factory in Hammond lane was committed in Dublin one night re-broken into and a quantity of the machinery so damaged that work has to be suspended. Over 200 hands are thus thrown idle. A valuable gas engine, which had only been erected a week previously, was rendered useless, as also were eleven match-filling machines. Parts of the engines were torn off, and others twisted out of shape, while the machines were so badly damaged they will need extensive repairs. The office and safes, containing a large sum of money, were left untouched, making it clear that the motive of the raid was to wreck and not to rob the factory.

There was a serious conflict with the police one evening recently, when the Kilmore branch of the United Irish League with their band attempted to parade near the residence of Mr. Samuel M. Russell, M.P., who has lately taken over a farm in defiance of the wishes of the league, who wanted to have it split up. A strong force of constabulary was drawn up near the avenue, but the crowd broke through. A baton charge was ordered, but as the demonstrators were well armed with shillelaghs they routed the police. The crowd then formed in processional order, and the band played around the house.

Meetings were recently held in King's county in connection with the grazing ranch there and a remarkable development took place when some hundreds of persons assembled on one of the ranches, 11 miles from Roscrea, cleared the place of over 300 hundred sheep and lambs, 30 head of cattle, and a number of horses, and drove them into Roscrea to the residence of the owner. Word was sent to the police stations all over North Tipperary and South King's County, and the police, who poured into the town in the evening by rail, cars and bicycles, succeeded in securing the stock.

In the face of a gale three fishermen, all over 60 years, and with large families, put to sea at Ballyherbert, Co. Down, recently. A mile from land a squall overturned their boat. The coastguard and some comrades went to the rescue, but the three fishermen were all drowned. One was picked up alive, to expire a few minutes afterwards. Another was seized by the coat, but the garment broke.

During an open-air baptism of a sect known as the "Cooneyites," at Dungannon, when five men were standing waist-deep in water, a number of women hurled cabbage stalks and turnips at them. "Cooneyite" sympathizers retaliated, and a free fight ensued while some women of the sect were being immersed.

James Joyce, a man of great size and powerful build, called early the other morning at the Archbishop of Tuam's palace, at Tuam, Galway, and asked for His Grace. Disbelieving the statement that Dr. Healy had gone to the Mercy Convent to say Mass, the man forced his way into the palace and searched every corner. He then went to the cathedral grounds and joined a crowd which was waiting for the Archbishop. When the latter appeared Joyce rushed at him and a struggle ensued. Dr. Healy was with difficulty protected, but eventually Joyce was knocked down, tied with a rope, and taken to the police barracks. When Joyce was unbound by the police, seven men were required to quell his resistance. He was committed as a dangerous lunatic.

ALL RUN DOWN

Weak---Nervous---Unstrung.

Thousands get run down and become invalids before they realize anything is wrong. By permitting low vitality to develop, the way is paved for fevers, pneumonia and diphtheria. To put off makes it all the harder to get well. The time to repair the system is right now, before the damage gets any worse. The remedy is Ferrozone; it revitalizes, renews, builds up vitality that outlasts old age.

FERROZONE is a genuine invigorator that banishes weakness, and instils surplus force and vigor into every organ of the body. Ferrozone sharpens the appetite, produces rich nutritious blood, and thereby contributes that sense of buoyancy that adds so enormously to one's pleasure and usefulness in life.

For all forms of debility, weakness, lack of blood or nerve tone, sleeplessness, tiredness and exhaustion, there is no medicine so vitalizing and potent as Ferrozone. Even one trial demonstrates its rapidly and certainty of action.

To restore the energy of youth, to get back your vital stamina and reserve force, there is positively no treatment so certain as Ferrozone. You have only to try Ferrozone to know the enormous benefit it invariably brings to all in poor health.

FERROZONE

Miss Dorothy E. Leduc of Chester gives the following convincing evidence of Ferrozone's power:—"My work compels me to rise early in the morning and work ten hours daily as a saleslady. Last Spring I was run down, lost my color, and fell off in weight. I seemed to lack ambition and the life was out of me. A friend recommended Ferrozone, and I took one tablet after meals with wonderful results. Ferrozone brought back my complexion, and has given me new strength and abundance of energy and spirits. I would advise all young ladies to use Ferrozone."

Mrs. H. G. Wilder of Dexter says—"My daughter was not very well last Winter, and lost her strength completely when the Spring came. I gave her Ferrozone, and am glad to say it did wonders. After six boxes were used my daughter was strong, and looked the picture of health."

Gave New Strength

It makes the weak strong, the sick well, and assures lasting good health.

WARNING—Beware of any substitute for Ferrozone; it alone can cure you. Sold by all druggists and dealers in medicine, only in 50c boxes containing 50 chocolate-coated tablets. By mail to any address if price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., or Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

Fruit-a-tives

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" differ from any other remedy in the world.

They cure, absolutely, Stomach, Liver, Kidney, Bowel and Skin Troubles.

Because none of the usual remedies have given you relief, is no reason why you should not give "Fruit-a-tives" a good, honest trial.

Fresh fruit acts directly on the three great eliminating organs—Bowels, Kidneys and Skin. But fruit contains only a minute quantity of the medicinal principles and in order to receive any marked benefit from fruit, one would be compelled to eat more than could be assimilated by the system.

"Fruit-a-tives" contain all the curative virtues of fruit in a wonderfully concentrated form.

In making "Fruit-a-tives," the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes are combined—and, by a wonderful discovery of a famous physician, a chemical change takes place in the juices, by which the medicinal action is many times increased. Then tonics are added, and the whole compressed into tablets.

"Fruit-a-tives" contain no Calomel—no Cascara—no Senna—no Morphine—no violent purgatives—only fruit juices and tonics.

"Fruit-a-tives" act directly on the Bowels, Kidneys and Skin—strengthening them—and arousing them to vigorous action.

With the Kidneys healthy—the Bowels moving regularly every day—the Liver active—and the pores of the skin doing their full share towards ridding the system of waste—there can be no disease. "Fruit-a-tives" mean health for every member of the family.

50c. a box—6 boxes for $2.50. Sent to any address on receipt of price if your druggist does not handle them.

Despite Shakespere's Assertions There is Something in a Name

Some Interesting Information About the New Peterborough Directory Which Has Just Been Received.

O'BRIENS HEAD THE LIST

Closely Followed by Halls and Smiths—Name Is No Indication of Occupation, Says the Directory.

(The article below was published in the Examiner of a week ago to-day, but under a wrong heading, and otherwise misplaced. In view of this misfortune it is republished to-day.)

There are few persons who in glancing at the new directory, for the city of Peterborough which has just been issued by the Union Publishing Company, of Ingersoll, will find between its covers anything of an interesting character, however valuable it may be at times. Yet a careful inspection of the new book, if closely perused for a time, will undoubtedly furnish the reader with some amusing information, which very often borders on the ludicrous.

The directory, in most cases, when purchased, is hung upon a nail, where it will be easy of access and probably glanced at for an address once or twice a week. But the real pleasure of its pages can only be brought to light after glancing most carefully at the many names and addresses which darken its leaves.

With very little calculation, and one that a public school boy can master, it will be observed that there are more O'Briens in the city of Peterborough than any other single name. The directory shows that the O'Brien family has no less than 57 representatives in the city. But this family is on the decrease, according to last year's directory, which indicates that there were then 66 within the confines of the city.

Next to the O'Briens, the Halls and Smiths hold sway, with 52 representatives each to their credit. The Smiths, however, would surpass their Hall brethren were the two Smythes added to their number.

Third on the list come the Moores, which family has an even half hundred. In close succession to these are the Hamiltons, the Thompsons, the good old Browns, the Wilsons, the Armstrongs, with 42 each; the Davidsons with 39, and the Millers, with 32 representatives. Strange to relate there are only 22 Jones in the city, so, apparently, that family, is degenerating in size. The four largest families in the city, therefore, make a grand total of 211 souls.

It will probably be news to many that in the city there is a Town, but if the directory is correct there is not a single house. Peterborough can also boast of having at least 15 Hills, and in this respect has Hamilton, with its mountain, faded away, and even surpasses ancient Rome, with but seven for its foundation.

The weather man need not be blamed longer for his futile attempts in furnishing summer weather, when the directory is the authority for saying that there are Frosts here continually. This is indeed bitter news when it is learned that the city only contains two Scotts.

Gardiners Plentiful

Attention is directed to the fact that there is but one Gardiner in the city. This is to be regretted, since there are nine Gardiners, and we must remember that old adage that "too many cooks spoil the broth."

As an illustration to show that names seldom determine the occupation, this wonderful book states that there are 18 Butchers, in the city, but not one of them butchers; there are a dozen Bakers, and it has yet to be proven that any of them bake, but one of them barbers; the Barbers are rather plentiful, but not a single one handles the clippers or the razor; there is one Dyer, but he knows little of the art of colouring; there are a couple of Fishers, but neither of them fish, and there is nothing in history to show that they ever handled a rod and line. None of the Coopers work at that trade, and none of the Porters wear the hat with the gold letters.

The Astronomical Society might soon become famous should they discover the whereabouts of the three Stars in the city, which have hitherto been obscured.

So far as can be seen from the new directory, the city's morals will be weakened in the near future, and it is a most lamentable fact, to state that there are only two Churches, three Parsons and one Usher.

The poets and authors are well represented. There is a Tennyson, a Browning, Bryant, Burns, Dickens, Hawthorne and others. But these illustrious persons will find considerable difficulty in extending their thoughts to the world, as there is only a single Inkpen in the city.

The safety of the citizens is at once assured, when it is known that there are five Guns in different places in the city, not including the two in Victoria Park and the sub-target guns in the Armouries. To make assurance doubly sure, the city has the protection of several Spears, five Armours, and two Caddis. The highest rank of the army represented is Major, and there are three of these to look after the forces.

The directory also shows that there are some citizens of Peterborough who would find much better occupations in the country. For instance, there are four Shepherds here and six Shearers, but there is not a single Sheep inside the limits. There are, however, five Lambs, but there is little chance of them ever becoming sheep.

In the city are about 30 Woods, giving plenty of room for the Foxes, the Hawke, the Wolf, the Coon, and a large number of Birds. There are 18 Fowlers, but the game is well protected by the three Rangers and the one Copp.

Many people will be interested in knowing that there is only one Wilde man in the city, but when it is announced that there are two Wilder, one's brain gets somewhat tangled. The Horticultural Society has plenty of work on hand to take care of the Lillies, the Roses and the Ivey.

The Ministerial Association will certainly have to get busy if the directory is correct. Its pages show that out of the 15,000 population, only one is Goodenough. Seven are Goodfellows, 13 are Wright and three are Wrong; 23 are Young, yet none are old, and 11 are Little and 22 are Long.

The Water Commissioners will be pleased to learn that there are seven Brooks, six Floods, four Pooles, three Fords, Lakes, Waters and Burns to burn.

Nature is well represented by the Hills and Dales, Flowers, Floods and Hawes. Among the colours are Gray, Green, Black, White and Brown. Pedestrians have seven Carrs to come and go on, and these could be easily augmented by the twelve Carters. In Biblical names we have Adam, Cain and Sawle — Biblical in name only, perhaps.

The Licence Commissioners have no reason to worry, since there is not a Barr in Peterborough, but one Spring, who, it is hoped, is not as Spring, who, it is hoped, is not so backward as the present alleged spring.
